"The Past Grands" brought responses from Bro. J. Nugent, D D G.M., and past grands Bro's. W. F. Green, R. M. Roy and Thos Workman. The 'Noble Grand' brought out a neat speech from Bro. Jas. McGill the present incumbent of the chief chair. Bro. Pickles also of Harmony Lodge Brantford now, however, a resident of Peterborough, and many of the gentlemen present, made short addresses, like all the other remarks expressing the warmest feelings of friendship and good will towards Mr. Armstrong, and all expressing unusual regret at the removal from town of Mr. Armstrong, whose departure would make a vacancy in the ranks of "jolly good fellows," as well as jolly good Oddfellows, which would be hard to fill, and wishing him the highest measure of success in his new home and new sphere of duties.

Mr. Armstrong's numerous friends in town will unite with those who had the privilege of attending the supper, in wishing him a happy and prosperous career in Lindsay.

King of Medicines

A Cure "Almost Miraculous."

"When I was 14 years of age I had a severe attack of rheumatism, and after I recovered had to go on crutches. A year later, scrofula, in the form of white swellings, appeared on various parts of my body, and for 11 years I was an invalid, being confined to my bed 6 years. In that time ten or eleven sores appeared and broke, causing me great pain and suffering. I feared I never should get well.

"Early in 1886 I went to Chicago to visit a sister, but was confined to my bed most of the time I was there. In July I read a book, 'A Day with a Circus,' in which were statements of cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla. I was so impressed with the success of this medicine that I decided to try it. To my great gratification the sores soon decreased, and I began to feel better and in a short time I was up and out of doors. I continued to take Hood's Sarsaparilla for about a year, when, having used six bottles, I had become so fully released from the disease that I went to work for the Flint & Walling Mfg. Co., and since then on account of sickness. I believe the disease is expelled from my system, I always feel well, am in good spirits and have a good appetite. I am now 27 years of age and can walk as well as any one, except that one limb is a little shorter than the other, owing to the loss of bone, and the sores formerly on my right leg. To my friends my recovery seems almost miraculous, and I think Hood's Sarsaparilla is the king of medicines." WILLIAM A. LEHR, 9 N. Railroad St., Kendallville, Ind.

HAVE NOT LOST A SINGLE DAY

Baby's Face was Raw

Distressing Itching Skin Disease Cured in one Month by the Cuticura Remedies.

When our baby was six weeks old he had a rash on his cheek. It spread on both cheeks and chin. His face was raw. I doctored with various remedies, but it got no better. My mother advised me to try the CUTICURA REMEDIES. I used them faithfully, and in one week the boy looked better. In one month he was cured, and now he is three years old and no signs of it returning. The child was so bad I had to tie him in a pillow-case, and pin his hands down so that he could not scratch his face. I cannot speak too highly of the CUTICURA REMEDY. I recommend CUTICURA whenever I can. I would be pleased to see any one and talk to them of the good it has done my boy.

BULLETS FOR BANKERS.

EMBARRASSED BERLIN BANKERS SHOOT THEMSELVES.

The Victims Father and Son—Hirschfeld & Wolff's Failure—Startling Revelations of Financial Crookedness—All the Banks in Berlin Do Business on Sunday to Avert a Panic

BERLIN, Nov. 9.—A sensation was caused in financial and social circles here Saturday by the collapse of the banking institution of Friedlander & Sommerfeld. The usual scenes of excitement among depositors anxious to secure their money and among those holding the notes and drafts of the institution occurred around the office of the firm, and the effect upon the creditors may be imagined when it was announced that the leading partner in the concern, together with his son, had committed suicide.

The failure is associated with the recent suspension of the Bankers Hirschfeld & Wolff. The fact that Friedlander & Sommerfeld were financially embarrassed and that they would find difficulty in meeting their obligations was known to some of the operators on the Bourse here early in the day.

As the facts in the case developed it appeared that father and son met in their office in the bank early this morning and discussed the crisis in their affairs. After talking over the matter pro and con they concluded that as they were hopelessly embarrassed they would die. It is understood that this resolution to take their own lives was due in a great measure to the fact that the arrest was pending, as Felix Sommerfeld, the son, had become involved in speculations which were more than likely to lead to his arrest on a criminal charge. Having arrived at the decision that death was preferable to arrest and disgrace, both father and son shot themselves in the head, using revolvers. When the clerks in the office, alarmed at the reports of the pistols, ran to the private office, they found father and son still alive. They were taken to the hospital in a dying condition.

The Sommerfelds, father and son, opened the veins of their arms besides shooting themselves with a revolver. When found both were bathed in blood. Felix expired on Saturday evening. Sigmund is still alive, although there is a bullet imbedded in his brain. Sigmund is conscious at intervals and there is a bare chance of his recovery.

Had a Solid Reputation.

The firm has been in existence for a long time and held a good position in the financial world. It has earned a solid reputation as a steady-going house. Its customers, who belonged chiefly to the middle class, were scattered throughout the Empire. Since the Hirschfeld & Wolff failure many of the principal clients of Friedlander & Sommerfeld, who had become alarmed regarding the stability of private banking houses, made heavy withdrawals of deposits. Herr Sommerfeld tried to meet the difficulties by attempting to realize on his investments. These, however, were tacked up in industrial and other stocks which were not readily marketable, and eventually it was found impossible for the firm to meet its engagements.

A large crowd assembled in front of the bank and threatened to carry the building by storm and recover their securities. The police had great difficulty in restraining the mob from carrying their threats into execution. The many artisans are infuriated at the loss of their deposits. Friedlander, the senior and surviving partner, is staying at Mentone. A telegram has been sent summoning him to return to Berlin.

The firm was established in 1873. It was involved in the conversion of a large number of private industrial concerns into companies during the "80's," besides furnishing money for the development of Bing, a seaside resort on the Island of Rugen. The assets will thus be slow of realization. Sigmund's wife recently filed a petition for divorce. Both Sigmund and Felix married heiresses. Felix's wife is a daughter of the millionaire Pinkus. All have been personally extravagant. Felix was an epicure and wrote cookery articles for The Boersen Courier. Many creditors and small capitalists were attracted to the firm by the high interest offered on deposits.

The Hirschfeld & Wolff Failure.

The inquiry into the affairs of Hirschfeld & Wolff realizes the worst anticipation. The firm had been in business for 64 years and had as its chief financial agent Herr Wolff, who occupied several other positions of trust. He was a prominent society man who had lived a life of ostentatious wealth, his household expenses running to 400,000 marks a year. He did little in the speculative line until recent years, when his private extravagances and losses at the gambling table led to his embarrassment. He tried to recoup his losses through dealing on the Paris and Berlin bourses. As a matter of fact the firm had been insolvent since 1883. For a number of years it has been kept going by the selling and pawning of the securities of depositors, Wolff working in connection with the banker Joseph Leipziger. It is asserted that Wolff, with all the facts being known to Leipziger, floated fraudulent drafts through Leipziger, and pawned securities of depositors amounting in value to 3,500,000 marks. Leipziger finally went to the wall and his failure hastened the downfall of Hirschfeld & Wolff. Among the numerous aristocratic creditors of the firm are Prince Henry of Prussia, who loses 500,000 marks; Prince Gunther of Schleswig-Holstein, brother of the Empress of Germany, whose losses also amount to 500,000 marks, and the Count Luttichon, a prominent leader in German society, who is out 300,000 marks. Other members of the aristocracy who are severely hit are Count Zeedlitz Treschler, Count Bredow Goldschmidt, Count Eulendberg of the Imperial Household, and Count Lehndorff, chief of the royal stables. A large number of industrial companies lose their deposits. Wolff is confined in prison. He says he is unable to make any estimate of his liabilities. He has a number of heavy gambling debts. On the Sunday before his arrest he had a party in his box at the opera house. After the performance the party visited Dressel's restaurant, where a costly supper was served.

Wolff was president of the Resource Club, an organization composed of wealthy parvenus and financiers who are addicted to reckless playing. It is recorded that upon the eve of the failure of the firm Wolff refused to pick up a couple of thousand marks in bills which he had accidentally dropped at the gambling table. He left the money on the floor for the waiters.

The Foreign Bourse.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—Discount was quiet during the past week. The export demand for gold has almost ceased, and money is plentiful, the influx of Brazilian gold into the Bank of England amounting to £1,000,000. The reflow of cash from the provinces promises to so add to the bank's reserve as to avert all early necessity of an increase of the rate of discount. The banking trouble in Berlin and the difficulties of French financiers may lead to a withdrawal of bullion strong enough to meet ordinary currency demands of the rest of the year. On the Stock Exchange during the week the situation was decidedly unsatisfactory, business in every department being dull and dispirited. Business will be retarded to-day by the Lord Mayor's fete. The settlement commences on Tuesday, when heavy differences require to be faced. The Berlin embarrassments, the Brazilian troubles and the reports of French houses requiring Government intervention to prevent a collapse likely to lead to a panic all combine to create great uneasiness. Rumors yesterday assailed the position of certain financial houses here always mentioned unfavorably during a time of uncertainty, but again without truth. The depression was greatest in foreign markets.

The feeling was worst after official close owing to receipt of news that Baron Alphonse Rothschild had an interview with M. Rouvier, French Minister of Finance, relating to the position of French houses burdened with the Russian loan. Foreign securities offered then "on the streets" were not taken, operators were impressed with the gloomy outlook for the coming week. The coming settlement will be watched with interest, as stocks here are believed to be greatly oversold. If this proves true a sharp reaction upward is imminent.

Although past week's settlement at Paris disclosed no failures among bourse agents or collusiers, their operating clients in several instances defaulted and final difference paid on settlement necessitated large bank advances, the Bank of France also lending 20,000,000 francs on securities. Prices throughout the week were heavy and at the close yesterday were especially depressed under the large sales of Russian securities, chiefly the new loan.

At Berlin, business on the Bourse yesterday was notable for numerous large forced sales beginning early in the day and increasing towards the close on the collapse of the Sommerfeld Bank and rumors that other failures were imminent and that several boursiers had been hit in connection with Sommefeld's extensive speculation in Russian securities. The Boersen Courier states that the liabilities of Sommerfeld amount to several million marks and that assets are small. All branches and exchange bureaus of the bank are closed. A general panic and run on deposit banks appears to be inevitable.

Bourses Opened on Sunday.

Saturday a number of managers of Berlin banks convened and agreed to concerted measures to meet and check a panic. They despatched letters and telegrams to customers throughout Germany, stating their readiness to pay deposits at any time and that their banks would be open to-day to meet withdrawals. The banks thus acting in common opened to-day and had clerks attending to applications for cash. Some accounts were closed by scared depositors. To-morrow's developments are less anxiously awaited.

At Frankfort the boerse was kept open Sunday, a course calculated to furnish some tests of the situation, but generally the tendency was only towards a fractional decline on Saturday's price, hence it is reasoned that yesterday's business here will not attain panic proportions.

A CONTEMPTIBLE OUTRAGE.

Sacrilegious Italians Set Fire to Countess Mirafiori's Coffin in Rome.

ROME, Nov. 9.—Some person or persons last night forced open the tomb of Countess Mirafiori, the morganatic wife of the late King Victor Emmanuel, and set fire to the coffin. The outer case was consumed, but the zinc shell protected the body. The face and feet were slightly burned. There is no clue to the perpetrators of the outrage.

MARRIED A MARQUIS.

And Now That She Has Had Time to Repent She is Sorry.

PARIS, Nov. 9.—The Duc De Vallombrosa has applied to the tribunals to appoint a council to control the affairs of his son, the Anarchist Marquis De Mores. The Marquis' wife, nee Miss Hoffman, a wealthy American, joins in the application and demands the separation of her personal fortune from that of the Marquis. The latter has squandered an immense amount of money in speculations in America and Tonkin.

Another American Girl Captures a "Duck"

PARIS, Nov. 9.—Miss Mattie Mitchell, daughter of Senator Mitchell of Oregon, is engaged to be married to the Duc De Rochefoucauld. The young lady is with her mother at the Hotel DeHollande. The marriage will take place in January.

AFTER FENIANS.

The Police of Four Countries on the Lookout for Them.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The police of England, Scotland and Ireland are on the lookout for the anticipated arrival in one and all of those countries of the Irish "party of action."

It is said that American detectives have been employed by the British authorities to look after incoming steamers from America in the hope of apprehending such persons should they attempt to land at any British port. The Parnellites are being closely watched, and there is evidently a belief that a revival of Fenianism is at hand.

A SENSATIONAL CASE.

IN WHICH A WELL-KNOWN DRUMMER FIGURES.

Racket at the Royal Hotel, Hamilton—A Traveller's Occupancy of a Lady's Room Causes Trouble—Spittoons for Inquisitive Night Watchmen and Hotel Proprietors.

HAMILTON, Nov. 9.—The curtain was raised on a sensational and spicy case at the Police Court Saturday. It was rich in spicy details and made a novel entertainment for the loungers. W. P. Scarfe, a young drummer from Brantford, was in the dock with a charge against him for acting in a disorderly manner and for trespass, the complainant being John Hood of the Royal Hotel. A young woman wearing a light Persian lamb coat and a becoming stylish hat and rich costume was in the court. She was a friend of the luckless traveler, but she was far from being unhappy on account of his predicament and was greatly amused, laughing at the funny incidents of the other cases. Her face was not pretty, but she had a well-rounded and plump figure. The story as told by the witnesses was that young Scarfe and the lady, who registered as "Miss C. Black, Toronto," arrived on the 6.30 train. They were assigned separate rooms. After supper they went to the theatre, and when they returned they went to the lady's room, and ordered up gin fizzes. The clerk afterwards told Scarfe that he would have to leave the lady's room, and he did so, but he went into the room again, although he was told that if he went there again they would both be put out of the house. Scarfe left the hotel and returned about 1.30 in the morning. Nightwatchman Root next saw him enter No. 6, the lady's room. He rapped on the door, and tried to get in, and saw Scarfe trying to escape by the front window. Root summoned John Hood, one of the proprietors. Mr. Hood swore that after he heard the traveler was in the woman's room he got a ladder and put it up to the fanlight. William White tried to get into the room, and Scarfe fired a spittoon at him. Finally the couple came out of the room and Scarfe acted like a madman, and the witness had him arrested. He let the woman go. She did not have any money, but left her gold watch as security for her bill. The nightwatchman was suspicious of the man and watched him. He claimed that Scarfe had no right to be in the room. Bellboy White said the couple waltzed in the room but did not make much noise.

Miss Black then stepped into the box. She was indignant. She said that after the theatre she invited the young man to come to her room, because he said he was thirsty and wanted a drink. She said the clerk charged her 75 cents each for the spittoon and the fanlight.

Proprietor Hood said that all the employes had instructions to report conduct of this kind, as he wanted to keep the hotel respectable.

The magistrate dismissed the case. Scarfe left the court with Miss Black. It is likely that he will proceed against Mr. Hood for false arrest.

A HUNTER'S AWFUL FATE.

His Hands Become Fast in a Bear Trap, and Held There He Slowly Starves to Death.

BRACEBRIDGE, Ont., Nov. 9.—More than a month since an Englishman named David Allen, who resided in the Magnetawan District, and who spent considerable of his time hunting, started out to examine his traps, but failed to return. For ten days an uninterrupted search was kept up in the woods, it being supposed that he had wandered away and become lost. The search was unproductive of results, however. The mystery surrounding his fate was accidentally unveiled Friday by two hunters, who chanced to look in a copse of bushes. Lying upon the ground, face downward, was the dead body of the hunter, and the condition of the body and the ground showed that he had met a horrible death from starvation. Both of his hands were securely fastened in a bear trap. He had evidently been in the act of setting the trap when by some means the trap closed upon his wrists with a vice-like grip. Unable to release himself and with no hope of making his voice heard in that vast wilderness, he suffered the most excruciating mental tortures until starvation and exposure combined ended his existence. His wrists were frightfully lacerated where an attempt had been made to wrench his hands free.

HE WAS A CANADIAN.

Latest Developments Relative to the Murder of Joseph King.

NIAGARA FALLS, Nov. 9.—The finding of the corpse of Joseph King, an Italian, on the Erie Railway track Wednesday morning, and the subsequent suspicion that he was murdered, has created a great deal of speculative talk. James Fuer, another Italian, from present appearances, stands in mortal danger. Fuer is married to a colored woman, but has not lived with her for some time, he and the murdered man having boarded at a house kept by one Ross.

James King of Ingersoll, a brother of the deceased, testified that Joseph was 40 years old, came to Suspension Bridge last spring, and had a wife and family in Italy. Carmen Danry testified to having seen Fuer and King together at the home of the former's wife in Drummondville last Sunday. Mrs. Fuer was the next witness. She last saw King about 5 o'clock Monday morning, when Fuer and her husband went away. Fuer called on her again Monday night and said that King was going over to Ingersoll, Ont. Fuer had a revolver on his person Sunday night, and was seen to load it Monday morning before he left Mrs. Fuer's house. The inquest was adjourned for a week.

A Banquet To Gladdy.

PARIS, Nov. 9.—The proposal has been made—apparently seriously—by the leading Paris papers to organize a banquet to Mr. Gladstone, who will presently pass through that interesting city on his way to Italy for the winter. This compliment is to be offered him because of that Newcastle declaration about Egypt, which the French interpret as meaning that he favors the immediate withdrawal of the English troops from that country. They think him, in other words, prepared to sacrifice the interests of his own country to please France, a dubious homage, indeed, to an English statesman.

THE CONTEST IN CORK.

The McCarthyite's Plurality 1512—William Redmond Denounces Priests' Tactics.

CORK, Nov. 9.—Martin Flavin, the McCarthyite candidate for the seat in Parliament for Cork City left vacant by the death of Charles Stewart Parnell, has been elected by a plurality of 1512 votes. The result: Flavin (McCarthyite), 3669; Redmond (Parnellite), 2157; Sarsfield (Unionist), 1161.

At the last election for Cork City Mr. Parnell was elected with Maurice Healy, who also represents Cork City, without opposition.

John E. Redmond, the defeated candidate, declared that though a majority of the electors of Cork City had refused to support his candidacy, he was determined to continue the struggle.

William Redmond attributed the defeat of the Parnellite candidate to the tactics which the priests had employed to coerce voters.

DUBLIN, Nov. 9.—Mr. John Dillon, speaking at Templemore, Tipperary county, Sunday, said that Irishmen the whole world over are burning with pride and gratitude that the people of Cork had performed their duty so nobly. He appealed to the Parnellites to consider the hopelessness of their position and seek for a reconciliation.

ANOTHER MINE HORROR

TEN MINERS KILLED AND FOUR INJURED.

A Naked Safety Lamp Explodes Spreading Death in All Directions—Horrible Scenes at the Mine—Knew the Mine to be Unsafe.

NANTICOKE, Pa., Nov. 9.—The usual Sunday quiet was disturbed about 4.30 p.m. yesterday by the announcement that a terrible explosion of gas had occurred in No. 1 shaft of the Susquehanna Coal Company. Owing to the fact that this was Sunday there were but 14 men at work in the mine. Of this number six were instantly killed, four died shortly after and several others so badly burned and injured that they cannot survive.

The Killed.

WILLIAM J. WILLIAMS, miner.
HENRY R. JONES, town clerk of Nanticoke, fire boss.
WILLIAM JONATHAN, miner.
JOHN ARNOTT, miner.
CALEB JETHING, miner.
THOMAS LLOYD, driver boy.
HOWELL JOHENSKI, aged 32 years, leaves a wife and family of small children.
JOHN MALONEY, 30 years, leaves a wife and three children.
DAVID R. JAMES, 37 years.
WILLIAM J. WILLIAMS, jr., 23 years, son of W. J. Williams, who was killed.

The accident was caused by the explosion of a safety lamp, the flames of which ignited the gases. The existence of this element had become known and a safety lamp which is generally used successfully in the presence of gas was being used by the men during their work.

The scenes about the mouth of the shaft were heartrending. As soon as the news of the explosion was noised about town the wives and children of the men who were imprisoned gathered about the opening. The wives wept frantically and the children played about unconscious of the fearful doom their fathers had met. A searching party was organized as soon as possible and brave men went down into the mine to rescue their fellow-workmen. They struggled with the dangerous afterdamp and after almost losing themselves in the cavern groping in the dark came upon the bodies of the victims. The force of the explosion had dashed to pieces several mine cars standing on tracks and the victims had been dashed against the walls of the mine; some were beheaded and others disemboweled. It was a fearful spectacle. The remains were taken to the mouth of the shaft and from there to their homes in ambulances and on stretchers. After each one followed the man's wife and children.

EVERY day makes more apparent the fact that the town is going ahead rapidly. Numerous changes have taken place in the way of ownership of property. Many workingmen are buying houses and lots, or lots on which to build. One of the most suitable locations is that known as the Erin property, at the west end, owned largely by Mr. Wm Fitzgerald. This week he has closed the sale of a very desirable house and lot, and has several eligible lots on this property to dispose of. Property in this neighborhood is rapidly being built up, and it will be well to have a look at the situation if one is at all disposed to buy. The terms are very favorable and especially low for cash, though payment on time may be arranged.

J. J. SHEEHY'S
SECOND ANNOUNCEMENT.

On the first of October, I, having just concluded my sixth year in Business, felt desirous of stating to my many Customers and the Public Generally, just what my experience had been. I endeavoured to do so in such a manner as to convince those who read advertisements, (and their name is legion) that what I said I meant. I refrained from Wild Statements, Quoting of Prices, and the Specifying of Extraordinary Values, or the Hundred-and-one Stereotyped Methods that are indulged in by Advertisers as a rule, but at once Got Down to Facts, and will endeavour to follow out that Principle, as I consider that the growth of my Business is, in itself, the biggest guarantee that the people are satisfied, that, when they buy goods from J. J. SHEEHY, they get Right Goods and that the Prices are also right.

The Month of October, notwithstanding the Mild Weather has been a Great Success so far. And the 5 Per Cent Discount which has just Seven Days More to Run, is evidently making itself felt. If you require any Fall and Winter Dry Goods, come in and examine our stock, and if we have not what you want, then it is a line, either unknown to the trade or at least has not yet reached Peterborough. I might just say in conclusion that I have closed the purchase of over 200 PAIRS OF WHITE WOOL BLANKETS.

The weights range from 5 to 9 pounds. As to the value, I will not say anything, but cordially invite your inspection, firmly believing that the Prices will speak for themselves.

Don't forget the 5 Per Cent. Discount off every purchase of, or over, ONE DOLLAR, during the Month of October. Yours respectfully,

J. J. SHEEHY.

The Relay Race.

Particulars of the Test of the Bicycle for Couriers Purposes.

The comparison between the relative uses of the bicycle and the horse for courier purposes in connection with military manoeuvres has been so widely discussed that it has been deemed advisale to give the wheel a practical test. A short distance trial, with most satisfactory results made from Hartford to New York last Saturday; but to more thoroughly prove the efficiency of the bicycle in this relation the Mail has advocated and arranged a trial over a route infinitely more difficult for wheeling, and for a distance almost double that experimented upon in the States. This trial, it is thought, will fully demonstrate the usefulness of the bicycle as an adjunct to the equipment of an army. The particulars of the test already have appeared in these pages. It will consist of the carriage of a sealed despatch by relay of riders from Hamilton to Kingston, the average relay distance being 15 miles. Thirty speedy bicyclists, constituting 15 relays of two men each, will in turn officiate as packet bearers. To facilitate the success of the event the men selected are the fastest and strongest road riders in Canada, and almost all will be mounted on the most improved pneumatic tired wheels. The total distance to be covered is about 205 miles, and with favorable weather it is estimated that the great race against time will be made in 14 hours. No delay is anticipated in changing the riders as the appointed time approaches for bicyclists to reach any of the stations the relays who are to carry forward the message will be mounted and ready for a push start as soon as the despatch is handed to them. Checkers will be in waiting at relay stations to take the time of riders upon arrival, and to start the fresh relays. The men will ride in pairs, so that in case of accident to one the dispatch will not be delayed. Pace makers from neighboring towns will meet the flying couriers at intervals of five or ten miles, and pilot them over the road in their respective localities. A time schedule will be prepared, and the riders admonished to keep well within its limits.

The relay divisions as now arranged are as follows:—

HAMILTON TO TORONTO.

Hamilton to Appleby, 12 miles.
Appleby to Oakville, 7 miles.
Oakville to Port Credit, 9 miles.
Port Credit to the Mail office, 12 miles.

TORONTO TO KINGSTON.

The Mail office to Norway 4 miles.
Norway to Highland Creek 11 miles.
Highland Creek to Whitby 15 miles.
Whitby to Bowmanville 13 miles.
Bowmanville to Port Hope 22 miles.
Port Hope to Grafton 15 miles.
Grafton to Brighton 16 miles.
Brighton to Belleville 22 miles.
Belleville to Napanee 25 miles.
Napanee to Kingston 22 miles.

This division may be subject to slight alterations so soon as all reports are received. The average distance between relays will be 15 miles. The longer relays are over the better roads. Where the road is very hilly or broken, the divisions will be correspondingly shorter.

A Wonderful Book.

Shepp's Photographs of the World.

(From the Guelph Herald, Oct. 30th.)

This book is unique, interesting, attractive, beautiful. The preface tells:

How the idea was conceived by the Messrs Shepp, and the plans arranged to photograph the world and to publish this volume.

How they fought against obstacles and overcame difficulties, to secure photographs of the Russian mines and prisoners in far-off Siberia.

How photographs of Palaces and Prisons, Sovereigns and Peasants, were successfully secured.

How weeks, yes months, were spent in rainy, misty and foggy countries waiting for clear weather to obtain good results.

How arrangements were made with Art Associations for the privilege of obtaining direct photographs of all the great paintings and statuary in the various galleries and cathedrals of the world. This is a privilege rarely accorded any one.

How hardships were endured in the interiors of China, India, Arabia, Turkey and Africa, to obtain photographs of the actual life among the natives in these mysterious and semi-barbarous countries.

Closing with how nearly $100,000 was spent in producing a book of photographs, the like of which has never before been attempted.

Each photograph is a gem. The printed description underneath each of the two hundred and fifty photographs is the very pith of history and information. Mr. James Galbraith has secured the Guelph agency. Yesterday, his first day of canvassing, he secured twenty orders. He says he has only to show the book to sell it. We understand that agents generally are taking from fifty to two hundred orders a week. The beauty and utility of the volume cannot be believed until seen. It is then understood at a glance; it is a marvel of cheapness as well as of beauty.

We are glad to know that our enterprising publishing company, viz., the World Publishing Co., of Guelph, are to issue the Canadian edition. Agents are wanted. Address: World Publishing Co., Guelph, Ont., Canada.

The Guelph Mercury of Nov. 3rd speaking of the book says:—"'Shepp's Photographs of the World' is a splendid work, containing 250 photographs of the principal places in the world. It is an excellent work. As an evidence of this it may be mentioned Mr. Galbraith has taken in two days orders for forty-five copies."

It is estimated there are five thousand different kind of pills on the market. "Competitive Prayer."

A question of considerable importance to Presbyterians was discussed at a conference of clergymen at Greenock, Scotland, on 12th ult., without any decision being arrived at. It was debated whether theological graduates should be required to display their power in extemporaneous prayer before being licensed. Those who favoured the innovation argued that clergymen should be trained in the methods of public prayer as "prayer was an important part of their business." One speaker declared that many clergymen often wept in secret over the mistakes they made while praying in the churches which they would not have made if they had been taught how to pray when they were students. On the other hand, it was argued that "prayer would be profanity if paraded as a show exercise," and that "competitive prayer was irreverent, while competitive preaching was not." The debate on the subject was earnest, but the Presbytery did not decide whether the theological students should be required to engage in "competitive prayer."

"Life is an ocean,
Each one has his bark."

Some have a bark they would gladly be rid of—a careless, persistent, determined cough, present by day, not absent by night. If you take the wings of the morning and fly to the uttermost parts of the earth, it will go with you! There is just one thing to do: begin a thorough treatment with Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and the problem is solved! You will soon wonder where it is gone and when it went! The picture is not overdrawn—colds, lingering and obstinate coughs, and even Consumption, in its early stages, yield to this potent vegetable compound. Large bottles, one dollar, at druggists, and guaranteed to benefit or cure in every case, or money returned by its makers. a

The Safest

AND most powerful alterative is Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Young and old are alike benefited by its use. For the eruptive diseases peculiar to children nothing else is so effective as this medicine, while its agreeable flavor makes it easy to administer.

"My little boy had large scrofulous ulcers on his neck and throat from which he suffered terribly. Two physicians attended him, but he grew continually worse under their care, and everybody expected he would die. I had heard of the remarkable cures effected by Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and decided to have my boy try it. Shortly after he began to take this medicine, the ulcers commenced healing, and, after using several bottles, he was entirely cured. He is now as healthy and strong as any boy of his age."—William F. Dougherty, Hampton, Va.

"In May last, my youngest child, fourteen months old, began to have sores gather on its head and body. We applied various simple remedies without avail. The sores increased in number and discharged copiously. A physician was called, but the sores continued to multiply until in a few months they nearly covered the child's head and body. At last we began the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. In a few days a marked change for the better was manifest. The sores assumed a more healthy condition, the discharges were gradually diminished, and finally ceased altogether. The child is livelier, its skin is fresher, and its appetite better than we have observed for months."—Frank M. Griffin, Long Point, Texas.

"The formula of Ayer's Sarsaparilla presents, for chronic diseases of almost every kind, the best remedy known to the medical world."—D. M. Wilson, M. D., Wiggs, Arkansas.

"August Flower"

What is It For? This is the query perpetually on your little boy's lips. And he is no worse than the bigger, older, balder-headed boys. Life is an interrogation point. "What is it for?" we continually cry from the cradle to the grave. So with this little introductory sermon we turn and ask: "What is AUGUST FLOWER FOR?" As easily answered as asked: It is for Dyspepsia. It is a special remedy for the Stomach and Liver. Nothing more than this; but this brimful. We believe August Flower cures Dyspepsia. We know it will. We have reasons for knowing it. Twenty years ago it started in a small country town. To-day it has an honored place in every city and country store, possesses one of the largest manufacturing plants in the country and sells everywhere. Why is this? The reason is as simple as a child's thought. It is honest, does one thing, and does it right along—it cures Dyspepsia.

The Spread of Diptheria.

The following article appears in the Canadian Practitioner of November 2nd, and will be of interest as indicating the best means of preventing the spread of a disease which, while it is horribly contagious is essentially a preventible disease. Winter is the favorite season for the operation of such epidemics and any suggestion that will help to fight the disease should receive the closest attention:—

Diphtheria has become quite a serious scourge in many parts of Canada. Much has been said about its prevalence in Toronto, and many exaggerated statements with reference to it have been made. However, with so serious a disease in our midst, it is exceedingly important that we should adopt stringent measures to prevent its spread. Diptheria is essentially a preventible disease, and at the same time a horribly contagious one.

We have had some sad lessons on the subject in Toronto. We have had instances where groups of children have been engaging in their innocent sports, with an infected, and infecting throat in their midst, scattering virulent poison in all directions. In many such cases fond and careful mothers have been looking on, all unconscious of the deadly perils surrounding their little ones, until sore throats developed in a few days, resulting in malignant diphtheria, which rapidly destroyed its little victims.

We have no doubt that in a large proportion of cases this disease is contracted in our schools. This is perhaps more common with diphtheria than any other contagious disease, and is largely due to the difficulty as to diagnosis in cases of comparatively mild sore throat. In the ordinary lay vernacular, we have "ulcerated sore throat," which is considered a somewhat trifling disease. This probably corresponds with what is know to the profession as "follicular tonsilitis," which is, in a large number of cases, simply a non-specific inflammation of the tonsils, with a harmless follicular exudation.

Without entering into a discussion of questions which are not quite settled, we are inclined to agree with those who think that in such cases the exudation is sometimes diphtheritic in character, although this cannot be made out by the naked eye. Considering the subject clinically, there can be no doubt that certain cases of diphtheria have not been detected until the resulting paralysis has shown that the disease was constitutional, and not simply a local inflammation. Many such mild cases have proved the source of serious infection. Some physicians have perhaps gone to one extreme and called all cases of follicular tonsilitis diphtheria, while others have been accustomed to make light of this affection.

It is about time we in Toronto derived some benefit from our sad experiences. We have pointed out the grave dangers connected with certain conditions of the throat which are doubtful in character. We believe the following rules should be adopted to guard against these very serious perils:—

1. Isolate all patients affected with either follicular tonsilitis or diphtheria.
2. Report at once to the Medical Health Office.
3. Let the Medical Health Officer make, or have made, a proper examination of the case—microscopical and bacteriological, if necessary.
4. Keep the patients isolated until all doubts are removed in non-diphtheritic inflammations.
5. Let the isolation be rather extended in the so-called naso-pharyngeal diphtheria, because the poison lurks long in certain nooks, especially the follicles of the tonsils.

We will not now discuss the methods of our Health Officer in Toronto in a general way, but we have very strong views on one point: if he has a well-founded suspicion that infected children are attending any of the Public schools, he should close such schools at once (as he did recently) and in such action he should be supported by the profession and the public.

The Rye Crop of Europe.

The English-speaking races are unfamiliar with the use of rye as a breadstuff, and hence are apt to over look its great importance at the present time in considering the European situation in regard to the demand and supply of foods. To study this question fully the extent and importance of this cereal must be considered. Russia, Germany and Austria-Hungary are the countries principally interested in the rye crop, and a few facts as to their condition will materially help to an understanding of the of the question. Russia and Poland in 1890 produced 718 877,883 bushels of rye and 220,082,325 bushels of wheat. Her rye crop, therefore, in ordinary years is the greatest cereal crop of the world, with the single exception of the corn crop of the United States, which is now creeping up to 2,000,000,000 bushels. In years of ordinary production she exports 40 per cent. of her wheat crop, but less than 8 per cent. of her rye crop. Allowing for seed, she consumes as food only about 40 per cent. of her wheat crop. Perhaps her dependence upon the rye crop can be better stated by saying that her ordinary annual food consumption is about as follows:—

Wheat........................ 90,000,000
Rye............................ 500,000,000

The failure of the rye crop is, therefore, a terrible catastrophe for the one hundred million Roumans. There are reserve stores of rye in Russia amounting in the opinion of some to nearly 100,000,000 bushels. The failure of crops is not universal, but the means of transportation are so limited, the peasants are so impoverished and the state of government so irresponsible that poverty and plenty can and do exist side by side under one ruler. Whether the prohibition of the exportation of rye is prompted by policy, by necessity or by selfishness is a matter of controversy.

Springville.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The Canadian Order of Foresters, of Court Springville, No. 274, purpose giving an entertainment on the evening of the 12th, Thanksgiving evening. Superior talent has been procured for the occasion from Peterborough and other places. This will be the entertainment of the season, and will no doubt be well attended by music loving people.

The combination of ingredients found in Ayer's Pills renders them tonic and curative as well as cathartic. For this reason they are the best medicine for people of costive habit, as they restore the natural action of the bowels, without debilitating.

For the past year I have been troubled to to a very great extent with dandruff, also, a dulness of color in my hair, and through the advice of a friend (who spoke from experience) I tried your Anti-Dandruff, which upon the application of less than a bottle of your liquid I find my head not only thoroughly cleansed, but a vast improvement in the color and growth.

I have, and do recommend it as highly beneficial to the profession and public generally as an agreeable and welcome innovation in the remedies put forth for public favor.

Yours, etc., WM. P. WOLFE,
Advertising Agt., "Frank Daniels Co.,"

Ask Your Friends About It.

Your distressing cough can be cured. We know it, because Kemp's Balsam within the past few years has cured so many coughs and colds in this community. Its remarkable sale has been won entirely by its genuine merit. Ask some friend who has used it what he thinks of Kemp's Balsam. There is no medicine so pure, none so effective. Large bottles 50c. and $1 at all druggists. d

A Sea Voyage.

A sea voyage is an expensive and extensive prescription, especially when equally good results as regards health are to be had by simply taking Burdock Blood Bitters according to directions. It is a specific for dyspepsia, cleanses the blood, regulates the liver, bowels and kidneys and removes all impure matter from the system.

His Family did not Know Him.

A Belleville man has for many been bent and crippled with a lame back, but after trying the OR, Kidney cure, he could walk like a boy again and his neighbors could hardly recognize him. This remedy is for sale by all druggists and the OR, Kidney Company, Belleville. dw

Do You Cough?

Don't delay. Take Kemp's Balsam, the best cough cure. It will cure coughs and colds. It will cure sore throat, or a tickling in the throat. It will cure pains in the chest. It will cure influenza and bronchitis and all diseases pertaining to the lungs, because it is a pure balsam. Hold it to the light and see how clear and thick it is. You see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Large bottles 50c and $1. dw

A Spring Medicine.

There are few who do not at this season feel the need of a spring medicine, and to all such we recommend Lane's Family Medicine as the best. This is a pleasant herb drink made by pouring boiling water on the dried roots and herbs. Druggists sell the packages at 50c. and $1. It is the best as well as the pleasantest cure for constipation and headache. dw

Advice Free.

Keep the head cool, the feet warm, and the bowels regular, and no disease can attack you. This is a celebrated German physician's advice, and can best be accomplished by using Burdock's Blood Bitters, the best regulator and purifier known. It cures all disorders of the stomach, liver, bowels and blood. dw

A Suitable Gift.

A tube of Dyer's Jelly of Cucumber and Roses for making the skin soft and smooth, will be acceptable to any lady. Druggists keep it. W. A. Dyer & Co., Montreal. 61111

CLOTHING HOUSE,

SHEPPARD'S OLD STAND, GEORGE ST., PETERBOROUGH.

A WEEK AGO

"THE STAR" made the largest purchase of Overcoats ever made at one time in the history of the Clothing Trade—Over TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS' WORTH—the entire magnificent stock of one of the largest manufacturers of Fine Clothing in Canada. The owners of the goods were in Desperate Need of Ready Cash. We had it, and we got the stock AT OUR OWN PRICE. We placed about half our purchase on sale Monday morning, and to-day we place the balance of the stock on our tables. The last shipment included the Finest Goods. The first lots are all sold, and such scenes of excitement as have transpired during this sale never before occurred in a clothing store.

Customers stood in open-mouthed wonder at the wonderful values given. Many persons bought two and three Coats on account of their wonderful cheapness. Small Merchants have eagerly bought all we would sell them, our prices are so much lower than they could buy the same goods at wholesale.

The Overcoats are Simply Elegant, made of the Richest and Finest Fabrics and in the most "Correct" Style. "Schnabel's" Chinchillas and Beavers; "Carr's" Meltons, Eredon Kerseys, Fine Fancy Overcoatings and Shetlands, intended for Merchant Tailor's use. Many were intended to Wholesale at $15, $18 and $20. We bought them for less than the Raw Material Cost, and are selling for $8 and $10, garments worth two and three times the money.

For Young Men Only.

There was a good attendance of young men at the Baptist church on Sunday afternoon, to listen to an address to men only by Mr. S. Frank Whitehouse, of the China Inland Mission. The preliminary devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. J. E. Trotter the pastor of the church, the Y. M. C. A. band leading in the hearty and wholesome singing. The address of Mr. Whitehouse was a practical, earnest, energetic talk to young men, graphically depicting the danger to which they were subjected, and pointing out that the only path of safety was the narrow path and close Christ. The talk was a straight one and will no doubt be very helpful to young men in their struggle for a higher life. Mr. T. S. Cole, Travelling Secretary conducted the closing devotional exercises.

Illicit Fishing.

The Belleville Intelligencer says that Fishery Overseer Clarke has for some time past had suspicion that a gill net was being set at Gull island after dark at night and removed before daylight in the morning. Friday night at eight o'clock he visited the place and his suspicions were confirmed. He captured a gill net which contained a large quantity of white fish, two bass and two pickerel. He liberated a large number of the white fish, which he was certain would live, and brought to the city twenty-six pounds. He brought sixty rods of net and was unable to bring it all at once. He returned for the remainder of the net, but during his absence it had been taken away. The net will be destroyed and the corks and lead sold. The net was set on the outside edge of the island.

Board of Trade Meeting.

A general meeting of the Board of Trade has been called in the council chamber for this evening at eight o'clock. The important questions of the street railway franchise, water power, and the William Hamilton Company extension will be up for discussion. Members should remember that the meeting is called for eight o'clock.

A Curiosity.

On the Dickson company property, at the corner of Lake and Elizabeth street, Ashburnham, can be seen quite a curiosity in the shape of a willow tree, about four foot thick, through the centre of which a picket fence runs. The fence was built when the tree was a mere sapling, and in the course of time grew and embedded the fence in its centre.

Supplying Us With Citizens.

The Cobourg Saturday Morning Post says: "The Edison Works at Peterborough are in want of some first class workmen, and during the past week several men in Cobourg have been approached with offers. We understand that Mr. Garrow, who was employed in the machine shops at the car works, has accepted a situation, and moved his family out last week. One or two others have also been offered situations in the above works. Now that the shops in Peterborough have been completed it is necessary to have first class workmen, and it appears that the company have great confidence in our mechanics, and are desirous of securing them."

A batch of bad boys were arraigned charged with creating disturbances in the neighbourhood of the South Ward school. After being severely admonished by the police magistrate, they were allowed to go on suspended sentence. If their future behaviour is not a marked improvement on their past in relation to the South Ward school, these lads may expect to be severely dealt with.

The Charlton Act Charge.

The Magistrate Enlarges the Case Till Thursday.

This morning at eleven o'clock John Pope, jr., was arraigned before Police Magistrate Edmison, charged with having unlawfully seduced and had illicit intercourse with Eunice Finlay of the township of Smith, a girl over the age of 12 and under the age of 16 years, in August last. Mr. R. E. Wood, C.C.A., appeared on behalf of the Crown, and Mr. A. P. Poussette, Q.C., for the accused.

The magistrate said that after mature consideration, he had decided not to dispose of the charge summarily, but would hear the evidence offered and if that warranted such a step to commit the accused. The case was heard with closed doors. The girl herself was the first witness and deposed as follows, her testimony being given to the accompaniment of much weeping and distress. She said that she lived with her parents about three miles from Bridgenorth. She was in Bridgenorth on August 12th, at John Pope's house. He took here there. She went from her father's place with the accused. He had called there and she went with prisoner and his wife. She remained at Pope's house during the night. The house was reached about dark. She stayed in the house till about nine o'clock, when she went over to John Montgomery's in the village, the prisoner accompanying her, leaving her at Montgomery's and going on to the post office. She remained about half an hour at Montgomery's. The defendant called for her, and she left Montgomery's in his company, and they went by the old travelled road back towards Pope's place till they reached Kelly's Grove. Prisoner asked her if she would get over the fence and go into the swamp with him. He did not say what he wanted her to go into the swamp for. They went into the swamp far enough to be out of sight. Prisoner made improper proposals, which she at first refused, and he repeated his proposal, to which she made no reply. He did not lay hold of her, but he accomplished her seduction and was the father of the child with which she was pregnant. The witness stated that she was 15 years of age on February 20th. No other man had ever had similar relations with her.

Cross examined by Mr. Poussette, the girl adhered pretty faithfully to her previous statements, admitting, however, that about two years previously she had had carnal intercourse with the accused.

JOHN FINLAY, father of the girl, testified to her being fifteen years of age last February. He discovered her present condition last Wednesday. She said that Pope was the cause of it, and the father had spoken of the matter to Pope, and he and his wife had come to Mr. Finlay's, and the girl had reiterated her charge that Pope was the father of the child, in his presence.

MRS. JOHN MONTGOMERY testified to having passed by where the girl had alleged that she and Pope had entered Kelly's grove. She saw the girl pass through an opening in the fence, followed by Pope. She heard the crackling of brush in a south western direction from where the entrance took place. She saw and heard nothing further at the time. About a week after, she having mentioned the circumstances in the meantime, Pope came to her and asked her what she had been saying about him, and denied that her story was correct.

The Magistrate said he was not clear upon that point and was not prepared to act at present.

Mr. POUSSETTE further submitted that there was no clear evidence that the girl was under 16 years. He further submitted that as the statutes required, there was no corroboration of the evidence of the chief witness.

Mr. Poussette submitted that the statute did not apply to this case, because at the time of the committal of the alleged act, as the girl admitted herself, she was not, as the statute required, of a chaste character.

The magistrate enlarged the case until Thursday to admit of farther testimony being submitted as to the age of the girl.

Their Eighth Anniversary.

The Royal Templars Celebrate Their Eighth Anniversary—Gospel Temperance Meeting in the Opera House—Short Addresses by Local Pastors—The Annual Sermon in the George Street Methodist Church.

A Gospel temperance meeting was held in Bradburn's opera house on Sunday afternoon. The house was well filled. The chair was occupied by Dr. Goldsmith. After the singing of a temperance hymn, Rev. Jos. Locke offered a prayer, which was followed by another temperance hymn, sung by the choir improvised for the occasion, Mr. Seward taking the pianoforte accompaniments.

The chairman, after announcing that Rev. A. MacWilliams and Rev. J. E. Trotter had been put down for addresses, but they were not present, and would be in perhaps later on, said it gave him great pleasure to see so many persons present. This meeting was only a special one of a series of Gospel temperance meetings held regularly for some time under the auspices of the society.

REV JOS. LOCKE gave a short address. He said that intemperance as a subject for discussion was not at all a new one, but the circumstance of the liquor traffic assuming so bold a front and so the denunciations of divine law as well as public sentiment, permitted no pause in the crusade against this gigantic evil. While the temperance cause deserved the sympathy and efforts of Christian ministers, as well as every member of their flocks, societies like the Templars of Temperance gave an opportunity to members of Christian congregations to cooperate with ministers in fighting this soul-destroying and body-destroying traffic.

REV. E F. TORRANCE said that as his time was short, he would merely read two or three resolutions passed at the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church to show the attitude of the church on this subject. The first resolution pronounced in favour of straight prohibition of the liquor traffic, but the speaker pointed out that in the present state of party government it would be difficult to carry a prohibitory law—one party for party reasons would vote against the other party which might introduce a prohibitory bill. The second and third resolutions declared and the thorough teaching of the evil effects of alcohol in the public schools. The speaker believed that, if the Dominion and Provincial governments had not "winked" at the infraction of the Scott Act, that that act would have been a great success and would have destroyed the liquor traffic in this town. (Cheers).

REV. A. MCWILLIAMS announced himself emphatically on the side of temperance and he wished the Royal Templars God speed in their good work. The liquor traffic was hostile to the individual, to society, to the state, to the church and to God and every Christian, was in duty bound to fight this iniquitous traffic.

MR. STUART, of Hamilton, after depicting the evils of the drink traffic, pointed out the great progress of temperance sentiment since the beginning of the present century.

REV. J. E TROTTER, said he was anxious to be present to show his colours. He was prohibition out and out. He spoke of those who believed in temperance and prohibition, should be more than theorists, they should set a good example and he gave striking and pathetic instances of the far reaching results these had had upon great men that had led great moral movements. If we were only merely human, not to say Christian, we should do all in our power to rid our land of the curse of the liquor traffic.

MASTER DE WITT TALMAGE, the boy elocutionist recited a selection "Belshazzar's Feast," written by and in the turgid, florid style of Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage, after whom the boy elocutionist was named. The lad showed considerable dramatic instinct, has a strong voice, and an excellent memory. He is certainly a phenomenal reciter for one of his years.

THE ANNIVERSARY SERMON.

There was a large congregation assembled in the George street Methodist church to listen to the anniversary sermon of the order by Rev. J. Thom, B.A., of the Mark street Methodist church, Ashburnham. After devotional exercises, the Scripture lesson, the fourth chapter of the Book of Proverbs, the fifth chapter of Isaiah, and the fourteenth chapter of Romans was read with pointed current comments. The preacher took for his text the 21st verse of the fifth chapter of St. Paul's first Epistle to the Thessalonians:—"Prove all things; hold fast to that which is good. Abstain from every appearance of evil."

The speaker said he chose this text because the Royal Templars placed their whole advocacy upon Gospel grounds, which committed the order to no compromise with strong drink. A good Christian stood aloof from danger and temptations, and therein lay the strength that led to moral triumphs. The speaker insisted on "proving all things" by the standard of our Lord's prayer—"Lead us not into temptation." There was no middle way in dealing with strong drink. They were only safe and strong who acted according to the spirit of the prayer, "lead us not into temptation." The young man who neither smoked or drank or gambled, could be trusted, and was walking in the safe and pure path. Social cheer was the fulcrum upon which the drink traffic rested, and overturned the happiness of thousands of homes. The spirit of the Gospel and the spirit of strong drink could not exist together. Those who had "the mind of Christ" would let their light shine and be a good example to those who would be under their influence. The duty of Christians is to deny themselves for the sake of helping the fallen. The importance was insisted on of the absolute necessity of total abstinence to the perfection of Christian character. A Christian might use intoxicants, but they would be found to be unfruitful servants, their example would be pernicious and their light would not shine. A Christian could not rise to a life of purity if he did not abstain from every appearance of evil.

Sermons to Young Men

Preached in the Churches in the Interests of the Y.M.C.A.

A very large congregation assembled in St. Paul's church in the evening to hear the address to young men by Mr. S. Frank Whitehouse, the talented young missionary from Inland China. Rev. E. F. Torrance, the pastor of the church, officiated in the opening service, after which Mr. Whitehouse choose the following words for his text: "There is a friend that sticketh closer than a brother." He opened his address by referring to the pleasure it gave him as a young man to have the privilege of addressing young men and of pointing them to that real friend that "sticketh closer than a brother." He showed in an impressive manner the great benefits to be derived from this Friend at all times and in all circumstances. He illustrated the reality of his friendship by a number of interesting incidents of his own personal experience while in inland China, wherein it was shown how, in the most adverse circumstances, Christ had been a real friend to him in every time of need. He appealed to young men to give themselves to Christ; and closed with an earnest desire for a spiritual awakening among the young people present.

At the close of the regular service, the members of the Y. M. C. A. addressed the young people who remained to take part in the after meeting. A very interesting evangelical service was held, and much good was accomplished.

Special sermons to young men were preached in the Charlotte street Methodist church in the morning by Rev. J. Thom, B. A., Ashburnham; in the Mark street Methodist church in the morning by Rev. George Edwards, in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church in the morning by Mr. S. Frank Whitehouse, and in the evening, as stated above, in St. Paul's, and in the Baptist church in the morning by Rev. J. E. Trotter.

Nesbitt and Stratton, of Peterborough, who spoke to those present, on the good qualities of the order, forcibly impressing all that it is a good and substantial organization. Short addresses were given by Messrs. Walton, Tully, Hunter, Wilson and others. The medical profession was responded to by, Dr. Montgomery. After a few remarks by the chairman the meeting broke at a late hour all feeling satisfied with the evening's entertainment.

Obituary.

The Late Mrs. S. Adams.

The Norwood Register contains the following reference to the life and death of Mrs. S. Adams, of Asphodel, mother of Police Constable Adams, town:—"It is with regret that we chronicle the death, on the 9th inst of Mrs. S. Adams, relict of the late Samuel Adams, at the advanced age of 72 years and 7 months. Deceased was born in County Down, Ireland, on the 17th of March, 1819, and in 1840 married Samuel Adams, a native of the same country. In 1844 they emigrated to Canada, taking up their residence in Ashburnham, where they resided for two years and then removed to the township of Belmont. In 1859 they removed to the township of Asphodel, where she resided until the death of her husband seven or eight years ago. She then took up her residence with her son Samuel, with whom she lived almost continually until the time of her death. The death summons came unexpectedly while visiting her son-in-law, Mr. W. McKay, at Havelock. Deceased was well known and highly esteemed throughout this section. The remains were interred in the Norwood cemetery on the 21st ult., the funeral being very largely attended."

Dyspepsia

Intense Suffering for 8 years—Restored to Perfect Health.

Few people have suffered more severely from dyspepsia than Mr. E. A. McMahon, a well known grocer of Staunton, Va. He says: "Before 1878 I was in excellent health, weighing over 200 pounds. In that year an ailment developed into acute dyspepsia, and soon I was reduced to 162 pounds, suffering burning sensations in the stomach, palpitation of the heart, nausea, and indigestion. Intense I could not sleep, lost all heart in my work, had fits of melancholia, and for days at a time I would have welcomed death. I became morose, sullen and irritable, and for eight years life was a burden. I tried many physicians and many remedies. One day a workman employed by me suggested that I take Hood's Sarsaparilla, as it had cured his wife of dyspepsia. Suffering I did so, and before taking the whole of a bottle I began to feel like a new man. The terrible pains to which I had been subjected, ceased, the palpitation of the heart subsided, my stomach became easier, nausea disappeared, and my entire system began to tone up. With returning strength came activity of mind and body. Before the fifth bottle was taken 8 Years I had regained my former weight and natural condition. I am today well and I ascribe it to taking Hood's Sarsaparilla."

N. B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to buy any other.

LORD MAYOR'S BANQUET

IMPORTANT SPEECH BY PREMIER SALISBURY.

Not a Single Speck of Cloud upon the Horizon Foreboding War—Occupation of Egypt to Continue—Recent Events in Ireland.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—At the Lord Mayor's banquet at Guildhall last evening Lord Salisbury in the course of his address commented upon the legislation of the past session of Parliament, which, he said, was satisfactory to the Government and acceptable to the people.

Regarding affairs in Ireland Lord Salisbury said that the work which Mr. Balfour, the Chief Secretary, had done in that country in the last four years was the best ever done by a statesman. This statement was greeted with cheers.

Continuing, His Lordship said: "What we have recently seen in Ireland has not altered our policy, nor has it made us think that a domestic legislature in Ireland would be distinguished by peace or abstinence from the use of blackthorns, or by freedom from the curse of ecclesiastical domination." [Cries of "Hear, hear!"]

As to foreign affairs, the Premier said there was not a single speck of cloud upon the horizon foreboding danger to the peace which prevails. It seemed that the spirit of nations was changing towards industrial competition. The great present question for consideration was the treaties of commerce which expire in 1892.

The Tariff Question.

The question of tariffs was engaging the attention of various nations. Though with respect to material warfare Lord Salisbury said he could hold out the most promising anticipations, so far as industrial warfare was concerned, having as a weapon protective legislation, he feared that Great Britain would occupy, for a time a peculiar isolated position. The recent elections in America had shown that the slight reaction against protection had lost its force. [Cries of "Hear, hear!"]

Continuing he said: "The one colony we are able to cite as a free trader—New South Wales—no longer wears an unspotted robe. We shall have the advantage, therefore, before long of being the Athanasius contra mundum of free trade."

England in Egypt.

Referring to Egypt he said that the Government was not responsible for the condition in which it felt itself to be in that country. England had made a great sacrifice in order to rescue Egypt from the evils which threatened to destroy the country and it was her duty to remain there until the Egyptian Government was strong enough to repel external invasions and quell internal disorders. Until that end was attained the Premier declared the Government could not consider England's duty achieved. [Cheers.]

SPOILED BY A DOWNPOUR.

The Lord Mayor's Show in London Spoiled By Rain.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—The Lord Mayor's show was spoiled yesterday by a ceaseless downfall of rain, but the new Lord Mayor, David Evans, a Welshman, who represented the Castle Bayard ward in the Board of Aldermen, managed to enjoy himself considerably in spite of the weather. Lord Mayor Evans succeeded Lord Mayor Sir Joseph Savory. The day being also the anniversary of the birth of the Prince of Wales, and the occasion for the celebration of the silver wedding of the Emperor and Empress of Russia, patriotic Londoners have full opportunities to read of great festivities even if they are unable to take part in them. The pageant was a brilliant one and the various cars represented historic incidents.

DIVORCE IN HIGH LIFE.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—The Evening News of this city yesterday publishes a story which is destined to create a sensation in many circles of society. It is to the effect that Rosalie Bonaparte has filed a petition asking for a divorce from her husband, Louis Clovering Bonaparte.

This action is the outcome of a rather complicated series of matrimonial events, which had their origin in a divorce suit instituted against Rosalie by her former husband. In this last mentioned suit Louis Clovering Bonaparte was charged by the husband with having been intimate with Rosalie, and his allegations were supported by the evidence. The divorce prayed for was granted. The relations between Rosalie and Louis culminated in their marriage, the latter assuming on that occasion the name of Clovis.

Louis Clovering Bonaparte is a son of Prince Louis Lucien Bonaparte, who died a few days ago. Prince Louis Lucien, however, did not acknowledge Louis Clovering as his son until Oct. 12 last. Two days later Louis Clovering contracted a marriage with Laura Scott, and it is his living with the latter as his wife which constitutes the grounds for the divorce asked for by Rosalie.

THE WRECKED OTTAWA.

The Vessel a Total Wreck and the Stewardess Drowned.

HALIFAX, N.S., Nov. 6.—The steamer Ottawa struck on Blond Rock, a few miles east of Seal Island, Sunday morning, and will be a total loss. When she went ashore the crew took to the boats and started for Seal Island. On the way one of the boats in which was the stewardess, Mrs. Lindsay, wife of the steward, and three men was upset by the heavy sea running. Two of the men managed to get on the bottom, but the woman and one man got caught underneath the boat and were in that position for six hours before being rescued by another of the ship's boats. When taken out the stewardess had been dead about half an hour, but the man was still alive though very far gone.

PENNY POSTAGE GIVEN ITS QUIETUS

Severe Weather in Europe—Broke the Monte Carlo Bank—Retired Soldiers to be Employed as Postmen in England—Balfour and the Irish Constabulary.

DUBLIN, Nov. 10.—A.J. Balfour, who until his appointment as the successor of the late William Henry Smith as Government leader in the House of Commons, was Chief Secretary for Ireland yesterday reviewed the Royal Irish Constabulary stationed in this city. Mr. Balfour in a speech declared he was rejoiced to know that the efficiency and popularity of the force was never greater than at the present time. The men had shown zeal equally in protecting politicians from the attacks of their opponents and the solitary tenant from organized intimidation.

Mr. Balfour said that in severing his connection with Irish matters he looked back with pleasure upon the kindness he had received from all classes of the Irish people. From no class had he more kindness than from the police force. He expressed the hope that the day was not far distant when anything would be done to change the constitution of the force or to destroy the corps of which not only Ireland but the whole United Kingdom had reason to be proud.

KILLED THE BABE.

A Reverend Scoundrel Reverses the Command of His Master.

DUBLIN, Nov. 10.—Rev. Samuel Catton, rector of Carogh, Kildare, who was recently charged with criminal neglect and ill-treatment of children in the Carogh Orphanage, has been arrested for homicide, in having caused the death of a child by placing it in a cold bath and leaving it in the open air all night, covered merely with a sack. The child was found dead in the morning, the sack being frozen to its body.

The Tricolor to Fly in The Sahara.

GIBRALTAR, Nov. 10.—The dispute between the French Government and the Sultan of Morocco regarding the ownership of the oasis of Tourat does not seem to be approaching a solution, and if France remains steadfast in her determination to take possession of Tourat there is no doubt serious trouble will follow. The inhabitants of the oasis are in a state of anarchy, growing out of the dispute between the two powers. The Sultan of Morocco recently sent a number of emissaries to Tourat to gain support to his pretensions to sovereignty, but the natives imprisoned the emissaries and subsequently decapitated five of them.

77 Went Down With the Vessel.

CALCUTTA, Nov. 10.—A cyclone passed over the Andaman Islands, in the Bay of Bengal. The islands form a British convict settlement to which East Indian criminals are transported. The steamer Enterprise, owned by the Indian Government and used to carry prisoners to the island and for other purposes, was at one of the ports when the cyclone set in. The vessel foundered and of her crew of 83 men only six were saved. The other 77 either went down with the steamer or were drowned while attempting to reach the shore.

The German Financial Situation.

BERLIN, Nov. 10.—There is no disguising the fact that a financial panic of considerable gravity prevails here as a result of the recent startling financial disclosures, failures and the suicides attending them.

The influence of this decline of prices is already felt in London and Paris, and it would not be going too far to say that the Berlin troubles have disorganized every market in Europe.

Sigmund Sommerfeld, the second victim, upon himself on Saturday last.

It has transpired that just as the doors of the bank of Hirschfeld & Wolff were closed a clerk of a prominent firm arrived to deposit 500,000 marks. This sum would have been sufficient to tide the bank over its difficulties.

The owners of the Jacobs sugar factory, one of the oldest establishments of the kind in Prussia, have made application for an extension of credit.

A large number of the customers of the great banking firms on Leipziger strasse, alarmed by the recent failures of Hirschfeld & Wolff and Friedlander & Sommerfeld, to-day visited the bankers and withdrew their deposits. There was great excitement among the depositors and it was found necessary to detail a number of policemen for the special purpose of keeping the crowd in order. There was a run upon the banks generally. All demands were met, however, and this fact tended in a great measure to allay the excitement. The feeling is now becoming quieter.

Rebels and Their Lands Seized.

SYDNEY, Nov. 10.—News has been received here from Samoa that Malietoa, the reigning chief, who has been upheld by Great Britain, Germany and the United States, has proclaimed as rebels Mataafa and his followers, who have recently shown much dissatisfaction to his rule, and has also confiscated their lands. The islands of the group, however, are in a peaceful condition.

Retired Soldiers As Postmen.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Sir James Fergusson, Postmaster-General announces that in future retired soldiers will have the preference for employment as postmen. This decision is intended to stimulate recruiting. It will result in the employment of 16,000 men.

Succumbed to His Injuries.

MORE ELECTIONS VOIDED

BRIBERY BY AGENTS THE CAUSE IN EACH CASE.

Mr. Gibson Unseated in Welland and Mr Tarte in Montmorency—The Kent and Marquette Petitions Dismissed, No Evidence Being Offered.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Nov. 10.—At the trial of the controverted election petition for Lincoln and Niagara, which was held here yesterday before Justices Falconbridge and Street, the respondent, Mr. William Gibson of Beamsville was unseated. Mr. A. B. Aylesworth, Q.C., who appeared for the petitioner, after asking for permission to make some amendments as to other charges, proceeded with charge three, which set out that George Longley, an agent of the respondent, had paid to Melvin Smith, a voter, the sum of $6 to abstain from voting for the Conservative candidate, Mr. Sylvester Neelon. Longley's agency was proved by Mr. Gilleland, a special agent for the respondent in St. Catharines. Melvin Smith testified as to himself and his brother having been paid $6 each to refrain from voting.

Mr. Lash called no evidence in defence and the election was declared void. The judgment included a dismissal of the personal charges, as far as the respondent was concerned, Mr. Aylesworth stating it was not the intention to offer any evidence regarding them.

There is a current report throughout the city that Sylvester Neelon, the defeated candidate, does not now desire Parliamentary honors, and that Mr. J. C. Rykert and Mr. William Gibson are likely candidates for the vacant seat.

Kent Petition Dismissed.

CHATHAM, Nov. 10.—When the court for the trial of the Kent controverted election opened at the county court house Monday before Justices Rose and MacMahon ed yesterday morning in the Superior Court, Mr. J. C. Patterson of Essex, counsel for the petitioner, announced on behalf of the petitioner that it had been decided in reviewing the evidence collected that there was not sufficient to support the charges against the respondent, Mr. Alexander Campbell, and that therefore they did not propose to go on with the case.

The petition was accordingly dismissed with costs.

Mr. Tarte Unseated for Bribery.

QUEBEC, Nov. 10.—Judgment was rendered—Justices Routhier and Casault presiding, in the contested election case of I. Tarte, member for Montmorency in the House of Commons. The judgment was against Mr. Tarte, unseating him for bribery committed by his agent.

It is said Mr. Tarte will shortly leave on a trip to Paris.

Another Petition Dismissed.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 10.—Petition against return of Robert Watson, Liberal member for Marquette, was dismissed yesterday, the Conservatives offering no evidence.

A SCUFFLE ENDS IN DEATH.

Probably Fatal Outcome of a Row at Bloomfield.

PICTON, Ont., Nov. 10.—Emory Ferguson and Joseph Rogers attended the Salvation Army meeting in Bloomfield last evening. After the services, and almost immediately after leaving the barracks, they were stoned by a party of four or five, and one of the attacking parties named Bowerman came up and struck Ferguson twice. Ferguson drew a revolver and said he would defend himself. Bowerman immediately seized the revolver and in the struggle for possession of the weapon it was discharged, the ball entering Ferguson's abdomen, lodging near the back. Ferguson will die. No arrests have been made.

A Piece of Yarn Around His Neck.

VICTORIA, B.C., Nov. 10.—The body of an Indian named Semamamck was found lying face down in the brush near Saanich. There was a piece of yarn attached to his neck and to the limb of a neighboring tree, but the string was both too weak to bear his weight and too long to give anyone the idea that he had hanged himself. He was last seen alive in Saanich about a week ago, when he went there to see a woman with whom he used to live. She was his sister-in-law, and he was desirous of marrying her, but to this the priest would not consent on grounds of too near relationship. It seems he was not successful in his affection and there was a parting.

SMITH'S FALLS, Ont., Nov. 10.—A young couple registered at the Wardrobe Hotel here a few weeks ago as Walter Lussier and wife, Ottawa. The man insisted on having the finest room and best accommodation the house could afford. They remained nearly three weeks, and when the young man was reminded that his board bill was unpaid, he said he was an employe of the Printing Bureau, Ottawa, and expected a check in a day or two for his month's salary. The other night the couple let their valises down out of a back window with a rope, and then quietly slipping out themselves, took the midnight train for Brockville, where they were arrested and brought back here yesterday.

Successful Dash for Liberty.

KINGSTON, Nov. 10.—On Saturday afternoon about 5 o'clock, as the convicts were being assembled for removal to the prison, a man named Morrison of a quarry gang made a dash for liberty and up to the present is free. He was 25 years of age and very keen. It is thought he took to the woods on Saturday night and jumped on a freight train. He arrived here in April, having been sentenced from St. Thomas for three years for larceny.

Claims $10,000 Damages.

HAMILTON, Nov. 10.—Prior to leaving for his home in Brantford William P. Scarfe, the young commercial traveler who figured so prominently in the police court sensation of Saturday morning, and who was discharged on the ground that he had committed no offence, as he had a right to enter the woman's bedroom at her invitation, instructed his solicitors, Messrs. Nesbitt, Bicknell & Gauld, to enter an action against Mr. John Hood of the Royal Hotel for alleged illegal arrest and malicious prosecution. The amount at which young Scarfe fixes the damages to his reputation is $10,000.

A Drop in Manitoba Wheat.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 9.—In consequence of rise of lake rates between Fort William and Buffalo the price of wheat in this country has dropped four cents per bushel. It would seem that as there is more wheat going out for export than available bottoms can carry shipowners have taken advantage of situation to increase rates.

SWALLOWED UP BY THE SEA.

A Long List of Disasters Off the Newfoundland Banks.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Nov. 6.—Particulars have just been received here of the loss of the schooner Parsee with all on board. The vessel was coming from the Funks when she was caught in a storm. On the following day she was discovered swinging off a reef in a partly submerged condition and lying on her side. There was not a soul on board, as all had perished in the storm. It is supposed that the breakers from Northern Bill rock broke over the schooner and caused the disaster. The crew consisted of John C. Kean, master, and his four sons; James Sturge, married, leaves a wife and five children; Samuel Jean, unmarried, 24 years old.

The schooner Lois Jane of Harbor Grace has been given up as lost, with all hands. She was engaged in the Labrador fishery and is supposed to have gone down near Cape Harrison in a heavy gale. Four widows and nine children are left to mourn the loss of the crew.

Two of the crew of the schooner Lizzie M. Stanwood have been lost by the capsizing of a dory.

The body of a man has been washed ashore at Seal's Cove, seven miles from Renews. The body was supposed to be from wreck.

A NORTHERN MYSTERY.

Strange Discovery Reported in the Athabasca District

EDMONTON, Alberta, Nov. 10.—The Bulletin says: Bishop Young of Athabasca, in a letter dated Dunvegan, reports that last winter Albert J. Kneeland, while engaged in driving cattle some 20 miles above Vermillion on Peace River, observed a heavy smoke arising from a place where a considerable land slip had occurred. Being in the vicinity some few months later he noticed the smoke was still rising and the ground was bare of snow in the vicinity where the smoke was proceeding from. Last August Bishop Young and Mr. Kneeland visited and carefully examined the broken ground in the neighborhood of the land slip, and found that the smoke proceeded from some deep fissures occasioned by the land slips, and strong fumes, much like those from a brick kiln, arose. Burning paper was dropped down those fissures but no result followed, clearly proving that the heat and fumes arise from a different source than the gas springs on the Athabasca River. Bishop Young is of the opinion that the burning, which has not been more than two years in existence, arises from a seam of coal which the land slide has exposed. The face of the river bank in the vicinity is marked by a bluish shale which frequently discolors the banks of the Peace River.

A Bride of Five Weeks Tries to Hasten Her Husband's Exit.

WOBURN, Mass., Nov. 10.—Mrs. Maria Halloran, aged 23, was held yesterday on a charge of attempting to poison her husband of five weeks, Bartholomew Halloran, aged 38, by putting Paris green into his food. Mrs. Halloran admits that she sprinkled some of her husband's food with powder that she bought in Boston and that it was recommended to her as having the power of increasing her husband's affection for her. Her victim, however, seems to be of the opinion that some property he owns was the real incentive and had his wife arrested. Halloran was made seriously ill by eating the food.

Only Three of a Kind Now.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Nov. 10.—John Kopp was found hanging in his cellar last night by his little daughter. He had been dead an hour. During the day he seemed in the best of spirits and worked at his trade of a cabinet maker.

He had been in poor health for a long time and this drove him to despondency. Kopp belonged to the famous suicide club.

There are now only three surviving members. His father and four brothers also committed suicide. Kopp was a middle aged man and leaves a large family. He had frequently said he would kill himself.

And this is no false prophecy; it will be fulfilled, therefore, it should be a good time to buy property for use or speculation, and 357 George St. is by far the best place to go when you want to buy or rent for any purpose.

Buy Now, If at All.

EVERY day makes more apparent the fact that the town is going ahead rapidly. Numerous changes have taken place in the way of ownership of property. Many workingmen are buying houses and lots, or lots on which to build. One of the most suitable locations is that known as the Erin property, at the west end, owned largely by Mr. Wm Fitzgerald. This week he has closed the sale of a very desirable house and lot, and has several eligible lots on this property to dispose of. Property in this neighborhood is rapidly being built up, and it will be well to have a look at the situation if one is at all disposed to buy. The terms are very favorable and especially low for cash, though payment on time may be arranged.

J. J. SHEEHY'S SECOND ANNOUNCEMENT.

On the first of October, I, having just concluded my sixth year in Business, felt desirous of stating to my many Customers and the Public Generally, just what my experience had been. I endeavoured to do so in such a manner as to convince those who read advertisements, (and their name is legion) that what I said I meant. I refrained from Wild Statements, Quoting of Prices, and the Specifying of Extraordinary Values, or the Hundred-and-one Stereotyped Methods that are indulged in by Advertisers as a rule, but at once Got Down to Facts, and will endeavour to follow out that Principle, as I consider that the growth of my Business is, in itself, the biggest guarantee that the people are satisfied, that, when they buy goods from J. J. SHEEHY, they get Right Goods and that the Prices are also right.

The Month of October, notwithstanding the Mild Weather has been a Great Success so far. And the 5 Per Cent Discount which has just Seven Days More to Run, is evidently making itself felt. If you require any Fall and Winter Dry Goods, come in and examine our stock, and if we have not what you want, then it is a line, either unknown to the trade or at least has not yet reached Peterborough. I might just say in conclusion that I have closed the purchase of over 200 PAIRS OF WHITE WOOL BLANKETS.

The weights range from 5 to 9 pounds. As to the value, I will not say anything, but cordially invite your inspection, firmly believing that the Prices will speak for themselves.

Don't forget the 5 Per Cent. Discount off every purchase of, or over, ONE DOLLAR, during the Month of October. Yours respectfully,

J. J. SHEEHY.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1891.

The New National Policy.

It is admitted by all that the condition of agriculture in Canada is not so favorable as it was in 1878. Prices have ruled low for years past, and the value of farm land has been on the wane. In addition the farmer's burdens have increased. Taxation is higher than it was, for the debt and expenditure have been greatly augmented. Nevertheless in those days the Tories held that the farmer was not prospering as he ought to do solely for want of a near market. They told him, and he took them at their word, that if he would return the authors of the Pacific scandal to power they would create a home market at his door, or at any rate force the United States to take down its tariff wall. Their whole cry was that the nearer the farmer was to the consumer the better. To day they contradict this

SELF-EVIDENT PROPOSITION.

Their efforts to establish a home market competent to absorb the surplus products of the country have, of course, failed. Worse than that, the resort in 1879 to a war of tariffs has resulted not in closer trade relations with the United States, as promised, but in the more or less complete exclusion of Canadian farm products from that country. In this situation and gravely tell the farmer that better far than reciprocity or a home market is trade with Britain. All he has to do is to change his crops. They ought to add that it will be necessary in the case of some articles to reconstruct his soil and climate. The Chatham Banner (Liberal) complained the other day that the McKinley tariff had inflicted mortal injury upon the barley-grower. The London Free Press (Tory) at once replied:—"If in the face of the McKinley tariff the Kent County farmer persists in raising six-rowed barley in preference to two-rowed, and oats and peas, which can be sent to England at as good a profit as barley would bring in the States under the best conditions,

THEY ADOPT A NEW LINE,

HE HAS HIMSELF TO BLAME.

It is sheer stubbornness." Mr. Carling's mouthpiece proceeds to elaborate its contention that the farmers should devote themselves altogether to cultivating for the British market. If they do not they deserve to suffer. Two-rowed-barley, corn pork, peas, oats, eggs, etc., can be sold well across the Atlantic, and the farmer should therefore drop the movement looking to the substitution of unrestricted commerce for the McKinley Bill, as well as give up hope of ever seeing an all-consuming home market. In short, having fleeced and bled him for twelve years by all manner of exactions, corruptions and extravagances, the Tories now throw the farmer upon the cold charity of the British market, with his ability to encounter the fierce competition which reigns there sadly diminished by reason of the enhanced cost of the production resulting from their criminal folly.

Will somebody tell us how

THIS NEW NATIONAL

policy is going to improve the farmers position or that of the country? Wheat, cattle and cheese can be shipped to Britain to advantage. So can square timber and other articles. But the coarser products of the farm could be sold at a more remunerative price across the line. Moreover the United States is the only market capable of taking our iron, coal, salt, smaller lumber and fish in large quantities. The mineral wealth of the older provinces must be their mainstay in the future. Unless it is developed it is idle to expect them to retain either the immigration which comes in or the natural expansion of population. The new policy, however, implies the continued locking up of these resources, together with the confinement of the farmer to a remote market where only the cheapest survive, and where, as every one knows, it is physically impossible for him to dispose of much of what he grows. The Old Man in one of his frank moments said that as were better than one so were two markets, and that if we could secure free access to the United States as well as to Britain we should be just as much to the good. The Americans recognize the soundness of this principle, and are doing their best to enlarge the market for the American farmer on this continent. Their reciprocity arrangements with the sugar producing countries are directed to this end. They also see that the farmer can sell profitably abroad only when he is lightly taxed at home. Hence they are paying off their war debt rapidly, the interest-bearing portion of it amounting now to less than $10 per head; and reducing the tariff as fast as the old prejudice in favor of protection will allow. Under the McKinley tariff 55 per cent. of their imports are free, while the rate of customs taxation on dutiable goods, average 40 per cent. ad val.—a lower average of duties than any since the war, with a far larger free list. Like ourselves they have failed ludicrously for the consumption of their surplus products, and now confess that the job is impracticable, and that the right way of promoting the prosperity of agriculture and the rest of the natural industries is to seek other markets, the nearer home the better, and make the cost of production as light as possible, so that alike in those neighbouring markets and in the more distant market of Britain the American exporter may have a fair chance. But Mr. Carling and his party, who once entertained similar opinions, now have the impudence to assure the farmer that all this is error—that the royal road to good times lies through onerous fiscal burdens and through the adaptation of his soil and methods of culture to the requirements of a market in another hemisphere three thousand miles off. This is described by one of the Tory papers as the "true British connection policy." If so, then in their own words, "So much the worse for British connection." For either the Canadian farmer will grow steadily poorer than his neighbor in the States, or he will migrate thither in greater numbers than ever.

Canada possesses all the essentials for becoming a great and popular community. But she cannot run foul of the economical laws with impunity. These laws are not of man's making, they are inherent in the nature of things, and he cannot undo them. To throw our producers back upon Britain alone, while those of the United States possess not only equal privileges in Britain, but markets in Central and South America and in the Spanish West Indies, which discriminate in their favor, is to discourage the former, just as they will be discouraged if we continue to heap fresh liabilities upon them while those of the United States are being more and more lightly taxed. One would imagine that this thesis required no argument. But the Tories try to ram the very opposite down our throats, and, when we resist swear that we are of the most potent and active properties of the whole vegetable kingdom, is that which makes Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription so pre-eminently above every other so-called woman's restorative in the market. Don't stop short of the best! From the Jaws of Death.

RUNNING DOWN THE COUNTRY.

As the census shows, they are the men who are injuring the country. Let trade be made free between Canada and the continent to which she belongs, so that her natural wealth may be turned to account, and we shall soon witness a change for the better. The elements of material greatness abound, but only by conforming to the decrees of nature can we bring them into play. So long as we inflict upon the Dominion the enormous injustice of sacrificing all other interests to those of a favored class, who will never willingly let go of their special privileges, so long must we expect to see it lag in the race and even exhibit symptoms of premature decay. As Matthew Arnold said of the misgovernment of another country, to do wrong to the many for the sake of the few is the surest way of giving Nemesis a lien upon human exertion and of bringing that exertion to naught.

Some surprising effects have been recorded from the use of Millers Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil in the most desperate cases of consumption. When all other remedies have failed Miller's Emulsion nearly always succeeds. It is the best kind of a flesh and blood maker, and has been used with marked success by the physicians in the Insane Asylum, Penitentiary, Hotel Dieu, and General Hospital in Kingston, Ont. In big bottles 50c. and $1—at Peterborough Drug stores. dw

Ask Your Friends About It.

Your distressing cough can be cured. We know it, because Kemp's Balsam within the past few years has cured so many coughs and colds in this community. Its remarkable sale has been won entirely by its genuine merit. Ask some friend who has used it what he thinks of Kemp's Balsam. There is no medicine so pure, none so effective. Large bottles 50c. and $1 at all druggists. d

A Sea Voyage.

A sea voyage is an expensive and extensive prescription, especially when equally good results as regards health are to be had by simply taking Burdock Blood Bitters according to directions. It is a specific for dyspepsia, cleanses the blood, regulates the liver, bowels and kidneys and removes all impure matter from the system.

His Family did not Know Him.

A Belleville man has for many been bent and crippled with a lame back, but after trying the OR, Kidney cure, he could walk like a boy again and his neighbors could hardly recognize him. This remedy is for sale by all druggists and the OR, Kidney Company, Belleville. dw

The Czar of Russia.

The Czar of Russia probably has his own troubles as well as we commoner mortals. Where we have the advantage in such troubles as dyspepsia, biliousness, constipation, bad blood, and the like is in being able to procure easily a perfect remedy in Burdock Blood Bitters, nature's grand restorative tonic and purifier. dw

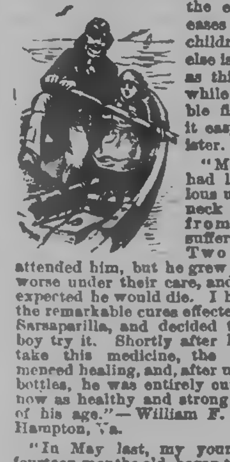
The Safest

AND most powerful alterative is Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Young and old are alike benefited by its use. For the eruptive diseases peculiar to children nothing else is so effective as this medicine, while its agreeable flavor makes it easy to administer.



"My little boy had large scrofulous ulcers on his neck and throat from which he suffered terribly. Two physicians attended him, but he grew continually worse under their care, and everybody expected he would die. I had heard of the remarkable cures effected by Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and decided to have my boy try it. Shortly after he began to take this medicine, the ulcers commenced healing, and, after using several bottles, he was entirely cured. He is now as healthy and strong as any boy of his age."—William F. Dougherty, Hampton, Va.

"In May last, my youngest child, fourteen months old, began to have sores gather on its head and body. We applied various simple remedies without avail. The sores increased in number and discharged copiously. A physician was called, but the sores continued to multiply until in a few months they nearly covered the child's head and body. At last we began the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. In a few days a marked change for the better was manifest. The sores assumed a more healthy condition, the discharges were gradually diminished, and finally ceased altogether. The child is livelier, its skin is fresher, and its appetite better than we have observed for months."—Frank M. Griffin, Long Point, Texas.

"The formula of Ayer's Sarsaparilla presents, for chronic diseases of almost every kind, the best remedy known to the medical world."—D. M. Wilson, M. D., Wiggs, Arkansas.

THANKS!

THURSDAY is Thanksgiving Day. We want to join with our friends in observing the day.

In common with all we have reason to be thankful for a good season. Good business, good crops and good prospects.

These are blessings and benefits that are alike shared by rich and poor, by the hard working and the prosperous. We Canadians are a plain, and in many respects, a plodding people, and our gains come to us as the result of hard work and steady application. Few of us can be thankful for great wealth, but all may be grateful for that measure of success that rewards the toiler.

GOUGH BROTHERS have to thank their friends, their customers, the people, for a year's support and custom and in recognition wish that for many Thanksgiving Days they may all be spared to share in the observances.

Yours thankfully,

"German Syrup"

Asthma. "I have been a great sufferer from Asthma and severe Colds every Winter, and last Fall my friends as well as myself thought because of my feeble condition, and great distress from constant coughing, and inability to raise any of the accumulated matter from my lungs, that my time was close at hand. When nearly worn out for want of sleep and rest, a friend recommended me to try thy valuable medicine, Boschee's German Syrup. I am confident it saved my life. Gentle, Refreshing Sleep. Almost the first dose gave me great relief and a gentle refreshing sleep, such as I had not had for weeks. My cough began immediately to loosen and pass away, and I found myself rapidly gaining in health and weight. I am pleased to inform thee—unsolicited—that I am in excellent health and do certainly attribute it to thy Boschee's German Syrup. C. B. STICKNEY, Picton, Ontario."

Weather Notes For October.

October following in the foot steps of its predecessor, with the continuing of fine weather, making outside labour both comfortable and pleasant. A few days at the commencement of the month were fine and warm and, although the nights were given to frost, throughout the day the weather was every thing that could be desired. We had frost on the 23rd morning and some of it very sharp for October, the coldest being on the 25th, the thermometer coming down to 17 degrees at sunrise, and the hottest on the 4th standing at 56°, leaving the mean temperature of the month at 43 and 18/31 degrees. We had our first snow on the 11th; and again on the 27th. 'Tis an old saying that we never had an October without snow. This year it is fully up to the mark, determined it should lose nothing by keeping up an old custom. One thing is worthy of remark there having been neither thunder nor auroral lights during the month; but for fine dry weather I am not aware of a finer October. Rain only fell on 6 days to the depth of 1 inch and 67/100 of an inch, being very light. We had one sharp gale on the 27th, but throughout the month it was mostly calm. The following are the different points from which the wind was blowing at sunrise during the month respectively, namely: northwest, 11 days; northeast, 7 days; southwest, 7 days; southeast, 3 days; east, 1 day; west, 1 day and north 1 day.

9th Nov.—This morning at sunrise the thermometer stood at 50°. That is good for November.—THOS. TELFORD.

A Terribly Dangerous Disease.

An Eminent Doctor's Opinion—May Become a Suicide—Melancholia, a Nervous Trouble.

The New York Medical Journal lately published a report of a lecture on the importance of recognising melancholia in its earlier stages, by Dr. Burnet, lecturer in the Kansas City Medical College, from which report we take a few extracts.

Dr. Burnet affirms that there is a marked difference between sadness and melancholia. In ordinary sadness there is a cause comprehensible to the individual, and he will seek to relieve it. In melancholia there is no apparent cause; there is some implication of the higher faculties, and the patient is usually indifferent to his condition, surroundings and future progress.

Dr. Burnet shows that the first symptom of simple melancholia is sleeplessness. Another symptom of the greatest importance is a dull pain in the back of the neck, extending to the back of the head. The third symptom is depression of spirits, accompanied by slower mental movements and retarded speech and actions. Terrifying hallucinations mark this disease, and an utter indifference to one's self and one's surroundings, aversion to food, and inability to sleep, except under the influence of drugs. The propensity to take life may come on suddenly or be gradually developed.

We are assured by some of the best physicians in Canada that melancholia is a very common disease in our country, more especially with females. It is simply and truly a terrible nervous disease, and its consequences are terribly fatal when uncared for. In the treatment of this dreadful malady the grandest results have been brought about by the use of Paine's Celery Compound. It contains all the necessary elements for the toning and strengthening of the complicated nerve system, which is the first step towards a complete cure. It gives a natural and healthy strength it promotes a perfect digestion, and gives sweet sleep and repose. All physicians who have prescribed Paine's Celery Compound for melancholia are delighted with its wonderful and quick results, and we are not boasting when we assert that for all such nervous ailments, it stands far above all remedies known to the medical faculty. We solemnly warn all who have friends subject to melancholia, or predisposed to it, to use this simple yet powerful preparation at once, and thus take away every trace of such a very dangerous trouble.

Lowering the Pitch.

Of Interest to Musicians.

The piano manufacturers of New York at a meeting on Friday adopted a standard pitch. A committee which had been working for months to agree upon a pitch reported on Friday in favor of the standard French, Austrian and Italian pitch of 435 vibrations to the second of time, 68 degrees Fahrenheit. The report was unanimously adopted, and the foregoing declared as the national pitch, to go into effect by July 1st, 1892, all manufacturers agreeing to tune their musical instruments, of whatever description, accordingly. Piano manufacturers all over the country have been waiting for the New York men to take this step. Two thousand forks are on their way from Europe, and will be distributed throughout the country for use. The new pitch is seventeen vibrations lower than that which is now in use in this country.

I have, and do recommend it as highly beneficial to the profession and public generally as an agreeable and welcome innovation in the remedies put forth for public favor.

Do You Cough?

Don't delay. Take Kemp's Balsam, the best cough cure. It will cure coughs and colds. It will cure sore throat, or a tickling in the throat. It will cure pains in the chest. It will cure influenza and bronchitis and all diseases pertaining to the lungs, because it is a pure balsam. Hold it to the light and see how clear and thick it is. You see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Large bottles 50c and $1. dw

A Severe Attack.

DEAR SIRS—My children were taken ill with ulcerated sore throat, bordering on diphtheria. I had nothing in the house but Hagyard's Yellow Oil, which I used with great benefit. I am sure if it had not been for it the disease would have developed into diphtheria. It is a splendid medicine.

A Spring Medicine.

There are few who do not at this season feel the need of a spring medicine, and to all such we recommend Lane's Family Medicine as the best. This is a pleasant herb drink made by pouring boiling water on the dried roots and herbs. Druggists sell the packages at 50c. and $1. It is the best as well as the pleasantest cure for constipation and headache. dw

It is estimated there are five thousand different kind of pills on the market. Should one be able to test the entire lot for a perfect specific in sick headache, foul stomach, habitual constipation and liver complaint, then only one would be found: McGale's Butternut Pills, they cure when others only relieve. Price 25 cents. dw

Prompt, potent and permanent results always come from the use of Milburn's Aromatic Quinine Wine. dw

ALL disorders caused by a bilious state of the system can be cured by using Carter's Little Pills. No pain, griping or discomfort attending their use. Try them, dw

Painful burns, bruises, scalds and cuts are quickly soothed and healed by Victoria Carbolic Salve. dw

Advice Free.

Keep the head cool, the feet warm, and the bowels regular, and no disease can attack you. This is a celebrated German physician's advice, and can best be accomplished by using Burdock's Blood Bitters, the best regulator and purifier known. It cures all disorders of the stomach, liver, bowels and blood. dw

A Double Effect.

DEAR SIRS—I have used Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam for bronchitis and bad cough with the best results, and can highly recommend it to all sufferers.

THE "RED STAR" CLOTHING HOUSE,

SHEPPARD'S OLD STAND,
GEORGE ST., PETERBOROUGH.

A WEEK AGO

"THE STAR" made the largest purchase of Overcoats ever made at one time in the history of the Clothing Trade—Over TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS' WORTH---the entire magnificent stock of one of the largest manufacturers of Fine Clothing in Canada. The owners of the goods were in Desperate Need of Ready Cash. We had it, and we got the stock AT OUR OWN PRICE. We placed about half our purchase on sale Monday morning, and to-day we place the balance of the stock on our tables. The last shipment included the Finest Goods. The first lots are all sold, and such scenes of excitement as have transpired during this sale never before occurred in a clothing store.

Customers stood in open-mouthed wonder at the wonderful values given. Many persons bought two and three Coats on account of their wonderful cheapness. Small Merchants have eagerly bought all we would sell them, our prices are so much lower than they could buy the same goods at wholesale.

The Overcoats are Simply Elegant, made of the Richest and Finest Fabrics and in the most "Correct" Style. "Schnabel's" Chinchillas and Beavers; "Carr's" Meltons, Eredon Kerseys, Fine Fancy Overcoatings and Shetlands, intended for Merchant Tailor's use. Many were intended to Wholesale at $15, $18 and $20. We bought them for less than the Raw Material Cost, and are selling for $8 and $10, garments worth two and three times the money.

Not a Single Customer Has Left Our Store Dissatisfied.

Otonabee Municipal Politics.

In the township of Otonabee the municipal political position will be more complicated than usual. The township has sufficient ratepayers—over 1,000—to entitle her to send a second deputy—three representatives to the County Council. This year there will be a new element in the civic struggle for power. No names of candidates for the new position are yet heard, but it is not anticipated that there will be any difficulty in persuading some gentleman to accept the honour.

Death of a Veteran.

On Sunday at the Nicholls Hospital, Jas. Thompson, a retired veteran of the British Army, died from inflammation of the lungs. Mr. Thompson had lived in Lindsay till recently when he came to town to enter into employment. About ten days ago he took ill with inflammation of the lungs. Mr. Thompson had seen considerable service. After being discharged from the British Army he found his way to Lindsay where he acted as Sergeant-Major of the 45th Battalion. He had quite a collection of medals won by service as a private of the 77th. One medal (No. 1143), bore the names of "Sebastopol, Inkerman and Alma," linked; a French medal, the inscription "La Crimea, 1855," and the third was a medal "Central India, 77th Regiment," won while fighting in the war of the Indian Mutiny, and whereby he had risen to the rank of corporal. The deceased veteran was 70 years of age.

The New School Building.

Work upon the new school building, the addition to the Central School buildings, is not yet completed, though the time stipulated in the contract for the completion of the work expired on Nov. 1st. However, the interests of the town are protected by the clause in the contract which provides for a forfeit of $20 for every day that elapses after the first of November till the completion of the building. This is reasonable enough, in view of the fact that the figure of the contract was considerably in excess of what other responsible contractors offered to do the work for, and the contract at the advanced figure was given the contractor on the assurance that he could complete the building by November 1st. It will be about December first before the building will be ready for occupation.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

The services in connection with the Week of Prayer for young men in all lands, was continued yesterday afternoon at 3 p. m., in the Association Hall, corner of George and Brook streets. Rev. Mr. McAuley, Woodville, gave a very helpful and impressive Bible reading on the work of the Holy Spirit. Those present felt the manifested presence of the Holy Spirit and realized how much we had lost by ignoring Him in our lives. Rev. George Edwards gave a brief, searching address on hindrances to the work of the Holy Spirit in the lives and actions of believers. All present received personal blessing, and many requests for prayer were asked. It was a season of great blessing, and we trust that the hall will be crowded this week, so that we may reap the blessings God has for us.

The meeting for men last evening was addressed by Rev. Mr. McAuley, and he captured those present by his manly and practical address, so full of every-day experience and deep earnestness, which made a marked impression on all, for all felt that our brother was a "man among men," which both helped and encouraged and made us realize how much we came short of enjoying life by our rejection of the Man, Christ Jesus. We are much encouraged with the meetings, and know many would come to these services if they only realized what a blessing those enjoyed who were at last night's meeting. Young men, come to-night at 8 p. m., and be satisfied.

The services will be continued each afternoon at 3, Bible reading for all, and at 8 p. m., for men only, in the Y.M.C.A. hall.

Police Court Paragraphs.

TUESDAY, Nov. 10th, 1891.

This was lady day at the police court. Two ladies who live alongside each other on Harvey street, with, unfortunately no fence between them, appeared in court. Mrs. Shaw charged Mrs. Lynn with having used on Wednesday last, grossly, abusive and insulting language to Mrs. Shaw, her adjoining neighbour. Mrs. Shaw swore that Mrs. Lynn accused her of stealing on the market, stealing wood, stealing handkerchiefs off the line and with being a dirty washerwoman, with being drunk, with having men about her house at night, with having a son two years in the penitentiary, and with a large catalogue of miscellaneous acts of a character inconsistent with a lady. Mrs. Lynn told her story with a diametrically opposite tendency. She said Mrs. Shaw drew a broom and threatened to break her face, and that she did not call Mrs. Shaw all the naughty names alleged. Mr. Stone appeared for Mrs. Shaw, and Mr. Roger for Mrs. Lynn. The magistrate gave the two ladies a paternal lecture, and advised them to forbear in future and not to let a little matter of a spoonful of dirt swept one way or other across the boundary line between their premises (which appeared to have been the cause of the latest of the summer's ructions between the parties), to destroy the entente cordiale and become a causus belli. Both were poor women and had no money to spare to pay lawyers. They should go home and behave themselves—"now, be off, both of you," and they went, with their retinue.

An old Scotchman who keeps a little woodworking shop at 228 Hunter street, appeared in court seeking protection against bad boys who annoyed him, pelted his door with stones and had broken a pane of glass in his door. He stated his grievances in voluble and broad Scotch, and wished to know who was to pay for the glass—"Was it the policy?" It's a great peety if one maun live in a cooty, pay taxes, and canna get leave to rest." The magistrate told him the next time the boys annoyed him, to call them in and tell them he was an old man, and ——

"But I'm ower glad to keep them oot!"

The magistrate advised him to put the glass in himself, and send the bill to the town council; and the old gentleman ambled out of the odorous precincts of the hall of justice.

The suspended sentence over the lads implicated in the disturbances at the South Ward school is likely to fall with a dull thud before long. Two of the number broke some windows in the school this afternoon, and broke the parole upon which the magistrate released them Monday morning.

Mrs. Johnston, widow of the late lamented "Gobbler" Johnston, who has spent the last two and a half years in jail, was sent up this afternoon for another term.

OUR CIVIC COUNSELLORS.

Brisk Business Meeting of the Board of Trade.

Several Important Matters Discussed—Preservation of our Water Power—The Street Railway Franchise—The Question of Sewerage—New Members — A Large Attendance—The Resolutions Adopted.

At the regular meeting of the Board of Trade held on Monday night there were present Messrs. D. W. Dumble, W. Hamilton, F. H. Dobbin, A. J. Gough, Robt. McWhinnie, E. Green, J. Harley, E. Sherwood, F. Matthews, R. H. D. Hall, J. W. T. Fairweather, R. M. Dennistoun, H. S. McDonald, Geo. Munro, H. LeBrun, Geo. A. Schofield, W. H. Meldrum, R. Fair, Charles Wynn, E. Peplow, R. J. Winch, J. R. Stratton, W. G. Bain, W. Fitzgerald.

The president, Mr. W. H. Meldrum, occupied the chair and stated the meeting had been called to consider the question of the water power, the street railway franchise, new manufactories, the extension of existing ones, etc. The idea seemed to be held that the Board of Trade was dead but that was not the case, the hot weather had caused a suspension of business, but now that the cold weather had come on the Board would resume its functions as had been able to do something for the town in the past.

After routine the secretary reported for the mercantile committee in reference to the scheme of a Mr. Wright, for the protection of merchants, to which many merchants had subscribed at the modest fee of $20, but on investigation by the committee is was found that the scheme was defective, and the agent was seen no more. Mr Burnham outlined a simple scheme by which the same end could be effected. The matter was referred to the Mercantile Committee.

WM. HAMILTON COMPANY EXTENSION

The President said that he did not consider that Mr. Hamilton had had fair treatment from the town council.

Mr. FAIR said he did not know exactly what Mr. Hamilton asked, and

Mr. HAMILTON said that a person wished to establish a business here under the protection of his company. The matter of a bonus was not carried out, becaused it was thought that a bonus bylaw would not carry, and the matter did not come to anything, nor was there anything done in reference to a proposal to loan the enterprise a sum of money at a low rate of interest.

Mr. HALL said that Mr. Hamilton had met the Manufacturers' Committee, which was willing to help him, and it was suggested that plans of the proposed buildings, etc., should be furnished, but that had not been done. He thought the council was willing to help Mr. Hamilton any way in their power, but in the absence of any specific knowledge of Mr. Hamilton's intentions no action had been taken.

Mr. HAMILTON said he had no recollection of any such information being asked of him.

Mr. HALL said the council had not neglected Mr. Hamilton's matter from intention.

The Chairman said the duty of the Board was to encourage home manufacturers as well as to encourage outside manufacturers to come here.

At this point Mr. Hamilton stated that the project in question was at present in abeyance.

Mr. HALL thought the Board should go to Mr. Hamilton in this matter, and he felt that the council was still willing to help Mr. Hamilton.

It was moved by Mr. Peplow, seconded by Mr. Shortly, that Mr. Hamilton's matter be referred to the Manufacturers' Committee of the Board of Trade to report.—Carried.

THE MATTER OF WATER POWER.

Mr. DUMBLE said that the low water had knocked the bottom out of our boast that we had a very steady and regular water power. Our waters had the advantage that, if they were intelligently controlled, they would furnish a continuous and sufficient flow of water for power or other purposes. So important was the question of water power that he thought the governments should assist in building dams for the purpose of holding back waters, and he accordingly

Moved, seconded by Mr. Wm. Hamilton, —That, in the opinion of this board, advantage should be taken of the great facilities afforded by the back lakes to dam them and thus hold back the water that a more steady and continuous supply of water might be preserved for purposes of navigation and especially for the further development of the manufacturing interests of the Otonabee and Trent rivers; and to this end that the Dominion and Ontario governments be requested to provide dams for some of the larger back lakes, which afford peculiar facilities for that purpose; that the municipalities interested be urged to petition the governments with a view to accomplishing this end.

Mr. STRATTON, M.P.P., considered the suggestion a good one. The mills should be supplied with abundant water at the time of lowest water. The past summer the water had apparently been wasted. He favored the resolution, and, for his part, he would be glad to urge upon the Ontario government the propriety of building dams upon such waters as the local government controlled, but there were many waters over which the Dominion government had control, and the resolution should be URGED UPON BOTH GOVERNMENTS.

Mr. DUMBLE said there were many lakes which were not dammed at all.

Mr. HALL said that Stony and Clear Lakes were eight feet higher in the Spring than now.

Mr. PEPLOW suggested that a local association should be formed, and be given power to control and regulate these waters.

The point was brought out that it was lack of intelligent supervision that caused the present scarcity of water.

The motion was carried.

STREET RAILWAY FRANCHISE.

The chairman said this was a most important matter and the board should take an active interest in the subject. The question to decide was which of the two syndicates would give the town the best railway and the best service, and therefore receive the franchise.

Mr. DUMBLE said that other things being equal—and not otherwise—preference should be given a local company. As to the argument that the Edison Company would make the street railway a sample of the latest improvements in this line, it was one that he favoured. One company would look for dividends; another company would look to make the railway the best that could be made—the company that had the greatest facilities for furnishing electric power for small manufacturers. Would it be wise that there should be a monopoly of motive power —water and electricity combined? As far as his judgment went he favoured the Edison company; he thought the question of power was the most important one of the two, and he Moved, seconded by Mr. Peplow that in the opinion of this board, it is of the first consequence that the proposed street railway should be in the hands and under the control of parties who would not by reason of its possession thereby have a monopoly of the power required for manufacturing purposes; that any right accorded should be limited to 20 years and that the purchase right should be vested in the town in perpetuity with a simple right of user for the time mentioned.

Mr. MELDRUM said that the Edison company had applied to the Dickson company for 1000-horse power.

Mr. Stratton moved in amendment, seconded by Mr. Burnham, that in the opinion of this Board it is desirable that the corporation of the town of Peterborough should build and operate the street railway as a corporation in the interests of the people, which would permit the town to guard its own interests in every respect in the matter of the purchase of the plant, and that this Board would recommend for the consideration of the council that they do not dispose of the franchise to any private corporation, but that they submit the question to the ratepayers, and give them an opportunity of expressing an opinion on the subject. Mr. Stratton said he had always held the opinion that the town should own and operate the waterworks, gas works, etc., and he thought the same should apply to the street railway.

Mr. DUMBLE thought this proposal was impracticable. The town was too small for such an enterprise. The town could never operate a railway in the same manner that a corporation who made the building of railways a business.

Mr. STRATTON said the street railway would pay from the beginning, and, if for a year or two, there were a loss, the people would have the benefit. The Edison Company were more desirous to put in the plant than to build the street railway. He did not want to deprive the Edison Syndicate or the local company of the franchise, but he insisted that in justice to the importance of the company to the town, the Edison Company should have the furnishing of the plant in any case, even if it should cost the town a little more, of which there was not the least probability. The town was in duty bound to give preference in the matter of the purchase of plant to the Edison company.

The amendment was lost and the original motion was carried.

A SYSTEM OF DRAINAGE.

Mr. Dumble moved, seconded by Mr. Fair, that in the opinion of this Board, the time has come when a scheme of drainage should be decided upon, and some part of the work begun, with a view to the extension and completion of the work as circumstances may warrant.

Mr. STRATTON urged the importance of this matter, because in some parts of the town it was impossible for want of sewerage to comply with the government regulations in respect to the protection of the employees in the matter of closet accommodation. The matter of sewerage could not be too strongly insisted upon. The authorities were insisting on closing rivers and streams to sewerage pollution. The matter of sewerage must be faced.

Mr. DUMBLE said that the time had come when something must be done. We would never enjoy the full benefit and pleasure of the water works till we had sewers.

Messrs. Geo. Munro and R. J. Winch were elected members of the board.

The matter of advertising the town brought out the following resolution:—

Moved by Mr. Bain, seconded by Mr. Shortly,—That this board urge upon the town council the importance of having the town properly represented in the coming pictorial issue of the Saturday Globe.—Carried.

Royal Templars' Concert.

A Large Audience—A Fine Programme Presented.

A large audience attended the elocutionary, musical and physical entertainment in Bradburn's Opera House on Monday evening under the auspices of the Royal Templars of Temperance. The programme presented was an excellent one, each number being received with entire satisfaction by the audience present, as evidenced by the applause that greeted every performer.

Before the programme was opened Dr. Goldsmith, on behalf of the Royal Templars, addressed the audience. He said that they had assembled to celebrate the anniversary of the organization of the Royal Templars in Peterborough. This society had four thousand lodges in Ontario, with a membership of fifteen thousand, and the local lodge was doing its share of work in the great temperance cause. He knew of no better place where young people could learn the qualities and business traits which every young person should possess in order to succeed in this world, and closed his address by strongly recommending the Royal Templars to both old and young.

The programme opened with a wand exercise by public school pupils under the direction of Sergt. Major Randle. Before starting the exercise, Mr Randle explained to the audience that the class before them was one from Mr. Smith's room, and that he only had half an hour in a week to teach them, and if there were any mistakes on the pupils' part, he hoped they would overlook it. The young ladies acquitted themselves admirably, their movements being exact and in harmony with one another. They were loudly applauded at the close of the exercise. Sergt. Major Randle is to be congratulated on the high state of proficiency to which he has brought his class.

Of course the star of the evening was the child elocutionist, Master DeWitt Talmage Stuart. The first number on the programme was Tennyson's "Charge of the Light Brigade." On coming forward Master Stuart was greeted with loud applause. He is possessed of a voice of wonderful strength and clearness and recited this celebrated poem in a stirring manner.

The next number on the programme was a vocal selection (in costume) "Golden Weddding" by Master Brook's and sister. The singers did admirably well—so well, in fact, that they were recalled, and they responded by singing the last verse over again. Mrs. Brooks played the accompaniment for this number.

One of the best numbers on the programme was perhaps the instrumental (violin) selection "Air Varie"—Dancla, by Miss K. Hurley, accompanied on the piano by her sister Miss Lillie, who played her accompaniment in an acceptable manner. She was cordially encored and responded by giving a number of Scotch melodies, which were rendered in an excellent manner.

The boy elocutionist appeared again and recited the last half of "Belshazzar's Feast," receiving at its conclusion loud applause.

The first part of the programme was concluded by a vocal duet by Messrs. Matthews and Manning, entitled "Shipwrecked at Sea," which pleased the audience. These gentlemen have appeared before a Peterborough audience on other occasions and it is hardly necessary to make any comment. Suffice to say their selection was rendered in an excellent manner, and they received an encore to which they did not respond. Mr. F. Clark played the accompaniment in his usual excellent manner.

The second part of the programme opened with a dumb bell exercise by Public School pupils under the direction of Sergt.-Mayor Randle, and, as in the wand exercise, the young ladies distinguished themselves, their movements being faultless and in perfect time to the music of the piano presided over by Miss Maud Jones.

Master Stuart recited the "Brandy Bottle," in the second part of the programme, and he proved to be better suited to lighter pieces than to the difficult ones which he rendered in the first part. His "Smack at School" and "Johnny Sands," the latter an encore, convulsed the audience with laughter—especially the juvenile portion.

Mr. Bert. Brooke favoured the audience with a selection on the banjo entitled "A Butterfly Caprice," accompanied on the piano by Miss Edith Hall. He was encored, but bowed an acknowledgment.

A soprano solo by Miss Thom, entitled, "To morrow will Do," was the next number. This is Miss Thom's first appearance before a Peterborough audience, and her singing made a decided impression on those present. She is possessed of a sweet soprano voice, which she uses to good advantage. Miss Stratton played the accompaniment very acceptably.

The closing number of the programme was the recitation of the Lord's Prayer by Master Stuart, the audience, at the request of Dr. Goldsmith, rising to their feet. At the close of the prayer Miss Gracie Brooks stepped forward and presented Master Stuart with a handsome bouquet of flowers.

The concert was a decided success both financially and otherwise, and the Royal Templars of Temperance are to be congratulated.

Purify importance of keeping the blood in a pure condition is universally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is heredited and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, or the water we drink. There is nothing more conclusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. BEHRING SEA DISPUTE

ARRANGEMENTS PERFECTED TO SETTLE BY ARBITRATION.

Both England and the United States Agree to Leave the Case to the Finding of Arbitrators—Washington Officials Decline to be Interviewed.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The important announcement made in the Supreme Court yesterday by Attorney-General Miller during the argument in the Sayward case that the United States and Great Britain had agreed to submit the Behring Sea controversy to arbitration was the first intimation that the correspondence on the subject that has been carried on for some time past between the two nations had at last resulted in a satisfactory agreement.

It was surprising that the news should first come out in an argument in court and the Attorney-General was asked after adjournment if he would throw some light on the subject. "It is true that an agreement upon arbitration has been reached," he said. "Yes," he added, "the matter has been settled between the two Governments that is subject to ratification by the Senate."

What are the points of arbitration? I cannot say any more than that you may state as a fact that an agreement has been concluded."

Secretary Blaine positively declined to make any statement. The other officers of the State Department were either ignorant of the progress of the negotiations or refused to say anything upon the subject.

The inference drawn from the developments to day is that the President will submit to the Senate an agreement in the nature of a treaty between the United States and Great Britain, by which the parties bind themselves to accept final and conclusive the definition to be given by arbitrators of exact rights of the United States in Behring Sea, as well as to pay any awards or damages suffered by the nation that is declared to have held the true contention. It is also presumed that arbitrators have been selected, but none of the officials seen would discuss the details of the agreement.

Constitutionality of the McKinley Act.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The United States Supreme Court has postponed until Nov. 30 the argument in the three cases involving the constitutionality of the McKinley Tariff Act, and also the case in which the act which provides for the classification of worsteds is attacked on the ground that the speaker had no right to count a quorum in passing the bill.

DEATH IN THE PIPE.

Nicotine in Its Father's Clay Pipe, Which It Used as a Plaything.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11.—The most youthful victim of nicotine poisoning is the 2-year-old son of Frank Fetters of 524 Point-street, Camden, who died last night from the effects of smoking his father's clay pipe. County Physician Iszard was notified, and his investigation showed that the boy had in some manner got hold of Fetter's pipe and had been sucking it some time before he was discovered. Dr. Iszard immediately came to the conclusion that the stem was full of nicotine, and the deadly poison had gotten into the infant's system.

NEW EMIGRATION POLICY.

Settlers to Be Invited to Return from the U. S. to Manitoba.

OTTAWA, Nov. 11.—The Government has decided to adopt a vigorous immigration policy. Agents will visit Kansas, the Dakotas, Nebraska, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan to induce farmers to locate in Manitoba and the Northwest.

Poisoned by Toadstools.

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 11.—The illness of Mr. Thomas Donley of the Grand Central Hotel, the attending physician announces, is the result of toadstool poisoning. At first he was unable to determine whether that or poisoning by poison ivy was the cause, but as a rash which first appeared on his hands has now broken out on his face he is satisfied it is the former. Mr. Donley partook of mushrooms for tea on Saturday evening and the toadstool is supposed to have been among them. Mr. Donley's condition, though serious, is not dangerous.

It Was Not Hog Cholera.

KINGSTON, Nov. 11.—Veterinary Surgeon Sine says there has been no hog cholera in the styes at the penitentiary. There has been a large death rate at the prison, many of the poor and little pigs dying. Dr. Sine sent samples to Dr. Caven, Toronto, and he replies: "I have examined your specimens, but can find nothing indicating hog cholera." Later specimens have not yet been reported upon. The disease at the prison is similar to those carrying off hogs last spring. Dr. Caven said a similar scare had occurred at Toronto, but by close examination hog cholera was not discovered. Dr. Sine thinks the disease shows symptoms of influenza.

Strike on the Belt Line.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 11.—The engineers and firemen on the Belt line have declared a strike. This will probably spread to other lines, as Chief Engineer Arthur states that no freight will be handled by brotherhood men going to the Belt line or the Wiggins Ferry Company.

THOUGHT IT WAS CORNSTARCH.

One Woman Dead and Others in a Very Precarious Condition.

HALIFAX, Nov. 6.—Miss Isadore McKay, daughter of George McKay, an Intercolonial man at Amherst, discovered a parcel of something white in the cupboard which had been left there by some persons who had lived in the house. Thinking it was cornstarch she put two spoonful in a glass of milk and drank it. She thereby discovered it to be baking-soda and put a teaspoonful in some pancakes she was making. The whole family partook of the pancakes and were immediately taken violently sick with nausea, vomiting and great pains. The woman died Wednesday night at 10 o'clock. The rest of the family are recovering slowly

LIBERAL UNIONISTS

HOLD A MONSTER CONVENTION IN MANCHESTER.

The Duke of Argyle Uses Strong Language Respecting Gladstone—Terrible Accident at a Bull-Fight—Seats Collapse, Carrying Down 500 Spectators—Many Will Die.

MANCHESTER, Nov. 11.—A conference of the Liberal-Unionist Association was held here yesterday. Sir Henry James presided.

In his speech opening the meeting Sir Henry claimed that recent experiences in Ireland (referring to the Cork factional fights) proved that the policy of the Liberal Unionists was the only correct one. The loyal minority in Ireland, he declared, could never be handed over to a despotic government of clericals.

A letter from Joseph Chamberlain was read. In this letter Mr. Chamberlain said that the Gladstonians had lost confidence in the Home Rule movement and that they were trying to pass the bill to establish Home Rule sandwiched between more alluring proposals.

The Duke of Argyle in speaking to a motion in support of the general policy of the Government described Mr. Gladstone as a "fanatic who is incapable of argument." His followers, according to the Duke, are "mere puppets."

A FATAL BULL-FIGHT.

Two Hundred Spectators Injured, 20 of Them Fatally.

ROME, Nov. 11.—A terrible accident happened yesterday in Castel-a-Mare, a city on the Bay of Naples. A large number of spectators had gathered to witness a series of bull fights, which were to take place in the arena of the circus at that place. While one of the contests was in progress and the people had been worked up to a high state of excitement by the struggle between the infuriated animal and its tormentors, the circular tiers of seats from which the spectators were viewing the sport became weakened and a large section of the structure containing 500 persons suddenly collapsed and carried the people down with it. Those seated on the wrecked spot had no chance to make any attempt to escape. There was first a terrifying tremor and lurching of the structure and then before anyone had a chance to realize the danger there was a horrible grinding, tearing noise and the seats gave way beneath the terror-stricken people and they were precipitated with a terrible crash to the ground below.

Considerable time elapsed before all the injured could be extricated from the jumble of torn and splintered woodwork. Nearly everyone who went down with the falling portion of the structure received a wound of some kind. When the large force of physicians who had been summoned had concluded their labors it was learned that 100 of the victims were seriously injured, and that in 20 cases it was feared the wounds would have a fatal result.

The Expensiveness of Sandringham.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—Sandringham has been an unlucky place for the Prince of Wales, who never would have purchased the estate if the Prince Consort had lived another year. Sandringham was bought from Mr. Spencer Cowper for £220,000, mainly through the influence of Lord Palmerston, stepfather of the vendor. The nominal rental was about £7000 a year, but the whole estate was in the worst possible order. The house is small and dilapidated, and the demesne had been utterly neglected. The Prince had to build and plant, and indeed, to carry out costly improvements of every kind, both on the place and on the estate. The whole rental has been expended on the property during the last 28 years, in addition to which a sum has been spent on the new house, new gardens, the park and the home farms which is nearly as much as the original purchase money.

Speculating Parson in Trouble.

BATH, Nov. 11.—Dr. Clutterbuck, an eminent Welsh divine, was arrested two weeks ago for obtaining £1200 on false pretences from a lady of his congregation. It turned out that the reverend gentleman had developed into a heavy operator, and charges were piled up against him amounting to £16,000. The doctor, it was alleged, had been speculating in stocks on a plan by which money entrusted to him by his parishioners was left absolutely at his discretion. He placed £7000 with one broker who failed, and £5000 with another, losing in the latter instance £2000. He was committed for trial.

Will Not Visit England.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—Edmund Yates cables: I have the best authority for stating that there is no foundation whatever for the report that the King and Queen of Italy are to pay state visit to England next year, when it has been announced they will be the guests of the Queen at Windsor Castle and Buckingham Palace. Their Majesties have never yet been invited to come to England, nor have they ever expressed the wish to undertake such an expedition. The King and Queen of Italy could not come to England without going also to some other Courts, and the expense of sovereign visits is so enormous that any such tour would be regarded as singularly unseasonable in the present disorganized state of Italian finances.

RALEIGH'S MANSION.

Lady Hennessy Awaiting a Purchaser, as She Needs Money.

DUBLIN, Nov. 10.—The widow and children of Sir John Hennessy, the Irish statesman who died recently, are in strained circumstances. He had nothing to bequeath to them but the old family mansion at Youghal. This Lady Hennessy desires to sell. It was the residence of Sir Walter Raleigh, having been part of the property obtained by him after the confiscation of the lands of the Earl of Desmond. The garden in which Raleigh first planted the potatoes which he had brought from America comprises five acres, backed by the ancient town wall of Youghal.

A TRAGEDY OF THE SEA

THE LOSS OF THE ENTERPRISE IN THE BAY OF BENGAL.

Heroic Female Convicts Form a Life-Saving Line and Rescue a Number of Persons from the Wreck—All of the English Officers Drowned.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—Further particulars received here this morning from Calcutta show that the cyclone which swept over the Andaman Islands on Monday last caused a very much larger loss of life than was at first reported, and that the damage done was far in excess of the amount first telegraphed here. In addition to the drowning of nearly all of the crew of the steamer Enterprise, the Government steamer engaged in conveying convicts to the islands, by which 78 out of 83 men lost their lives, it is now officially announced that the total loss of life is nearly 200 and that 250 people in addition were severely wounded. It is believed that when the final returns come in it will be seen that considerably over 200, and possibly 300, lives were lost.

When the storm burst the Enterprise was caught unprepared and blown with terrific speed on the shore. She dashed upon the rocks lying opposite the female convict prison and the waves swept clean over her. The wreck was seen by a number of female convicts, who were seeking shelter from the fury of the gale, and they at once started for the shore. Slowly they forced themselves against the storm, grasping rocks and other things to prevent them from being literally blown away. At last they reached the shore. Here, nothing daunted by the thundering in-rush of the waters, which at times swept high above their heads, they formed a human life line, each woman grasping the other's hand. Then the bravest of the party rushed into the sea and grasped a struggling form seen twirling and twisting in the water and, aided by her companions, dragged ashore one of the men who had been swept from the Enterprise. Again and again the women entered the water and each time they returned with a man who, had it not been for their heroic aid, would surely have been drowned.

Of the 83 men comprising the officers and crew of the Enterprise only six were saved and every one of these was dragged from the water by the female convicts.

Every English officer and every English member of the crew of the Enterprise were lost.

THAT FENIAN SCARE.

Why the British Police Are Watching Steamers From America.

DUBLIN, Nov. 11.—The police appear to be acting on special information that the Clan-na-Gael in America is again active, and that the members of that society have prepared for a resumption of the physical force policy. Whatever may be the ground for the sudden and evident access of vigilance on the part of the Castle, there is no doubt that the police themselves placed confidence in their source of information, and that they are on the lookout for dangerous arrivals.

It is acknowledged by leading Home Rulers that the "Hillside" or physical force doctrine has a powerful following in Ireland. But a few days ago John Dillon said in substance that the Hillside with him was secondary to the present constitutional agitation; that before taking to the Hillside, he believed in giving the Liberals a chance to show what they would do for Home Rule. Dillon, it is argued, would not have spoken in this way if he had not appreciated the strength of the Hillside sentiment.

A physical force movement, involving the employment of troops to suppress it, is what the Tories are anxious for. It is understood, however, here, that the Home Rule leaders of either nation have little or no influence over the Clan-na-Gael, and nobody would be surprised to hear of some signal and memorable act of violence by the emissaries of the society.

Arrested for Fraud.

BERLIN, Nov. 11.—Herr Szamatirlski, the confidential clerk of Herr Wolff, the head of the banking firm of Hirschfeld & Wolff of this city, whose suspension a few days ago caused a great sensation in financial and social circles here, was to-day arrested for complicity in bank frauds.

Lord Lytton's Probable Successor.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—Edmund Yates cables: I have reason to believe that Lord Lytton will shortly resign the Paris Embassy in consequence of the unsatisfactory state of his health, and that his successor there will be Lord Dufferin.

DEVOTED UNTO DEATH.

Revelations of a Sad Case by a Coroner's Investigation.

SEATTLE, Ore., Nov. 11.—A sad case of devotion and death has just been brought to light here by the investigation of the coroner. About four years ago there came to this city a man and his wife, who were undoubtedly extremely poor. The man was in delicate health and the wife showed such evidences of refinement that when she applied for work among the ladies of the city she was looked upon with suspicion and the result was that she could get very little to do.

The husband gave the name of Robert Morrison and said he was from Pennsylvania, where he had been a clerk in a store until his health failed him, when he was compelled to come west to recuperate.

The couple were very reserved and had little intercourse with the people, and as they were very poor they were compelled to live in a wretched hovel.

When it was noticed a few days ago that neither the man nor woman appeared at the door of their house the neighbors went to see if anything was wrong. They found that the man had evidently been dead for several days, while the woman was lying across the body and was also dead.

She had evidently died of a broken heart. The place was searched and papers were discovered which showed that the man was Robert Morris, from Albany, N.Y., and that he had been confined in prison for forgery, but had escaped and come to this country.

The letters showed that he was innocent of the crime and that his wife gave up her home with wealthy parents to stay with him through the misery of a felon's existence. The parents of the woman were corresponded with, but they simply sent money to defray the burial expenses and refused to do anything further in the matter.

Death of a Centenarian.

HALIFAX, N.S., Nov. 11.—Hon. Samuel Chipman, who celebrated his one hundred and first birthday on the 18th of last month, died this morning at his residence in Cornwallis, King's County. He represented King's County in the Nova Scotia Legislature for many years and at one time was in the Government with James Howe, Sir William Young and other prominent Liberals of the day, Mr. Chipman being Financial Secretary. For many years he lived a retired life on his farm at Cornwallis.

To Meet at Hamilton.

ROCHESTER, Nov. 11.—The International Fish Commissioners met here yesterday. Representatives from Ontario, New York, Pennsylvania and Michigan were present. The next joint meeting will be held at Hamilton, Ont., Dec. 8.

The New Baby City.

WINDSOR, Nov. 11.—At last evening's meeting of the council a resolution was carried directing the town solicitor to prepare a bylaw on the subject of creating Windsor a city, to be voted upon at the next election.

Death of a Centenarian.

BROCKVILLE, Nov. 11.—Patrick O'Hara is dead in Merrickville at the age of 108 years. He came to this country over 60 years ago and settled in Merrickville.

A Cradle for Ruth Cleveland.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 11.—Ruth Cleveland, the infant daughter of ex-President Cleveland, is to have a handsome cradle made of wood from the cabin in which Gen. Grant once lived in St. Louis county.

The St. Louis Board of Furniture Trade got permission of the present owner, Justin E. Joy, to use part of the cabin wall for the purpose and men are now selecting ogs.

ELOPED FROM TORONTO.

A Wife of 28 Skips Out With a Beardless Youth.

DETROIT, Nov. 10.—William A. McCord of Toronto, a student 21 years old, eloped from that city with the wife of a well-known Toronto man. He and the woman were arrested by local detectives and taken to Police Headquarters. The injured husband was at the station when the couple were brought in. The woman is a fascinating blonde of about 25 or 28 years. Young McCord was locked up on a charge of bringing stolen property into this country, he having in his possession some of the personal effects of the woman's husband. The name of the couple is Thomas Pinkney and wife. Mr. Pinkney is an accountant in the Farmers' Loan & Savings Co. of Toronto. McCord is his first cousin, who came from Quebec about two years ago and boarded with Pinkney at 65 Major-street. The eloping couple have been together about two weeks. Mrs. Pinkney has been married nine years and has three children—two boys and a girl. Pinkney traced them to Fenton, Mich., from which place they came yesterday. He will not prosecute his wife and has given her up forever. He will, however, try and convict McCord of stealing his clothing.

A G.T.R. COLLISION.

Freight and Passenger Trains Meet on a Curve—Several Persons Hurt.

HAMILTON, Nov. 11.—There was another collision on the Grand Trunk yesterday. The regular express for the north left the King-street station about 7 o'clock in charge of Conductor James O'Brien and Driver Alfred Robbins. There were about 20 passengers on board. Half a mile north of Burlington Junction, when the express had not got up speed, it was run into by special freight No. 830 from the north. The engines were badly wrecked and several cars left the track. The freight train was in charge of Conductor McMarron and Driver Mullin. The men jumped and escaped injury, but the crew and passengers on the express fared badly. Engineer Alfred Robbins, 241 West-avenue north, had his right arm horribly broken near the shoulder. Bridge Inspector James Gilchrist was thrown through the plate glass door of a coach and had his face badly cut and bruised. Thomas Martin, mail clerk, was badly bruised, as were also F. H. Lambe, assignee; M. Brennen of M. Brennen & Sons, Auditor J. Colwell of the G.T.R. and other passengers. They all got a very bad shaking up and had narrow escapes. Robbins and Gilchrist were brought in on the 9 o'clock train and taken to their homes.

The freight should have waited at St. Ann's, a flag station, for the express to cross it, but it came down the grade to Burlington. The trainmen say that the freight got beyond their control and ran away down the grade, but the passengers, nearly all of whom have returned to the city, say that the men made a reckless attempt to reach Burlington on the time of the express.

USED DYNAMITE.

Lyn, Ontario, Awakened by Two Explosions—Property Damaged.

LYN, Ont., Nov. 10.—About 2 o'clock yesterday the residents of Lyn were startled by a loud report, suggestive of a dynamite factory moving skyward. Ten minutes later a second report thoroughly aroused the village. The first crash was caused by a heavy charge of dynamite having been exploded near the entrance of the Eyre manufacturing company's works, carried on by Mrs. Phillips of Toronto.

The second charge had been placed under the doorstep of Mr. Eyre's residence, which was damaged to the extent of $50. Fortunately the inmates were only shocked. The damage to the factory was more serious, but none of the machinery was damaged. This outrage is probably the outcome of friction between Mr. Eyre and certain parties who had been making threats.

A MISSING ACCOUNTANT.

A Toronto Assignee Leaves Creditors in the Lurch.

TORONTO, Nov. 11.—Another of Toronto's brilliant financiers, in the person of George Anderson, jr., has gone to reside in the land of the "Stars and Stripes," leaving behind him a number of mourning creditors.

George Anderson, jr., drifted into Toronto about five years ago, as the Toronto end of the firm of Blackley & Anderson, "Accountants, Assignees, Receivers, Auditors, etc." About two years ago the firm dissolved and Anderson carried on business here by himself. He was fairly successful in securing assignments, but wholesalers who were unfortunate enough to rank as creditors on estates which he got hold of waited in vain for the dividends that never came.

By the time the legal expenses and the assignee's fees were charged up against the estate there was never anything left; at least a statement was seldom rendered, showing what had become of the money collected. Among the estates he wound up, and wound up tight, are R. Kennedy, grocer, King-street east, Hess Bros., furniture dealers, Smith of Milton, James Coghill, Listowel; James Arno, hotelkeeper, Oakville; A. Ross & Co., drygoods, Front-street, and W. J. McGelpin. The assets of this last estate disappeared more cleanly than the "vanishing lady." Anderson was also president of the New York Barrel Machine Company. Those who invested in the stock of this concern are carrying the scrip around in their pockets waiting for something to turn up. They have not made a bar'l yet. Anderson is living in Minneapolis at present. Before leaving he neglected to pay both his office and house rent and other bills outside of his business liabilities.

East Wellington.

ARTHUR, Nov. 11.—The returns of the election in East Wellington of a successor to ex-Speaker Charles Clarke in the Ontario Assembly are incomplete, and it is not known whether Mr. Joseph Craig, the nominee of the convention, or Mr. Kirkwood (Ind. Ref.) is elected, but returns favor Craig.

Another Member Unseated.

HALIFAX, Nov. 11.—Counsel for petitioner in the King's, N.S., election case, Bertreaux v. Borden, was to-day served by counsel for the respondent with a notice stating that the respondent will admit that an agent of his did hire and pay for a horse and team to convey voters to and from the polls, without the consent of respondent. This is said to be sufficient to render the election invalid. Dr. Borden has since resigned his seat.

A Minister's Death.

BRANTFORD, Nov. 11.—Rev. James Webb, formerly Congregational pastor at New Durham and more recently at Belwood, Wellington County, was attacked with typhoid fever three weeks ago and rallied until yesterday morning, when he passed quietly away. Deceased came originally from South Shields, Eng., and undertook the pastorate at New Durham, where he labored with much success and acceptance for two years. About 18 months ago he accepted a call to Bellwood.

Impaled on a Pitchfork.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 11.—Andrew Rossburgh, a young man, while threshing at Birtle, fell from a haystack and alighting on a pitchfork sustained fatal injuries.

Paid the Funeral Expenses in Advance.

BOSTON, Nov. 11.—Mrs. Ann O'Brien, aged 76 years, who lived alone, was found dead in her room yesterday. She was thought to be poor, but among her effects were found quite a sum of money, a deed for a burial lot, and receipted bills for a tombstone, coffin and funeral expenses from a neighboring undertaker.

Fifteenth General Assembly, K. of L.

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 11.—General Master Workman Powderly and other officers are here to attend the fifteenth General Assembly of the Knights of Labor. Delegates are arriving in large numbers, some coming from Canada and Mexico. The amount of business to be disposed of is large. One of the important topics of discussion will be the public school system.

Why It is Popular.

Because it has proven its absolute merit over and over again, because it has an unequalled record of cures, because its business is conducted in a thoroughly honest manner, and because it combines economy and strength, being the only medicine of which "100 Doses One Dollar" is true—these strong points have made Hood's Sarsaparilla the most successful medicine of the day.

Stop Short and Think.

Far-seeing and shrewd speculators predict that our town will be a blooming city of 25 000 people within five years and 50 to 60 000 within ten years.

If this is true, which we fully believe it is, is it wise to remain as a tenant, when by a little effort and self denial, you could easily become the owner of a home of your own.

Young man, do you ever intend to marry? If yes, would it not be wise for you to select a nice lot to day, this week, or this month, not later. Pay what you can and then economize in every way possible until you get it paid for, and the lot once paid for, we can supply you all the money you need to build a suitable house.

Act upon our suggestion and you will always feel grateful for the reminder. It is pleasant, respectable and profitable to have a home of your own.

Come in and we will give you the best assistance in our power.

Buy Now, If at All.

EVERY day makes more apparent the fact that the town is going ahead rapidly. Numerous changes have taken place in the way of ownership of property. Many workingmen are buying houses and lots, or lots on which to build. One of the most suitable locations is that known as the Erin property, at the west end, owned largely by Mr. Wm Fitzgerald. This week he has closed the sale of a very desirable house and lot, and has several eligible lots on this property to dispose of. Property in this neighborhood is rapidly being built up, and it will be well to have a look at the situation if one is at all disposed to buy. The terms are very favorable and especially low for cash, though payment on time may be arranged.

J. J. SHEEHY'S SECOND ANNOUNCEMENT.

On the first of October, I, having just concluded my sixth year in Business, felt desirous of stating to my many Customers and the Public Generally, just what my experience had been. I endeavoured to do so in such a manner as to convince those who read advertisements, (and their name is legion) that what I said I meant. I refrained from Wild Statements, Quoting of Prices, and the Specifying of Extraordinary Values, or the Hundred-and-one Stereotyped Methods that are indulged in by Advertisers as a rule, but at once Got Down to Facts, and will endeavour to follow out that Principle, as I consider that the growth of my Business is, in itself, the biggest guarantee that the people are satisfied, that, when they buy goods from J. J. SHEEHY, they get Right Goods and that the Prices are also right.

The Month of October, notwithstanding the Mild Weather has been a Great Success so far. And the 5 Per Cent Discount which has just Seven Days More to Run, is evidently making itself felt. If you require any Fall and Winter Dry Goods, come in and examine our stock, and if we have not what you want, then it is a line, either unknown to the trade or at least has not yet reached Peterborough. I might just say in conclusion that I have closed the purchase of over 200 PAIRS OF WHITE WOOL BLANKETS.

The weights range from 5 to 9 pounds. As to the value, I will not say anything, but cordially invite your inspection, firmly believing that the Prices will speak for themselves.

Don't forget the 5 Per Cent. Discount off every purchase of, or over, ONE DOLLAR, during the Month of October. Yours respectfully,

J. J. SHEEHY.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1891

THANKSGIVING DAY.

To-morrow is the day set apart by His Excellency the Governor-General as a national day of thanksgiving. Gratitude is one of the most loveable impulses of the human heart. Though the merit of thanksgiving to order is not of the highest order, it is very meet that there should be national recognition of the bounty that has been showered upon our country this year. The most bountiful harvest that has blessed this generation has been gathered in. The "earth hath yielded her increase" without stint, our "barns are literally bursting with plenty," and, figuratively, our "presses are bursting with new wine." For a national thanksgiving it is most fitting that the public service of worship and praise should be celebrated in the house of God—the author and fountain of all our blessings; and if there were a proper appreciation of the divine bounty, the walls of our churches would not contain the multitudes that would throng there. While the acknowledgment of the Divine bounty is the best and by far the highest duty in relation to thanksgiving, still there is another aspect of it scarcely less important. It would be well for all good Christians from day to day to appropriate the spirit of the injunction of our Lord to His Apostles—"Freely ye have received, freely give." If we have a real, earnest feeling of gratitude for bounties received, we shall not confine ourselves to selfish enjoyment, but will see that others less blessed—the poor ye have with you always—are given cause for gratitude. Gratitude that is not reflective in this sense, is only another form of selfishness, the lowest attribute of our human nature. The duty of national thanksgiving will be felt all the more incumbent because of our lack of national desert. If, to adopt the idea of Rev. Canon Dumoulin, having in mind the deplorable corruption that has been unmasked in Canada, justice according to merit has been meted out, we should have to bewail a famine instead of rejoicing in a bountiful harvest.

PUBLIC SANITATION AND SEWERAGE.

The Board of Trade brought up the matter of sewerage at their meeting Monday night, and the consensus of opinion was that the subject that would not bear further delay; and this position is emphasized by the policy adopted by the authorities, as the following letter, from the Provincial inspector of Factories to a George street merchant, will show. The public health is now a recognized subject of legislation and in all civilized countries, the principle of individual right and convenience being subordinated to the public weal, is being practically insisted on. The following letter conveys its own lesson:

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE,
TORONTO, NOVEMBER 2nd, 1891.

DEAR SIR,—I had an interview with the Deputy Attorney-General re closets at Peterborough. He stated that where privy vaults have been closed, dry earth closets must be substituted.

I also had an interview with Dr. Bryce, Secretary Provincial Board of Health, in regard to the sewerage of Peterborough. He stated that any system proposed must be submitted to the Provincial Board of Health for approval; and also that no system would be sanctioned unless provision is made for a sewage farm, as had been decided upon by the city of Brantford and the town of Berlin. Subject to certain conditions, in the case of Brantford, the Provincial Board of Health has granted permission to empty the sewerage into the river until the sewerage farm shall be completed.

Dr. Bryce also stated that drains from water closets, cannot be allowed to connect with, what was originally intended as a storm drain, as is the case in the drain on George street.

I may say that several parties complained to me, in regard to the sewer from the Edison Works being only carried as far as the open drain on the street on which the works are situated, which they declared constituted a nuisance. But as the nuisance did not exist on the premises of the company, but on the street I could not interfer. The local board of health is the proper authority to abate the nuisance. And failing their attention to the matter, a complaint to the Secretary of the Provincial Board of Health or to the Attorney General, will cause the matter to be dealt with.

Yours respectfully,
JAMES R. BROWN.

P. S.—Dr. Bryce said a reference to section 30 of the Health Act would show what was required in regard to submitting plans for a system of sewerage.

THE Chapleau Cabinet crisis is at an end. Premier Abbott gave to the Mail correspondent at Ottawa a statement for publication, in which he says that he has promised that the portfolio of either railways or Public Works shall go to one of the Quebec Ministers, and Mr. Chapleau is content.

THE City of Vancouver, B. C., has taken an independent census of its population, the result showing about 4,500 more than the official fig[illegible] In the case Victoria it is claimed [illegible] Dominion return it is about 6 000 [illegible] eight figure. A mistake of al[illegible] the case of two cities, having [illegible]ation of about 30 000, is a [illegible] matter.

THE Chatham Banner says McNaughton, Walker & Co., the noted egg dealers there, have bought only 300,000 dozen this year, or from one to three hundred thousand dozen less than they used to purchase when the American market was open. The eggs have been sent principally to the States notwithstanding that the duty of five cents has been deducted from the price. They "do not think much of the English market, owing to the distance and the slowness of the returns." Moreover in shipping to Britain, "a great deal of the profit is absorbed by middlemen and intermediate outlays, and if the commission agent tells you that your eggs have arrived in bad condition you have no redress." It is curious to note the zeal with which the Tories now advocate the shipment of eggs and other coarse produce to a remote market like that of England. A few years ago they used to dilate upon the advantages accruing from a near market, and promised to start factories to consume all the surplus the farmers had.

"Give us a Lift!"

"Do send down something to help us!" "These little Pleasant Pellets you sent me before, were just what we wanted!" They help right where we were weakest!" Don't send anything else!"

Nature, abused and neglected, does her best to overcome exhaustion and ward off threatening disease, but sometimes calls for help, and knows just what she's about. The system takes kindly to the mild, wholesome influence of Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, and often their timely assistance corrects evils which would soon lead to serious results. With the first signal of distress, nature will thank you for remembering her request. Therefore, if languid, easily tired, bad taste in mouth, bowels irregular or constipated, give nature a lift by taking Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. Best Liver Pills made. c

Ask Your Friends About It.

Your distressing cough can be cured. We know it, because Kemp's Balsam within the past few years has cured so many coughs and colds in this community. Its remarkable sale has been won entirely by its genuine merit. Ask some friend who has used it what he thinks of Kemp's Balsam. There is no medicine so pure, none so effective. Large bottles 50c. and $1 at all druggists. d

A Sea Voyage.

A sea voyage is an expensive and extensive prescription, especially when equally good results as regards health are to be had by simply taking Burdock Blood Bitters according to directions. It is a specific for dyspepsia, cleanses the blood, regulates the liver, bowels and kidneys and removes all impure matter from the system.

His Family did not Know Him.

A Belleville man has for many been bent and crippled with a lame back, but after trying the OR, Kidney cure, he could walk like a boy again and his neighbors could hardly recognize him. This remedy is for sale by all druggists and the OR, Kidney Company, Belleville. dw

A Severe Attack.

DEAR SIRS—My children were taken ill with ulcerated sore throat, bordering on diphtheria. I had nothing in the house but Hagyard's Yellow Oil, which I used with great benefit. I am sure if it had not been for it the disease would have developed into diphtheria. It is a splendid medicine.

The Safest

AND most powerful alterative is Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Young and old are alike benefited by its use. For the eruptive diseases peculiar to children, nothing else is so effective as this medicine, while its agreeable flavor makes it easy to administer.

"My little boy had large scrofulous ulcers on his neck and throat from which he suffered terribly. Two physicians attended him, but he grew continually worse under their care, and everybody expected he would die. I had heard of the remarkable cures effected by Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and decided to have my boy try it. Shortly after he began to take this medicine, the ulcers commenced healing, and, after using several bottles, he was entirely cured. He is now as healthy and strong as any boy of his age."—William F. Dougherty, Hampton, Va.

"In May last, my youngest child, fourteen months old, began to have sores gather on its head and body. We applied various simple remedies without avail. The sores increased in number and discharged copiously. A physician was called, but the sores continued to multiply until in a few months they nearly covered the child's head and body. At last we began the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. In a few days a marked change for the better was manifest. The sores assumed a more healthy condition, the discharges were gradually diminished, and finally ceased altogether. The child is livelier, its skin is fresher, and its appetite better than we have observed for months."—Frank M. Griffin, Long Point, Texas.

"The formula of Ayer's Sarsaparilla presents, for chronic diseases of almost every kind, the best remedy known to the medical world."—D. M. Wilson, M. D., Wiggs, Arkansas.

THANKS!

THURSDAY is Thankgiving Day. We want to join with our friends in observing the day.

In common with all we have reason to be thankful for a good season. Good business, good crops and good prospects.

These are blessings and benefits that are alike shared by rich and poor, by the hard working and the prosperous. We Canadians are a plain, and in many respects, a plodding people, and our gains come to us as the result of hard work and steady application. Few of us can be thankful for great wealth, but all may be grateful for that measure of success that rewards the toiler.

GOUGH BROTHERS have to thank their friends, their customers, the people, for a year's support and custom and in recognition wish that for many Thanksgiving Days they may all be spared to share in the observances.

Yours thankfully,

GOUGH BROS.

"August Flower"

Mr. Lorenzo F. Sleeper is very well known to the citizens of Appleton, Me., and neighborhood. He says: "Eight years ago I was taken "sick, and suffered as no one but a "dyspeptic can. I then began taking August Flower. At that time "I was a great sufferer. Everything I ate distressed me so that I "had to throw it up. Then in a "few moments that horrid distress "would come on and I would have "to eat and suffer "again. I took a "little of your medicine, and felt much "better, and after "taking a little more "August Flower my "Dyspepsia disappeared, and since that time I "have never had the first sign of it. "I can eat anything without the "least fear of distress. I wish all "that are afflicted with that terrible "disease or the troubles caused by "it would try August Flower, as I "am satisfied there is no medicine "equal to it." ●

Lakefield.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Very quiet in the village, so locals are few and far between.

As the regular meeting of Court Lakefield, No. 43, C.O.F., falls on Thanksgiving night, the court will meet and adjourn until the following night (Friday), when the officers will be installed, and there will be two initiations.

Several of the village hunting parties arrived home Saturday, and all seem to have had good sport. The Baladon-Payne party got nine deer and a lot of small game. The Steele-Baptie party got six deer, D'Arcy Strickland and some Toronto friends, six deer and a bear weighing over 300 pounds, besides ducks, partridge and fish.

Eight months ago Tuesday Mr. Thos. J. Simpson was united in marriage to Miss Agnes Nelson, and the future looked bright to both and their many friends. To-day he is sleeping his long sleep in the Lakefield cemetery, having died on Friday from typhoid fever, after an illness of five weeks, and the sympathies of the entire village are given to his young wife, who is thus early left to face life's battle alone, still almost a bride and, yet, a widow.

The effort to start a Mechanics' Institute and reading room is meeting with fair success, and we understand the Royal Templars' hall has been secured for that purpose. The following are the officers:—President, John Crickmore, Esq.; sec. treas., C. J. Blomfield, Esq.; directors, Revs. McEwan, Warren, Bartlett and Palframan, and Messrs. W. Harper, Dr. Douglas, W. H. Casement, J. Griffin and W. M. Graham.

A regular meeting of the village council was held in the town hall on Monday evening, Nov. 9th, 1891.

Present—W. H. Casement, reeve, in the chair, Councillors Hull, Moore, Lillicrap and Richardson.

Minutes of last meeting read and adopted.

A communication from Mr. C. J. Blomfield in regard to the insurance of the town hall, was read and referred to the Finance Committee.

The Finance Committee presented their report recommending payment of the following accounts:

Lakefield Lumber Co'y, lumber	$7 80
Isaac Watson, sr., wages	30 62
Isaac Watson, jr., wages	1 00
John Cooper, teaming	1 37
Martin Coughlin, gravel	3 00
Michael Horrigan, gravel	58 20
Dr. Bell, Voters' List Court, and Selection of Jurors	6 00
W. H. Casement, Telegraphing and Selection of Jurors	4 00
Waterous Engine Co'y, supplies	47 66
Total	$159 65

On motion of Mr. Hull, seconded by Mr. Moore, the report was adopted.

Moved by Mr. Hull, seconded by Mr. Moore, that with regard to Mr. Strickland's complaint of blocking Water street, the Council as committee of the whole visit the place at 9 a. m., on Wednesday.—Carried.

Council adjourned to meet at the call of the Reeve.

Britain's Ability to Save Constantinople.

How It was Proved by Operations at Sigri—The Whole World Wondered—A Mighty Power in Canada

The invincible British fleet recently demonstrated what could be done against Russia. The British officials landed a force with a number of heavy guns, and planted them where they would do effective service in defending the harbour. They laid mines along the harbour, and in a short time had the place strongly fortified. Greeks and Turks looked on with awe and wonder, and fully realized Britain's power to defend the right, and her ability to save the weak and helpless.

As a part of a mighty empire, Canada has every reason to feel proud of such a defender. Let us, however, remember that we as Canadians have our internal foes, which are often more terrible and dangerous than armed battalions of men. We have sickness and disease prevailing to an alarming extent in our midst. These silent foes are marching past us daily, entering our homes, and cutting down our loved and dear ones. Some say, "We are powerless to cope with such enemies." Not so, dear fellow Canadians; Canada has now the mighty power within her borders to exterminate and drive from every home these dreadful foes in the form of nervousness, sleeplessness, morbidness, overworked and weary brain, neuralgia, rheumatism and dyspepsia. Thousands of Canadians have already given battle to these foes through the use of Paine's Celery Compound, and have come off more than conquerors. All who are besieged and threatened by such dangers as we have referred to are to blame if they go on suffering from day to day. The great power is in our land; it is found in every town, so that it is within reach of all. Clergymen, doctors, lawyers and business men have seen its marvellous effects, and candidly affirm that Paine's Celery Compound is a mighty power for good in every Canadian home.

For the past year I have been troubled to a very great extent with dandruff, also, a dulness of color in my hair, and through the advice of a friend (who spoke from experience) I tried your Anti-Dandruff, which upon the application of less than a bottle of your liquid I find my head not only thoroughly cleansed, but a vast improvement in the color and growth.

I have, and do recommend it as highly beneficial to the profession and public generally as an agreeable and welcome innovation in the remedies put forth for public favor.

SUN LIFE

ASSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA.

The attention of our Policy-Holders is directed to the following summary of the leading items of the present report, which speaks for itself as to the progress and prosperity of the Company:—

Life Assurances in force, 1st January, 1891	$16,759,355.92
Increase over previous year	2,421,372.84
New Applications received in 1890	6,371,399.15
Increase over 1889	2,268,863.60
Cash income for year ending 31st December, 1890	889,078.87
Increase over 1889	325,828.35
Assets at 31st December, 1890	2,473,514.19
Increase over 1889	687,691.47
Reserve for Security for Policy-Holders	2,109,222.68
Increase over 1889	567,732.71
Surplus over all Liabilities and Capital Stock	232,175.69
Increase over 1889	75,649.05
Death claims fallen in during 1890	143,961.65

The progress made by the SUN LIFE during 1890 was remarkable. The new business was the largest in the Company's history, and was equalled by but one other Canadian Life Company. The income for the year exceeds $2,000 for each day in the year, Sundays included. The Assets are large and rapidly increasing. They are, moreover, of the highest character, yielding an average interest of 6.04 per cent. The overdue interest is small, and the Real Estate owned under foreclosure is only four per cent. of the amount of mortgages. This is a remarkable showing. The SURPLUS accumulated during the FOUR years of the current quinquennium is nearly THREE TIMES as much as the amount earned during any previous FIVE years, and the profits to Policy-holders cannot fail thus to be highly satisfactory. The following are the figures:—

Net Surplus, 31st Dec., 1881, (five years)	$64,894 07
" " " " 1886,	80,452 97

THE "RED STAR"
CLOTHING HOUSE,

SHEPPARD'S OLD STAND,
GEORGE ST., PETERBOROUGH.

A WEEK AGO

"THE STAR" made the largest purchase of Overcoats ever made at one time in the history of the Clothing Trade—Over TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS' WORTH—the entire magnificent stock of one of the largest manufacturers of Fine Clothing in Canada. The owners of the goods were in Desperate Need of Ready Cash. We had it, and we got the stock AT OUR OWN PRICE. We placed about half our purchase on sale Monday morning, and to-day we place the balance of the stock on our tables. The last shipment included the Finest Goods. The first lots are all sold, and such scenes of excitement as have transpired during this sale never before occurred in a clothing store.

Customers stood in open-mouthed wonder at the wonderful values given. Many persons bought two and three Coats on account of their wonderful cheapness. Small Merchants have eagerly bought all we would sell them, our prices are so much lower than they could buy the same goods at wholesale.

The Overcoats are Simply Elegant, made of the Richest and Finest Fabrics and in the most "Correct" Style, "Schnabel's" Chinchillas and Beavers; "Carr's" Meltons, Eredon Kerseys, Fine Fancy Overcoatings and Shetlands, intended for Merchant Tailor's use. Many were intended to Wholesale at $15, $18 and $20. We bought them for less than the Raw Material Cost, and are selling for $8 and $10, garments worth two and three times the money.

Is it Hog Cholera?

A disease has broken out among pigs in this district, says the Belleville Ontario, which is stated to be hog cholera by eminent authorities. Within two days a dozen pigs have died at the Rockwood asylum piggery, Kingston. Dr. Massie says the cause of death is cholera, which he thinks is in the air. The disease is likely to be disseminated by trains carrying hogs up and down the country. One farmer in Sidney has lost three fine pigs within a week, and the disease is creating sad havoc throughout the country.

A Fractious Domestic.

One of our policemen had an experience with a woman yesterday. A domestic, employed in a South Ward residence, had had her "evening out" the night before, and had come home laden with whiskey to the fighting degree. She made the house hum with her frantic actions and violent language. She refused to do her work, neglecting to get either breakfast or dinner, and paraded the premises attired in the most scanty attire, consistent with being clothed at all. The policeman visited the place in a hack, and at first Mrs. Geoghan, the offending abigail, refused to dress, but on the policeman starting to take her as she was—in a state of very scanty dishabille—she donned her drygoods. Even then she fought her way every inch to the hack, and had to be held therein. She was landed in the cells, and on the police magistrate being sent for, it was decided to ship her, to Ottawa, where she says she has a daughter. She went out on the midnight train. She claims she is a widow, her husband having died twenty three years ago, and the policeman is sure she is a first-class specimen of muscular femininity.

That the Carnival of Nations, under the auspices of the Ladies Aid Society of the Charlotte street Methodist church will prove a grand success.

That the rain did not come before it was needed.

That if Mr. Cahill has any intention of occupying the mayor's chair, that this coming year is his "golden opportunity."

That a system of sewerage is badly required and that the council of 1892 will have to face the matter squarely.

That $2 and costs is not a sufficient fine for the average drunk.

That the Water Works Company should not be allowed to tear up the streets and leave them in the unlevel manner that they are doing now.

That the Jessie Couthoui entertainment last night was a very enjoyable one.

That there will be a good deal of powder burnt by hunters shooting at game on Thanksgiving day.

That gates at level railway crossings will not be thought of till some other person is killed.

That southward ward the boom of building takes its way.

Mr. Henderson Nesbitt, D D. H. C. R., will occupy the chair at a Forrester's concert at Springville, on Thursday evening.

The Bicycle Relay Race.

Names of the Runners and Pacers and Probable Times.

Local bicyclists, though they are not in it, in a cyclical sense, will take great interest in the relay race, mentioned in these columns a day or two ago, to test the adaptability of the bicycle to courier service. The relay divisions are satisfactorily arranged for the great Thanksgiving Day event. The start will be made from Hamilton at 5 o'clock Thursday morning. Robertson and Gould will take the first relay, speeding a dozen miles to Appleby. There James and Powis will relieve them and carry the despatch 16 miles to Port Credit. Skirritt and Griffith will hustle it another dozen miles to Toronto. Hyslop and McBride will carry it to Highland Creek; McClelland and Henderson to Whitby; Doherty and Tinning to Bowmanville; Miln and Wood to Port Hope; Hurndall and Lowes to Grafton; Smith and a Belleville scorcher to Brighton; Nash and Smith to Belleville; Nasmith and Whatmough to Napanee; Nasmith and a Kingston flyer into Kingston. The probable times at relay changes will be: Appleby, 5 50 a.m; Port Credit, 7.10; Toronto, 8 00; Highland Creek, 9 10; Whitby, 10 12; Bowmanville, 11 15; Port Hope, 1 p.m.; Grafton, 2.05; Brighton, 3 10; Belleville, 4 40; Napanee, 6.20; and Kingston, 7 50. If conditions are favorable a far better record than this will likely be made. This is an array of riders that at the present time cannot be equalled in Canada. The last relay of Hamilton riders will be well placed from Port Credit to the city. Many members of the Toronto Bicycle Club will accompany the couriers for various distances over the Kingston road. It is now definitely settled, says the Ontario, that Eddie Roy, son of Mr. R. M. Roy, town, and H. Notwell, of Belleville, will form part of the relay from Brighton to Belleville.

The combination of ingredients found in Ayer's Pills renders them tonic and curative as well as cathartic. For this reason they are the best medicine for people of costive habit, as they restore the natural action of the bowels, without debilitating.

New Furniture Store.

Mr. E. H. White has a fine furniture store in the Snowden Block, Simcoe street, and the public will find it well filled with a large and well assorted stock of parlour, dining room and bed chamber furniture. Special attention paid to upholstering and ordered work. The public will find it to their advantage to give Mr. White a call, who is an energetic, practical and experienced young man.

An Excellent Entertainment

The Couthoui-Shandrew Entertainers Give Pleasure to a Good Audience.

In spite of the rainy evening there was a good attendance at the opera house last night to enjoy the Couthoui Shandrew dramatic and musical entertainment, and altogether a very meritorious and pleasing entertainment was given. Peterborough lodge of the Sons of England, under whose auspices the entertainment was given, had arranged the stage very prettily with pots of flowers and foliage and drawing-room furniture. The programme was opened with a fine selection by the Peterborough Amateur Orchestra, which also opened the second part with another selection—a set of piquant waltzes—performed in a very creditable manner, good time, judicious shading, a very effective ensemble, altogether affording a very pleasing display of good execution and true musical spirit. This organization is showing marked progress, and its productions are becoming popular, as they deserve. As was expected, Jessie Couthoui-Shandrew was the centre of attraction, and she created an exceedingly favourable impression, pleasing many as well as any elocutionist that has ever visited Peterborough. Her first selection was "Trouble in the Amen Corner," which she recited with so much spirit and pathos, as to earn a recall, to which she responded with a convulsively funny dialect recitation—"The Corpse's Husband." Her recitation of the scene from King John—act IV, scene I, was given in a most excellent manner, and held the audience rapt during its production. Her interpretation of the passages included in the selection, showed a most clever and sympathetic insight into the spirit of her subject. She was equally happy in the contrasting bit of negro dialect—"The Trials of Uncle Reuben." Jessie Couthoui created a decidedly favorable impression in her several recitations last night. Mr. W. G. Shandrew, baritone, the vocalist of the combination, sang the rather heavy selection for him—The Toreador's song from Carmen, with so pleasing an effect as to provoke a recall to which he responded. His voice lacks volume and a false note or two about the middle of the selection marred the effect of his production. His second selection was Spiker's "Dream of Spring," also encored. The most enjoyable part of the evening's programme perhaps was the sparkling comedietta "A Happy Pair," in which the two characters, Mr. and Mrs. Honeyton, were taken with delightful result, by Mrs. Couthoui Shandrew and Mr. Shandrew. The text of the drama is sparkling with humour, to which Jessie Couthoui especially, gave a very refined and discriminating interpretation, and the audience was immensely delighted with it as with the entire entertainment.

Mr. Hoover played the accompaniments with his excellent taste, judgment and skill. He received a very high compliment from Mr. Shandrew. The latter has the Toreador song in his repertoire, but he has sung it very few times from the difficulty of getting a good accompaniment. He was so delighted with Mr. Hoover's artistic work, that he wished to secure him to accompany the combination as accompanist in the 28 engagements for which they have been booked.

The piano used for this entertainment was an Evans, supplied by Messrs. Jackson & Co., and the floral display was furnished by Mr. Frank Mason.

Peterborough Lodge Sons of England desire to cordially thank all those who in any way contributed to the pleasant success of the evening which was scored.

—The peculiar enervating effect of summer weather is driven off by Hood's Sarsaparilla, which "makes the weak strong."

PROVINCIAL TEACHERS.

Opening of the Annual Convention at Toronto Yesterday.

Toronto, Nov. 11.—The annual convention of Provincial School Trustees was commenced yesterday afternoon at the public school buildings, about 30 delegates being present.

A lengthy discussion took place on those sections of the new School Act, which determine the financial relation of collegiate institutes to their county councils. The secretary called the attention of the convention to the clause providing for the amicable adjustment of the sum which the collegiate ought to receive.

Owing to the fact that the present mode of educating the teachers-in-training at the county model schools has a demoralizing effect on the order of the public schools visited by the teachers, Rev. Mr. Somerville of Owen Sound moved that a small committee be appointed to enquire into the working of the county model schools and to suggest such changes as shall be in the interests of the pupils in the public schools and not interfere with the instruction of the teachers' training. This was carried, and Messrs. Bartlett, Jeffers, McGibbon, Davison and Somerville were appointed to act on the committee.

The secretary gave the experience of his board respecting the engagement of a teacher this last summer. After the teacher in question had accepted the position he obtained a better situation and wrote that he was unwilling to fulfil his engagement with them. The Minister of Education was notified, and negotiations are at present in progress which may result in the young man losing his certificate. In one letter to the Minister he had stated that he had done no more than most every teacher in the province was doing.

Very little was done at the evening meeting of the convention. Mr. J. E. Farewell brought forward a motion expressing it as the opinion of the convention that in rural public schools one-half day a week should be set apart exclusively for the teaching of practical bookkeeping, mensuration, etc., to the older pupils during the winter months. The idea of the proposition is to provide a substitute for the night schools of the cities. The motion was passed by a majority of 14 to 9.

Messrs. J. E. Farewell and Rev. G. G. McRobbie spent a deal of time, energy and enthusiasm in trying to convince the meeting that the school-year should end for all purposes on July 31. The motion was lost by a large majority.

The same gentlemen presented a motion expressing the wish that legislation might be obtained so that public school trustees in cities, towns and incorporated villages should be elected in June instead of December. Nobody would support the motion.

Cheese Board Meeting.

The Final Meeting of the Season—9 3-4c. Captures the Balance.

At the last meeting of the cheese board, held on Tuesday afternoon to dispose of the cheese left unsold at the previous meeting, and which sellers had permission to sell off the board, which they had largely done at prices ranging from 9½c. to 9 11-16c., there were less than a thousand boxes offered, contributed by the following factories:—

	Sept.	Oct.
Lakefield	—	120
Otonabee Union	30	52
Millbrook	70	36
Downeyville	100	70
Spring Valley	200	190
	400	472

The buyers present were Messrs. Spence, Fitzgerald and Bensley. The bidding started at 9 cents, offered by Mr. Spence, and this figure progressed by several intervening bids to 9¾c., for the board, which was accepted—a slight advance on the best figure offered at the last board.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

Yesterday afternoon there was a large attendance at the Bible reading given by Rev. Mr. McAuley on the "Emblems of the Holy Spirit" which was much enjoyed and greatly helped all present, and the spirit of expectancy of showers of blessing on these services was very apparent to all. Many requests for prayer were received, and Rev. Mr. Trotter led the devotions of all in asking and claiming these dear ones for Christ Jesus. Last night Rev. Mr. McAuley was greeted by a much larger audience of young men, who seemed greatly interested in the manly and interesting address on "Forgiveness of Sin," which was an eye opener to many, of how God forgives sins as taught in his word. The Holy Spirit was present to apply the word and several requested prayer and Rev. Mr. McWilliams led us in prayer asking the Lord's blessing on all and especially on those who were anxious. Mr. McAuley has won the hearts of the young men by his manner of conducting these services which are bright, brief and helpful. Mr. McAuley is a good singer and our young fellows join heartily in the service of song. We hope to see the room too small to hold the many who will attend the balance of the week. Bible readings each afternoon at 3 p.m and Evangelistic services for men only at 8 p.m.

Makes the Weak Strong

The marked benefit which people in run down or weakened state of health derive from Hood's Sarsaparilla, conclusively proves the claim that this medicine "makes the weak strong." It does not act like a stimulant, imparting fictitious strength from which there must follow a reaction of greater weakness than before, but in the most natural way Hood's Sarsaparilla overcomes creates an appetite, purifies the blood, and, in short, gives great bodily, nerve, mental and digestive strength.

That Tired Feeling

"I derived very much benefit from Hood's Sarsaparilla, which I took for general debility. It built me right up, and gave me an excellent appetite." Ed. Jenkins, Mt. Savage, Md.

Fagged Out

"Last spring I was completely fagged out. My strength left me and I felt sick and miserable all the time, so that I could hardly attend to my business. I took one bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it cured me. There is nothing like it." R. C. Begole, Editor Enterprise, Belleville, Mich.

Worn Out

"Hood's Sarsaparilla restored me to good health. Indeed, I might say truthfully it saved my life. To one feeling tired and worn out I would earnestly recommend a trial of Hood's Sarsaparilla." Mrs. Phebe Mosher, 90 Brooks Street, East Boston, Mass.

Baby's Face was Raw

Distressing Itching Skin Disease Cured in one Month by the Cuticura Remedies.

When our baby was six weeks old he had a rash on his cheeks. It spread on both cheeks and chin. His face was raw. I doctored with various remedies, but it got no better. My mother advised me to try the Cuticura Remedies. I used them faithfully, and in one week the boy looked better. In one month he was cured, and now he is three years old and no signs of it returning. The child was so bad I had to tie him in a pillow-case, and pin his hands down so that he could not scratch his face. I cannot speak too highly of the Cuticura Remedy. I recommend Cuticura whenever I can. I would be pleased to see any one and talk to them of the good it has done my boy.

SWEPT BY THE STORMS.

DEATH AND DISASTER FROM LANDS END TO JOHN O'GROAT'S.

Hundreds of Lives Lost—Britain's Coast Strewn With Wrecks in the Worst Gales Experienced in Many Years—Life Savers Lost—The Damage in France.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—Another gale swept over the south of England Tuesday night. A French schooner was wrecked near Hythe and the captain and his wife and son were drowned. The iron ship Benvenue, from London for Sydney, was washed ashore near Sandgate and wrecked.

The crew, weakened by exhaustion, fell into the water and although the life savers made strenuous efforts to take them off they failed before the crew weakened. The hull of the Benvenue is gradually sinking and is now completely covered with water. The bodies of several victims of the steamer have been cast upon the beach at Sandgate.

The life savers late the in evening managed to reach the ship and rescued 27 of the crew. It is learned that the captain and four of the crew were drowned.

A Long List of Casualties

Further details of the storm show that there is no doubt that the loss of life arising from marine and other disasters will fully equal, if not exceed, that which occurred during the last great gale that visited the British Isles. The despatches now being received give the following list of casualties at various points along the coast:

The Norwegian brig Solertia has been wrecked at Studland in Dorset.

The fishing boat Star of the East, while entering Lowestoft crashed against the north pier and was wrecked. Six of her crew were drowned. One man was rescued, but he died from exhaustion shortly afterwards.

The schooner Margurite Marie, bound for London, was caught in the hurricane off Dungeness and was blown ashore and wrecked.

The damage to property at Folkestone and Deal is very great.

At Christ Church, a town 20 miles southwest of Southampton on the English Channel, the rivers are swollen by the excessively heavy rains which have accompanied the gale and have overflowed their banks. The rising waters flooded the country in the vicinity of Christ Church and part of the town itself is inundated. The damage to fishing boats and other small craft employed in the local coast-wise trade is large.

The farmers in the Midland Counties are growing discouraged at the misfortunes that are pursuing them. In these counties the previous gales and floods did an immense amount of damage. The rivers in the Midland Counties are rapidly rising, and it is feared that there will be a general repetition of the floods of a few weeks ago.

Part of the crew of the life-saving crew at Hythe, while engaged in the work of rescuing a shipwrecked crew, were swept from their boat and drowned.

The storm has extended northward and now rages with great fury from Wick, on the east coast of Scotland, to the Scilly Islands, in the English Channel. This group of islets number about 140 and constitute a constant menace to vessels during stormy weather. There are several lighthouses on the islands, but the shipwrecks that have occurred there have been many.

A vessel named the Paramount has sunk off Lowestoft, Suffolk. All hands except two sailors were drowned.

In London the storm has done considerable damage. In many places where buildings were in course of erection the boarding in front of them was blown out into the streets and temporarily stopped the passage of pedestrians and vehicles. The wind howled through the streets and blew with such force that walking was only accomplished with the greatest difficulty. A number of persons whose business compelled them to be out of doors were badly injured by being struck by falling signs that were blown from their fastenings overhead.

At Westminster a huge barrier of planking, which had been erected before a building, was carried away. A number of pedestrians were struck by the flying planks and several severely injured.

A dispatch has been received from St. Leonard's announcing that the bark Amor is stranded near that town. The life-saving corps made many attempts to rescue the crew, which took to the rigging, but all their efforts were unavailing, and the only hope for the wrecked sailors is that the storm may subside before they die of exhaustion.

The interruption of the telegraph service is general throughout southwest England.

A thousand ton ship, the Pflunge, has gone ashore at Hastings. The passengers and crew were saved with difficulty.

At every port on the east and south coasts of England great anxiety prevails as to the fate of fishing boats, hundreds of these boats, induced by the fine weather, having put to sea.

A foreign bark went ashore at Dungeness. The life-boat men started gallantly to the rescue of her endangered crew. A tremendously heavy sea was running and the life-boat broached to. Once in the trough of the sea she capsized and all hands went overboard. Five of the crew were swept away before they could grasp the life lines on the sides of the boat, and though they wore cork jackets they were lost. The other men succeeded in righting their boat and scrambling into her.

At Deal a fishing boat was capsized and two of her crew were drowned.

Several vessels are ashore between Dungeness and Dover and it is feared they will go to pieces and their crews will perish before assistance can get to them.

Further damage to shipping and additional loss of life is being continually reported. The latest accounts of the ravages of the storm tell of the wreck of two schooners near Brighton and the drowning of four of their crews. The wind loosened the bricks of a chimney on a mansion, situated near Eastbourne, a watering place on the coast of Sussex. One of the servants attached to the establishment was caught under the falling mass of bricks and woodwork and met a horrible death.

Immense damage has been inflicted to property in Eastbourn.

During the night the Dover and Calais boats were obliged to anchor in the roads for safety. The sea was rolling very heavily inside, Dover harbor making it extremely perilous for vessels to enter. The Ostend boat started with mails, but the captain positively declined to take passengers on board.

The rainfall has been unusually heavy and all parts of the country are flooded. Folkestone and Sandgate have again suffered severely. Hardly a street in either place remains unchanged.

Two men belonging to the crew of the Dymchurch lifeboat were drowned.

Even Portsmouth harbor, one of the safest in the world, did not escape damage. the massive sea walls at South Sea being partially destroyed.

Among the Channel Islands the gale was felt with utmost severity. Many persons were seriously injured on the Island of Jersey by falling debris and several boats were sunk in the harbor.

At Bristol the roof of the handsome Catholic Cathedral was blown off and one man killed. Other persons were injured by falling chimney stacks.

Three men belonging to the crew of a pilot cutter were drowned drowned at Cardiff while attempting to rescue a fisherman.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The steamer Hawarden Castle, engaged in the coasting trade, was wrecked at the mouth of the Mersey Wednesday. She was exposed to the full force of the gale, and the seas sweeping over her made it impossible to live on her deck. The crew took refuge in the rigging. A number of attempts were made to rescue them from their precarious position, but none of them were successful. Yesterday four bodies were washed ashore. They are those of seamen from the steamer.

The steamers Britannic and City of New York sailed from Liverpool for New York yesterday in the teeth of the gale. An immense wave boarded the Britannic and carried overboard Quartermaster Mackenzie.

The Southport life-saving crews, fears of whose safety were entertained, managed to reach shore all right. No trace of the distressed vessel they had gone to succor could be found when the lifeboat reached the spot.

An unknown bark stranded off Kinsale, Ireland, yesterday. The sea makes a clean breach over her. So far it has been impossible to assist her either by sending out local life-boats or by firing a life-line to her by means of rockets. It is feared that the whole of the crew will be drowned.

Damage Done by the Floods in Spain.

MADRID, Nov. 13.—It is now becoming possible to estimate roughly the extent of the devastation that has been caused by the tremendous floods which have swept over so many parts of Spain during the last month or two. Beginning with the terrible disaster at Consuegra, where the loss of life mounted up into the thousands, the country has been subjected to a series of floods which are without parallel in the history of Spain. It is believed that the total loss of life will never be accurately known. The waters are now subsiding and the rivers are seeking their natural channels. But the scenes in the country visited by the floods are distressing. Many farms in the lowlands are covered with broken trees, matted branches, stones and rubbish of every description.

Along the banks of the Tucar River the land is fertile and large tracts were, before the floods, devoted to the cultivation of oranges. To-day the well-tilled groves and fertile farms are wrecked. The inhabitants of the valley, having been deprived of their usual means of subsistence, are plunged into deep distress. The health officials are taking measures to prevent an epidemic of fever.

Eight of the Crew Lost.

MADRID, Nov. 13.—The sloop Julio was wrecked at Bibio yesterday. Eight of her crew were drowned.

In France.

PARIS, Nov. 13.—Tuesday's gale caused an immense amount of damage in all parts of France. Many temporary buildings devoted to panoramas, circuses and the like were destroyed.

Two persons were killed at Pavilly by falling debris.

A youth had his neck broken at Havre by being struck by the covering of a van which had been blown off by the gale.

Several vessels were wrecked at Fecamp, on the English Channel. The rescue of the crews was attended with exciting scenes. Only one man was drowned. The fishermen along the coast suffered heavy losses in boats and gear.

Two smacks of Cherbourg, with their crews, numbering 10 men, are missing

A hospital at Lorient took fire during the gale and the flames spread with such rapidity that the ordinary means of exit were cut off and the patients had to be rescued from the windows. Many of the patients were injured.

The force of the hurricane extended as far as Marseilles on the Mediterranean Sea.

A French torpedo boat was capsized in Brest roads during the hurricane. Her crew was saved.

BOULOGNE, Nov. 13.—Nothing but a rough estimate can be made of the damage done by the terrible storm which set in here Tuesday night, and which without abatement lasted until last night. A large number of houses in the town were unroofed and outbuildings were blown down. Up and down the coast the loss of life and property must have been very heavy. In the vicinity of Boulogne many fishing boats were caught in the gale far from port, and as they have not yet returned grave fears are entertained that some of them have foundered.

Canadian Girl Drowned.

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 9.—The body of a young woman, named Laura Rocheleau, whose father, Antoine Rocheleau, lives near the River Banard, Essex County, Ontario, was found in the river yesterday.

A Voter Who Says He Was Paid $1, That His Wife Was Given Money and That He Received a Free Railroad Ticket—His Memory Treacherous.

WHITBY, Ont., Nov. 13.—The court for the trial of the South Ontario Dominion election petition to unseat James I. Davidson (Liberal) opened before Justices Falconbridge and Street yesterday.

The first witness was John Leslie, who formerly kept the Ontario Hotel here, but now a resident of Toronto. He testified that Louis Siebert and John D. Campbell called on him a day or so before election in Toronto, giving his wife some money and himself a ticket to Whitby and return, where, after voting, Siebert put a dollar bill in his vest pocket. He said he expected $10 at least and complained of his bad treatment to John Smith, drover, a leading Conservative and supporter of William Smith, the defeated candidate in the late election.

Under cross-examination he admitted his memory had failed him since, having suffered from drc[illegible]

QUEBEC, Nov. 13.—The election petitions for Three Rivers, Champlain and Nicolet have all been dismissed.

The Conspiracy Cases.

OTTAWA, Nov. 13.—In the Police Court yesterday before Magistrate O'Gara the Connolly conspiracy case was called. Ferguson, Q.C., appeared for the Connollys and Hon. Thomas McGreevy and Lash, Q.C., for Larkin. The accused themselves did not appear. Osler, Q.C., for Crown, agreed to a formal remand till Tuesday, 17th inst., when it was agreed Judge Ross should conduct the enquiry.

East Wellington.

FERGUS, Nov. 13.—James Kirkwood, reeve of Erin township, (Lib.), who was nominated in opposition to John Craig, the nominee of the Reform convention, was elected Tuesday for East Wellington in the Local Legislature by these majorities:

The Petition Against the Return of Thomas Bain, M.P., Dismissed.

HAMILTON, Nov. 13.—Wednesday was the day set for the trial of the petition against the return of Mr. Thomas Bain, M.P. for North Wentworth. When Justices Rose and MacMahon ascended the bench counsel asked that both the petition and counter petition be dismissed, it having been decided not to proceed with the trial. This was agreed to and the petitions dismissed with costs. The proceedings only lasted five minutes.

THE BOODLING CLERKS.

Arraigned Before the Ottawa Police Magistrate Yesterday—The Evidence.

OTTAWA, Nov. 13.—Alleged Boodlers Talbot and Dionne of the Public Works Department, along with A. C. Larose, recently merchant in Ottawa, who supplied them with goods which they procured for their own private uses and charged to the Government, were again arraigned in the Police Court Wednesday before Magistrate O'Gara. The witnesses examined before the Public Accounts Committee were called and gave testimony similar to that which they had given before that committee. Larose and Dionne were out on bail, but so far Talbot has been unable to get anyone to put up the necessary security. The evidence against him is very much stronger than the others. The evidence to-day was very lengthy. L. N. Charlebois, late bookkeeper for Larose, gave damaging evidence of goods being sent to Dionne's house, charged to Talbot, paid for by the Public Works Department checks and Dionne's account being settled by share of "T.B.," which he said stood for "Talbot's Boodling." A number of unimportant witnesses were heard.

At the conclusion of the evidence Magistrate O'Gara committed Larose and Talbot to trial. Dionne was discharged. Larose is out on bail in $4000.

SWALLOWED HIS TEETH.

Thomas Flynn's Strange Death While at Supper.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 13.—Thomas Flynn, a currier employed at Gallun's tannery, while eating supper at Mrs. Long's boarding house, 222 Pearson-street, last night swallowed his false teeth and choked to death. Flynn was about 60 years of age and was a bachelor. Flynn was in the best of health a few moments before he sat down to eat his supper.

On examination the doctor found that a portion of the lower set of teeth had fallen into the throat, together with a piece of meat, and that another portion of the plate was wedged on top. Members of the household say that Mr. Flynn did not seem to suffer greatly.

She Ate Soap and Liked It.

DANBURY, Conn., Nov. 13.—Dr. Richard Ellis of this city has a soap-eating patient. The patient is Mrs. J. Johnson, aged 26. Mrs. Johnson says she has been eating soap ever since she was three years old. At the age of 11 it had injured her stomach so that she was forced to abstain for a time. During her abstinence she was comforted somewhat by handling and smelling the soap. But she soon resumed the strange habit and her stomach is now in such a condition that she can hardly recover.

The First of the Season.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 13.—A young son of Thomas Cottingham of the Dominion Lands office was drowned at Rapid City yesterday while skating.

Escaped With Their Lives.

QUEBEC, Nov. 13.—A fire broke out last night in the drygoods store of Blais & Lefebvre in Notre Dame-street, Lower Town, and in a moment the whole house was a mass of flames. A boarding-house was kept on the second story by Mrs. Polvin. Several boarders, who were in bed, had barely time to escape. The damage is $30,000 to $40,000.

A K. of L. Sensation.

TOLEDO, Nov. 13.—The sensation of the Knights of Labor Convention yesterday was the report of a committee appointed at last session at the request of General Secretary Hayes to investigate the treasurer's books, which he found in an unsatisfactory shape. The committee reported that ex-Treasurer Turner refused to appear before them or to give up the bank deposit books, cancelled checks and other documents in his possession. They made the best investigation possible in the absence of these documents, and find there is over $31,000 unaccounted for. Even crediting Turner with $17,000, which his statement shows to have been expended, but which the books of the order do not show, leaves a balance of over $14,000 entirely unaccounted for. The report was ordered printed.

CORNWALL, Nov. 9.—Some parties having occasion to call at the house of William Irons, painter, were horrified to find Irons lying dead on the floor and the air in the house thick with smoke. It appears that deceased went home about 11 o'clock, and lighting a coal oil stove lay down and went to sleep, and the blaze getting high made the smoke that caused his death, the walls and ceiling being thickly covered with soot. He lived alone.

A Limerick Fight.

LIMERICK, Nov. 9.—This city Sunday was the scene of a fierce conflict in which 40 soldiers and a mob of people were engaged. Four soldiers were seriously wounded with knives. Six civilians were arrested.

STRANGE DEATH OF A YOUNG TORONTO LAD.

Sad Death from Blood Poisoning—Jumped from a Three-Story Window—Dropped Dead While Reading the Bible.

TORONTO, Nov. 13.—Sergt.-Major William Moulton of the 10th Foot was sitting reading his Bible at 36 Albert-street when he dropped over dead.

At the second day's session of the Provincial Association of High and Public School Trustees a motion that High school trustees be elected by the ratepayers was voted down. A recommendation was passed that the Government should grant more substantial aid to Kindergarten schools, and these officers were elected: President, Rev. G. G. McRobbie, Shelburne; 1st vice-president, S. F. Lazier, Hamilton; 2nd vice-president, T. A. Hastings, Toronto; sec.-treasurer, G. A. Aylesworth, re-elected.

The police census of Toronto shows the population to be 188,914. There are 4214 vacant houses in Toronto and 651 buildings in the course of erection.

The annual sham fight of the city battalions took place yesterday.

Yesterday afternoon the caretaker of the Yonge-street market was attracted to the elevator in the building by the strange actions of a dog. There to his horror he found the lifeless body of a boy with his neck broken. The body was removed to the undertaking establishment of W. H. Stone. There it still lies but it has been identified by Mr. George Sinclair, 94 Ulster-street, as the body of his son Johnnie who left home in the morning with his dog.

The picked Association football teams from the Toronto League and Western Association competed for the Caledonian Cup yesterday at Rosedale, the Westerners winning by one goal to nothing.

Ottawa College and Montreal drew at Rugby football yesterday in the Capital City, each scoring 8 points.

The experiments of carrying a letter by bicycle couriers from Hamilton to Kingston, distance of 205 miles was tried yesterday, 13 relays of wheelmen covering the stretch in 15½ hours. The first pair of riders left the Ambitious city at 5 a.m., and the last brace reached the Limestone city at 8.30 p.m.

The inmates of the Haven were aroused early yesterday morning by a loud crashing of glass. On investigation it was found that Emma Hickman, an inmate, had jumped from a third story window. She was found on the side of the building remote from the window suffering from a general shaking up and was taken to the hospital in the ambulance.

IMPORTANT EVENT.

The Polsons' New Fisheries Cruiser Launched at Owen Sound.

OWEN SOUND, Nov. 13.—The leading feature of yesterday's celebration in this town was the launching of the new fisheries cruiser, built by the Polson Iron Works Company for the Dominion Government. Fully 2000 persons witnessed the enactment of this important event, which was consummated shortly after 2 o'clock. The act was participated in conjointly by the little daughter of Capt. Gordon, Fisheries Department, and Mrs. Walter Barwick, the former cutting the boat away and the latter breaking the bottle of wine. The name given was H.M.S. Constance, in honor of Lady Stanley.

After the performance of the ceremony James Masson, M.P. for North Grey, delivered a short speech during the process of which he complimented the Polson Iron Works Company and referred to the great boon it had proven to Owen Sound. William Polson, president of the company, to whose energy, foresight and business capabilities are to be attributed the establishment of an industry of this kind in Canada, also passed a few observations.

The new boat is 125 feet long, has a 19-foot beam, draws 10 feet of water aft, is composed of steel, has a compound engine of 450 horse-power, and carries two masts.

In the course of a few weeks the Polson Iron Works Company will lay the keel for a second cruiser, similar to the one launched to-day. This will be completed early next spring and will be detailed for service in the Bay of Fundy and Gulf of St. Lawrence.

LIKE THE BIRCHALL CASE.

Supposed Murder of a Man Who has Wealthy Relatives in Canada.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 13.—What looks like a Birchall case has just come to light here. Three months ago Thomas Hendry, a former manager of the Hudson Bay Company at Victoria, left his wife here and went to Los Angles, seeking investment for $5000, which he carried with him in bills. He wrote several times, detailing places he had visited, and then the letters suddenly stopped. From that time his wife has been unable to secure a single clue to his fate. She sought the aid of the police and made a thorough search, but without avail

Being a proud English woman, with wealthy connections in Winnipeg, she carefully concealed the fact of her husband's disappearance. She believes he has been foully dealt with or has wandered away while temporarily insane. The Los Angeles police believe he has been decoyed to some lonely canon and murdered for his money. He has wealthy relations in Canada who, when they hear of his disappearance, will probably push the search for him.

A Farmer's Strange Death.

MOUNT FOREST, Nov. 12.—John Morrison, a well-known farmer of the town line of Egremont and Arthur, had a bull which was troubled with an abscess on its neck and while lancing this, about two weeks ago, some of the matter discharged got into a scratch on his hand. Although the hand and arm became swollen and painful nothing serious was anticipated and a doctor was not consulted until too late to save his life.

Judge Miller Dead.

MILTON, Nov. 13.—Thomas Miller, County Court judge, Halton, died yesterday after six weeks' illness from hemorrhage of the brain. Deceased was born in Halton county 61 years ago, and studied law with the late Judge Morrison and Hon. Adam Crooks. He was appointed County Crown Attorney of Waterloo in 1857, and 10 years later was appointed judge of Halton. A widow survives him.

John Gilpin Burned Out.

BOBCAYGEON, Nov. 13.—A fire broke out in the Forest House sheds at 3 o'clock yesterday, completely destroying hotel and all outbuildings. A small quantity of furniture was saved. A cow and several pigs also perished in the flames. The building was owned by John Simpson of Lindsay and occupied by John Gilpin. Supposed to be the work of an incendiary.

For Evicted Tenants.

DUBLIN, Nov. 13.—A meeting of the National Federation was held yesterday at Tullamore, at which the question of providing means for the relief of evicted tenants was discussed in all its bearings. It was resolved to fix the contributions to the fund for this purpose at threepence in the pound on the parish valuation.

They Don't Correspond.

DUBLIN, Nov. 12.—Mr. O'Brien, in a further reply to Mr. Harrington, says that he published everything that was of the slightest interest in the matters under consideration. He asserts that he never received a line from either Mr. Gladstone or Mr. Morley during the course of his life.

Slipped Off the Wharf.

OWEN SOUND, Nov. 13.—Thomas H. Long, a young man employed in the C.P.R. coal docks, slipped from the wharf and was drowned at 12.30 yesterday. James Wallace jumped in but was unable to save him. The body was recovered.

Stop Short and Think.

Far-seeing and shrewd speculators predict that our town will be a blooming city of 25,000 people within five years and 50 to 60,000 within ten years.

If this is true, which we fully believe it is, is it wise to remain as a tenant, when by a little effort and self denial, you could easily become the owner of a home of your own.

Young man, do you ever intend to marry? If yes, would it not be wise for you to select a nice lot to day, this week, or this month, not later. Pay what you can and then economize in every way possible until you get it paid for, and the lot once paid for, we can supply you all the money you need to build a suitable house.

Act upon our suggestion and you will always feel grateful for the reminder. it is pleasant, respectable and profitable to have a home of your own.

Come in and we will give you the best assistance in our power.

Buy Now, If at All.

EVERY day makes more apparent the fact that the town is going ahead rapidly. Numerous changes have taken place in the way of ownership of property. Many workingmen are buying houses and lots, or lots on which to build. One of the most suitable locations is that known as the Erin property, at the west end, owned largely by Mr. Wm Fitzgerald This week he has closed the sale of a very desirable house and lot, and has several eligible lots on this property to dispose of. Property in this neighborhood is rapidly being built up, and it will be well to have a look at the situation if one is at all disposed to buy. The terms are very favorable and especially low for cash, though payment on time may be arranged.

J. J. SHEEHY'S SECOND ANNOUNCEMENT.

On the first of October, I, having just concluded my sixth year in Business, felt desirous of stating to my many Customers and the Public Generally, just what my experience had been. I endeavoured to do so in such a manner as to convince those who read advertisements, (and their name is legion) that what I said I meant. I refrained from Wild Statements, Quoting of Prices, and the Specifying of Extraordinary Values, or the Hundred-and-one Stereotyped Methods that are indulged in by Advertisers as a rule, but at once Got Down to Facts, and will endeavour to follow out that Principle, as I consider that the growth of my Business is, in itself, the biggest guarantee that the people are satisfied, that, when they buy goods from J. J. SHEEHY, they get Right Goods and that the Prices are also right.

The Month of October, notwithstanding the Mild Weather has been a Great Success so far. And the 5 Per Cent Discount which has just Seven Days More to Run, is evidently making itself felt. If you require any Fall and Winter Dry Goods, come in and examine our stock, and if we have not what you want, then it is a line, either unknown to the trade or at least has not yet reached Peterborough. I might just say in conclusion that I have closed the purchase of over 200 PAIRS OF WHITE WOOL BLANKETS.

Daily Examiner.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 13 1891.

As the coming municipal elections in Hamilton a vote will not be taken on the question of reducing the number of liquor licenses in that city. The city council rejected the proposal recently.

The North-West elections have turned out adversely for the prohibition cause. There can be little doubt that the expression against the liquor restrictions was the consequence of the inefficient administration of the law. Electors urged that license was preferable to prohibition with liquor everywhere.

In the list of persons to whom the Grand Trunk sold tickets at excursion rates at the last general election appears the name of John Emond, $1,250 30. This item the Tory organs are putting down on the Liberal side of the account. The Montreal Herald points out that Emond is a misprint for Emard, the name of the law partner of Hon. J. A. Ouimet, Mr. Abbott's new colleague. The names of McGreevy, Tupper and Chapleau are on the same side of the account.

The Montreal Witness, referring to the dismissal of the petition against Mr. Watson, the Liberal representative of Marquette, Manitoba, says:—"Everyone who values independence will be glad that Mr. Robert Watson, the Liberal member for Marquette, will retain his seat. Mr. Watson is the only representative from the Northwest who is not servile to the Government and the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. It is honorable alike to him and to his constituency that, in spite of all that the combined force of the Canadian Pacific and the Government could do in a country in which they are all but irresistible, Mr. Watson was re-elected by those whom he had long served, and that without resort to bribery, which has become all but the rule in Canada. Not a tittle of evidence of corruption was offered against Mr. Watson, or even his agents, and the case was dismissed."

The United States Presidency.

Compared with those of the last presidential election the returns of the state elections held last week are certainly encouraging to the Democratic or tariff reform party of the United State. New York state, which gave Mr. Harrison 13,000 majority in 1888, and made him President, elected the Democratic state ticket last week by majorities ranging from 40,000 to 50,000. Massachusetts, which gave Harrison 15,000 majority, elected a Democratic governor by over 5,000, and Iowa, once the Republican banner state, which gave its electorial vote to Harrison by about 16,000 majority, went Democratic by 12,000 last week. The states usually Democratic show no falling off in that party's strength. The only victory by the Republicans was in Ohio. That state gave Harrison about 20,000 majority in 1888, and elected Mr. McKinley governor by about the same majority last week. Therefore the gains, as compared with the last presidential contest, are with the Democrats. But although Massachusetts elected a Democratic governor there is little ground for hoping that the state will cast its vote for that party in a presidential contest, and the Democrats are not likely to claim it in their calculations. But New York, which is likely to be the pivotal state, as it has been in several past contests, is pretty certain to repeat next autumn the verdict it gave last week. The Republicans of the state are divided upon local and personal issues, and these divisions are likely to be intensified by the crushing defeat they sustained last week, while the big victory scored by the Democrats will encourage them to perfect their organization with the view of securing the Presidency. Iowa will also be close fighting ground, but with Governor Boies as their candidate for President, or Vice-President, the Democrats would be pretty sure to capture it. As usual, the recent state elections have killed off a good many "possible presidential candidates," and brought some others to the front. Had Governor Campbell defeated Mr. McKinley in Ohio, his claims to a place on the Democratic ticket would have been very strong, but while Campbell went down Boies, of Iowa, maintained his position, and showed his ability to capture a state hitherto strongly Republican. On the Republican side Mr. McKinley has been brought to the front, and no doubt his name will be submitted to the national convention as a candidate for the Presidency. But as Harrison and Blaine cannot very well be passed over for a new man, the chances are that Mr. McKinley will be nominated for the Vice Presidency. "Blaine and McKinley" is the ticket now being boomed by many Republican papers, but many will prefer Harrison to Blaine. The Democratic candidate for the Presidency will doubtless be Grover Cleveland, though the friends of Governor Hill, of New York, will make a strong fight for him. Hill is probably stronger than Cleveland in the state, but not so strong throughout the union, and there would be an objection to Hill's retirement from the United States Senate, to which he was lately elected, because the Republicans are now in a majority in the state legislature and would elect his successor.

The Republicans hope to carry all the states which gave them majorities in 1888 and the new states as well, but admit the possible loss of New York, Iowa and Indiana, and the certain loss of eight votes in Michigan. This would, of course, leave their candidate in a minority, but if they retain New York they can afford to let all the others go. Hence New York will be the great battle ground. The party which secures the 36 votes of the Empire state will in all probability elect its presidential candidate. The Republicans may possibly win without New York. The Democrats can scarcely hope to do so.

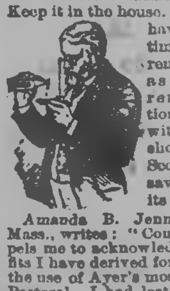
WHY COUGH,

WHEN a few doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral will relieve you? Try it. Keep it in the house. You are liable to have a cough at any time, and no other remedy is so effective as this world-renowned preparation No household, with young children, should be without it. Scores of lives are saved every year by its timely use



Amanda B. Jenner, Northampton, Mass., writes: "Common gratitude impels me to acknowledge the great benefits I have derived for my children from the use of Ayer's most excellent Cherry Pectoral. I had lost two dear children from croup and consumption, and had the greatest fear of losing my only remaining daughter and son, as they were delicate. Happily, I find that by giving them Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, on the first symptoms of throat or lung trouble, they are relieved from danger, and are becoming robust, healthy children."

"In the winter of 1885 I took a bad cold which, in spite of every known remedy, grew worse, so that the family physician considered me incurable, supposing me to be in consumption. As a last resort I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and, in a short time, the cure was complete. Since then I have never been without this medicine. I am fifty years of age, weigh over 180 pounds, and attribute my good health to the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral."—G. W. Youker, Salem, N. J.

"Last winter I contracted a severe cold, which by repeated exposure, became quite obstinate. I was much troubled with hoarseness and bronchial irritation. After trying various medicines, without relief, I at last purchased a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. On taking this medicine, my cough ceased almost immediately, and I have been well ever since."—Rev. Thos. B. Russell, Secretary Holston Conference and P. E. of the Greenville District, M. E. "German Syrup"

Here is something from Mr. Frank A. Hale, proprietor of the De Witt House, Lewiston, and the Tontine Hotel, Brunswick, Me. Hotel men meet the world as it comes and goes, and are not slow in sizing people and things up for what they are worth. He says that he has lost a father and several brothers and sisters from Pulmonary Consumption, and is himself frequently troubled with colds, and he often coughs enough to make him sick at his stomach. Whenever he has taken a cold of this kind he uses Boschee's German Syrup, and it cures him every time. Here is a man who knows the full danger of lung troubles, and would therefore be most particular as to the medicine he used. What is his opinion? Listen! "I use nothing but Boschee's German Syrup, and have advised, I presume, more than a hundred different persons to take it. They agree with me that it is the best cough syrup in the market."

Fruit Growers Conference.

Fruit Growers' Take Counsel Together—The Provincial Association—Fruit Growing the Past Season—Forest Culture—The Next Meeting.

There was not a large attendance at the meeting of Local Fruit Growers' held in the council chamber Peterborough on Wednesday afternoon, though there were representatives present from Otonabee, Monaghan, Smith and Norwood.

In the absence of the president of the Local Fruit Growers' Association, Mr. E. B. Edwards the secretary briefly stated its object, which was to compare notes of the past season's operations in fruit culture, and to consider questions affecting that industry.

On motion of Mr. Middleton, seconded by Mr. Payne, Mr. T. M. Grover was appointed a delegate from the association, to the annual meeting of the Fruit Growers' Association to be held in Hamilton, in December.

BONE MEAL AND ASH.

Mr. EDWARDS read an interesting letter from Mr. John Craig, Horticulturist of the Dominion Experimental Farm Ottawa, in regard to the use of bone meal and ash used in combination for fertilizing purposes in orchard or garden. Mr. Craig said: "In applying bone meal and potash together, the latter would assist in liberating the nitrogen of the bone and thus give more immediate results, but for other than annual plants not really important; it would have no effect on the phosporic acid. On light sandy soil I think the combination a good one, applied lightly and often. On heavy soil I would not not go to the expense of using the bone meal and ash."

FOREST TREE CULTURE.

Mr. T. M. GROVER, of Norwood, who has had a large practical experience in the culture of forest trees in plantations, and who is a frequent contributor to Mr. Phipps' Forestry report, read a carefully prepared paper on forestry, which should stimulate the interest of our farmers in this increasingly important subject. He said that forest planting for the sake of the timber had not yet proved successful in America; we needed a longer study of tree life under artificial conditions. Some plantations of from 500 to 5000 acres have been disappointing, trees native to the locality proving useless when cultivated in one place. Insect enemies, unexpected climatic effects, unequal growth of the trees that seemed succeeding at first, would seem enough to discourage further trials. His own experience, Mr. Grover said, has been similar, but he still felt an interest in continuing further trials. Planting nuts and acorns where the trees were to stand had been his worst mistake—the weeds overcame the few that grew. Another mistake was planting nuts in the fall as soon as picked. The plants came up only to fight for life with the weeds. The same fate befel too small seedlings.

Insufficient preparation of the soil was another contributory cause to failure in growing forest trees. But he was not discouraged—he had learned wisdom from his mistakes and was ready to start a forest on any cultivated land, on contract to be left at the end of three years with 2 500 trees per acre at a cost of fifty cents per acre. Rich land was not necessary, nor was a fertilizer. Fine cultivation—as for wheat, was however, indispensible. Plant one year old seedlings not less than three feet in length—about like a riding whip. Plant after careful plowing and harrowing by driving a plough for rows four or eight feet apart. Put in the trees and cover with a shovel, say, four or two feet apart. Then cultivate like corn for three years. The trees should be mounded up with a plow every fall to protect from mice. He said that seedlings were not sold in Canada but that there were wholesale nurseries all through the United States.

The addresses were R. Douglas, Waukegan, Illinois; Phœnix Company, Bloomington, Illinois; Geo. Pinney, Evergreen, Wisconsin; J. Jenkins, Winona, Ohio. These were all reliable firms. As to prices, one year seedlings were sold at from fifty cents to four dollars per thousand but are only about six inches long and the size of a knitting needle, and it was, therefore, better for the amateur to send for two year old seedlings, which would cost from $5 to $15 per thousand. The cheapest were ash, elm, box elder, soft maple, alder and cherry. Black walnut seedlings were very much larger and soft like a carrot, and cost from $6 to $15 per thousand. Anybody could easily try a few trees, for Mr. R. Douglas, of Waukegan, Illinois, would send 100 seedlings of most kinds for $1.00.

Mr. Grover thought that for Canada white ash, box elder, white elm, black cherry and black locust would do the best generally. It would not pay yet to plant forests for timber, but it would pay to preserve what forests we have from fire, cattle and thieves. The woods thus protected would soon increase. But he said that shelter belts, to ultimately develop into timber, would pay on nearly every farm in this county. Mr. Grover closed by saying that planting and caring for one tree or searching for a good one in the forests, will pay every man in the interest he will ever after feel in all forestry matters.

NOTES OF THE FRUIT SEASON.

Mr. PAYNE gave his personal experience [illegible] during the past summer on [illegible] property. He had raised 2,300 [illegible] and four and a half tons [illegible] and pears were a poor [illegible] good. Strawberries a failure owing to dry weather. All his fruit was damaged by a hail storm.

Mr. JOSEPH GILES also recounted his experience. He had done very well with apples. Of grapes, he had grown over four tons this year, from 500 vines, on about an acre of ground. His strawberries were a failure but plums were a good crop; raspberries were an average crop. Mr. Giles exhibited three varieties of apples grown by him—the "Pewaukee," the "Mann," and the "King of Tompkins County."

Mr. E. B. EDWARDS gave the meeting the benefit of some incidents of his experience with fruit raising the past season. He had a good crop of summer and fall apples, but a very unsatisfactory crop of winter apples. He said if the experience of others was like his, it would be found that although the market had been glutted with fall apples there would not be many winter apples to dispose of. He pointed out that the difficulty of marketing fall apples, showed the necessity of having an evaporator for utilizing them. He also urged the advisability of uniting to ship apples to England. Mr. Edwards also gave some interesting points as to the planting of young trees.

THE NEXT MEETING.

The Secretary recommended the holding of another meeting in January, and indicated the desirability of making a special effort to secure a large attendance.

Mr. PAYNE thought that about the 10th of February would be a better time, as then farmers had more leisure.

Mr. COLLINS suggested that it would be a good plan to meet about the same time as the Institutes.

It was decided to adjourn till some date about the second week in February, when an effort would be made to secure the presence of some professional fruit growers.

"Life is an ocean,
Each one has his bark."

Some have a bark they would gladly be rid of—a careless, persistent, determined cough, present by day, not absent by night. If you take the wings of the morning and fly to the uttermost parts of the earth, it will go with you! There is just one thing to do: begin a thorough treatment with Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and the problem is solved! You will soon wonder where it is gone and when it went! The picture is not overdrawn—colds, lingering and obstinate coughs, and even Consumption, in its early stages, yield to this potent vegetable compound. Large bottles, one dollar, at druggists, and guaranteed to benefit or cure in every case, or money returned by its makers. a

For the past year I have been troubled to to a very great extent with dandruff, also, a dulness of color in my hair, and through the advice of a friend (who spoke from experience) I tried your Anti-Dandruff, which upon the application of less than a bottle of your liquid I find my head not only thoroughly cleansed, but a vast improvement in the color and growth.

I have, and do recommend it as highly beneficial to the profession and public generally as an agreeable and welcome innovation in the remedies put forth for public favor.

Yours, etc., WM. P. WOLFE,

This remedy absolutely cures the most obstinate cases when all other TREATMENTS have failed even to relieve. They do not, like other preparations advertised for Lost Manhood, etc., interfere with digestion; but impart new life, strength and energy in a quick and harmless manner, peculiar to themselves.

Mission School Entertainment.

There was a large attendance at the pleasant entertainment provided by the ladies in the St. John's Mission School on Thanksgiving night. The Rector, Rev. J. C. Davidson, presided, and introduced the several numbers of a very interesting programme, consisting of instrumental (pianoforte) music by Mr. G. A. Smith, vocal solos by Miss Fawcett and Mrs. Stapleton, and Miss Edith Hall, recitation by Mr. Parker, dialogue and beautiful tableau. The entertainment was very highly enjoyed by those fortunate enough to be present, and a tidy sum was netted for the worthy object for which the entertainment was held.

BANGERS AT THE RANGES.

Annual Matches of the Fifty-Seventh Battalion

A Most Successful Event—Capital Shooting—A Busy Day's Good Work—Everybody Well Pleased—The Young Shots Do Themselves Proud—List of Prize Winners.

Yesterday was a busy day at the Curtis rifle ranges, when the annual matches of the Fifty-seventh Battalion were shot. From 8 30 in the morning till 6 in the evening with the exception of a rest for rations, there was a perpetual pop of the rifle, and it is pleasant to say a pretty steady exhibition of the scorers' signals. These matches were the most successful ever held under the auspices of the battalion. There were 125 competitors, and they did excellent work, the "green" marksmen especially distinguishing themselves and crowding some of the crack shots closely. Altogether the average was above the average, and both officers and men can congratulate themselves upon the splendid success of their annual matches. Everything passed off smoothly and without a hitch, thanks largely to the completeness of the arrangements and judicious management of the range officers, Capt. Dennistoun and Lieut Schofield. At noon luncheon was served by Mr. John Craig. The day was fine, wind moderate to the left, the light dull and the fouling dry. The total amount distributed in prizes was $150.

BATTALION MATCH.

The first event shot off was the Battalion match. In this the ranges were 100 yards, 200, 300 and 400 yards. There were fifty prizes ranging from $3.00 to 50 cents, aggregating $45. The following are the scores, the winners being placed in the order of scoring:

From the Jaws of Death.

[illegible] surprising effects have been recorded from the use of Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil in the most desperate cases of consumption. When all other remedies have failed Miller's Emulsion nearly always succeeds. It is the best kind of a flesh and blood maker, and has been used with marked success by the physicians in the Insane Asylum, Penitentiary, Hotel Dieu, and General Hospital in Kingston, Ont. In big bottles 50c. and $1—at Peterborough Drug stores. dw

Do You Cough?

Don't delay. Take Kemp's Balsam, the best cough cure. It will cure coughs and colds. It will cure sore throat, or a tickling in the throat. It will cure pains in the chest. It will cure influenza and bronchitis and all diseases pertaining to the lungs, because it is a pure balsam. Hold it to the light and see how clear and thick it is. You see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Large bottles 50c and $1. dw

A Sea Voyage.

A sea voyage is an expensive and extensive prescription, especially when equally good results as regards health are to be had by simply taking Burdock Blood Bitters according to directions. It is a specific for dyspepsia, cleanses the blood, regulates the liver, bowels and kidneys and removes all impure matter from the system.

His Family did not Know Him.

A Belleville man has for many been bent and crippled with a lame back, but after trying the OB, Kidney cure, he could walk like a boy again and his neighbors could hardly recognize him. This remedy is for sale by all druggists and the OB, Kidney Company, Belleville. dw

A Severe Attack.

DEAR SIRS—My children were taken ill with ulcerated sore throat, bordering on diphtheria. I had nothing in the house but Hagyard's Yellow Oil, which I used with great benefit. I am sure if it had not been for it the disease would have developed into diphtheria. It is a splendid medicine.

MRS. E. CAMERON, Moore's Falls, Ont.

COMBINATION.—Indigenous Bitters is a combination of the most valuable roots and barks noted for their medicinal qualities. 1d

DYSPEPSIA in its worst forms will yield to the use of Carter's Little Nerve Pills, aided by Carter's Little Liver Pills. They not only relieve present distress, but strengthen the stomach and digestive apparatus. dw

MINISTERS, lawyers, teachers and others whose occupation gives but little exercise, should use Carter's Little Liver Pills for torpid liver and biliousness. One is a dose. Try them. dw

A Suitable Gift.

A tube of Dyer's Jelly of Cucumber and Roses for making the skin soft and smooth, will be acceptable to any lady. Druggists keep it. W. A. Dyer & Co., Montreal. 6 1111

It is estimated there are five thousand different kind of pills on the market. Should one be able to test the entire lot for a perfect specific in sick headache, foul stomach, habitual constipation and liver complaint, then only one would be found: McGale's Butternut Pills, they cure when others only relieve. Price 25 cents. dw

The Czar of Russia.

The Czar of Russia probably has his own troubles as well as we commoner mortals. Where we have the advantage in such troubles as dyspepsia, biliousness, constipation, bad blood, and the like is in being able to procure easily a perfect remedy in Burdock Blood Bitters, nature's grand restorative tonic and purifier. dw

Prompt, potent and permanent results always come from the use of Milburn's Aromatic Quinine Wine. dw

BIRTH.

LOWE.—On Sunday, the 8th of November, 1891, the wife of Mr. Joseph Lowe, township of Emily, of a son.

DIED.

JOHNSTON—At Cavan, on Wednesday, the 11th of November, 1891, Mary Cooney, wife of Mr. Edward Johnston, aged 53 years.

FITZPATRICK—At Dummer, on November 9th, 1891, Timothy Fitzpatrick, aged 85 years.

A Cure "Almost Miraculous."

"When I was 14 years of age I had a severe attack of rheumatism, and after I recovered had to go on crutches. A year later, scrofula, in the form of white swellings, appeared on various parts of my body, and for 11 years I was an invalid, being confined to my bed 6 years. In that time ten or eleven sores appeared and broke, causing me great pain and suffering. I feared I never should get well.

"Early in 1886 I went to Chicago to visit a sister, but was confined to my bed most of the time I was there. In July I read a book, 'A Day with a Circus,' in which were statements of cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla. I was so impressed with the success of this medicine that I decided to try it. To my great gratification the sores soon decreased, and I began to feel better and in a short time I was up and out of doors. I continued to take Hood's Sarsaparilla for about a year, when, having used six bottles, I had become so fully released from the disease that I went to work for the Flint & Walling Mfg. Co., and since then on account of sickness. I believe the disease is expelled from my system, I always feel well, am in good spirits and have a good appetite. I am now 27 years of age and can walk as well as any one, except that one limb is a little shorter than the other, owing to the loss of bone, and the sores formerly on my right leg. To my friends my recovery seems almost miraculous, and I think Hood's Sarsaparilla is the king of medicines." WILLIAM A. LEHR, 9 N. Railroad St., Kendallville, Ind.

Female Suffrage, Encouragement to Labor and Other Popular Planks—War in China—A Royal Scandal—"Cherry Ripe" Missing—General Foreign.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—The executive committee of the Conservative Association have drafted a program to be adopted at the great party caucus which opens in Birmingham on Nov. 23.

The conference will be asked to endorse the intention of the ministers to extend local government and promote technical education in Ireland. At the same time it is declared that the inequalities arising from according Ireland a disproportionate representation in Parliament ought to be redressed. Other important planks provide for the extension of franchise to women who are landowners or house occupants, the creation of a labor department under a member of the Cabinet to be termed the Labor Minister and legislation to enable local authorities to acquire land, to facilitate the creation of small rural holdings. As a further concession to the labor vote the conference will declare in favor of the principle of labor representation, and will urge the Conservatives to support labor candidates everywhere who appeal to enter public life upon no party lines. This plank, contrasting with the Liberal pronouncement against labor candidates in purely labor interests is deftly contrived to encourage a split in the Radical workmen's vote.

Next the Government is requested to increase the number of appointments of workmen as factory inspectors and to appoint women inspectors.

A resolution proposed by Howard Vincent, M.P., an eager advocate of Imperial Federation, favors a preferential tariff throughout the British empire, the adoption of which will not commit the party leaders.

Next the "one man one vote" principle is denounced, while it is declared that the ballot act must be amended to exclude illiterate voters.

Lord Salisbury, Home Secretary Matthews and Sir J. E. Gorst will deliver addresses at the meeting.

Another Plot Against the Czar.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Some surprise was expressed in this city upon the receipt of a despatch announcing the extraordinary activity which was being displayed by the Russian Government in connection with internal disturbances which are known to exist in the empire.

It was thought at first that the Government's action was due to the troubles arising from the scarcity of food in many districts of Russia. A despatch was received this evening, however, which puts all speculation to flight and gives a very sufficient reason for the suspicions of the Russian Central Government that there is something wrong in the empire.

This dispatch states that a short time ago it came to the knowledge of the police that a conspiracy was underway. The authorities, through the system of espionage which prevails throughout Russia, were able to learn who the conspirators were, their places of meeting, and in fact everything connected with the plot. While secretly pursuing their investigations in St. Petersburg, they found that the conspirators in that city were only a part of a very numerous band and the headquarters of which was located in Moscow. They learned also that the conspirators had been very active in securing adherents to their plan and that the conspiracy had ramifications which spread to all the principal cities of the empire.

The object of the conspiracy just unearthed, unlike a majority of the plots discovered in Russia, was not to kill the Czar but was the organization of a movement having for its end the creation of a representative assembly, an object which has been the dream of many Russians for years.

Sixty members of the nobility and of the upper and middle classes who are charged with complicity in the conspiracy have been arrested. The discovery of the plot and the arrest of so many prominent subjects has caused a decided sensation in Russia.

Hunted to Death by a Sheep.

WILLSBORO, Pa., Nov. 14.—Although women and children fear the bunting rams of the sheep pasture it is seldom that anybody hears of a sheep killing a person, as one did kill 67-year-old Lydia King near Sabinsville the other evening. The aged lady was overtaken in the orchard by a pugnacious old buck. First one of her legs was broken by his bunting; then, before she dropped dead, several of her ribs.

He Swallowed a Spoon.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—An unprecedented method of attempting suicide was used here yesterday by E. Bogzeman, who tried to kill himself by swallowing a spoon. He is now in the hospital and may recover.

THE ELECTION TRIALS.

DR. SPOHN, M.P. FOR EAST SIMCOE UNSEATED.

The Question of Disqualification Reserved by the Judges—Further Testimony in the South Ontario Trial—A Witness Swears That He Received $10.

WHITBY, Nov. 14.—Interest is unabated in the trial of the petition to unseat James Ironside Davidson, M.P. for South Ontario, before Justices Falconbridge and Street. All day long the large gallery reserved for ladies has been fully occupied by fair listeners to the interesting evidence adduced.

W. T. R. Preston, secretary of the Reform organization, was the first witness in the box yesterday. He said that from a good many constituencies lists of outside voters were received by him. He asked Peter Ryan to see some of the G.T.R. officials with regard to free passes for voters. Mr. Ryan saw Mr. Whyte, who came to Preston's office and said they couldn't do less than do so. Preston continued: My orders on Mr. Slatter for tickets were honored. I had no special knowledge of special trains run election day to carry voters. The $482.87 which I paid was for special trains, not for tickets or passes.

The next charge taken up was one added in amendment to the bill of particulars made yesterday and had reference to alleged payment of $2 to John Donnelly, a laborer on the Grand Trunk Railway, living formerly at Myrtle in South Ontario.

Donnelly testified: Malcolm McTaggart, a farmer at Myrtle, whom I knew when there, called to see me one evening shortly before the late election at my home in Toronto. He wanted to know if I would come down and vote for Davidson. I said I would not be able to go down at my own expense. He gave me a ticket. I was put off the train at York, the conductor saying the ticket was no good. At York Mr. D. Murray gave me a ticket which carried me to Whitby Junction on the next special which came along. From there I had to pay my fare, 35 cents, to Myrtle. After I had voted I told Mr. McTaggart the ticket was no good, and that I had to pay my fare. He handed me a bill, and said there was $2 he would lend me.

McTaggart in his evidence admitted the ticket transaction in Toronto, and having lent Donnelly the $2 when he found on enquiry that he had very little money with which to return home, which was done over the C.P.R. from Myrtle.

Counsel thereupon argued from the evidence upon this charge and court rose, judgment on this branch of the case being reserved.

Another charge that R. H. Hurlburt of Orillia had been paid his traveling expenses ($3.45) to Myrtle and return was gone into, but Hurlburt and McTaggart, who was the alleged payer, both emphatically denied the charge and the court dismissed it.

Much time during the afternoon was occupied with hearing the evidence of Manning Brothers and others regarding alleged bribery by Secretary Dickie of the Reform Club. John Manning, fomerly a resident in South Ontario at Brooklin, Whitby and Oshawa, but in business at election time at the corner of King and Niagara-streets, Toronto, said he got a note from Mr Dickie requesting him to come to the Reform Club that evening. He went and on returning a second time with three others, his brother John, one Gowdy and Robert Mitchell, they were furnished tickets and got $10, which he divided up with his companions.

Further solacious evidence followed, showing that he was a Conservative and never intended to vote for Davidson. The witness continued: John G. Smith, a cousin of William Smith, the defeated candidate, hunted me up at a hotel in Niagara-street. I reported to Jack Lawder that same night that I got the tickets what had occurred at Reform Club. I sold the ticket for $2 to Alexander Henderson of the Inland Revenue office, Toronto. I'll take money every time I can get it. Dickie told me it was through Dr. Rae of Oshawa and he wrote me. Michael P. Warren, who had gathered the Oshawa voters in Toronto, said that John Manning spoke very bitterly to him about the treatment his (Manning's) sister had received from Wm. Smith, the defeated candidate.

The railway feature of the case was further taken up by examining C. W. Taylor, business manager, Toronto Globe, as to having arranged for the running of special trains for voters on election day. He explained there had been a confusion of accounts between The Globe and Reform organization through changing one of the specials run west from Toronto, election day, in place of one they had to carry The Globes through to Windsor the morning after the election.

The Leslie case was then taken up with the examination of Mrs. Leslie, who denied having been paid any money by Seibert on the occasion of Seibert and young Campbell calling on her husband in Toronto before election, nor did she hear any promise made to pay her husband anything, but on his return he told her Seibert had put a bill in his vest pocket and when he got to the station on pulling out the bill found it was only $1.

John G. Campbell and Louis Seibert denied having paid or promised to pay anything to Leslie, who they said was only too anxious to get down to Whitby to vote and would have walked if they had not given him a ticket.

At the evening session, which commenced at 8 p.m., argument was begun on the evidence already in.

THE KNIGHTS OF LABOR.

TO AMALGAMATE WITH THE FEDERATION OF LABOR.

Steps With That End in View Taken at the Convention in Toledo Yesterday—Another Resolution Against the Admission of Lawyers.

TOLEDO, Ohio, Nov. 14.—The K. of L. convention yesterday discussed a highly important resolution offered by A. W. Wright to settle the differences between the K. of L. and the American Federation of Labor. They were finally adopted, 96 ayes, 5 nays. If these resolutions are accepted by the Federation it means that over 60,000 laboring men will be united in organized labor assemblies or unions.

The proposition embraced in the resolution is as follows:

1. In future all Knights of Labor working at a trade or calling shall recognize and respect the working cards of all unions of the same trade or calling attached to or affiliated with the American Federation of Labor or connected with any labor organizations who are parties to the agreement when such unions and their members shall in like manner recognize and respect the working cards of such Knights of Labor.

2. All labels the property of the federation, or of any body attached to it, or of any of the labor organizations who are parties to the agreement, shall be officially recognized and endorsed by the Knights of Labor, and all Knights of Labor labels shall be officially recognized and endorsed by the Federation and the other parties to this agreement.

3. No person who is a suspended or expelled member of any union in affiliation with the Federation or of any other body a party to this agreement, or who is in arrears for dues or assessments or in any other way indebted to such union or organization, shall be admitted to membership in any assembly of the K. of L. without the consent of such union or organization, in writing, and in like manner no person who has been expelled or suspended by an assembly of the K. of L., or who is indebted, or in arrears for dues or assessments to such assembly, shall be admitted to membership in any union affiliated with the Federation or any of the organizations who are parties to this agreement.

4. The provisions here made shall be promulgated as soon as practicable and go into effect on and after Jan. 1, 1892, and be it

Resolved that no other assembly of K. of L. shall form an alliance or affiliation with any body or organization that shall refuse to enter an agreement as above with this order, and be it further

Resolved that should the American Federation of Labor at its coming annual session refuse to enter into the agreement as outlined above it shall be the duty of the general officers of the K. of L. to issue an address to the workingmen of America setting forth all the facts.

No Lawyers Need Apply.

This afternoon the assembly was in secret session and it is said that the secret work has been totally changed to prevent expelled members coming in. In the case of J. J. Holland of Florida, an expelled member of the General Executive Board, the expulsion was sustained.

In the discussion on this point it was charged that he and others boodled the yellow fever fund sent by the general assembly to the Florida K. of L. in 1888.

A proposition to admit lawyers to membership in the order was rejected.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 14.—Sam Small, the noted evangelist, was attacked yesterday and severely beaten by Tom Minor, an Atlanta saloonkeeper, whom Small on Sunday charged in an address with having deserted his family, leaving them to starve.

Minor saw Small enter a barber shop this morning and followed him. As Small hung his overcoat up and started toward a chair Minor struck him on the nose. Small fell to the floor and before he could rise Minor kicked him in the face. Small's face is badly bruised, his upper lip is cut and he has lost three teeth.

Three Boys Accidentally Shot.

HAMILTON, Nov. 14.—Robert Pollington, a young man living in Margaret-street, George Allen, No. 171 King William-street, John McQuillan and George Mortimer, Erie-avenue, started in pursuit of a pigeon which had been hit and had fallen out of bounds at the Hamilton Gun Club grounds yesterday. To get at it they had to get over a fence. Mortimer, McQuillan and Allen got over before Pollington, who was carrying a double-barrelled shot gun. After getting over Pollington started to run, stumbled in the rough ground and fell. The gun went off and the three boys ahead of him got the contents, Mortimer receiving the worst. The shot peppered his back about the waist and over the kidneys. McQuillan also got a dose in the back. Both had to be taken to the hospital. McQuillan was able to leave to-day, but Mortimer though not seriously hurt will be laid up some time yet. Allen received a small portion of the charge in the breast.

Daily Examiner.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1891.

IN the bye-election in East Wellington, on Wednesday, Mr. John Craig was defeated by Mr. Kirkwood. Some of the Tories are extracting comfort from the fact that one Liberal has beaten another Liberal, remarks the Globe. The really striking feature of the situation, however, is that no Tory candidate was rash enough to show his nose in the riding.

ELSEWHERE in this issue is published an account of the unchristian treatment of Chinamen in British Columbia, which is only an indication of popular feeling all over the continent towards Chinamen. Apart from the consideration of whether such treatment to the Chinese is morally right, is it wise? China, at present, is in a disturbed state; civil war seems imminent, and if it breaks out thousands of foreigners, many of them Canadians and English and Americans, will be in terrible danger. Will the news of the way in which Chinamen are treated in America tend to make the enraged populace of China any more lenient towards foreigners when the outbreak of civil war shall let loose the worst passions of a half savage race?

THE full report of the proceedings at the recent Grand Trunk shareholder's meeting London shows that Sir Henry Tyler made a strong point against the duty on coal. The duty costs the company £100,000 stg. a year and of course enhances the operating expenses by that amount. No doubt the Canadian shipper pays it in the long run, for the road has not nearly so much competition here as in the States, and can therefore afford to pile an outlay like that on our backs. Mr. Baker, one of the shareholders, stated that £33,648,000 invested in the Grank Trunk pays no interest whatever. He thinks that this fact should be borne in mind by Canadian politicians in their dealings with other railways, especially in the granting of subsidies to competing lines. A suggestion that the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific should combine to levy higher rates in Canada was received with much favor by the meeting.

THE reported intention of the Canadian Government to pursue a vigorous emigration policy is per se gratifying, but the work must be be better and more steadily done than hitherto to prove really profitable. Money can be spent for this purpose with real profit to the Dominion, but it is essential that the policy must be more thorough and business like than before. The Candian Gazette suggests than Premier Abbott should put the work in the hands of a young and active Minister. This suggestion is warranted by the feeling among all concerned in the work in England, who have long and often complained of the present system. This country wants nothing more, besides honest government and a rational trade policy, than population. But the public confidence in the Dominion Government to do anything in an honest, straightforward manner, detracts very largely from their proposal to spend large sums in bringing people into Canada. Before they enter upon the work of filling up the country they should adopt some policy that would counteract the tendency of the outward flow of population to the United States. It is not a very paying process to import immigrants at Canadian expense to fill up our neighbors. Nearly all the immigrants brought into Canada within the past ten years are now in the United States. This may not be literally true, but it is true that we have lost nearly enough Canadians, one of whom is worth to the country half a dozen of the average foreigner to make up the number of immigrants. A vigorous immigration policy judged by the past, simply means the expenditure of money to populate another and commercially hostile country.

Christian Treatment of Chinese.

The British Columbia papers of the 5th give an account of the treatment by the public authorities of two Chinese lepers. The lepers, it appears, were shipped from New York two months ago to China, or anywhere else out of the United States. When they reached Vancouver they were not allowed to take passage in the vessels to China. The Vancouver people put them on the train and sent them eastward across the mountains. When they reached Swift Current they were stopped and sent back to Vancouver, where they were placed under confinement. But the taxpayers got tired of supporting them, and on the 3rd they were turned adrift. This is what happened:—

"As soon as the doors were thrown open the lepers started down for Chinatown, but they were shunned by all their fellow countrymen, and could not get shelter. Then they came back to the city and all day wandered up and down the principal business streets in the rain, finally going back to the shack on the shores of the bay where they have been confined for the past two months. On a visit to the shack to-day it was found that, although the guards had been removed in accordance with the resolution of the city council, the door was padlocked, and subsequently it was learned that the padlock had been put on by the customs authorities. This afternoon the lock was removed, but the men declined to leave the hut as they had no place to go, saying they wished to reach Hong Kong. They stated that they had nothing but salt fish to live upon, but others assert that they have rice."

Is it any wonder that China is disposed to make things uncomfortable for Christian missionaries when her own subjects are treated like mad dogs in Christian lands? Leprosy is a terrible disease, but it is probable not so infectious as small pox, and we do not treat small pox patients when they are Canadians or Americans in this fashion. The golden rule seems to be suspended in both countries as against Chinamen.

Criminal Work!

The Press Speaks Boldly—As Bad as Burglars and Murderers—They Should Be Looked After.

The Philadelphia Times in a very recent article speaks strongly in regard to criminal plumbing and its results. It says:—"In point of fact the sanitary plumbing proclaimed and professed to be practiced by the organized master plumbers is seldom enforced. Most of their work is hidden from ordinary notice, and they largely make their profits by dishonest practices. The ignorant or dishonest plumber will sow the seeds of death in every home if he is allowed to do the plumbing, no matter how well he is watched or paid. There is no excuse for ignorance of poisonous gases in a home. The plumber who deliberately puts imperfect work in the hidden parts of a house, and thus exposes a family to disease and death, is as much a criminal as any burglar or murderer. He knows that the diffusion of poisonous gases destroys health and imperils life, and when he deliberately leaves hidden vents in plumbing for sewer gas to carry its deadly fumes into homes, he is a criminal and should be treated and punished as a criminal."

Sad to relate, our experience in Canada in plumbing work is quite on a par with that in the United States. A large proportion of prevailing sickness is due to the unsanitary condition of plumbing work in our ordinary dwelling houses, where the young and old, the healthy and suffering, spend a great portion of their time.

Under existing circumstances, and until the strong arm of the law can furnish relief, we would sound a not of warning to all who are predisposed to disease—to those who are not rugged in health, and who are nervous, sleepless, irritable, dyspeptic rheumatic and who cannot boast of perfect blood circulation; to such we would say, you require nature's great invigorator and health restorer, Paine's Celery Compound. There is no other known remedy that will so quickly or so effectually drive away the lingering seeds of disease, which so often produced typhoid fever. Paine's Celery Compound, given to the children when indisposed and feverish, will ward off diphtheria, and will give them great vitality. Every Canadian home should be furnished with a bottle of this true and honest remedy, to which every ailing member of the family should have access. Physicians everywhere recommend and prescribe it. Take hold of it in time, and avoid the dangerous effects of a polluted atmosphere.

The Mighty Pen.

It is estimated that 3,500,000 steel pens are consumed daily. It is interesting to think what they do. For instance, they make love, write gushing poetry, scrape out the briefs in a breach of promise case, cut and thrust at a reputation, scratch out realistic novels and political editorials, chronicle sensations, puff this and belittle that, and, in short, do more to make and break, to save and to destroy, to civilize and to degrade the human race than anything else under the sun.—Detroit Tribune.

A Hastings Outlaw.

He Discharges His Revolver in a Constable's Face and Walks Off Into the Woods.

BELLEVILLE, Nov. 12.—Constable Demore a few days ago narrowly escaped being shot down in Elzevir township in attempting to arrest a desperate outlaw named John Ellis, who has been a fugitive from justice for nearly a year and says that he will never be taken alive. When the constable knocked on the door of the farm house in which Ellis was hiding, the latter shoved a revolver through a lookout in the door and fired on the officer. He was nearly blinded with smoke, while the bullet passed through a part of his dress. The constable, with two assistants, lost no time in getting out of the range of fire. Three days afterwards Constables Beatty, Wilson and Demore surrounded the house and called upon Ellis to give himself up. The latter coolly walked out of the house behind a rifle and threatened to shoot the first man who attempted to arrest him. He backed into the woods and disappeared in sight of the officers, and nothing since has been heard of him.

THE MIRACLE CITY.

A New Name Suggested for Hamilton.

Another Remarkable Case Which Would Indicate That the Name Would be Quite Appropriate.

The number of remarkable cures occurring in Hamilton is causing general comment throughout the country. To those who know the inside facts there is not the least cause for wonderment. The remarkable cure of Mr. John Marshall who was known to almost every citizen in Hamilton gave the Pink Pills an enormous sale in the city, one retail druggist alone selling 2,880 boxes in the past six months. People whose cases had been considered hopeless as was Mr. Marshall's, took hope from his cure, persisted in the use of the pills, with equally wonderful results in their case. And what is happening in Hamilton in the way of remarkable cures, is happening in all parts of the Dominion, and every day adds to the pile of grateful testimonials which the proprietors of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are receiving. Last week the Hamilton Times investigated two more cases, the result of which is told in the following article in the issue of Nov. 7th :—

The account of Mr. John Marshall's wonderful cure, after suffering for years with locomotor ataxy naturally brought to light several other cases of almost equally miraculous cures in this city. Among the many citizens who profited by Mr. Marshall's experience and who have been troubled for many years with the same affliction was Mr. William Webster. For a long time he was in the flour and feed business in the market square, and for over ten years while in his office he was compelled to remain in a reclining position on a couch, covered with heavy buffalo robes winter and summer. It was with difficulty that he could make his way, even with the aid of crutches, to his residence, but a short distance from the store. He attributes his trouble to constant exposure at the open door of his store, carrying heavy bags of grain in and out, and when overheated and prespiring sitting over an open cellar-way in order to cool off. About a year and a half ago he found it necessary to give up his business, owing to the fact that he was becoming utterly helpless from his terrible disease. In June last, on hearing of Mr. Marshall's case, he began to take that well-known remedy, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and has been greatly benefitted thereby.

Mr. Webster was seen by a Times reporter at his residence, Macnab street north, Saturday afternoon, and was not at all loath to speak about his case. "With the exception of this trouble with my legs," he said, "I have never been sick a day since I was 17 years old, and now I am 55. This locomotor ataxy is a terrible disease. For years my legs have seemed as though they belonged to some one else. As I have lain asleep on a winter night, one leg has fallen out of the bed and when I would awaken with the cold I would have to feel around with my hand before I could tell which leg was out of bed. If I were to try to place my foot on a spot on the carpet within easy reach I could no more do it than fly. The pain at times has been terrible. I have lain awake night after night, week after week, alternately grasping each foot in my agony as the sharp pains like knife stabs shot through various parts of my anatomy. When I was first attacked with pains in my feet some 12 years ago, I tried several physicians but could get no relief. Paralysis then set in, and I immediately consulted a well known specialist in Buffalo, who told me that I was suffering from locomotor ataxy and could not get better. I came home again and on the advice of friends tried several hot springs, with no effect, except perhaps to aggravate my complaint. I finally became discouraged, and after two years' doctoring, I underwent an operation. I was placed under chloroform, a gash two inches and a half in depth made in the side of each leg, near the hip, and the doctors put their fingers in the gash and stretched the sciatic nerves in the vain hope that such would give me relief. Since then now over ten years ago, until, June last, I took no medicine whatever, and retiring from business, became so helpless that I could not walk a step without any crutches, and sometimes the pain was something awful. About June, however, I got some of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and after using the first box felt such a beneficial effect from them that I continued to use them ever since with the result that the terrible pains I used to suffer from have vanished, and with the exception of a gentle little [illegible] at rare intervals, I might never know I had ever suffered with them. Since using the pills I get to sleep early and sleep as soundly and peacefully as a baby all night through. I can also walk a dozen steps or so without my crutches." And to illustrate, the old gentleman got up and walked across room and back again to his seat alongside the reporter. "Now I couldn't do that at all before last June," continued he, and the pills are certainly the pleasantest medicine to take, that I ever tried. I would advise any one who is troubled with an affliction any way similar to mine, who is suffering from any nervous disease, to try Dr. Williams' Pink pills.

THEY SELL RAPIDLY.

Mr. J. A Barr, the well know Hamilton druggist, says that the demand for Pink Pills is something astonishing. Last winter he purchased one dozen boxes. This was his first order. Since then he has sold 2,880 boxes of the pills, and every day the demand is increasing. He sells at least two dozen per day. The same story comes from other druggists in Hamilton.

The other day Mrs. Martin, of Ferguson Avenue, Hamilton, Ont., called at Mr. John A. Barr's drug establishment and asked for a box of Pink Pills. She had a little girl with her in a perambulator, and while the mother was in the store the child climbed out over the side of the carriage. The mother laughed over the incident and remarked: "If it were not for Pink Pills my baby would never have be able to do that. To those in the drugstore Mrs. Martin narrated the wonderful cure which had been effected by the Pink Pills in the cure of her infant. When about a year old the baby became paralyzed, and the anxious parents consulted the best doctors in the city, but their treatment was of no avail. The little one was not able to move hand or foot, and for a time the case was considered a hopeless one. Seeing an advertisement in the Hamilton Times, of the wonderful cures being effected by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, Mr. Martin procured a box and before the child had taken all it contained a marked improvement in her condition was soon noticed. The paralysis disappeared and the little one's appetite returned. The parents' hearts were delighted with the result. It was while buying the second box that the child scrambled out of the carriage on to the sidewalk. The mother told Mr. Barr that the paralysis had resulted from teething. A representative of the Times who investigated the case discovered that the little girl is now walking around in the best of health.

The proprietors of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills state that they are not a patent medicine but a scientific preparation used successfully for many years in the private practice of a physician of high standing. They are given to the public as an unfailing blood builder and nerve restorer, curing all forms of weakness arising from a watery condition of the blood or shattered nerves, two fruitful causes of almost every ill that flesh is heir to. These pills are also a specific for the troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, all forms of weakness, chronic constipation, bearing down pains, etc., and in the case of men will give speedy relief and effect a permanent cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork, or excesses of whatever nature. The pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price (50 cents a box—they are never sold in bulk or by the 100) by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Morristown, N.Y.

Peterborough Teachers' Association.

Closing Meeting of the Half Year—Synopsis of the Interesting Proceedings.

The Teachers' Association for the town of Peterborough met on Friday at the Collegiate Institute. Mr. Fessenden, president, occupied the chair. After routine Mr. Jeffers, of the Collegiate Institute, took up the subject of English Literature before a class. By his many questions he brought out very clearly the meaning of the poem, and during the hour he held the attention of his pupils with marked interest. Mr. Jeffers is a master of the subject and is to be congratulated upon his excellent and practical lesson, which must be of much benefit to teachers.

Mr. Fessenden then took up the subject of "interest" before a class, which had never taken up the subject. The questions that were put and which led up to the use of such terms as interest, time, etc, were very ingenious. The pupils were quick and practical in their answering, showing a large range of thought and much credit is due them. A good discussion followed the lesson in which Messrs. Fife, Smith, J. Smith and Mr. Hallet, of Lindsay Public School, took part.

The election of the officers for the ensuing year was proceeded with and the following were elected :

PRESIDENT—C. Fessenden, M.A., Principal Collegiate Institute.

VICE-PRESIDENTS.—Wm. Smith, Principal Public School, and Wm. Brick, Principal Separate School.

SEC.-TREAS.—A. Blanchard, Principal Peterborough Business College.

PROGRAMME COMMITTEE.—Misses Aldridge, Hall, Jenkins, Sim, Lough, Tracy and Mr. Fife.

A vote of thanks was then tendered to Messrs. Jeffers and Fessenden for their able lessons. The next meeting of the association will be held on the last Saturday of February, 1892.

A Good Seymour Farmer.

The Campbellford Herald has the following in refrence to a wideawake farmer, well known in this county, whose name is a familiar one opposite good figures in the prize lists of our agricultural exhibitions :—"In September last, Mr. Wm. Stillman, of Seymour west, was requested to send samples of his barley to the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, and on the 13th of October he received the following letter from Mr. Saunders, the Director :—"I beg to acknowledge the receipt from you of three samples of barley, all of excellent quality. They are all fine samples, and a credit to your district." In a subsequent letter to Mr. Stillman, Mr. Saunders says :—"The Hon. Mr. Carling has requested me to send to England for exhibition a few sample bags each containing about 60 lbs. of some of the best barley grown here this season. As your sample is about as good as anything I have seen, I should be glad if you would send me a two bushel bag by express." Mr. Stillman complied with the request, and sent the barley to Ottawa on the 21st of October."

Campbellford's Claim for a Post Office.

The Campbellford Herald says :—When we hear of the government erecting commodious, costly and beautiful post offices in various parts of the Province, it has the effect of making us feel a little jealous. And is it not natural? In Campbellford we have in which to transact a very extensive postal business a little 7x9 pent-up place that affords little more accommodation than the office which existed before the Ferris block was erected, and not a wonderful improvement over the old office of twenty years ago, when it was in a dry goods and grocery store. The long and short of it is, we need a new office, one that will afford greater space and convenience for the officials and better accommodation for the public. In saying this we believe we voice the opinion of every person who has any business at the post office in Campbellford. We do hope the government will soon take Campbellford under its kindly care in this respect and furnish us with a building that will be commensurate with the postal business and public necessity.

The combination of ingredients found in Ayer's Pills renders them tonic and curative as well as cathartic. For this reason they are the best medicine for people of costive habit, as they restore the natural action of the bowels, without debilitating.

A Sea Voyage.

A sea voyage is an expensive and extensive prescription, especially when equally good results as regards health are to be had by simply taking Burdock Blood Bitters according to directions. It is a specific for dyspepsia, cleanses the blood, regulates the liver, bowels and kidneys and removes all impure matter from the system.

A Severe Attack.

DEAR SIRS—My children were taken ill with ulcerated sore throat, bordering on diphtheria. I had nothing in the house but Hagyard's Yellow Oil, which I used with great benefit. I am sure if it had not been for it the disease would have developed into diphtheria. It is a splendid medicine.

WHY COUGH,

WHEN a few doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral will relieve you? Try it. Keep it in the house. You are liable to have a cough at any time, and no other remedy is so effective as this world-renowned preparation. No household, with young children, should be without it. Scores of lives are saved every year by its timely use

Amanda B. Jenner, Northampton, Mass., writes : "Common gratitude impels me to acknowledge the great benefits I have derived for my children from the use of Ayer's most excellent Cherry Pectoral. I had lost two dear children from croup and consumption, and had the greatest fear of losing my only remaining daughter and son, as they were delicate. Happily, I find that by giving them Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, on the first symptoms of throat or lung trouble, they are relieved from danger, and are becoming robust, healthy children."

"In the winter of 1885 I took a bad cold which, in spite of every known remedy, grew worse, so that the family physician considered me incurable, supposing me to be in consumption. As a last resort I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and, in a short time, the cure was complete. Since then I have never been without this medicine. I am fifty years of age, weigh over 180 pounds, and attribute my good health to the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral."—G. W. Youker, Salem, N. J.

"Last winter I contracted a severe cold, which by repeated exposure, became quite obstinate. I was much troubled with hoarseness and bronchial irritation. After trying various medicines, without relief, I at last purchased a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. On taking this medicine, my cough ceased almost immediately, and I have been well ever since."—Rev. Thos. B. Russell, Secretary Holston Conference and P. E. of the Greenville District, M. E. C., Jonesboro, Tenn.

"THE STAR" made the largest purchase of Overcoats ever made at one time in the history of the Clothing Trade—Over TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS' WORTH---the entire magnificent stock of one of the largest manufacturers of Fine Clothing in Canada. The owners of the goods were in Desperate Need of Ready Cash. We had it, and we got the stock AT OUR OWN PRICE. We placed about half our purchase on sale Monday morning, and to-day we place the balance of the stock on our tables. The last shipment included the Finest Goods. The first lots are all sold, and such scenes of excitement as have transpired during this sale never before occurred in a clothing store.

Customers stood in open-mouthed wonder at the wonderful values given. Many persons bought two and three Coats on account of their wonderful cheapness. Small Merchants have eagerly bought all we would sell them, our prices are so much lower than they could buy the same goods at wholesale.

The Overcoats are Simply Elegant, made of the Richest and Finest Fabrics and in the most "Correct" Style. "Schnabel's" Chinchillas and Beavers; "Carr's" Meltons, Eredon Kerseys, Fine Fancy Overcoatings and Shetlands, intended for Merchant Tailor's use. Many were intended to Wholesale at $15, $18 and $20. We bought them for less than the Raw Material Cost, and are selling for $8 and $10, garments worth two and three times the money.

Attention!

Readers of the EXAMINER are requested to pay particular attention to future advertisement of J. J. Sheehy. He intends to call the special attention of the purchasing public to his advertisement in this paper. Mr. Sheehy's advertisements are always clear and to the point, and as a result of this judicious use of printers ink, he reports that the month of October this year has been far in advance of the same month in 1890. Special drives are to be had now at his store in All Wool White Blankets, Underwear, Dress Goods and Kid Gloves.

An Interesting Decision.

At Osgoode Hall on Wednesday an interesting decision was given in the case of Zoleski vs. Levine. Mr. E. B. Stone, Barrister, Peterborough, moved to dismiss the action on the grounds that it was frivolous and vexatious and the following is the judgement:

Zoleski vs. Levine,—F. A. Hilton, for the defendant, moved to dismiss the action on the ground that it is frivolous and vexatious. McCarthy, (Macdonell & Corley), for the plaintiff, contra. Order made dismissing the action with costs.

It is understood that this decision establishes a precedent in this relation where no precedent previously existed.

The Thanksgiving Tea.

Owing to pressure on our space yesterday we could not deal with several local matters among others the highly successful thanksgiving tea in the George street Methodist church provided by the ladies. There was an abundant feast and it was abundantly appreciated by the large number present. The edibles were of an unusually excellent character. After refreshments followed the intellectual feast. Dr. Fife occupied the chair and introduced an excellent programme, comprising vocal solos each, by Mrs. Seward, Mrs. Sanderson and Miss Fawcett, and two duets by Messrs. Manning and Matthews. The pastor also gave a brief address. The entertainment was in all respects a very pleasing success, the financial part not being the least satisfactory. The net proceeds amount to nearly $100. The Ladies Aid Society are certain to be able to place a receipt in full on the pinnacle of the tower liability before the snowdrops bloom next spring.

Almost a Centennarian.

Mrs. Ann Ramsey, says the Port Hope Guide, has just passed away, at the age of 95. She was the widow of a marine, and was an officer's cook on board the Bellerophon at the time of the surrender of Napoleon the First. She was also at the battle of Acre, when the fort at that place was blown up. She had a remarkable memory of things long since passed. She lived alone nearly thirty years and was a remarkably healthy person, but for the last forty days she was unable to partake of any food. She was buried wednesday at Zion.

Committed for Trial.

Mr. John Pope, jr., of Bridgenorth, charged with the seduction of Eunice Finlay, of Smith, a girl under 16 years of age, was committed for trial by County Police Magistrate Edmison, and released on $4 000 bail, himself in $2,000, and two of $1,000 each. It will be remembered that the magistrate at the time of the hearing on Wednesday was hardly satisfied with the evidence as to age, but on being shown the family Bible of Mr. Finlay, showing that Eunice Finlay was under 16 years of age, the accused was committed for trial, but released on bail as stated.

A Great Record.

The Port Hope Times, with natural exultation says:—"The Durham Field battery occupies a position amongst other Batteries of the Dominion of which they may well feel proud, winning as they have this year every competition presented—the Shifting Competition won two years in succession, thereby winning the Gzowski Cup which becomes the Battery, also the firing competition in which then were fourteen field batteries competing, winning in this competition, there were thirty individual prizes given to the best marksman. Eight chosen from each battery making one hundred and twelve men in all, and the record shows that seven out of the eight chosen in the Durham Battery have taken individual prizes." The EXAMINER, while congratulating Port Hope, files the claim of Peterborough, which is largely represented in the Durham Field Battery, to a considerable share of the credit. However, in these piping times of peace, our southern neighbor would doubtless find a business boom more to the point than the boom of big guns.

New Cobourg Church School House.

The new school house of St. Peter's (Anglican) church in Cobourg was formally opened on Sunday last. It is, says the World, a handsome brick building 40x60 feet, built of white brick in the Norman style of architecture. There are six heavy buttresses on each side, giving it a solid appearance. The main entrance, which is to the west—facing College street—has a triple arch surmounted with a hood, above which is a large tracery window, the whole making a beautiful front. There is also a side entrance on the south side. On the ground floor are two class rooms, a kitchen and a large room to be used as the ladies' parlour or a refreshment room at entertainments. Upstairs is the main school room, 37x55 feet, with a neat gallery running across the west end. The room is open to the apex of the roof. The roof itself is constructed with four trusses with heavy struts, which come down and stand on corbels six feet below the wall plates. All the windows are glazed with cathedral glass of different colors set in lead. The woodwork of the interior of the building is in the natural colors, oiled and varnished. The building is lighted throughout with gas, and heated with one of Hilburn's hot air furnaces.

Children almost invariably suffer from catarrh at this season. Do not neglect it until perhaps consumption is developed, but apply Nasal Balm at once. It never fails to cure. dw

For the past year I have been troubled to to a very great extent with dandruff, also, a dulness of color in my hair, and through the advice of a friend (who spoke from experience) I tried your Anti-Dandruff, which upon the application of less than a bottle of your liquid I find my head not only thoroughly cleansed, but a vast improvement in the color and growth.

I have, and do recommend it as highly beneficial to the profession and public generally as an agreeable and welcome innovation in the remedies put forth for public favor.

An Elegant New Shop.

This morning Mr. W. Sailsbury occupied his new premises for his book and stationery business. His new shop is a model of convenience and adaptability to his business. It has a floor space of 18x70 feet, and is well lighted with windows both in front and rear. Its fittings are modern and elegant. The floor is of maple and the ceiling of varnished wood. The walls, where not covered with shelving, are covered with paper, and an elegant cornice occupies the dividing line between the wall and ceiling. The shelving is in Queen Anne style, finished in excellent imitation of mahogany, and extends the whole length of the shop on either side. Instead of counters there are ten tables, finished in the same style as the shelving. The store is lighted by eleven 16 candle power incandescent electric lamps, and altogether the shop is commodious, elegant, and excellently adapted to the book and stationery business. The shop tables and shelving were supplied by Mr. A. Clegg, and Mr. H. W. Watson did the paper hanging, painting and decorating.

The Relay Race.

Great Success of the Bicycle Contest—205 Miles in 15 Hours.

Great interest was taken here in the relay bicycle race, which took place yesterday, its object being the delivery of a message from Hamilton to Mr. E. C. Hill, of Kingston, the President of the Canadian Wheelmen's Association. At 25 minutes to 5 o'clock James and Griffith started from the Ambitious City and at exactly 8.20 last night Nasmith placed the message in Mr. Hill's hands at his residence on University Avenue. Considering that the roads in some places were in a terrible condition the time made was exceptionally good. The distance traversed was 205 miles.

A large number of persons witnessed the arrival in Belleville, says the Intelligencer, of Nash and Eddy Roy, and the departure of E. J. Smith and H. Notwell. At 5.10 Nash was seen coming down Murney's hill at a rapid rate and in less than a minute's time had reached the lower bridge and handed the message to Smith who started off in an instant at high speed. Notwell was given a start by Smith of 20 minutes. The latter overtook the former shortly after Shannonville was reached. Smith made the distance to Napanee, 25 miles, in 1 hour 33 minutes; Nash's time from Brighton to Belleville was 1 hour 17 minutes. Some bad roads were encountered between Brighton and Trenton. From the latter place to Belleville Nash rode the 12 miles in 41 minutes.

Dyspepsia

Intense Suffering for 8 years—Restored to Perfect Health.

Few people have suffered more severely from dyspepsia than Mr. E. A. McMahon, a well known grocer of Staunton, Va. He says: "Before 1878 I was in excellent health, weighing over 200 pounds. In that year an ailment developed into acute dyspepsia, and soon I was reduced to 162 pounds, suffering burning sensations in the stomach, palpitation of the heart, nausea, and indigestion. I could not sleep, lost all heart in my work, had fits of melancholia, and for days at a time I would have welcomed death. I became morose, sullen and irritable, and for eight years life was a burden. I tried many physicians and many remedies. One day a workman employed by me suggested that I take Hood's Sarsaparilla, as it had cured his wife of dyspepsia. I did so, and before taking the whole of a bottle I began to feel like a new man. The terrible pains to which I had been subjected, ceased, the palpitation of the heart subsided, my stomach became easier, nausea disappeared, and my entire system began to tone up. With returning strength came activity of mind and body. Before the fifth bottle was taken I had regained my former weight and natural condition. I am today well and I ascribe it to taking Hood's Sarsaparilla."

An Important Judgment.

Seven men who with their teams are engaged by the Government in hauling material out of the bed of the river in Belleville, says the Intelligencer were this morning charged before Police Magistrate with carting without license. Mr. W. B. Northrup, who appeared for the defendants, contended that as the work was done by the Dominion Government the municipal by-law did not touch the case. The actions were dismissed.

What the People are Saying.

That the market to-day was a good one.

That there were more hunters in the woods on Thanksgiving day than game.

That the weather this fall has been all that could be wished for.

That the merchants are preparing extensively for a large Xmas trade.

That it is about time candidates were putting their cards to electors in the EXAMINER.

That they are tired waiting for rain.

That a system of sewerage is what the town most needs.

That Peterborough must be a musical town if it supports three musical societies.

That business would be brisker with colder weather.

That it's a conundrum as to whether we have had Indian summer or whether it's to come yet.

Springville.

A Fine Foresters' Entertainment.

The Foresters of Court Springville, No. 274, C. O. F., celebrated the first anniversary of the organization of the Court on Thursday night, by a grand concert in Goodfellow's hall, which was crowded, Peterborough being well represented by a large number who had taken advantage of the fine evening and beautiful moonlight to visit the Springville people and enjoy the fine entertainment that was provided. The entertainment was presided over by Mr. H. Nesbitt, D.D.H.C.R., who opened the programme with a few timely remarks. He referred to the origin and early history of the Canadian Order of Foresters, and its wonderful progress since its organization twelve years ago. Then there was a membership of 300 or 400 without a reserve fund, which has now grown to 13,000 or 14 000 and a reserve fund of $170,000, invested in the most solid financial institutions in the country. Adverting to the objects of the organization, he said that it provided an insurance of $1000 or $2,000, funeral benefit of $40, and weekly sick benefit of $3 or $5, and free medical attendance.

REGULAR MONTHLY

PRIZE COMPETITION!

$1,000 in Cash Will be Paid in Prizes to Successful Competitors Each Month.

Nothing is more interesting and entertaining in the cultivated family circle than a bright Prize Competition, which will bring into active use the abilities of competitors, when it is known that such competition is to be carried out by the originators in a perfectly fair and honorable manner. As a means of advertising and introducing the LADIES' PICTORIAL WEEKLY, which is universally acknowledged by those acquainted with it as the par excellence of popular Canadian literature, its proprietors will appropriate $12,000 of their capital to be distributed during the coming year to successful competitors in these popular monthly Prize Competitions. $12 000 in cash; not in trips to Europe, silverware or jewelry, but in cash prizes. Successful competitors in these monthly competitions will be given an opportunity of investing their own prize money and will not be obliged to accept prizes, which, in many cases, they have no particular use for. Any intelligent person can readily form an opinion as to the bona fide of these Monthly Competitions by simply obtaining a copy of the LADIES' PICTORIAL WEEKLY for inspection. It speaks for itself; in fact, it is the only publication in this country equal in every respect to the high priced English and American illustrated weeklies. Sample copy can be procured through your newsdealer, or will be mailed FREE by the proprietors on receipt of your request for it.

Prize Competition for December.

For the largest list of nouns made from the letters contained in "LADIES' PICTORIAL WEEKLY," the proprietors will pay $400 in cash; to the person sending the second best list will be paid $250 in cash; to the person sending the third best list will be paid $150 in cash; to the person sending the fourth best list will be paid $50 in cash; the fifteen persons sending the next best lists will be given $10 each, making a total of $1,000 in cash to be given to the successful competitors in this, our December Competition.

RULES.

This month's Competition will be open to persons residing in Canada or the United States. To place all competitors (residing near or at a distance) on an equal footing, no list will be received bearing an earlier postmark than Nov. 20th, and none must bear postmark later than December 20th. Prizes for this Competition will be paid in cash, so that they will reach successful competitors by Christmas. The names of successful competitors, together with the best list received, will be published in the LADIES' PICTORIAL WEEKLY. No letter can be used in the construction of any noun more times than it is contained in "LADIES PICTORIAL WEEKLY." No noun is admissable not found in the last edition of Webster's Dictionary. Proper or common nouns can be used in either singular or plural, but not in both numbers. Lists must be written on one side of paper only, and contain the name and post office address of competitor, with the number of nouns contained therein. All Lists will be Carefully Examined. The editors of the LADIES' PICTORIAL WEEKLY cannot undertake to enter into personal correspondence with any one concerning these competitions, but no list will be thrown out on account of containing a few mistakes.

This competition open to any person, but as the object in offering these cash prizes is to introduce our large, handsome, illustrated sixteen page Weekly to ladies who are the most apt to become permanent subscribers to it, the name and address of some lady together with $1.00 for six months' trial of the publication to be sent to her address, must be enclosed with list of nouns for this competition. Prizes will be awarded by disinterested parties whose decision will be final. Send your address on a postal card at once for free sample copy of the LADIES PICTORAL WEEKLY and commence work on your list to-day. It should be mailed as early as possible after Competition opens, for in case of a tie the list bearing earliest postmark will take precedence. No additions can be made after it has been mailed. Address, LADIES PICTORIAL WEEKLY, Canada Life Building, Toronto, Canada.

EVERY day makes more apparent the fact that the town is going ahead rapidly. Numerous changes have taken place in the way of ownership of property. Many workingmen are buying houses and lots, or lots on which to build. One of the most suitable locations is that known as the Erin property, at the west end, owned largely by Mr. Wm Fitzgerald. This week he has closed the sale of a very desirable house and lot, and has several eligible lots on this property to dispose of. Property in this neighborhood is rapidly being built up, and it will be well to have a look at the situation if one is at all disposed to buy. The terms are very favorable and especially low for cash, though payment on time may be arranged.

PARNELL'S TRIUMPH.

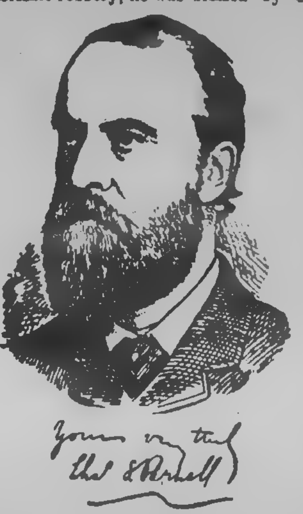
A PROTESTANT LANDLORD HE BECOMES LEADER OF HIS PEOPLE.

His Sacrifices for Erin—A Bugbear to Thousands of Landlords, a Demigod in the Eyes of Millions of Irishmen—His Name a Household Word in Peasants' Cabin and Farmers' Homes.

Dead! Charles Stewart Parnell, Ireland's uncrowned king!

A country gentleman, a landlord with large estates, an aristocrat of a lineage second to none in Ireland, a Protestant, with affiliations tending to make him a bulwark of the dominant class—with all these apparent advantages on his side Parnell, the Cambridge scholar, the influential High Sheriff of Wicklow, the attractive young bachelor, who could have found favor in the eyes of many a blue-blooded Wicklow maiden, deliberately cast away all the ties that bound him to his social class and espoused the cause of the oppressed people. He sacrificed himself and the people knew it. All that makes life desirable for a young Irish aristocrat might have been his, but he preferred to live for the people, if only by doing so he could shake off the hated tory tyranny.

Once embarked on his career he followed it unswervingly—almost to the end. Socially ostracized by the landlords, he was adored by the landless; cursed by the rich, in whose eyes he was an advocate of wholesale robbery, he was blessed by the peasantry, the farmers, the trading class, who knew by his self-sacrifice that he was in earnest and unpurchasable, and felt sure that he would release them from the yoke under which they had groaned for centuries.



Yours very truly
Chas S Parnell

HIS SECRET OF SUCCESS.

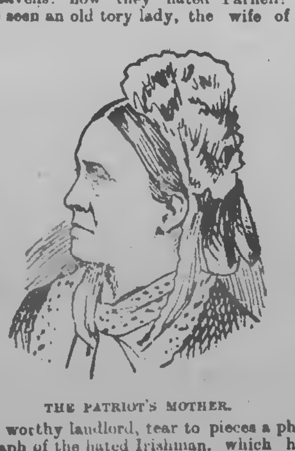
This was one secret of his success, and one which none of his colleagues could claim. Able and patriotic as these men proved themselves under his leadership, they were, after all, merely his lieutenants and few of them would have achieved fame had he not chosen them as his standard bearers. This statement does not apply to such men as Dillon, O'Brien, Sexton, Davitt and a few others, whose ability is of a very high order, but it does apply to scores of less prominent Irish Parliamentarians who have clamored for home rule in the House of Commons for the last dozen years. Such success as is theirs they owe to Parnell. He selected them, he taught them how to fight for Ireland.

Led to victory by a protestant landlord, is it any wonder that the men and women of Catholic Ireland almost worshipped this strange, inscrutable man, against whose tactics all the efforts of the British government seemed powerless? That they did adore him anyone who has lived in Ireland during the Land League struggle can testify. Women with babes at their breasts walked miles to hear him speak, to catch even a glimpse of his face; men, weary after long day's toil, spent hours of the night preparing processions in his honor; in every cabin, in every cottage his picture was to be seen in a place of honor; outside every chapel after Sunday mass his name was the subject of conversation among the eager farmers and tenants who had learned from him to hold fast to their homesteads and were praying for the time when the hated landlords would be thrust out and the payment of rent would be no longer necessary. True, here and there among the landless class a doubter was to be found—and always among the peasants. For, hewers of wood and drawers of water as they were, some of the peasants failed to see how the Land League would benefit them. "If the landlords are turned out," they argued, "the farmer will get the land; but how will that help us? We, too, want our share of the land."

CURSED BY THE LANDLORDS.

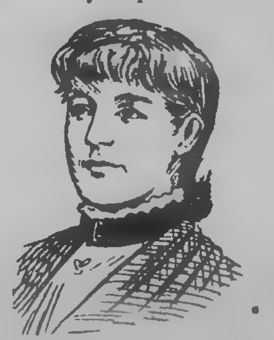
Such doubters, however, were scarce and their voices were not heard in the triumphant shout that went up through the length and breadth of the land during the years of the great leader's crowning triumph. The only dissonant sounds heard were the maledictions and peevish complaints of the landlords.

Heavens! how they hated Parnell! I have seen an old tory lady, the wife of a once worthy landlord, tear to pieces a photograph of the hated Irishman, which her servant had secreted in the kitchen, and crunch the remnants with her heel, her face meanwhile red with passion and her lips tremulous with unutterable disgust. I have seen a landlord, whose life had been made miserable by systematic boycotting and whose balance at the bank was almost nil, owing to his agent's inability to collect rent, pray to God that the British government would soon come to its senses and shoot down Parnell and his "gang of thieves" like mad dogs.



THE PATRIOT'S MOTHER.

A senseless prayer, this, but it must be remembered that the old gentleman who uttered it, like almost all the other landlords in the country, had been terribly injured by the national movement and naturally considered that Parnell was responsible for all the calamity that had befallen him. That their tenants should demand a reduction of rent on the plea of bad seasons was to these landlords absurd, that they should decline to pay any rent on the plea that they had paid the value of the land in full during their many years tenure was to the landlords an unheard of piece of insolence.



THE PATRIOT'S WIFE.

A VISION OF THE FUTURE.

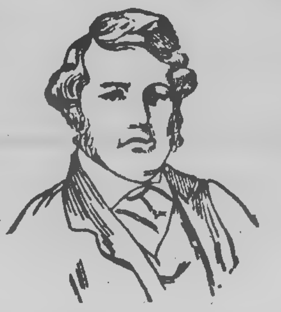
The stanchest among them demanded to fight for their rights and as a result came boycotting, coercion bills, evictions, agrarian murders and the spread of a bitter class feeling such as never before existed in Ireland. Education had done its work. Trained in the national schools the young men and women of the country saw at a glance the full meaning of Parnellism, knew that it meant a fuller share of the material enjoyments of life. No more doffing the hat to Protestant landlords, no more cringing for trifling favors, no more dread of the Sheriff and the Queen's soldiers, no more need of emigration to America in order to send home a few dollars every year for the support of the old folks at home. And best of all, no more payment of rent, for surely in a short time the hatred landlords would be driven from the country which they had despoiled so long, and then their broad lands and also their horses, their carriages, their silverware, their fine raiment—for in their poverty they would surely be glad to sell them cheap—would become the property of the people and would be so divided as to make every man, woman and child in Ireland happy and contented forevermore.

And then, the landlords once gone, the Queen would, of course, be glad to give up her grip of the bonnie green island and in her place Charles Stewart Parnell would be crowned King of Ireland or, if not King, then at least President for life. And an Irish Parliament would again sit in the old building in Stephen's green and a long farewell would be said to the Sassenach, the Saxon.

WHY THEY HATED HIM.

So thousands of young men and women dreamed during those turbulent days of the past decade, meanwhile bearing their part in the fight and manifesting an independence strange to those who considered themselves their social superiors. Accustomed to deference from their tenants and laborers, the landlords soon saw that the age of subjection was past and that the knee would no longer be bowed nor old time tyranny be tolerated. They ascribed the change to Parnell, to American influences, to Gladstone and his radicalism, but the change was there, and for many of them henceforth life was no longer worth living.

Moreover, poverty stared them in the face. The rich sold their horses and carriages: the men of moderate means dismissed their servants and were forced to be satisfied with frugal means. I know two ladies who received no rent for two years and whose staff of life during that time was bread, gruel and bacon. I know a squire who was boycotted for six months and whose food during that time consisted almost entirely of chickens and boiled turnips. The Land League had issued its mandate and the baker would not sell him bread nor the butcher meat. Is it any wonder that this man hated Parnell?



SIR JOHN POPE HENNESSY.

The truth is none of his own class understood the man. Landlords themselves, with British affiliations, they could not comprehend that any sane man would sacrifice what Parnell had sacrificed, except it were for the purpose of becoming a demagogue and finally enriching himself at the expense of a duped people. He had touched them in their tenderest part—their pockets—and too many of them concluded that personal gain was his ultimate object.

INVINCIBLE TO THE LAST.

His own people, however, those for whom he labored so well, knew him better, and to-day, even among his political opponents, there are few who will question the sincerity of his motives. Whatever moral lapse he may have been guilty of, he never flinched when a fight for Ireland was necessary, and for that reason he will be remembered in Ireland, not as the man who suffered himself to be beguiled from the path of right by a woman, but as the dauntless leader who gladly gave up all that men usually hold dear in the hope that he might be able to win freedom for Ireland.

How great a fighter he was is shown by his unconquerable determination to gain the leadership of his party. And how deeply he was loved by the Irish people is abundantly proved by the devotion which so many of them showed while he was fighting against tremendous odds for what he believed to be the welfare of his country. Though the entire priesthood and many of his old Parliamentary colleagues were arrayed against him he continued the struggle until death laid him low.

Sir John Pope Hennessy who was elected by the Anti-Parnellites last December over Parnell's candidate by a strange fate died within a few hours of Parnell.

The World's Beer Bill.

What is the world's beer bill? The Gambrinus, the organ of the Austrian brewers and hop-growers, answers this question every year by publishing a conspectus of the annual production of beer all over the civilized globe.

The total quantity of beer brewed in 1890, as the Gambrinus informs us, was 1956 million hectolitres (or 51,834,000,000 gallons); whereas in 1889 it was only 1736 millions.

Great Britain and Ireland held the preeminence, with 557 millions; the German Empire followed next, with 523 millions, and Austria-Hungary came third, with 253 millions of hectolitres.

FROM CHINA.

British Consul Advised to Remove European Women and Children.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 13.—Chen Kin Lung, the leader of Kolao Hui, a secret society, which has been instrumental in causing the uprising in H n n, was captured in Soo Chow recently and brought to Shanghai. His examination was conducted with secrecy. Several official documents issued by Kelao Hui were found on his person. In them he was addressed as "The Eighth Great Prince," and as the commander of numerous forces. Three examinations have been held, but Chen refused to make any disclosure despite the torture, saying to the officers that he would not betray his cause and that he was not the only one ready to give up his life for the cause he had joined.

The officials are now pursuing another method. They feast him and supply him with liquor in hopes that he will let fall some information under its influence. Thus far they have met with no success.

Mason, the customs official who made an attempt to smuggle arms into China, and put himself forward as a possible leader of rebellion, was examined before the British police court at Shanghai. Developments show the affair was a Quixotic attempt on Mason's part to obtain notoriety and had no real political significance. The native boats are closely watched in the Yang-Tse for smuggled arms.

The Mercury's Tsin Tsin correspondent says the Viceroy, Li Hung Chang, appears to be in a very cheerful state of mind, and seems to think the internal affairs not at all serious and that the foreign powers are only playing a game of bluff. The general feeling, however, is one of insecurity, and it is further stated that the Viceroy of Nanking has strongly advised the British consul at Chin Kiang to remove European women and children.

A PLAGUE OF RATS.

Whole Provinces Ravaged by the Rodents, Who Root Up Everything.

PANAMA, Nov. 13.—According to the latest news from all the southern provinces of the Ayacucho, Parinacochas and Lucanes departments and as far north as the province of Andahuaplas (Peru) a terrible plague of rats called Icuchas has made its appearance and the inhabitants are in a perfect state of consternation. The gnawing little brutes root up everything in the farms and destroy whole plantations of grain, not leaving even a blade of grass to be seen in the pastures and fields. Wherever they pass they leave on the earth a new layer of very fine dust. The natives, to save what little they have in their granaries, keep watch all night and light fires around the houses, thus keeping off the rats Shocking Tragedy in France.

PARIS, Nov. 13.—A terrible drama was enacted yesterday morning at Nogent-sur-Marne, near Paris. A governess named Leboeuf, residing there, had been deserted by her lover, named Deras, who was employed at the Ministry of Finance, and, hearing that he was engaged to be married she wrote to him making an appointment for Sunday last, in order that she might see him once more. Deras appeared at the rendezvous, dined with his mistress, and afterwards accompanied her home in the early morning. While Deras was still asleep the young woman rose, and with a revolver shot her lover through the heart. The concierge, hearing the report, hastened in a state of great alarm to the room, and found the murderess standing before the body. On seeing her she exclaimed, "I have killed my lover, who meant to desert me. Go and fetch the police." The concierge immediately went down stairs calling for help, and when she returned to the apartment, accompanied by some neighbors, a second report was heard. It was found that the woman had laid down on the bed by her lover's side and then shot herself.

A Marquis Killed in a Duel.

ROME, Nov. 13.—A duel was fought yesterday at Messina between Signor Contarini, Secretary to the Municipality, and the Marquis Dosi, a lieutenant of infantry. The cause of the duel was of a domestic character. The Marquis fired first but missed his antagonist, who then advanced and put a bullet into his enemy's brain. The Marquis died ten minutes afterward.

Healy Wants Police Protection.

DUBLIN, Nov. 13.—Some excitement was created yesterday by a report that Tim Healy had been ducked in a horse pond near Longford. The story, on enquiry, proved to be unfounded. Healy's condition is improving. Healy is so much irritated by small boys and others enquiring in derisive tones wherever he goes about the condition of his back that he has asked the protection of the police.

Burned to Death.

KINGSTON, Nov. 11.—Miss McDonald, sister of Mrs. P. Purcell, met with a shocking death at her residence near Williamstown a few days ago. Her clothing was set on fire by the upsetting of a lamp, and she was so badly injured that she died a few hours later.

Incendiary Fire at Brampton.

BRAMPTON, Nov. 11.—Yesterday at 2.30 the large double tenement house on North Main-street, owned by James Bell and unoccupied, was gutted by a fire which must have been the work of an incendiary. Loss about $1000.

WHAT CRISPI THINKS.

He Says the Pope Would Sell His Soul to Become King.

PARIS, Nov. 10.—The Martin publishes a letter written by Signor Crispi, ex-premier of Italy, denouncing the intrigues of the Vatican. Pope Leo Signor Crispi declares to be consumed with ambition to become the king of Italy, to accomplish which he would sell his soul.

The ex-premier advocates the adhesion of France to the triple alliance and declares a measure of precaution against this and other attempts similarly calamitous to the general peace and welfare should they prove successful.

PARNELL'S LETTERS.

Tim Harrington Will Make Matters Warm for William O'Brien.

DUBLIN, Nov 10.—Timothy Harrington, in an interview, said that he had just come into the possession of the original copies of Mr. Parnell's date of the late leader's parleying with the representatives of the McCarthy faction at Bologne. These, Mr. Harrington said, he would certainly publish to-morrow.

He added that the documents would prove very unpleasant reading for Mr. O'Brien and his Liberal friends, and would confirm full his own and Mr. Redmond's statements of what occurred at Bologne, which they had made from memory.

Mr. O'Brien, Mr. Harrington declared, had wilfully suppressed letters which would vindicate Mr. Parnell's motives and explain his position. The originals would show that Mr. Parnell's object was to obtain such assurances from the Liberal leaders as would render it impossible for them backslide from Home Rule. Mr. O'Brien really represented the Liberals in the conference, and informed them by letter from time to time of the progress of his treatings with Mr. Parnell.

The final failure of the conference was not due to the obstinancy of Mr. Parnell, as had been represented, but to the refusal of Mr. Gladstone and his colleagues to give any assurance of their adherence to former pledges. Mr. Gladstone's letter to Mr. Goschen, denying any connection with the conference, was, Mr. Harrington said, like most of the Liberal leader's utterances, difficult to understand.

Italy's Premier Talks.

MILAN, Nov. 10.—The Marquis di Rudini, the Italian premier, yesterday delivered a long speech here. Part of his speech was devoted to the financial situation of the Government, and he announced that a complete equilibrium had been established in the budget. Not only were the estimated receipts fully equal to the expenditures, but even a small surplus in receipts might be expected. The Government would incur no new debts.

Referring to the recent pilgrim incidents in Rome the premier declared he was firmly opposed to the abolition or modification of the Papal guarantee law. Pilgrims, he said, might come to Italy with no fear of molestation.

The Marquis stated that Italy's relations with foreign powers were friendly and that she would do her best to strengthen peace. The various governments of Europe were inspired with great prudence and moderation. Italy should have no fear of the grouping of friendly allied powers. Italy had renewed her adhesion to the triple alliance in order to guarantee a state of affairs fitted to promote a policy of recuperation.

In conclusion the Marquis said: "We have constantly striven to dispel the distrust that France feels toward Italy. The recent participation of the French in the fetes at Nice, upon the occasion of the unveiling in that city of the statue of the Italian patriot Garibaldi, was an assurance of the renewal of the cordiality which has always been dear to Italians."

Captured a Den of Thieves.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—The police of this city have distinguished themselves by capturing a den of thieves which included among its occupants ten prominent burglars who were the possessors of a large amount of stolen goods. The thieves made their headquarters in a flourishing public house, which was surrounded early this morning. The thieves drew revolvers, but the weapons were clubbed out of their hands. A search of the premises revealed secreted in the most curious places large quantities of lace, silk and jewelry. The keeper of the public house, who is supposed to be the chief of the gang, up to recently bore a good reputation and it was only by accident alone that the detectives became aware of the real business he was engaged in.

Remarkable Success of An English Gambler at Monte Carlo.

MONTE CARLO, Nov. 10.—Mr. Wells, the lucky Englishman whose punting has been such a feature here, closed his campaign against the gambling tables last night and left for England, having won £28,000. This added to the £32,000 he won in July, makes a total of £60,000.

He cleared no less than £10,000 last Friday and broke the bank five times during the evening, so that one time he had before him a pile of thousand-franc notes a foot and a half high. Unlike most other players he never lost his head, and afterwards slept soundly with his winnings under his pillow in his room in the Hotel de Paris, overlooking the Place du Casino.

FAITH IN A MEDICINE MAN.

Although Shot Through the Body He Still Eats, Talks and Smokes.

MACLEOD, N.W.T., Nov. 14.—Fire-Steel, the Blood Indian who was wounded by Policeman O'Brien in self-defence, continues to live, eat, talk and smoke, although the bullet passed clean through his body and through one of his lungs. An effort was made to have him brought into the fort hospital, but the Innians objected to it, as well as the invalid, who preferred the services of a medicine man of his own tribe to whom he had promised ten horses if he cured him of his wound, to the skill and comforts of a regular physician and of a well-equipped hospital. The medicine man had the wounds plugged with rags to prevent the escape of blood, which a thousand chances to one will produce blood poisoning and death. Dr. Aylen, surgeon to the N.W.M.P., went out several times to look after his wellfare, but was not allowed within ten feet of him, and could not persuade the poor wretch to consent to be brought in to the hospital.

STATE OF TRADE.

That is the Satisfactory Report Furnished by Bradstreet's This Week.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Various special reports to Bradstreet's respecting a tendency toward quiet, if not dulness, in many of the leading branches of general trade are rather more conspicuous this week.

Drygoods and clothing sales have dragged in almost all directions. Trade in woolens has been disappointing, and manufacturers are slow to buy stocks of raw wool, which remains dull and heavy. Mild weather has checked the movement of green meats at the west and hog products generally are in smaller demand with a downward tendency. Mercantile collections are only moderately prompt.

Exports of wheat (including flour) from the United States ports this week reported to Bradstreet's equal 4,490,000 bushels, about twice the quantity sent abroad in corresponding weeks in four preceding years. For 20 weeks exports of wheat and flour from United States ports reported equal nearly 82,000,000 bushels against 37,298,000 bushels from United States and Canada in 20 weeks of 1890-91.

General trade in the Canadian Dominion appears to have shown more life during the week, notably in demand for drygoods and export request for grain.

The Dominion reports 30 business failures this week against 43 last week, and 46 this week last year. The total number January 1 to date is 1587 against 1415 last year.

Bank clearings at four Canadian cities aggregate $18,600,817 this week, a decrease of 15.2 per cent. compared with last year.

He Was Insane.

REGINA, Nov. 14.—Westerland, who beheaded his two-year-old boy near Whitewood a few weeks ago, was tried at the last sitting of the Supreme Court in that town. D. L. Scott, Q.C., appeared in his defence and succeeded in establishing the plea of insanity, the jury returning a verdict accordingly. The prisoner was, by order of the judge, brought back to Regina jail to await the pleasure of the Lieutenant-Governor.

A Panther and Elephant Fight.

BOSTON, Nov. 13.—A black panther created a lively rumpus at the Grand Museum last night, and Byron, the baby elephant, was terribly lacerated before help arrived. The panther's cage was moved by workmen engaged in making repairs, and when they left at midnight it seemed to be secure. During the night, however, the panther escaped, and, judging from the elephant's condition this morning, there must have been a terrible fight. The elephant's back and legs are badly lacerated by the teeth and claws of the panther. The latter was discovered lurking in the shooting gallery, and was lassoed and returned to his cage without further trouble.

$2,000,000 Additional for the Army.

VIENNA, Nov. 10.—The Austro Hungarian budget for 1891 was presented to the delegations Monday. It shows that the estimate died yesterday from the wounds he inflicted expenditures for the fiscal year of 1892 amount to 139,132 florins, which is an increase of 3,802,459 florins. The expenditures on account of the army are estimated at 119,265,262 florins, an increase of 4,320,828 florins.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

A ROYAL SCANDAL.

Sensational Developments Expected in the Melba-Orleans Divorce Proceedings.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—The first hearing in the suit of Captain Charles Armstrong against his wife, Mme. Melba, the singer, for divorce on account of her alleged intimacy with Duc d'Orleans, is expected to occur in this city in a few days, and sensational developments are promised that are keeping society in every European capital profoundly expectant.

The plaintiff's counsel is said to be in possession of certain love letters from the young Duke to his inamorata that are particularly loving and interesting. It is said that the persistent attentions of the young lordling to the fair singer have been known for some time past, and that in Austria and Russia disapproval was most forcibly expressed in high official circles. The Duke has just returned from a conference with his father, and it is said has confessed to being in debt to Baron Hirsch and others to the extent of over 1,000,000 francs.

LOST ON THE ATLANTIC.

The Appaling Death-List of the Storm Becomes Known.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—The bark which yesterday stranded off Kinsale, Ireland, is the Gylfe. She was commanded by Captain Wilson and sailed from Quebec Oct. 1 for Liverpool. The life-saving crew at Kinsale, undeterred by their many failures to launch their life-boat and to get a line to the wreck by means of rockets, persisted in their efforts, and finally succeeded in rescuing the captain and four of the crew. Seven others were drowned.

The sea is washing the cargo out of the vessel. Stories of wreck and disaster caused by the storm continue to be received.

News has just reached the city of the loss at sea of the British steamer Fairfield. The steamer was bound from the Tyne for Genoa and was caught in the hurricane Wednesday last just as she was on the outer edge of the Bay of Biscay. The crew took to the boats and were picked up by passing vessels.

Three boats belonging to the Brightling fishing fleet reached their home to-day. They report that seven men were washed overboard and drowned.

The Storm in Ireland.

DUBLIN, Nov. 1.—The town of Lismore has suffered enormous damage from the storm. The gale, which has been prevailing on the southwest coast of Ireland since Tuesday night, started in with renewed fury and was soon blowing with terrific violence. Heavy rains accompanied the gale.

RUSSIA'S UNDERGROUND CITY.

Reported Discovery of a Town Beneath Mountains.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—An interesting, if somewhat doubtful story, is at present current to the effect that the Russians, in the course of a serious of explorations which are being conducted in Central Asia, have discovered a large number of caves in a chain of rocky hills. On entering these caverns they found to their amazement that they were able to penetrate far into the earth to where, hundreds of years before, a beautiful city had been built.

But their surprise was further increased when presently they picked up coins of both gold and silver, from the designs and inscriptions of which it became evident that they belonged to a people who must have lived in the city fully two centuries before the Christian era.

This underground city, according to the report which has been received, is composed of a labyrinth of corridors, streets and squares, all surrounded with houses several stories high, inside of which pots, urns, vases and other implements, all of good workmanship, have been found.

Wine and Beer in Court.

BERLIN, Nov. 14.—Considerable scandal has been caused by the developments relating to the license given to lawyers by judges during the trial of causes. It appears that lawyers are sometimes permitted to drink wine and even beer in the courtroom and to indulge themselves in other ways not compatible with the dignity of judicial surroundings. All this has excited the ire of the Kaiser and there is a hurried amending of judicial methods.

PARIS, Nov. 10.—Lafargue, the Socialist who was recently elected deputy for Lille, has been liberated from prison. A general amnesty is not improbable.

The Sultan Cuts Off Some Heads.

TANGIERS, Nov. 10.—The Sultan has dismissed several of his ministers, whom he has for some past suspected of disloyalty to him.

No Penny Postage

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Postmaster-General Fergusson has pronounced against penny postage.

WHERE IS "CHERRY RIPE."

The Model For Millais' Celebrated Painting Disappeared Sept. 22.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—The police of this city and of the Continent since Sept 22 have been investigating the mysterious disappearance of a beautiful girl, aged 14, generally known in her own circle as "Cherry Ripe," from the fact that she sat for Millais' celebrated picture, "Cherry Ripe." Her name is Blanche Barrett and for some time previous to her disappearance she had been sitting for the great painter and other artists, always accompanied by her mother, and it is not known that she formed the acquaintance of any person unknown to her mother.

On September 21 a neighbor heard screams in the house and saw "Cherry Ripe" rush out of doors, pursued, apparently, by a man. Since that time she has not been heard of. A story is in circulation to the effect that the girl has been abducted and taken to the United States. It is added that the New York police have been asked to investigate some clues which recently came into the possession of the police. The murder theory has also been advanced, but is now abandoned.

Large Wine and Rice Crops.

ROME, Nov. 14.—The Minister of Agriculture has received reports from the various provinces concerning the rice and wine crops of 1892. The rice crop has amounted to 6,764,000 hectolitres This is about eight per cent. larger than the crop of 1890. The wine crop is abundant. There will be available for exportation about 8,000,000 hectolitres in addition to about 2,000,000 left over from the preceding crop.

The Peace Congress.

ROME, Nov. 14.—At to-day's session of the International Peace Congress resolutions were adepted in favor of partial military disarmaments, the creation of an international tribunal of arbitration and the establishment at Berne of a permanent International Peace Bureau.

Baby's Face was Raw

Distressing Itching Skin Disease Cured in one Month by the Cuticura Remedies.

When our baby was six weeks old he had a rash on his cheek. It spread on both cheeks and chin. His face was raw. I doctored with various remedies, but it got no better. My mother advised me to try the CUTICURA REMEDIES. I used them faithfully, and in one week the boy looked better. In one month he was cured, and now he is three years old and no signs of it returning. The child was so bad I had to tie him in a pillow-case, and pin his hands down so that he could not scratch his face. I cannot speak too highly of the CUTICURA REMEDY. I recommend CUTICURA whenever I can. I would be pleased to see any one and talk to them of the good it has done my boy.

J. J. SHEEHY'S
SECOND ANNOUNCEMENT.

On the first of October, I, having just concluded my sixth year in Business, felt desirous of stating to my many Customers and the Public Generally, just what my experience had been. I endeavoured to do so in such a manner as to convince those who read advertisements, (and their name is legion) that what I said I meant. I refrained from Wild Statements, Quoting of Prices, and the Specifying of Extraordinary Values, or the Hundred-and-one Stereotyped Methods that are indulged in by Advertisers as a rule, but at once Got Down to Facts, and will endeavour to follow out that Principle, as I consider that the growth of my Business is, in itself, the biggest guarantee that the people are satisfied, that, when they buy goods from J. J. SHEEHY, they get Right Goods and that the Prices are also right.

The Month of October, notwithstanding the Mild Weather has been a Great Success so far. And the 5 Per Cent Discount which has just Seven Days More to Run, is evidently making itself felt. If you require any Fall and Winter Dry Goods, come in and examine our stock, and if we have not what you want, then it is a line, either unknown to the trade or at least has not yet reached Peterborough. I might just say in conclusion that I have closed the purchase of over 200 PAIRS OF WHITE WOOL BLANKETS.

The weights range from 5 to 9 pounds. As to the value, I will not say anything, but cordially invite your inspection, firmly believing that the Prices will speak for themselves.

Don't forget the 5 Per Cent. Discount off every purchase of, or over, ONE DOLLAR, during the Month of October. Yours respectfuly,

CANADA'S GREAT FUTURE.

The Earl of Aberdeen's Speech in Toronto Saturday Night.

TORONTO, Nov. 16.—The first national evening of the season of the National Club was ushered in Saturday night under auspicious circumstances. The gathering was a notable one. Right Hon. the Earl of Aberdeen was the guest of the evening.

In proposing the health of the Earl of Aberdeen, the chairman said: "On behalf of the club I give you a hearty welcome. Let me say, sir, that you find yourself among men who are all thorough Canadians."

Among other things the Earl said: "I can speak as a Canadian farmer," he said, amid cheers, "having invested to some extent in Canadian lands. Last year I bought a small piece; this year a large. I am not a capitalist nor the son of a capitalist. Of course in passing over the continental highways, this being my second visit, I appreciated what I saw more than at the first. It was impossible not to be stimulated by the unlimited fields of waving golden grain which stretch across the prairie. I was impressed on my return trip with the army of teams engaged in the fall ploughing. I may say without any hesitation that I was certainly struck with the signs of increased development and stability and the growing confidence on the part of those living in the Northwest. (Hear, hear.)

Proceeding he entered into an advocacy of mixed farming, holding that it was not wise to depend wholly on the grain crops, bountiful as they may be. "The farmers should go more into cattle raising and dairy products," he added. He spoke in flattering terms of British Columbia's capabilities for fruit growing. "I have left some money behind me," he continued. "This shows I have faith in the country." He said that in order to encourage small fruit farming he was cutting up his land in British Columbia into small lots, and he held that a good living could be made off a 50 acre fruit farm.

He animadverted on the dairying industry and pointed out that while 41 per cent. of the cheese imported into Great Britain was Canadian; of the butter only 2 per cent. was Canadian. He held that there was no good reason why this disparagement should continue. To secure the desideratum as well as larger profits for the Canadian farmer he advocated co-operation to secure not only an excellent article of butter but a uniform make as well.

Referring to the Dominion he was confident it had a great future. "I know there are difficulties in the way," he continued, but I hold that they are of a sort that can be overcome. [Cheers.] The tree which survives the storm is all the stronger. This is not the time for despondency or faint-heartedness. [Prolonged applause.] What I say is the plain, unvarnished statement of one who has a firm belief in this country. [Applause.]

Referring to trade matters he said he could not help thinking that the aim should be to secure as great freedom of intercourse as possible, not only with the United States but with the Mother Country as well. [Hear, hear.] "I do not see," he added, "why such a thing should be regarded as utopian. I look for the time when there shall be closer relations between all the great English-speaking people." [Hear, hear.] He looked upon Canada as the link that was to bring about the desideratum.

Concluding, he said, 'Canada is the greatest of British colonies. But she is more. She is a growing nation. [Loud applause.] It is her destiny, and not only will she be a great nation, but one of the most potent factors in promoting the peace of the world." [Prolonged applause.]

NO CRONIN FEATURES.

Matthew Shea of Toronto Killed in a Merely Chance Quarrel.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 15.—The people of Greencastle are very much excited over the mysterious murder of a tramp which occurred there on Wednesday night and which was at first supposed to have been planned and deliberately carried out because the victim was the possessor of secrets which his murderers did not want divulged.

Early on Thursday morning the body of a man was found near the city, and an examination showed that it contained some thirty different knife wounds, one of which penetrated the heart, one the lungs and another the groin, and any one of which would have been fatal. Nothing was found upon his person to indicate who he was, and the few articles in his pockets were of no value.

Later in the day a clue to the murder was found when a man living near the railroad reported that five tramps had occupied a box car during the night and he had heard them quarreling. A search for the companions of the murdered man resulted in the finding of one of them near Terre Haute and he was placed under arrest.

He gave his name as William Onerien and said that the murdered man's name was Matthew Shea and that he was from Montreal or Toronto; that he was in the box-car with three others the night before and that a fight occurred and that Shea was stabbed, but he did not know who did it.

These facts, he said, he learned the next morning from one of the tramps who were in the car.

Bismark and the Reichstag—A French Explorer Believed to Have Been Massacred—Death of a Famous Model—Railway Accident in Italy.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—Intense anxiety prevails among the relatives and friends of the crew of the Bright line sea fishing fleet, all the vessels of which were at sea when the recent storm burst upon the English Channel. Not one vessel of the fleet has returned to port since the gale began, and it is feared the whole fleet may have been overwhelmed by the terrible force of the hurricane.

TURKISH BANDITS.

Brigands Raid a Village But Secure Little Booty.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 16.—Advices received in this city state that a party of brigands recently made a raid upon Samsoun, a village of Trebizonde, and plundered the house of Arnaud, a director of the tobacco regie. M. Arnaud and his wife and son were brutally treated by the robbers, who secured a small amount of booty and then departed into the country. The object of the bandits was to secure a considerable amount of bullion which had been sent to Samsoun for the purpose of establishing there a branch of the Ottoman Bank. This treasure was consigned to an agent of the bank whose name also was Arnaud, and the gang mistook the house of the director of the regie for the one occupied by the agent of the bank.

A Unionist Defeat.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—The election to fill the vacancy in the House of Commons for the South Malton division of Devonshire was held Saturday and resulted in a victory for the Liberal candidate, George Lambert. The campaign in the division has been an exciting one, many of the meetings having been broken up by gangs of roughs, who are charged with being in the employ of the candidate against whose interest the meeting was being held. The candidate of the Liberal Unionists and Conservatives, who stood against Mr. Lambert, was Charles W. Buller, a cousin of Sir Redvers Buller, and an Irish landlord. The vote stood: Lambert 4222, Buller 3010. At the preceding election the vote stood: Lord Lymington, Liberal Unionist, 6401, W. H. Walker, Gladstonian, 2352.

This great Liberal gain of 2901 votes and the return of a Gladstonian to fill the seat previously occupied by a Unionist has caused great rejoicing among the supporters of the Liberal leader. Many messages and letters have been sent to Mr. Gladstone congratulating him upon the success of Mr. Lambert.

ANOTHER RASCALLY BANKER.

Confessing to the Embezzlement of a Large Sum.

BERLIN, Nov. 16.—Herr Mass, the head of a banking and exchange firm at Charlottenburg, a suburb of Berlin, surrendered himself this morning to the police of this city and confessed that he had misappropriated a quantity of securities deposited with him by various customers. The total amount of his embezzlements will be exceedingly large. The members of the aristocracy lost heavily by the failure last Saturday of the banking house of Friedlander & Sommerfeld. Mass' embezzlements, though not positively known to affect the aristocracy to such an extent as Wolff's affected them, are certain to attract the attention of the Emperor. The money appropriated by Mass to his own use includes the sum of 20,000 marks which had been subscribed toward the fund for the erection of a church in memory of Empress Augusta, grandmother of the present Emperor. Ten thousand marks which were to have been devoted to the Prince Frederick Charles Institute have also disappeared. In addition to these 30,000 marks Mass has succeeded in making away with 400,000 marks deposited in his bank by 150 artisans and small traders.

Mass gave as his reason for surrendering himself to the Berlin police, instead of to the Charlottenburg authorities, that he held a high place in society and was ashamed to tell the police of the latter place of his crimes. His sense of shame, however, may have been quickened by the knowledge that his poor depositors would not have taken their losses with calmness.

Foreign Money Markets.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—During the past week discount was quoted at 3 for three months and 2½ for short. There was no demand. Money is plentiful. The condition of the money market here in the immediate future depends chiefly on financial situation in Paris. Financial houses there are overloaded with stocks, upon which it is impossible to realize. The Stock Exchange during the week had an experience of severe depression, chiefly due to the situation in Paris. There were symptoms yesterday of a reaction.

A Panic in Austria.

VIENNA, Nov. 16.—There was a wild panic on the boerse on Saturday in consequence of a report printed in The Tageblatt to the effect that Emperor Francis Joseph had stated that the European situation was critical. Owing to this rumor rentes fell 3 per cent. within an hour, while Austrian credit shares dropped 10 and Nordbahn 70 florins. Other stocks shared in the fall and altogether the general decline was such as might occur on the eve of war. Finally the Abendpost, acting under the instructions of Prime Minister Von Taafe, issued a statement denying there was any truth whatever in the report concerning the Emperor's alleged utterances. Upon this denial being made the market recovered rapidly and public confidence was in a measure restored.

Two Hanged by the Same Rope.

BRENHAM, Tex., Nov. 16.—Two negroes were found hanging near Blake's Crossing, on the Yegus, on Tuesday morning. They were suspended from the same rope and were locked in each other's arms. There was a row at a negro dance in the vicinity on Monday night, and it is supposed that the lynching grew out of the affair. One of the victims was identified as a farm laborer; the other was a stranger.

Le Canada Damaged by Fire.

OTTAWA, Nov. 16.—A fire originated in Le Canada office about 4 o'clock this morning and destroyed the engine and boiler rooms besides greatly damaging the composing room. The loss by fire and water is estimated at about $3000 covered by insurance. The publication of the paper will be delayed for two or three days.

Conclusion of the Knights of Labor Conference—A Canadian Murdered in a Box Car—A Family Poisoned by Eating Cheese—Yachtsmen Meet.

LOCKPORT, N.Y., Nov. 16.—Habib Saad, the Arab peddler who was arrested at Guelph, Ont., on a charge of murdering a young girl who traveled with him, was found guilty of murder in the second degree. Yesterday Saad was brought into court and received his sentence at the hands of Judge Lambert. It was that he be confined in state's prison for the remainder of his natural life. Habib received his sentence with the utmost composure.

KNIGHTS OF LABOR.

New Constitution to Be Adopted and Printed in Several Languages.

TOLEDO, Nov. 16.—Saturday the K. of L. convention was in closed session some hours considering changes in the formula by which new members are instructed in the work of the different assemblies. Among the important matters settled have been those covered by the adoption of the following resolutions:

That any member of the order opposing or denouncing outside the assembly room any of the principles of the order shall be charged with violation of his obligation and on being found guilty shall be expelled.

That a committee of three shall be appointed by the general master workman to consolidate and codify the constitution, the general master workman to be ex-officio chairman of the committee; the constitution to be approved by the general executive board, printed and submitted to all locals in the order at least two months before the next general assembly, for their adoption or rejection.

The convention has acted favorably upon applications for printing the constitution in the Italian, Swedish, Slavonic, Bohemian and other tongues. It is already printed in German, Polish and French, as well as English.

Attempted Train Robbery.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 16.—An attempt to rob the Missouri, Kansas and Texas southbound train, No. 3, at South Canadian, I.T., was frustrated by the officials of the railroad company last night. A telegram was sent to Muskogee notifying the officers that the Dalton gang were seen in the vicinity of South Canadian hiding in the river bottom. An extra was run ahead of the regular train, and guards placed in the postal and express cars. It is believed that one or two of the gang got on the train at Muskogee and signalled the robbers not to attempt the robbery as the train was guarded. Officers have been put on the trail of the outlaws.

Yachtsmen in Session.

OSWEGO, N.Y., Nov. 16.—The annual meeting of the Lake Ontario Yachting Association was held here Saturday at the Doolittle House. Commodore Boswell, C. A. B. Brown Æmilius Jarvis and George E. Evans represented the Royal Canadian Yacht Club, Toronto. The Queen City Club of Toronto was not represented. The schedule adopted is as follows:

Belleville, July 15.
Oswego, July 18.
Rochester, July 21.
Hamilton, July 25.
Toronto, July 27 and 28.

Rochester was selected as the place for holding the next annual meeting of the association.

These officers were elected: President, Mr. Cartwright; vice-president, W. H. Biggar; secretary and treasurer, George E. Evans.

In the evening the delegates were banqueted at City Club, the Oswego yachtsmen being their entertainers. Speeches were made by several of the members.

The Queen's Cup will be raced for next season by boats of 30-foot class. This has given an impetus to the building of yachts of that class.

The new Executive Committee consists of W. B. Phelps, jr., of the Oswego Club, J. C. Allan of the Queen City Club and J. F. Monck of the Royal Hamilton Club.

Delegates from Toronto stated that the prospects were that more interest would attach the clubs from Canada next season than ever before. Several new yachts will be built to compete in the association regattas next July.

Norman B. Dick of Toronto, owner of the Verve, has had designs for a new 40 foot yacht prepared by William Fife, jr. With this boat Mr. Dick intends to try conclusions with Allen Ames' Yama. Mr. Fife will also build a 30 foot yacht for F. M. Gray of Toronto.

Bathes in a Coffin.

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Nov. 16.—Joshua Coleman, a rich Green County farmer, had a presentiment that his death was near at hand. He made his will and had a coffin sent to his house. The members of his family didn't grieve enough over the prospect of his death to suit Coleman and in his wrath he resolved to live in order to spite them. He has had the coffin lined with zinc and now uses it for a bath-tub.

A Family Poisoned by Eating Cheese.

WOODBURY, N.J., Nov. 16.—The family of Samuel Turner of this place, consisting of himself, his wife, two daughters, aged respectively 19 and 12 years, and a little son, barely escaped death by poisoning yesterday. Immediately after breakfast they were all taken violently ill, becoming unconscious and going into convulsions. A physician was hastily summoned and after many hour's hard work succeeded in reviving Mr. and Mrs. Turner and the little boy, who are in a fair way towards recovery. The two daughters are still unconscious and their condition is critical. The family had eaten cheese at breakfast and their illness is believed to have been due to tyrotoxicon.

Famous Model Dead.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—Madame Bartholdi, mother of the well-known sculptor and designer, died in France a few days ago at the age of 90 years. She stood for the model of Bartholdi statue of liberty enlightening the world, which now occupies a prominent position in the harbor of New York. Daniel C. French, the New York sculptor, has just arrived in Paris to fill an order for the Chicago Exposition. It will be a colossal statue of the republic, a female figure 60 to 80 feet high. The American sculptor MacMonnies is working in Paris on an immense fountain for the Chicago fair. It will be the central decoration of the exhibition grounds and will consist of thirty gigantic figures.

Daily Examiner.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1891.

THE statement of the Bank of Montreal for the year ended October 30 shows that the profits for the half-year amounted to $666,642, or about 5½ per cent. on the capital of $12,000,000.

THE people of Alaska are complaining bitterly of the National Government, and there is open talk of rebellion against the Federal authorities and the establishment of a northern independency.

MAYOR McSHANE, of Montreal, has taken an action for $50,000 against the Toronto Empire for publishing that the Mayor had received money from Whalen, the contractor for the Quebec Court-house.

THE Ottawa Free Press says some of Sir Adolphe Caron's friends says that he is going to be sworn in as Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec on the 23rd inst., Mr. Angers resigning that position to enter the Federal Ministry.

THE Empire says amen in black type to Goldwin Smith's remark in his recent speech in Toronto, that that was the last occasion in which he would speak on anything connected with Canadian politics. The Empire evidently feels that it will now have a monopoly in the field of refined and undefiled English, in which the Professor has been such a close competitor.

AT the meeting of the Treasury Board on Thursday, the superannuation of Lieut.-Col. Macdonell, Sergeant-at-Arms of the Dominion House of Commons, was decided upon. He retires with an annual allowance of $2,200. He was appointed Sergeant-at-Arms of the Legislative Assembly of the old Province of Canada in 1854, and to the same office by the Dominion House in 1867.

THE Montreal Star says:—"There is one sentence in the official announcement of the healing of the breach between the premier and Mr. Chapleau that should cover the dead walls of the Dominion. It is a type. It reads:—

> But Mr. Chapleau, realizing that a transfer at the present time from his Department of the Secretary of State, to that above mentioned (the Railway) would be attended with some embarassment to the Government, finally decided to relieve the Premier from all such embarassment.

THE case of the Canadian schooner "Sayward," which is being argued before the Supreme Court of the United States, has not been postponed as a result of the agreement reached by the governments of Great Britain and the United States, but American journals regard the announcement made by the Attorney-General as a plea for a stay of proceedings. It is not improbable that the court will reserve its decision in view of the arbitration proceedings and that after their termination the case will be withdrawn.

ACCORDING to the tenor of dispatches from the chief business centres in the United States, there is not only no advance, but rather more depression in business than was the case last week; this is especially the case in Boston, Baltimore, and New York, but at Chicago, St. Paul, and Duluth business is fairly maintained, though showing a decrease compared with a few weeks ago. The weather generally has been too mild for any seasonable trade, but in the west colder weather has stimulated the distribution of staples. The dry goods trade is generally reported dull throughout the States and the woollen industries are quiet. Payments are not at all satisfactory as a rule. The iron trade is dull. Stock Exchange speculation on Wall street is almost entirely professional.

GOUGH BROS.,

THE WONDERFUL CHEAP MEN, - - PETERBOROUGH, TORONTO, BRANTFORD.

A BANQUET, presumably to celebrate Hon. Postmaster General Haggart's success in burking inquiry into "ways that are dark," in which he once trod, will be given in Perth on November 17th. The menu will, doubtless, embrace tea made with water from the Tay canal, sweetened with "sugar" from the boodlers' "bar'l." The occasion will be graced by the presence of several cabinet ministers. Mr. Haggart's eminent services to himself render this banquet a fitting recognition.

THE Duke of Argyle at a meeting in Manchester, described Mr. Gladstone as "a fanatic who is incapable of argument." Referring to His Grace in relation to this remark, the Hamilton Times mildly says:—"The Duke himself can argue. For instance, he is a Malthusian, and in one of his essays he declares that the doctrine that population does everywhere tend to press upon the limits of subsistence 'has been almost universally admitted, not as a theory but as a fact, and one of the most clearly ascertained of all the facts of economic science.' What an argument to come from a mere loafer, a cumberer of the ground, a fellow who evicts men from the soil on which they were born, to make room for sheep and deer! When God sends a mouth to be filled he sends two hands to fill it, and there is room on the earth and the raw material of subsistence for ten times the earth's present population. These facts cannot be overturned by the argument by which Argyle would try to prove his Creator a blunderer who puts me into a world where there is no room for them. Argyle never will be missed."

The Bering Sea Arrangement.

It can be stated upon the best authority that the treaty between the United States and Great Britain for the settlement of the Bering Sea dispute has not yet been signed, but its provisions have been definitely agreed upon between the representatives of the two governments, and the treaty will undoubtedly be presented to the Senate at its meeting in December. The general terms of this treaty, there is reason to believe, are the proposition laid down by Mr. Blaine in his note of December 17, 1890. There are some questions of detail which have not yet been agreed upon. Among them are, who is to be selected as arbitrator, and whether there shall be more than one arbitrator? It is probable that these details may not be mentioned in the treaty. Among the persons suggested as probable arbitrators agreed upon between the two governments are the Emperor of Germany or the President of the Swiss Confederation. It is known, however, that the claim that the Bering Sea is a mare clausum—a closed sea—is not included in the propositions which are to be submitted to arbitration. This point was disavowed, for that matter, in the correspondence of last year, and it will be remembered that Lord Salisbury announced his gratification at the discovery that "the advisers of the President do not claim Bering Sea as a mare clausum." This claim was largely a mare's nest and an invention of the opposition press, for no one in the Administration here had ever seriously contended that the United States should set up a claim that the Bering Sea was a closed sea for the 3,000 miles of its width at its mouth. There is every reason to believe that the important questions pending between the two countries relative to Bering Sea will soon receive an honorable settlement by means of an arbitration. It is possible, however, that the terms of the agreement which has already been reached may be modified in some minor particulars. The contentions between the two governments may be understood by a summary of the propositions which have been made by the representatives of the two governments, Secretary Blaine on behalf of the United States, and Lord Salisbury on behalf of England, in the voluminous correspondence on this subject which is already accessible to the public. And from these propositions and counter-propositions it is not difficult to ascertain something of the nature of the agreement which has been reached, particularly when it can be stated on authority that comparatively little correspondence has passed between the two governments since the documents were exchanged from which these propositions have been taken.

How to save money is la problem that interests everybody. One way to do it is to invigorate the system with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Being a highly concentrated blood medicine, it is the most powerful and economical. It is sold for a dollar a bottle, but worth five. dw

Over a Century Old.

Many cases are known of persons living to be 100 years old and there is no good reason why this should not occur. By paying attention to the health by using Burdock Blood Bitters when necessary to purify the blood and strengthen the system much may be added to the comfort and happiness of life, even if the century mark is not attained. dw

A Welcome Announcement.

Those who have tested it say that for the grippe, and especially for the cough that hangs on after the disease itself seems cured, there is nothing equal to Kemp's Balsam, the specific for all throat and lung diseases, and the best cure for coughs and colds. The Eight Hour Question.

English politicians find that the eight-hour question a difficult one to deal with. Mr. Morley is opposed to the passage of a general eight-hour law, but is willing to let each trade union determine the matter for itself. This seems to be Mr. Gladstone's position also. A few days ago Sir John Gorst, a member of the Salisbury Administration and a "Tory democrat," made a speech at Wolverhampton in which he went pretty far in the direction of advocating a partial law, though his friends say he was merely expressing his own personal opinion and had no authority to speak for the Cabinet. Here is a passage from his address:—

"He pointed out that at the Trades Congress at Newcastle several of the leaders of the men in those industries objected to a further reduction, the maximum of efficiency having been reached, and a further reduction being likely to render them unable to compete with the textile factories of France, Belgium and Germany. There were a very great proportion of trades in this country which were in competition with foreigners, and in these trades it would be impossible with due regard to the national interests, to reduce the hours below the point at which the work was most efficient. He did not say or believe that in all the trades in this country the hours were already reduced to their point of maximum efficiency. On the contrary he thought it extremely probable that in a great number of trades the hours might now be reduced with advantage both to the employers and employed."

Sir John thought an eight-hour day should certainly be tried in the Government factories with the object of testing its practicability. The Times opposes the adoption of a general or even a partial law on the ground that "it would have to be defied and the defiance would have to be winked at with a frequency powerfully tending to bring law into contempt." It is quite on the cards that the eight-hour men may run candidates of their own at the coming general election.

Presentation to a Pastor.

Rev. Mr. Peer Remembered by his Warsaw Congregation.

Last Wednesday several members of the Baptist congregation, Warsaw, called upon their pastor, Rev. Wm. Peer, at the parsonage, Norwood, and presented him with an address and an elegant study chair. The occasion was Rev. Mr. Peer's removal from his present field of labor to accept the pastorate of a church at Rodney, Kent county. The following address was read:

To the Rev. Wm. Peer:

DEAR PASTOR,—On behalf of the congregation of the Baptist church at Warsaw, we cannot allow the present opportunity to pass without an expression of unfeigned regret on hearing that you been called to, and had decided to accept, another field of labor in our dear Master's vineyard.

We feel that in sundering the tie that has bound us so lovingly together as pastor and congregation for the past five years, we lose a pastor who has been indefatigable in his labors for our spiritual advancement, one who has at all times, been keenly alive to the best interests of our church, one who has let no opportunity pass to speak the words of eternal life, even to small congregations—anywhere and everywhere, that would help the upbuilding of the Master's kingdom—and one who has been an earnest and a sincere friend. When we reflect that our church at Warsaw had become almost extinct, with neither pastor nor church building, and without any regular service, and that during the last five years, under your able and persevering efforts, we can now worship in our own chapel, and other parts of your work being in a flourishing condition, we cannot but regret that it has seemed to you better to labor elsewhere.

But while we thus express our regrets that you are about to leave us, your genial, happy face will be remembered by us, and we sincerely trust that, under God's guidance and inspiration, you may be still more successful in your new field, that you may be the means of bringing many to the knowledge of the truth, that you and your dear helpmeet may enjoy many, many years of increasing happiness in your continuous efforts towards the highest of all aims, that bringing of souls to Christ.

And now as a slight token of our love and respect, we ask your acceptance of this study chair, and by Mrs. Peer of this little token of our love.

Rev. Mr. Peer made a suitable and feeling reply on his own behalf, and on behalf of Mrs. Peer, expressing his deep regret at the necessity of severing his relations with a people with whom he has laboured for five

The success that has crowned his word, the sure proof he has made of his ministry, are monuments to his zeal and devotion to the service of God, which will cause his name to be long held in remembrance in the field of labour he is now leaving. He has shown himself untiring and wise in his work also. His labours for the past five years have been fruitful in the spiritual edification of his care and in the material prosperity of the flock under his charge. Rev. Mr. Peer will preach his farewell sermons on Sunday, Nov. 29th.

Thoughts of Childhood

While thinking of the scenes gone by,
 And of my good old home,
The place most dear to me on earth,
 No matter where I roam.
I thought of all the schoolmates dear,
 I greeted there at play;
And of the many that have since
 Been called from earth away.

Oh! happy were my boyhood days,
 When in childish glee,
I played with those dear little ones,
 That I more shall see.
Ah! little did I ever think
 That we so soon should part;
And though they'er gone forever now,
 They live within my heart.

The old schoolhouse is standing, where
 It stood for many a year,
And closely by the old churchyard,
 The scene of many a tear.
Yes, often have we children sat
 And watched some loving friend
Laid 'neath the cold, cold sod,
 Where all their sorrows end.

We've often read with lonely hearts,
 The verses written there,
Telling of the heavenly joys,
 That those dear ones shall share.
But when our bell would tinkle out,
 In silvery notes "come in!"
We'd then forget our sadness all,
 And lessons we'd begin.

But other scenes I now recall,
 I cannot pass them by,
For they are pictured in my mind,
 And shall be till I die.
My dear old home I now can see,
 All covered o'er with vines;
And just in front, the little grove
 Of thick, majestic pines.

And just beside that pinewood grove,
 There flows a little stream,
Where oft, bare-footed, I have sat
 And watched the waters gleam.
Methinks I yet can see the cows,
 When coming home at eve,
Drinking from that little stream
 'Till they were wont to leave.

The tinkling of the old cow bell
 Seems ringing in my ears,—
The very tone I yet can hear,
 Though silent many years.
When hunting for the cows at eve
 It saved me many a race,
For the tinkling of old bossie's bell
 Just pointed out the place.

The lane I see, and on each side
 A row of maple trees,
With here and there a basswood, which
 Made honey for the bees.
It makes me feel so lonely, friends,
 To think I ne'er again
Shall tread that dear old grassy walk—
 That little crooked lane!

But I know the home is changed—
 Mother is not there—
The one I always kneeled beside
 To say my evening prayers.
Her parting words I'll ne'er forget—
 They seem to echo back,
For this is all that she could say,
 "May God be with you, Jack."

I know her prayer was answered, for,
 Although these many years
I had no earthly friend, but He
 Has wiped away my tears.
And though its forty years or more
 Since that sad parting morn,
Oh! how I'd love to see again
 The place where I was born.

But, friends, I know I ne'er shall see
 That dear old home again;
And, oh! it fills my lonely heart
 With sorrow and with pain;
But there's a better, brighter home
 Prepared in heaven for me,
And dear old mother's waiting there—
 With her I soon shall be.

Methodist Church Thanksgiving Entertainment.

A highly successful thanksgiving supper and entertainment was held in the P.C.A. Hall and Methodist church on Thursday evening. A splendid supper was served to frequent relays of guests, and after the supper had been disposed of, there was a public entertainment in the church, which was crowded. Dr. Goldsmith, of Peterborough, occupied the chair. A splendid programme was presented, including musical selections by the choir, of which the pastor, Rev. Mr. Bartlett, was a prominent member. Mrs. (Dr.) Goldsmith gave in her usual excellent style, recitations both entertaining and profitable. Rev. J. Thom, B.A., of Ashburnham, gave a capital address on some phases of church work. The tea and entertainment were highly successful, and a handsome sum was added thereby to the church funds.

The Lady Godiva must have had exceptionally long hair since it completely concealed her lovely person. Since Ayer's Hair Vigor come into use such examples are not as rare as formerly. It not only promotes the growth of the hair, but gives it a rich, silken texture. dw

They Have Raised the Price of Tobacco.

The Bard of Smith Smarts Under the Fifth Rib.

From I was a boy, I my pipe did enjoy,
Though it may be a sin or bad habit,
But I own it on verse when supplies became scarce.
I was sulky, ill-tempered and crabbit.
In this town long ago, good tobacco was low—
Whether purchased in cash or in barter,
You may think it a lie, but I often did buy;
A full pound of good brand for a quarter.
But the vile weed is up, and the bright sparkling cup,
To supply our nice government locker,
Now the sleek boodlers use, the cruel high duty screws
On the chewer, the drinker and smoker.
Through my head thoughts revolve, always striving to solve
How our debt and the duties are rising,
Now the courts clear the mist, showing the hole in the chest.
And its leakage is wondrous surprising.
For all hands in the dish of high duties, wish
Them all sent off to grass without booty;
If all hands had kept clean, sure there need not have been
On tobacco one cent of more duty.
But those sharks must be fed and the poor man be bled,
Gold suckers hang on like a viper,
Bold as lords they advance in the sly grabbing dance,
You and I pay the cash for the piper.
If officials to-day were content with their pay,
Sitting straight upon honesty's pinions,
High taxation would cease and the debt would decrease,
That is sapping our much loved Dominion.
If the chief of canals shut his ears to his pals,
Dealing square with the builder and dredger,
Such a huge roll of bills would be found in the tills,
And large profits appear on the ledger.
Had the post office boss kept to honesty close,
And the head of the printing dealt squarely,
Pipe and muse I would nurse, with small strain on my purse,
Yes, and smoke like a Turk late and early.
As I read the long scroll of deeds black as a coal,
I feel vexed and intensely provok it,
While the gold leeches bite I must toil day and night
To supply the sharp boodler's deep pocket.
If they only would do with a dollar or two
I would neither deride nor despise them;
Clearly evidence shows up to thousands it goes—
It's no paltry sum satisfies them.
If I smoke, drink or eat, dress head, body or feet,
Everything bears a duty stupendous;
It seems obvious to me if no changes there be,
To the poorhouse they quickly will send us;
I must work without fail and grow slim as a rail,
With purse empty and light as a feather;
Greedy hearts, hard as stone, they would tax my dry bones,
And squander it quick as they gather.
In my chair I may rock, but I seldom dare smoke—
Increased duty compels moderation;
Let me save as I will, it removes not my ills—
They keep crushing me down with taxation;
I see shame and disgrace as such actions I trace—
Men, forsooth, we are paying and trusting—
It's as bad, if not worse, as if into our purse
Their unscrupulous hands they were thrusting;
Are there none with clean hands fit to rule o'er this land,
With high honour and true honesty beaming?
If you say there is not—send all rulers to pot—
We will live just by boodling and scheming.

WHEN a few doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral will relieve you? Try it. Keep it in the house. You are liable to have a cough at any time, and no other remedy is so effective as this world-renowned preparation. No household, with young children, should be without it. Scores of lives are saved every year by its timely use

Amanda B. Jenner, Northampton, Mass., writes: "Common gratitude impels me to acknowledge the great benefits I have derived for my children from the use of Ayer's most excellent Cherry Pectoral. I had lost two dear children from croup and consumption, and had the greatest fear of losing my only remaining daughter and son, as they were delicate. Happily, I find that by giving them Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, on the first symptoms of throat or lung trouble, they are relieved from danger, and are becoming robust, healthy children."

"In the winter of 1885 I took a bad cold which, in spite of every known remedy, grew worse, so that the family physician considered me incurable, supposing me to be in consumption. As a last resort I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and, in a short time, the cure was complete. Since then I have never been without this medicine. I am fifty years of age, weigh over 180 pounds, and attribute my good health to the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral."—G. W. Youker, Salem, N. J.

"Last winter I contracted a severe cold, which by repeated exposure, became quite obstinate. I was much troubled with hoarseness and bronchial irritation. After trying various medicines, without relief, I at last purchased a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. On taking this medicine, my cough ceased almost immediately, and I have been well ever since."—Rev. Thos. B. Russell, Secretary Holston Conference and P. E. of the Greenville District, M. E. C., Jonesboro, Tenn.

A WEEK AGO

"THE STAR" made the largest purchase of Overcoats ever made at one time in the history of the Clothing Trade—Over TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS' WORTH---the entire magnificent stock of one of the largest manufacturers of Fine Clothing in Canada. The owners of the goods were in Desperate Need of Ready Cash. We had it, and we got the stock AT OUR OWN PRICE. We placed about half our purchase on sale Monday morning, and to-day we place the balance of the stock on our tables. The last shipment included the Finest Goods. The first lots are all sold, and such scenes of excitement as have transpired during this sale never before occurred in a clothing store.

Customers stood in open-mouthed wonder at the wonderful values given. Many persons bought two and three Coats on account of their wonderful cheapness. Small Merchants have eagerly bought all we would sell them, our prices are so much lower than they could buy the same goods at wholesale.

The Overcoats are Simply Elegant, made of the Richest and Finest Fabrics and in the most "Correct" Style. "Schnabel's" Chinchillas and Beavers; "Carr's" Meltons, Eredon Kerseys, Fine Fancy Overcoatings and Shetlands, intended for Merchant Tailor's use. Many were intended to Wholesale at $15, $18 and $20. We bought them for less than the Raw Material Cost, and are selling for $8 and $10, garments worth two and three times the money.

Not a Single Customer Has Left Our Store Dissatisfied.

No Quarter to Foreign Vags.

For several nights last week a stalwart tramp, who distinguishes himself by the pugilistic title of "Mickey Dunn, the Chicken," bothered the police force for lodging. On Saturday morning he was arraigned before the police magistrate as a vagrant, and discharged with instructions to vacate the town at once. He did not depart and this morning he had another interview with his worship, when he was sentenced to six months in the Central prison, where he will have to earn his grub by the perspiration of his forehead. His worship remarked that he was not going to fill up the jail with tramps this winter which is a pretty plain intimation that tramps from abroad, arraigned as vagrants will receive the hospitality of the Central prison. It may be inferred that the average tramp who is not on speaking terms with work will fight shy of a town which is a way station on the road to the Central prison, where all inmates must work. It is a great contrast to confinement in county jails, where the inmates have warm quarters grub galore and nothing to do.

What the People are Saying.

That Ashtarnham's destiny is to be annexed to Peterborough.

That "Barkis is willin'," which means that a plebiscite would result in the villagers declaring for the change.

That a leader is all that is wanted to add the village's 2,000 to our 10,000.

That we should need a new school building, if all the children of school age were compelled to attend school.

That Mr. Beman, the temperance evangelist, should be cautious in calling Peterborough a "little town" as he did in the opera house last night.

That Police Magistrate Dumble is right in "salting" professional tramps in a six-monthly manner.

That nobody thanks the "oldest inhabitant" for perdicting a hard winter.

That the Salvation Army Band is improving of late both in strength and style of playing.

That Mr. Arthur White said during his cross examination at the South Ontario election trial, that when he was on the Midland railway he had authority to issue free tickets to carry voters in the interest of Mr. James Stevenson, of Peterborough, and Mr. Dundas of Lindsay.

News Nuggets.

—The Grand Trunk double track between Cobourg and Port Hope is completed.

—There is a scarlet fever placard on Sherbrooke street, and another on Stewart street.

—There is an outbreak of distemper among the horses in the vicinity of Kingston.

—The Millbrook Dramatic Club gave their promised Thanksgiving entertainment in the town hall, Monday night.

—The Cavan Liberal Conservative association held its annual meeting in the town hall, Millbrook, on Saturday.

—If Port Hope people gave their dogs enough to eat they would not have to prey on farmers' sheep as they have been doing.

—The declining powers of old age may be wonderfully recuperated and sustained by the daily use of Hood's Sarsaparilla.

—Annie McDonald, of Midland, has a suit against Peter Robinson, of Waubaushene, for breach of promise of marriage. She is 37 years old and asks $5,000 damages.

—It seems that Cobourg councillors are preparing for boodle operations. They absent themselves from council meetings to attend church meetings, and adroitly manage to have the fact noted in the newspapers.

Easy to use, pleasant and agreeable is the verdict of all who have used Nasal Balm, and better still, there is no case of catarrh or cold in the head that it will not cure. dw

For Thanksgiving.

Positively the finest 25c tea in Peterborough is to be bought at Wm. C. Kirk's Tea and Coffee store in Ashburnham. We defy any store in town to show as good a sample for the money, either Japan, Hyson or black. All other teas good in proportion.

Mr. R. Benson has returned to Peterborough, and taken up his old quarters at the Oriental, after a three months absence in St. Catharines and visiting friends in other parts.

Mr. D'Arcy E Strickland, son of Mr. R. C. Strickland, Lakefield, has received the important appointment of Inspector of North-West Mounted Police, with headquarters at Regina. Mr. Strickland is a nephew of Col. Boulton, who is registrar at Birtle. His appointment to the position will give general satisfaction. It is expected that in the distribution of such offices the friends of the government party shall have preference, and so long as appointments are made on this basis, no one can find fault so long as at the same time, fitness for the position receives so much attention as in the present case, and so long as the claims of this district are not overlooked. The EXAMINER congratulated Mr. Strickland on his appointment.

BIRTH.

LEHANE.—In Ashburnham, on Sunday, the 15th of November, 1891, the wife of Mr. M. H. LeHane, of a daughter.

The Hailstone Record.

The following is from The Waltham Register of July 15, 1823:

"Perhaps we shall be thought desirous of taxing the credulity of our readers by publishing the following dimensions of a hailstone which fell in the presence of several respectable persons at Munson, Mass., last week. The appearance of the mass is said to be that of a compact body of hailstones, as firmly united as ice usually is: Extremes, 4 feet long, 3 feet wide and 2 feet thick. After removing the rough part of the body there remained a solid, clear block of ice 2 feet 3 inches long, 1 foot 6 inches wide and 1 foot 3 inches thick."

In The St. Louis Republic of May 10, 1800, there is an account of an eighty-pound hailstone which fell near Salina, Kan., in 1881. It was of about the dimensions of a nail keg.—St. Louis Republic.

Three Words from the German.

The writer of an interesting little article on "Cousins German," in Cornhill, maintains that however much inferior the German language is to the English in many points of view, it contains three words that are much needed.

BACKFISCH.

The first is "backfisch," to describe a girl from 15 to 18 years of age, who keeps a diary, climbs trees secretly, blushes easily and has no conversation.

BUMMELN.

The second word, which is even more needed than "blackfisch" is "bummeln." One who bummelns is an aggravated edition of our lounger.

SCHWARMEN.

The most indispensable word of all, however, is "schwarmen," of which the writer says:

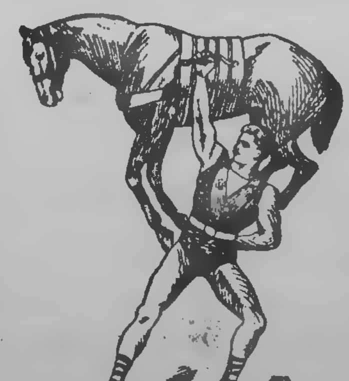
"The best definition of this word seems to be the falling in love in a purely impersonal manner with the artistic or intellectual gifts of any more or less distinguished man or woman. It is possible, for example, to 'schwarmen' for actors, singers, authors, doctors, military commanders, preachers and painters. A German girl can schwarmen for any or all of these, whether they be male or female, and openly avow the same without even her mother taking alarm. A man can schwarmen, too, but the objects of his schwarmerei very seldom happens to be of his own sex."

SANDOW'S GREAT FEAT.

He Lifts a Pony and Carries it off the Stage.

Strong-man Sandow, now at the Tivoli, London, is performing a new feat this fall. A spirited little horse is slung by ropes in the centre of the stage. Grasping a strap handle on the near side with the right hand, and pinning the animal's near hind leg with his left hand, Sandow bears his novel burden steadily off the stage.

A back somersault with a fifty-six pound bell in each hand, and a similar turn while blindfolded and with legs strapped together, leads up to a performance described in the alarming sentence, "An orchestra on Sandow's chest." Six men bear in a grand piano, which they place on a platform, into which the Titan has fitted himself. A pianist takes his seat at the instrument, and a violist, a piccolist, and a cornet player stand upon the lid. These encumbrances, with the strains of "Rule Britannia" in addition, Sandow upholds without flinching.



A Seasoned Case.

After a girl has worn a tight corset for twenty years you can't hurt her.

A Spring Medicine.

There are few who do not at this season feel the need of a spring medicine, and to all such we recommend Lane's Family Medicine as the best. This is a pleasant herb drink made by pouring boiling water on the dried roots and herbs. Druggists sell the packages at 50c. and $1. It is the best as well as the pleasantest cure for constipation and headache. dw

PARLIAMENT AND POESY.

A Discussion in the House on "The Poet of the Lakes."

During the closing hours of the last session of the Dominion Parliament William Wilfred Campbell received some well deserved compliments from Mr. Laurier and Mr. McNeill. Their words of tribute are reported as follows:

Mr. McNeill called attention to the success which is being achieved in the realm of poetry by William Wilfred Campbell, an employe of the Railway Department, who is serving the country for $1.50 per day. He received very flattering criticisms from the highest sources both in Europe and America of the poem "Mother." It was only right and fitting that work such as this should be recognized. He believed that Canada's young poet would rank higher than Longfellow if he were placed in a position that would give him an opportunity for development. He hoped the Government would see its way clear to giving him a position in the library, in charge of Belles Lettres, which would enable Mr. Campbell to follow his inclination and bring further credit upon his native country.

Mr. Laurier said he would gladly endorse the statement to the favorable consideration of the Government. While he did not pretend to be a judge of poetry, in his estimate Mr. Campbell was one of the real living poets to-day of the English language. The poem called "Mother" was certainly something that had not been equalled since the days of Edgar Poe. Mr. Campbell was a young man, and if the Government gave him a position in the Library he would have opportunity to cultivate his talent and it would be money well applied. Both sides of the House would heartily approve of such action.

An effort is now being made to have this rising poet placed in the Parliamentary Library in charge of belles lettres, and it is sympathized in by the members and leading journals of the country irrespective of their political predilections.

The following is the latest from Mr. Campbell's pen, and appeared in this month's (October) Century:

LOVE.

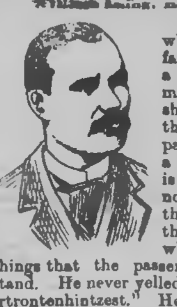
Love came at dawn when all the world was fair,
When crimson glories, bloom, and song were rife;
Love came at dawn when hope's wings fanned the air,
And murmured, "I am life."

Love came at even when the day was d[illegible]
When heart and brain were tired, [illegible] slumber pressed;
Love came at eve, shut out the sinking sun,
And whispered, "I am rest."

What One Blast Did.

The papers have lately mentioned how many prominent mines of the country were discovered by chance. There is a scrap to be added in the history of the Gortez mines. Simeon Wenban had run the Garrison tunnel at great expense and was left a poor man, owing his creditors $150,000. There was not a pound of ore in sight whereby the debt might be paid. As a last resort, with a forlorn hope, after the mine had been closed, Simeon Wenban drilled a hole in the hanging wall, and blasted out a huge piece of rock, which he found to be almost a solid block of metal, and part of an immense vein which had been paralleled hundreds of feet. This fortunate last effort marked a sudden change that seldom falls to the lot of man. It was Wenban, the poor man, the laborer, before that blast was fired; it was Simeon Wenban, the millionaire, but a second thereafter. The first month's run of his little mill gave him $30,000, and ever since he has grown more wealthy. The mine is the best paying property in the State at the present time.—Central Nevadan.

William Laing, Railway Orator.



William Laing, whose good-looking face appears above, is a Grand Trunk brakeman. Accustomed to shout the names of the stations as he passed by, he acquired a power of lung that is astonishing. It was noticed that he was the only brakeman on the southern division who could shout things that the passengers could understand. He never yelled "Hamtuchancarzfrtrontenhintzest." He always put it in plain English words, properly pronounced, properly spaced and properly accentuated. Thus it came to pass that William was reorgnized by the road officials as a born orator, and when it became necessary, during the Toronto fair, to have a man there who could shout intelligently about trains and tickets, William was appointed to the post of honor. At the fair his voice was heard high above the babel of voices. Peanut men, lemonade men and side-show men were to William as penny whistles to the roar of Niagara. Steam whistles were struck dumb in his presence, and all Toronto heard him and knew all about trains and tickets. His portrait appears here as that of the only brakeman now known whose station announcements are intelligible to the travelling public.

The Blind Summit.

A Viennese gentleman, who had climbed the Hosh Konig without a guide, was found dead in a sitting posture, near the summit, upon which he had written: "It is cold, and clouds shut out the view."—Vide the Daily News of Sept. 10, 1891:

So mounts the child of ages of desire,
Man, up the steeps of Thought; and would behold
Yet purer peaks, touched with unearthlier fire,
In sudden vision virginally new;
But on the lone last height he sighs: "'Tis cold
And clouds shut out the view."

Ah, doom of mortals! Vexed with phantoms old,
Old phantoms that waylay us and pursue—
Weary of dreams—we think to see unfold
The eternal landscape of the Real and True;
And on our Pisgah can but write: "'Tis cold,
And clouds shut out of view."
—William Watson in the Spectator

Sunday Reflections.

It's a wise Pharisee who knows himself.

The essence of prayer is not to be measured by polysyllables nor graded by rhetoric.

Fishers of men who bait their hooks with brimstone must have a queer idea of men's appetites.

The devil always wears a quizzical expression when he hears a man praying for his enemies.

Blasphemy is such cheap wit that our "humorous evangelists" have no need to bear the market.

It's just as impossible to get to heaven vicariously as it is to commit a crime by that convenient method.

Scribner's Magazine.

An Exceptional Year.

THE Year 1891 has been marked by a greater advance than any similar period since the Magazine was established. Not only has the literary and artistic excellence been maintained and increased, but a corresponding gain has been made in the sale and influence of the Magazine. At the end of 1891 the circulation has risen to more than 140,000. It may justly be promised that the further improvements for the coming year will be proportionate to these largely increased opportunities.

For Next Year.

It is not possible to give, in a brief space, an account of all the features in preparation, but the material is deficient in neither importance nor range of subject. Among the subjects treated:

The Poor in the World's Great City.

It is proposed to publish a series of articles, upon a scale not before attempted, giving the results of special study and work among the poor of the great cities. The plan will include an account of the conditions of life in those cities (in many lands) where the results of research will be helpful for purposes of comparison as well as for their own intrinsic interest. While, from a scientific point of view, the articles will be a contribution of great importance, the treatment will be thoroughly popular, and the elaborate illustrations will serve to make the presentation of the subject vivid as well as picturesque.

Washington Allston.

Unpublished Reminiscences and Letters of this foremost among early American painters. A number of illustrations will lend additional interest to the articles.

Important Moments.

The aim of this series of very short articles is to describe the signal occasions when some decisive event took place, or when some great experiment was first shown to be successful—such moments as that of the first use of the Atlantic cable, the first use of the telegraph and telephone, the first successful experiment with ether, the night of the Chicago fire, the scene at the moment of the vote on the impeachment of Andrew Johnson, etc., etc.

Out of Door Papers.

In the early spring will be begun a number of seasonable articles, among them:
Small Country Places, how to lay out and beautify them, by SAMUEL PARSONS, JR.,
Fishing Lore from an Angler's Note-book, by DR. LEROY M. YALE.
Mountain Station Life in New Zealand, by SIDNEY DICKINSON.
Racing in Australia, by SIDNEY DICKINSON, with illustrations by BIRGE HARRISON.
The illustrations are from original material.

A full prospectus appears in the Holiday Number, now ready.

M. CARTON,
Formerly of the Bon Marche.

Died at Dundalk.

On Friday, November 13th, there passed away to her eternal rest, at Dundalk, Grey county, at the age of 49 years, Mrs. Nicholas Walton, a former and well-known and highly respected resident of Smith township, where she was born. She was a daughter of the late John Darling, and a sister of Mrs. D. Belleghem, town. Her's was the first break by death in a family of twelve children. She removed with her husband, Mr. Nicholas Walton, formerly of the fourth line of Smith, to Dundalk about eleven years ago. Mrs. Walton leaves behind her a widowed husband and a family of nine children, the eldest married. The cause of her death was cardiac dropsy. On Saturday morning Messrs. Alexander and James Darling, brothers of the deceased lady, went to Dundalk to attend the funeral, which took place on Sunday at two o'clock p.m.

Bellegrange School for Young Ladies.

Nearly a year ago the EXAMINER noticed the opening of a school for young ladies, at Lakefield, in Bellegrange House, by the Misses Roger, and is now pleased to note that the predictions then made of its success have been very gratifyingly verified. The school is proving most successful, and young ladies are being received from as far distant as Ottawa. This is natural; the tuition given is of the highest class, one of the ladies being a graduate of Oxford University, England, and both are members of the College of Preceptors. Besides, the beauty and healthful situation of Bellegrange House, with its five acres of garden and lawn, make the school a desirable one for those who require a change from the dust and bustle of the city to a charming rural residence of the most attractive character, especially when this feature is associated with the unexceptionably excellent educational advantages. A year ago we spoke of Bellegrange School for young ladies as a promising experiment. We are pleased to speak of it now as a satisfactory fulfilment.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

Mr. Arthur Jolly gave an impressive address at the young men's rally on Saturday night. The attendance and interest were good and blessing was the result. The orchestra led the hearty song service very acceptably.

On Sunday morning at the Bible study an consecration service a very profitable time was spent in the study of God's word and in prayer for power for service.

Mr. R. M. Russell gave an impressive talk on personal purity at the afternoon meeting. There was a good attendance, and the Y.M.C.A. band led the singing. It was a heart searching time, and all felt the power of the Holy Spirit present to bless.

The gospel and song service last night was slimly attended, owing no doubt to the unfavorable weather and the Gospel temperance meeting in the Opera House, but those present received a blessing, and the bright testimonies given by the young men were cheering and helpful to all.

On Tuesday, Ladies' Auxiliary will meet in the parlor at 4 p.m. All ladies interested in our work invited to be present.

The Temperance Evangelists

Make Their Debut in the Opera House—Greeted by a Large Audience.

Mr. and Mrs. Beman, the temperance evangelists, made their first public appearance last night in the Opera House, which was crowded with liberal contributions from the congregations of the several churches. The meeting was announced for 8:15, but it was fully half an hour later before the exercises proper of the meeting began.

Mr. and Mrs. Beman occupied the platform. Mr. Beman is a tall, thin man with a romanesque nose, under which flourishes a black moustache, his head thinly thatched with black hair. Mrs. Beman is a pleasant little lady, who appeared on the stage wrapped in a terra cotta, squirrel lined cloak, which, thrown aside, revealed her neatly and modestly gowned in black.

There was first the singing of a familiar hymn after which, (Mr. Seward having arrived to play the accompaniment) the exercises of the evening began, by the singing of the duet, "Take Down the Rusty Sickle." Neither of the twain has a powerful voice, but Mrs. Beman's is sweet and flexible, and her methods and enunciation are pleasant and refined.

Then followed a Scripture reading by Mr. Beman, the 5th chapter of Isaiah, from the 11th verse.

The duet "The Rum Fiend's Revel," was well sung, and it preceded the speech of the evening by Mr. Beman, on the subject of "Sowing and Reaping," as applied to the liquor traffic. The speaker pointed out that on material and moral matters the harvest would be as the sowing had been. He depreciated the accepted "wild oats" theory in reference to young men. It was a great mistake to suppose that we could sow the social glass and reap a good harvest. There was spent in the Dominion each year forty millions of dollars for strong drink—far more than we paid for bread or churches or education, and eighty one times as much as we spent on missions. The speaker concluded by saying that an opportunity would be given for the signing of the temperance pledge.

Mrs. Beman sang with much feeling the affecting solo "Can a Boy Forget his Mother," which was followed by a duet, "To the Rescue," which involved a metrical and musical invitation to "Sign the pledge, now."

The meeting was closed about 10 o'clock by the singing of the doxology.

Indian Summer.

When the lingering flowers of autumn,
  In the frost of the morning lie low,
And the streams have a presage of winter
  In the darker, heavier flow;
When song-birds from thicket and orchard,
  From nests by the wayside have flown,
And with many a shiver and whisper
  The pines and the linden moan.

Then comes the sorrowful maiden,
  The spirit who tenderly grieves
O'er the scattered army of summer
  And o'er autumn's garnered sheaves.
She comes from the Isles of the Blessed,
And her presence possesses the air
With the odor of myrrh and of spices,
  And the hush of a silent prayer.

There's a rustle of dainty footsteps
  On the desolate, leaf strewn ways,
And the glimmer of shining garments
  Through November's dust and haze.
There are hints of glories celestial
  In the blush of the forest tree,
And the purple and golden color
  Transfigures land and sea.

EVERY day makes more apparent the fact that the town is going ahead rapidly. Numerous changes have taken place in the way of ownership of property. Many workingmen are buying houses and lots, or lots on which to build. One of the most suitable locations is that known as the Erin property, at the west end, owned largely by Mr. Wm. Fitzgerald. This week he has closed the sale of a very desirable house and lot, and has several eligible lots on this property to dispose of. Property in this neighborhood is rapidly being built up, and it will be well to have a look at the situation if one is at all disposed to buy. MONKEY ARISTOCRATS.

SIX DISTINGUISHED TYPES IN THE ZOO'S CAGES.

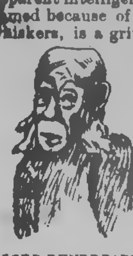
Dudé, Slugger, Priest—The Animals Are Apart From the Common Herd, and Stand on Their Dignity—A Remarkable and Interesting Sight.

To the believer in the Darwinian theory that man, through a course of evolution, has descended from monkey, the monkey-house at the "Zoo" affords a delightful point of vantage from which to study the habits of his prototypes. There are monkeys and monkeys, just as there are all sorts and conditions of men, and any one who is at all interested in the study of evolution must admit, after an hour spent before the bars of the monkey cage, that if Mr. Darwin was at fault in his deductions the monkey is the nearest approach to man in the expression of nearly every characteristic of the human race.

As there are men destined by nature to rank above their fellows, so there are monkeys. Society has its four hundred—the monkey house has its six. These nabobs are all possessed of some qualification for holding aloof from the common herd, and constitute a four-footed aristocracy which is iron bound in its exclusiveness. The six are known as Lord Dundreary, John L. Sullivan, The Heathen Chinee, The Dude, The Old Scotchman, and Moses the Meek, commonly referred to as the sacred monkey.

LORD DUNDREARY.

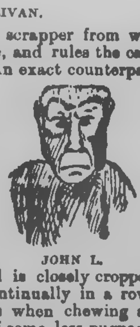
They are nearly almost human in their apparent intelligence. Lord Dundreary, so named because of a pair of glowing side whiskers, is a grivet monkey of more than usual intelligence. His entire wardrobe consists of a piece of broken comb, which never leaves his possession. When he sleeps it is clutched tightly in his paw, and not even the redoubtable John L. can rob him of his treasure. My Lord is intensely proud of his whiskers, and spends hours at a time in his corner engaged in his favorite occupation of combing his hirsute appendage. The placid self-satisfaction depicted in his face betokens a sort of peace-on-earth-good-will-to-men temperament.



LORD DUNDREARY.

MR. SULLIVAN.

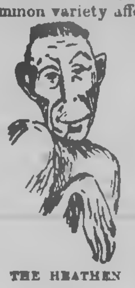
John L. Sullivan is a scrapper from way back. He is a macaque, and rules the cage with a high hand. An exact counterpart in miniature of the average hero of the prize ring, he swaggers about with the air of one who fully realizes that he is master of the situation. He has a square set jaw, something unusual in the monkey, low, beetling brows, and the hair of his head is closely cropped and bristling. He is continually in a row, and is never so happy as when chewing an ear or biting the tail of some less pugnacious companion. John was not originally included in the aristocracy, but he made things so hot for those in the charmed circle that they were finally compelled to admit him.



JOHN L.

A CHINAMAN.

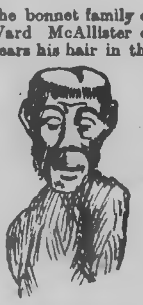
The heathen Chinee is a capucin, of the common variety affected by organ-grinders. With a cue instead of a tail, and dressed in the garb of the Flowery Kingdom, he would pass anywhere as a miniature Chinaman. The vacuous expression, described by Bret Harte as "child-like and bland," the almond eyes, and the usual characteristics of the Chinaman are shown in his face. The Heathen is a prime favorite with the aristocracy. He is usually surrounded by a number of his favorites, and it requires but a slight stretch of imagination to picture him as dealing out choice morsels culled from the philosophy of Confucius.



THE HEATHEN CHINEE.

THE MONKEY'S WARD M'ALLISTER.

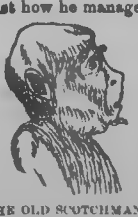
The dude belongs to the bonnet family of monkeys, and is the Ward McAllister of the aristocracy. He wears his hair in the William Walter Phelps style, banged over his forehead, and parted in the middle. He is a howling swell, and Head Keeper Byrne is authority for the assertion that during the past week he has made strenuous attempts to master the intricacies of cricket. This is scarcely believed, as it is a well-known fact that Byrne is prejudiced against the Dude, and never misses an opportunity of maligning that inoffensive creature. His Dudelets is not possessed of any remarkably brilliant mental attainments, but his deportment is universally admired.



THE DUDE.

THE OLD SCOTCHMAN.

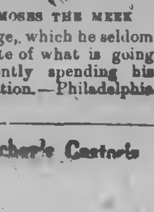
The Old Scotchman is a rhesus macaque. Just how he managed to get within the charmed circle of the aristocracy is not known, as he is certainly neither pretty nor aristocratic. But there he is, and there he evidently intends to stay. Even John L. Sullivan has no terrors for the Scotchman, who has been known to swing his left on that pugnacious monkey with such good effect that John has been glad to cry quits. The Old Scotchman sports a pair of Galway sluggers, and only needs a short-stemmed pipe to complete the picture.



THE OLD SCOTCHMAN.

MOSES THE MEEK.

But the queerest character in the little circle is the sacred monkey. Moses the Meek. He is a patriarchal old fellow, and is said to be over a hundred years old. His entire face is surrounded by a growth of bushy white hair, which looks for all the world like a halo, as depicted in the paintings of some of the old masters. Moses holds a seat of honor—a perch away up in the apex of the cage, which he seldom leaves. He takes no note of what is going on around him, apparently spending his days in solitary meditation.—Philadelphia Record.



MOSES THE MEEK.

ANOTHER VACANT SEAT.

Dr. Spohn of East Simcoe Unseated for Bribery by an Agent.

BARRIE, Nov. 14.—The protest against the return of Dr. P. H. Spohn, Liberal member for East Simcoe, was heard here yesterday before Justices Rose and MacMahon, G. T. Blackstock representing the petitioner and J. K. Kerr the respondent.

The respondent was first called and examined generally, but particularly as to the payment of $2, ostensibly for the use of a poll, to the Indian chief on Christian Islands. In this case, involving personal disqualification, judgment was reserved.

The next charge was one of bribing a voter named Huston, in the town of Midland, by endorsement of promissory note for $20 by one George Chow, an agent of the respondent. The learned judges held the charges clearly proven and unseated the respondent, with costs.

The Treasurer Off to Canada.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Nov. 13.—Walton J. Osborne, a prominent lumber dealer and leading Prohibitionist, has fled to Canada under a serious cloud, and many unpaid executions are recorded against him. It is stated that he is $1000 short in his accounts as treasurer of the Spencer Ripley Memorial Church. An ecclesiastical trial has been begun against him, in which many charges are made.

Osborne has for many years been a prominent member of the Frank-street Methodist Church and was at one time its treasurer. He has long been prominent in politics.

Little Laocoon is Louisiana.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Every seat in Chickering Hall was occupied last evening, the vast assembly being there to protest against the Louisiana lottery.

Gen. Johnston read an appeal from the people of his State for help, and entered minutely into details in reference to the manner of conducting the great lottery scheme.

Bishop Potter then read an appeal to the nation, asking them to extend their sympathy and financial aid, and demanding of Congress the passage of such laws as may be practicable to prevent the transportation by private companies of the advertisements and tickets of the lottery company.

A telegram was sent by the meeting to Governor Nichols of Louisiana giving greeting and bidding the sister state godspeed in her efforts against the lottery.

MONTREAL, Nov 14.—Mayor McShane has through his attorneys taken action for $50,000 damages against The Toronto Empire on the ground of libel in connection with the alleged Whelan revelations.

Failure in the Shoe Trade.

TORONTO, Nov. 14.—Mr. John Taylor, boot and shoe manufacturer, No. 22 Bay street, has called a meeting of his creditors for Monday next, 23rd inst. The announcement occasioned a good deal of surprise, Mr. Taylor having been generally looked upon as being sound financially. He has been in business about eight years. Mr. Taylor's liabilities are estimated at $15,000 and his assets considerably less.

She Cannot Be Awakened.

QUEBEC, Nov. 14.—There is great excitement in St. Roch suburbs over the case of a woman who has been asleep for some days past and cannot be awakened. She had been suffering from insomnia, and procured a sleeping potion of some kind from a medical man, but, finding it failed to produce the desired effect in the dose prescribed by the doctor, she finally took a double dose, with the result that all efforts to wake her have failed.

Influenza is claiming many victims in Posen. The disease in nearly every case is attended with serious consequences, and in many instances has a fatal termination. The physicians of the place are in constant demand. Influenza has also made its appearance in the northern suburbs of Berlin, and already the cases amount to a considerable number.

SUN LIFE

ASSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA.

The attention of our Policy-Holders is directed to the following summary of the leading items of the present report, which speaks for itself as to the progress and prosperity of the Company:—

Surplus over all Liabilities and Capital Stock	232,175.69
Increase over 1889	75,649.05
Death claims fallen in during 1890	143,961.65

The progress made by the SUN LIFE during 1890 was remarkable. The new business was the largest in the Company's history, and was equalled by but one other Canadian Life Company. The income for the year exceeds $2,000 for each day in the year, Sundays included. The Assets are large and rapidly increasing. They are, moreover, of the highest character, yielding an average interest of 6.04 per cent. The overdue interest is small, and the Real Estate owned under foreclosure is only four per cent. of the amount of mortgages. This is a remarkable showing. The SURPLUS accumulated during the FOUR years of the current quinquennium is nearly THREE TIMES as much as the amount earned during any previous FIVE years, and the profits to Policy-holders cannot fail thus to be highly satisfactory. The following are the figures:—

Net Surplus, 31st Dec., 1881, (five years)	$64,824 07
" " " " 1886,	89,452 97
" " " " 1890, (four years)	232,175 69

"German Syrup"

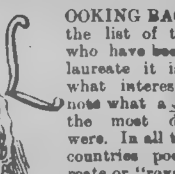
A Cough and Croup Medicine.

For children a medicine should be absolutely reliable. A mother must be able to pin her faith to it as to her Bible. It must contain nothing violent, uncertain, or dangerous. It must be standard in material and manufacture. It must be plain and simple to administer; easy and pleasant to take. The child must like it. It must be prompt in action, giving immediate relief, as childrens' troubles come quick, grow fast, and end fatally or otherwise in a very short time. It must not only relieve quick but bring them around quick, as children chafe and fret and spoil their constitutions under long confinement. It must do its work in moderate doses. A large quantity of medicine in a child is not desirable. It must not interfere with the child's spirits, appetite or general health. These things suit old as well as young folks, and make Boschee's German Syrup the favorite family medicine.

THE POET LAUREATE.

HOW HE PASSES THE CLOSING YEARS OF A BUSY LIFE.

Talk of Probable Successors—It will be Difficult to Find One to Wear His Mantle—None Approach Him in Popularity and Ability.



LOOKING BACK over the list of the men who have been poets laureate it is somewhat interesting to note what a poor lot the most of them were. In all the other countries poets laureate or "royal poets" were selected solely for merit. England has not followed that plan.

It isn't an impressive list when you look it over. Take Dryden and Tennyson and perhaps Southey out of it and the rest are, in the main, a poor lot. It would look as if the real poets of England had been purposely kept out of it. You see in it no Shakespeare, no Milton or Goldsmith, or Gray, or Pope, or Addison, or Byron. Not at all, and if Great Britain can do nothing better in the way of poets laureate in the future than it has done in the past, it would not be a bad idea to go out of the business. Tennyson has shed lustre on the position, but when he dies mediocrity will be in the saddle again.

Indeed, there are not a few wise men over here who say that Tennyson, the greatest of poets laureate, will be the last one.

Speaking of Tennyson's predecessors and possible successor, I had the rare pleasure of seeing the old poet in London the other day—rare for the reason that as he grows older he seems to dislike the city more and more, and he never visits it except when some important business takes him there.

It was at the Athenæum Club. A group of men were chatting, when their attention was drawn to two men who were passing on the opposite side of Pall Mall.

One of these was a sturdy enough man, approaching middle age, but looking young indeed beside the man who walked arm and arm with him, for the latter was a veritable patriarch in appearance. He was, moreover, a man who would attract attention in any assemblage. His tall frame was bent with years and covered with a wondrously ill-fitting suit of some gray material. He wore a hat like, and yet unlike, the American slouch. His boots were wide and stout, almost coarse; his collar ill-fitting and his cravat carelessly arranged. But you forgot all about his dress when you looked at his face, so calm and strong; it was set off by a great shaggy head of white hair, and a beard such as the patriarchs are supposed to have worn.

"Picturesque looking old chap, that," one of the loungers in the club window remarked carelessly.

Another of the loungers, who had been watching the pair, turned and looked closely and curiously at the speaker.

"Perhaps," he said, with just a trifle of sarcasm in his voice, "you don't know who that picturesque old chap is?"

"Haven't the slightest idea," the other one drawled.

"Well, that picturesque old chap, as you call him, is Alfred Tennyson, and that is his son Hallam with him. Take a good look at the laureate while you have a chance. He doesn't come often to London now, and at his age any of his trips may easily be his last one."

And the group did look at the old man with all their eyes until he slowly passed beyond their gaze, leaning on the arm of his son.

CLOSE OF A VIGOROUS LIFE.

The idlers in the window had witnessed a sight rare indeed in London, for it is only at long intervals that the poet laureate allows himself to be drawn within hearing of the noise and din of the great, overgrown city. All his life he has loved the hills and long, low downs, the sea and the solitude of the country far more than he has cared for towns. Indeed, it is doubtful if the old poet would give up his beautiful home at Haslemere, on the Isle of Wight, for the costliest palace London could offer him.

Besides, the poet is now a very old man. He is going on eighty-three years of age, and he has been writing poetry nearly seventy years. Not for five centuries has any English poet of renown lived to such an age. But one, indeed, has lived more than eighty years. That was William Wordsworth Tennyson's immediate predecessor in the laureateship. He lived sixteen days beyond his eightieth year. But Wordsworth at eighty was but the wreck of a man in mind and body. Tennyson, at eighty-two, is still comparatively a vigorous old man. True, he does not sing with as full a throat as he once did, but that we may well overlook.

He is living very quietly now. His wife is still with him and spends much of her time in setting her husband's verses to music. And, indeed, these lyrics form the most interesting feature of London drawing room entertainments nowadays.

Meanwhile the glorious old man sits in his quiet study at Haslemere, surrounded by his books, his tobacco jar by his side, his beloved pipe near, where he can look out through his open window over green and wood and hill to where the sea glistens silver-like in the distance. And, perchance, he may light his pipe, and through the clouds of smoke see visions beyond our ken. So let us leave him, calmly living out the evening of his life. When it closes all England may well mourn, for it may be long before his like may again be seen.

The question of Tennyson's successor is being actively and seriously debated, and what is more, there are several candidates for his mantle already in the field. The Queen has a candidate, Lord Salisbury has a candidate, the literary world has a couple of candidates, but as it is the Queen and the Prime Minister who have the naming of the laureate, the opinions of the literary world will not count for what they are really worth.

WHAT OF SWINBURNE?

"There is Swinburne!" the reader exclaims:

Yes, to be sure, there is Swinburne, but such are the conditions under which the laureateship is gained that his chances of getting it are much poorer than are those of much inferior poets. It is the custom of certain knowing English writers to sneer at Americans and allege that they can scarcely get a dinner ready without including politics in the bill of fare. However this may be, there is a good deal of politics about the appointment of a poet laureate in England. It is not the greatest poet who makes the most acceptable poet laureate. Indeed, if in the long list of poets laureate such names as Spenser, Dryden, Southey, Wordsworth and Tennyson occur, it is just as true that some of the poets laureate have been pretty mean specimens both as men and poets.

The Queen and the Prime Minister, as has been said, have the naming of the poet laureate, so it will be seen that it depends a good deal on which party is in power. If Tennyson should outlive the present government, as he may, the results might be important to some English poets, for if Lord Salisbury should go to the country and return well spanked by the people, some of the candidates who are now very much in it would be very much out of it, for the Grand Old Man would have none of them, even at the Queen's behest.

THE QUEEN'S CANDIDATE.

But who is the Queen's candidate? you may ask. Well, he is a dear, sweet, harmless, respectable creature, who rejoices in the name of Lewis Morris. He is no relative of William Morris, by the way, of whom you all have heard. William Morris is a genius and a poet. As much can scarcely be honestly said of Lewis Morris. The latter person is a respectable gentleman, well along in the afternoon of life, who was a lawyer until he got tired of that unpoetical profession, when he retired to Wales, took up the pursuits of a country gentleman, obtained a seat in the council of education for Wales and incidentally became a poet. From 1871 to 1875 he published the "Songs of Two Worlds," and in 1876 the "Epic of Hades." The Queen thinks a great deal of these works; so much so, indeed, that she would like to see their author made poet laureate.

Lord Salisbury has a candidate himself for Tennyson's shoes who is not at all dismayed because they are many sizes too large for him. The Prime Minister's candidate is Alfred Austin, who is not so colorless a man as the Queen's favorite. In fact, without being a great poet he writes some verses very cleverly. But he is too much inclined to be a political hack to satisfy the British public, and he is not at all a favorite. He is now something like fifty-six years old, and is a Roman Catholic. This fact might keep him from Lord Salisbury's favor were he not such a thorough paced political timeserver to the conservative party. His works are better known, indeed, in America than here. In 1861 he issued a work called "The Seasons," in which he pitched into the world in great shape.—New York Herald London Letter.

TO EXPEL JEWISH BANKERS.

A Motion in the French Chamber of Deputies.

PARIS, Nov. 13.—In the Chamber of Deputies yesterday M. Lauer accused Rouvier, Minister of Finance, of subjecting the French finances to the control of Jewish financiers. M. Lauer then demanded the expulsion of Jewish bankers from France.

Minister Rouvier, in replying to the charges made against him by M. Lauer, said that he declined to hold a discussion on such a proposition as that made by M. Lauer in regard to the Jews. He said there was no drain of gold from France, and that the Bank of France held an absolutely normal amount of bullion. The country's finances, Minister Rouvier declared, were managed with the greatest prudence and probity. "As for the Rothschilds," said M. Rouvier, "which house M. Lauer accuses of waiting for a favorable opportunity to remove its establishment from France, does M. Lauer suppose it to be to the interest of France to deprive the Paris market of so important a factor in the financial world?"

The motion of M. Lauer was dismissed by a vote of 431 to 32.

Land Monopoly the Cause of War.

ROME, Nov. 13.—At the International Peace Congress now in session here, the principal speech yesterday was made by Mrs Mary Frost Ormsby of New York, head of the American delegation. Her subject was "The real cause and the real cure of war." In her opinion, land monopoly is the primary cause of war.

How Germany Views the Speech.

BERLIN, Nov. 13.—The North German Gazette, commenting on the recent speeches of Lord Salisbury and Marquis Di Rudini, concludes that Great Britain and Italy are equally resolved to throw into the scale a weighty word to maintain an equilibrium in Europe if peace should be threatened. The Gazette warmly commends Lord Salisbury's decision not to loosen the English hold on Egypt.

PREMIER MERCIER TO SUE MANY NEWSPAPERS.

The Proprietors Will be Arrested for Criminal Libel in Connection With the Alleged Whelan Boodle Expose—A Young Lad Fatally Kicked by a Horse.

QUEBEC, Nov. 16.—Hon. Mr. Mercier, having had the opinion of his colleagues on the Whelan scandal, as revealed in The Empire, gave instructions this morning to Messrs. Dunbar & Amyot, the crown prosecutors for this district, to have the editors, publishers, correspondents of the following newspapers, who published or reproduced the Whelan charges as given in The Empire, arrested and have them prosecuted on criminal charges: The Empire, Gazette, Le Monde, La Presse, Courrier du Canada, with Messrs. Mosher and Whelan.

The prosecutions referred to are taken under the English common law against seditious libel, it being a high offence and misdemeanor to bring organized government into disrepute and to try to overthrow the existing institutions of a country by the publication of false and seditious statements for the purpose of poisoning the public mind.

The Daily Telegraph and the other evening papers here publish a sworn declaration of Mr. Whelan denying that he ever gave any money to the members of the Mercier Government or others.

WILKES BOOTH'S TRUNKS.

They Are Said to Have Been Sold at Auction in 1864.

MONTREAL, Nov. 16.—A Montreal antiquarian, W. W. Smith, has obtained conclusive evidence that trunks found on the schooner Marie Victoria at Bic in autumn of 1864 and sold by auction in the following July were the property of J. Wilkes Booth, the assassin of President Lincoln. During that autumn several trunks marked J. B. W., New Providence, were shipped on board the schooner Marie Victoria at Quebec. How they reached Quebec or by whom shipped or where the vessel was bound for, or on what mission, is involved in mystery.

FIRED HIS LAST SHOT.

A Buffalonian Stricken With Apoplexy While Duck Shooting.

BLENHEIM, Ont., Nov. 16.—Mr. Claris his son and two or three others came here from Buffalo a few days ago to enjoy a week's duck shooting. Yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock Mr. Claris, senior, fired at some ducks. He was immediately after seized with apoplexy and fell backward in the boat. He never moved nor regained consciousness afterward, and died shortly after 12 o'clock this morning. He was superintendent of street railways in Buffalo. His son took the body home this morning.

South Ontario Petition.

WHITBY, Ont., Nov. 16.—Saturday's session of the court in the trial of the petition to unseat J. I. Davidson, M. P. for South Ontario, was taken up with argument by C. J. Holman for the respondent and D. McCarthy, Q.C., for the petitioner, on the railway phase of the case, Mr. McCarthy addressing himself chiefly to the hiring of special trains, which were paid for by Preston. At noon the court rose, announcing that a decision on the charges already in evidence would be given at an adjourned session at Osgoode Hall on Saturday, Nov. 21, 11 a.m., and thereafter at Whitby or Toronto as may be determined.

Ottawa Gossip.

OTTAWA, Nov. 16.—Hon. C. H. Tupper, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, has made a report to Messrs. Haggart, Dewdney and Foster (the three members of the Cabinet who form the committee investigating irregularities in the Civil Service) on the conduct of John Tilton, Deputy Minister of Fisheries, who is accused of wrong-doing. The Minister of Marine has been for some time investigating the matter. The report reflects on the conduct of the Deputy Minister, but as to its nature it will not be known until the committee deals with it.

IMPORTANT CAPTURE.

How an Alleged Opium Smuggler Was Run Down in New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Thomas E. Chace was committed for trial Saturday on a charge of smuggling opium across the Canadian border. Letters and telegrams were read which connected William Chace, a son of the prisoner, with the smuggling. He wrote from Montreal arranging the transaction here in which his father was tripped up by Government detectives. The telltale papers were in the prisoner's pocket when he was arrested.

When Chace was arrested 100 pounds of opium was found in his trunk, which special officers swore was made in Victoria, B.C.

May Have Been Massacred.

PARIS, Nov. 16.—A startling rumor ran through Paris yesterday. It was to the effect that M. De Brazza, who left secretly for Africa at the head of the new expedition, had been massacred. The Minister for the Colonies on being asked in regard to the report, said: "We have heard nothing." Wishing to see for himself what was going on in the unknown regions which lie between the seventh and tenth degrees north latitude and the eleventh and sixteenth degrees longitude, M. De Brazza left Banghi some time ago with 350 men intending to push as far as Lake Tchad. He was convinced he would find the murdered body of Lieut. Crampt on his route. He took the initiative of his expedition himself, and if anybody living could attain the object aimed at it is certainly De Brazza.

"The district is inhabited by murderous Arabs, fanatic foes of civilization. On leaving this region he meant to visit Baegama, where a great deal is going on, of which we knew nothing. Another explorer, Lieut. Meising, is now at Yulow, near Lake Tchad, ready to brave all risks. In his letter he writes: This is an affair of honor to me. I will die or I will raise the French flag on the shores of Lake Tchad. A third French expedition, led by Chef De Battaillon Monteil of the Marines, is also marching towards the lake. The starting point of this force was Senegal. By last reports to hand two-thirds of the journey had been accomplished."

"Have you any news of the German expedition?" enquired the correspondent.

"Yes," replied the minister, "we know that one German force is crossing the Cameroon country and making direct for Lake Tchad. It will probably meet with insuperable difficulties in the mountains. Another expedition has taken the same route as De Brazza, the Bugami route. The Germans have bought 500 slaves in Dahomey to act as escorts." "And what of Touat?"

"There is no news for the moment," said the minister. "We have confined ourselves to fortifying our Algerian outposts, and despite all contrary reports we have no intention of sending an expedition to Touat."

A Military Sensation.

PARIS, Nov. 16.—A sensation has been caused in military circles at Chalon-sur-Saone by disclosures affecting the characters of a number of officers and men belonging to the corps of the army stationed there. The disclosures were made public by the arrest of two officers and six men belonging to the Chasseur regiment in camp at Chalon-sur-Saone, who were taken into custody on charges of conduct unbecoming officers and soldiers, and subversive of the discipline of the army. These are the technical charges, but the offences of which the prisoners are accused are mostly immoral.

Bismarck Will Not Attend.

BERLIN, Nov. 16.—In connection with the approaching opening of the Reichstag, which assembles on Tuesday next, Prince Bismarck said to a friend who met him at Wurtemburg: "Tell my electors I cannot attend the Reichstag yet; moreover, there is no urgent necessity for my presence in the Reichstag at the present time."

An Historic Woman's Death.

PARIS, Nov. 16.—The Gaulois announces the death of Baroness Von Waldersee, the morganatic wife of Louis, Duke of Bavaria. She was Fraulein Mendel, and until her marriage in 1887 was one of the best known artists of the Munich comic stage. To marry her the Duke renounced his right to succession to the duchy in favor of his brother Charles.

They Played William Tell.

GRAND RAPIDS, Nov. 16.—Mrs. Adda Mainett took her seventeen-year-old son to a dime museum where one of the attractions is a William Tell act. Yesterday she playfully put a potato on her head, remarking that the boy couldn't shoot it off. He found a revolver and aiming it pulled the trigger. The revolver was not empty, the bullet lodged in the woman's neck and she will die.

Mexican Revolutionist Repulsed.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Nov. 15.—News has reached here that Revolutionist Garza, at the head of his band, attacked the Custom House at Guerrero, Mex., and was repulsed with loss of life.

In the conflict one Mexican officer was killed and another wounded. The loss on Garza's side is not definitely known. The fact is evident that the insurgents have been quietly increasing their force and now have begun an active campaign. It is further stated in a despatch received from Rio Grande City that the revolutionists are well armed and have many sympathizers among the Mexicans on this side of the border.

White Star Liner Ashore.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—The White Star line steamer Tauric left here bound for London last Saturday at 4 o'clock, with a cargo of 800 cattle on board. Four hours later she went ashore on Romer's Shoals in the lower bay. Four tugboats went to her assistance, but up to a late hour to-day she was still aground.

The Tauric is of 5750 gross tonnage and was built about one year ago at Belfast, Ireland, and cost $800,000.

Revolt in Brazil.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—The Herald's Valparaiso, Chili, cable says: News has been received here to the effect that the revolt against Fonseca in the State of Rio Grande do Sul has been so far completely successful. In a fight in which 5000 men of all arms were engaged it is reported that the Government troops under Gen. Gonzales were defeated and the insurgent cavalry started on a move toward the north. It is also reported that Governor Castilno of Rio Grande do Sul has decided to join the insurrectionary movement.

Off On Her Fifth Wedding Trip.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Nov. 16.—Frank Alex, 27 years old, was married last Thursday to Mrs. Robert Kirkpatrick, a widow of 80 summers and a bank account of $50,000. The couple have gone to Hamilton, Canada, on a wedding tour. This is the fifth bridal tour Mrs. Alex has taken.

An Old Saw Altered.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 14.—Hundreds of persons are dying daily from influenza in the famine-stricken districts and in the large towns in the South of Russia. The provincial governors complain of the insufficiency of troops in the southwest in the event of popular rising. It is reported that the Czar is displeased at Minister Vishnegradiski's financial report. The minister offered to resign, but the Czar replied, "You must eat what you have cooked."

Two Hunters Drowned by a Deer.

WIARTON, Nov. 16.—It is reported here that two of a hunting party up the peninsula were drowned in one of the small lakes. The report says that the party had chased into the lake a large deer. It was promptly shot and two of the party went with the small boat to bring it ashore, thinking he was dead. They took hold of the animal to take him into the boat when he made several desperate struggles, upsetting the boat, and before their company could reach them the two sank to rise no more.

One of the Victims Dead.

SUNDRIDGE, Ont., Nov. 16.—James Turnbull, fireman in Tookey's sash and door factory, one of the men injured by the recent boiler explosion, has since died from his injuries. Both of his legs were broken, the left leg between the knee and the ankle, and the right thigh. One of his shoes, a laced boot, had been torn off. His arms, legs and back were badly scalded, on about three-fifths of the surface of his body the skin came off. He left a young wife and four children.

Killed Her Captain and Herself.

OMAHA, Nov. 16.—Last evening Nettie Birdler, private in the Salvation Army here, shot and mortally wounded Captain Hattie Smith of the Oskaloosa, Ia., Salvation band and then put a bullet into her own brain, dying instantly. Jealousy is supposed to have been the cause of the tragedy.

Trying to Induce Rain.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—A despatch from India tells of a number of private experiments in that country with dynamite explosions made with a view to induce rain. The despatch states that dynamite was exploded on the hills of Madras at an altitude of 500 feet and that the explosives produced smart showers over an area four or five miles square. It is also stated that the Government will probably cause the making of systematic trials to arrest clouds before they pass over to the sea.

An Italian Wreck.

ROME, Nov. 16.—A fast train bound from Rome for Turin collided Saturday with an ordinary passenger train from Genoa for this city. The scene of the accident was at the Galera station. The trains crashed together with terrific violence, causing a wreck that blocked the line for hours. Three persons were killed and seven injured.

J. J. SHEEHY'S

SECOND ANNOUNCEMENT.

On the first of October, I, having just concluded my sixth year in Business, felt desirous of stating to my many Customers and the Public Generally, just what my experience had been. I endeavoured to do so in such a manner as to convince those who read advertisements, (and their name is legion) that what I said I meant. I refrained from Wild Statements, Quoting of Prices, and the Specifying of Extraordinary Values, or the Hundred-and-one Stereotyped Methods that are indulged in by Advertisers as a rule, but at once Got Down to Facts, and will endeavour to follow out that Principle, as I consider that the growth of my Business is, in itself, the biggest guarantee that the people are satisfied, that, when they buy goods from J. J. SHEEHY, they get Right Goods and that the Prices are also right.

The Month of October, notwithstanding the Mild Weather has been a Great Success so far. And the 5 Per Cent Discount which has just Seven Days More to Run, is evidently making itself felt. If you require any Fall and Winter Dry Goods, come in and examine our stock, and if we have not what you want, then it is a line, either unknown to the trade or at least has not yet reached Peterborough. I might just say in conclusion that I have closed the purchase of over 200 PAIRS OF WHITE WOOL BLANKETS.

The weights range from 5 to 9 pounds. As to the value, I will not say anything, but cordially invite your inspection, firmly believing that the Prices will speak for themselves.

Don't forget the 5 Per Cent. Discount off every purchase of, or over, ONE DOLLAR, during the Month of October. Yours respectfuly,

J. J. SHEEHY.

ANOTHER HALLELUJAH WEDDING IN TORONTO.

Died from Poisoning—A St. George Man Killed in a Wreck in British Columbia —A French Absconding Banker Traced to Montreal.

TORONTO, Nov. 17.—In the presence of several thousand people Ensign James Woodgate was last evening married to Captain Elizabeth Wilson. A peculiarity of the wedding was that bride and bridegroom, Commissioner Rees, who performed the ceremony, and Brigadier Holland, who assisted, had each been connected with the Salvation Army at Stockport, Lancashire, Eng. The newly-married pair are to be stationed at London, Ont.

SHE IS A "SLEEPING WOMAN."

Mrs. Grapin of St. Jerome, Can., Has Cataleptic Fits for Days at a Time.

MONTREAL, Nov. 17.—The husband of Mathilde Grapin, a French-Canadian of St. Jerome, 53 years old, died suddenly last April and she nearly lost her reason. A day or two after the funeral she disappeared. She returned the next evening and said that she had been at her husband's grave and that while there she had been overpowered by a heavy sleep.

On Oct. 6 she left her house for church and did not return. Thirty-five days passed. A farmer named Morand then discovered her, delirious and with her hands and feet gangrened, lying on the ground.

It is supposed that she was attacked by a succession of cataleptic fits which lasted the 35 days. She had several similar attacks while she was a child. The story is vouched for by J. B. Rolland. Dr. Faucher corroborates it and says he will be surprised if she recovers.

A Fight With Opium Smugglers.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Nov. 17.—Yesterday Customs Inspector Lewis saw two white parleying in a suspicious manner with Chinese on the steamer Empress of Japan. Suspecting opium smuggling, he attempted to investigate. The whites ran and the Chinese attacked the officer and beat him until he was unconscious. Later he identified two of his assailants, and Chief McLaren and two constables went to the ship with warrants for the men. On attempting to capture them the entire Chinese crew surrounded the officers, armed with knives, hatchets, etc., and a fight seemed imminent. The police retreated to the hurricane deck, and finally gave up the attempt on the promise that the men would be produced in the police court on Monday.

Four Drowned, Eleven Steal the Long Boat, Seven Saved by a Wave.

VICTORIA, B.C., Nov. 17.—The British ship Sarah went on the rocks at Carmanah Point last Sunday night in a fog and was soon dashed to pieces. Four sailors were drowned, being washed off the deck by great waves. For two nights the survivors were huddled up in the pilot-house on a piece of the deck remaining.

Ten men and the second mate succeeded after laborious effort in launching the long boat. Then, disregarding all pleas for help, they deserted the ship, leaving the captain, his wife, the first officer and four men to their fate.

These were miraculously saved the next day by an enormous wave catching the piece of the wreck and washing it 40 yards into shore.

The ten mutineers were saved by a tugboat.

Killed in British Columbia.

VANCOUVER, Nov. 17.—A special freight train, western bound, struck a rock slide at Farr's tunnel, about three miles beyond Harrison, the engine upsetting Alfred Grant, who was riding in the cab, and was thrown into the Fraser River and drowned. The body was not recovered. Mr. Grant came to British Columbia from St. George, Ont. His wife died about a year ago, leaving an infant son.

Has a Sister in Guelph.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Nov. 17.—A man named George Fisher died suddenly at the Regina Hotel on Saturday morning. He had been drinking heavily for some days past. He came to Vancouver about three weeks ago from Winnipeg, where he worked as a baker. He has a married sister near Guelph, Ont.

Prize for Canadian Jumpers.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—The seventh annual horse show began in Madison square Gardens to-day. There was a big crowd out to see the judging of the thoroughbreds, Arabs and hackneys.

The show was formally opened at mid day. A feature in the opening hour was the grand parade of nearly a thousand head of horses ranging from Shetland ponies to gigantic Clydesdales.

During afternoon and night there was leaping by hunters and high jumping by some of the best and most showy hurdlers in America.

A special prize to a Canadian bred black cob mare, 5 years old, 15 hands high, and extremely handsome, [illegible] yesterday presented a picture, offered by W. D. Grand of Toronto, for the best Canadian bred horse, to be ridden over the regular jumps by men riders. Among the judges is Dr. Andrew Smith of Toronto.

UNITED STATES NEWS.

A CANADIAN GIRL'S SAD DEATH IN THE WEST.

Rode the Goat Too Hard—The Disappearance of a Canadian Bookkeeper From Chicago Creates Intense Excitement—Murderer Almy Pleads Guilty.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 17.—The coroner spent some time yesterday in investigating a rather sensational death which occurred in the lodging-house at 225 Washington-avenue south. A young woman, apparently not more than 25 years of age, died yesterday morning, and the indications are that death resulted from abortion. The woman, whose name is said to have been Mary Batcheder, came here two months ago and until recently lived in Ninth-avenue south. It looks very much as if the fatal operation was performed by professional hands. Deceased was rather a good-looking woman. She came from Canada, where her parents, who are said to be quite wealthy, now live.

MISSOURI'S STRANGE HERMIT.

Retired From the World, He Watches It With Interest.

KEOKUK, Ia., Nov. 17.—A short distance west of Alexandria, Schuyler County, Mo., lives a man between 50 and 60 years old, who has been leading the life of a hermit for 30 years. His refuge—it can scarcely be called a home—is in a cave under a large rock in the side of a steep hill. Here he passes the time in solitude, his only companions being books, papers and periodicals, with which, in some manner which he will not divulge, he keeps himself plentifully supplied.

His cave has the appearance of a cosy and comfortable room. It is neatly furnished. Around its sides shelves are built, upon which are piled many of the best works of the most noted authors. This strange genius refuses to divulge his name or talk of his past history further than to say that his family was one of wealth, prominence and influence in a Southern State prior to the war and that his father served with distinction as an officer on the Confederate side. He shows by his conversation that he is a man of education and refinement. He is unusually well posted concerning current events, and for a recluse appears to take great interest in the affairs of the world from which he has withdrawn.

When pressed as to why he adopted such a mode of living he denied that the step was taken because of any disappointment in love, failure in business or ingratitude of friends or relatives. It is thought by some of the people in the vicinity with whom the recluse has talked that some incident in connection with the breaking out of the war was responsible for the life of solitude which he has so long led. The cave in which the hermit resides is at the end of a long and narrow path, quite remote from any traveled highway.

JUST LIKE E. ARDEN.

George Cundiff Comes Back, Finds His Wife Married, Goes Away.

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M., Nov. 17.—George Cundiff left his wife and two children in Joplin, Mo., 18 years ago and came west to make his fortune in the mines. The wife soon afterwards moved to Kansas City, and as the husband neglected to write she lost all trace of him and gave him up for dead. Three years ago she married I. D. Winny, and is now residing in this city.

Cundiff wandered into the San Luis country and made a fortune in mines and ranches. Three months ago he determined to find his family, and getting a clue of them in Kansas City he followed them to Salt Lake City, Denver and several other cities, and finally located his son in this city.

On coming here he for the first time learned of his wife's marriage, and after a short visit he returned to his home, deciding not to molest his wife and her present husband.

CAN EAT ALL THE TIME.

Insatiable Appetite of a Young Woman the Curse of a Tramp.

NORTH PLAIN, Colo., Nov. 17.—The peculiar case of Miss Julia Hepburn, aged 25, who resides near here, is attracting the attention of local physicians. She has become possessed with a mania for eating, and the amount of food she daily devours is astonishing. She has to be fed every hour of the 24 and her appetite is growing. She seems to enjoy perfect health physically, but she has become very nervous.

Her physicians think she is suffering from a nervous affection of the stomach and suggested that she be fed until she was glutted and that she be forced to take food until she turns sick. This was tried, but she ate all placed before her without signs of distress until the physicians gave up the treatment in despair.

Miss Hepburn, who is of a religious turn of mind, believes that she is suffering from a curse.

Last September she turned a tramp away from the door of her father's house one morning, refusing to give him food. In departing the tramp told the young woman that God would curse her for her treatment of him. These words preyed upon her mind so that she reported the tramp's words to her parents, who laughed at her, but she grew moody over the matter, and about six weeks ago the voracious appetite came upon her.

Too Much Skit-a-wau-boo.

SAULT STE MARIE, Nov. 17.—A deaf and dumb Indian from the Canadian side was preparing to leave Anthony's upper dock at Detour in his sailboat for home, when he made a misstep and fell overboard and was drowned before aid reached him. He was known as "Dummy." The indirect cause of his death was too much Detour skit-a-wau-boo.

Death Roll of a Day.

Rev. Canon Macnab, D.D., rector of St. John's Church, Bowmanville, died Sunday, aged 80 years.

Rev. Zachariah Eddy, the well-known Congregationalist, died at Detroit Sunday afternoon, aged 67 years.

John Ferguson, registrar of deeds for Pictou County, N.S., for over 30 years, died suddenly yesterday. He was in church Sunday.

John Gamble Geddes, dean for the Niagara district, died at Hamilton yesterday. The rev. gentleman has been ill with pneumonia for the past three weeks, but his death was unexpected, as it was thought he was gaining strength. He was 81 years of age, was pastor of Christ Church Cathedral for over 30 years and had resided in Hamilton for over 40 years.

An old servant of the Dominion Government in the person of Edward Storr, late curator of the House of Commons reading room, is dead. Mr. Storr was suddenly prostrated whilst at work during last session and was never afterwards able to resume his duties. He was 72 years old, had been 40 years in the employ of the Government, was a prominent Freemason and an earnest temperance advocate, holding office in the Grand Division Sons of Temperance.

BRITISH AND FOREIGN.

CLEVER DETECTIVE WORK BY PARIS POLICE.

Tim Healy Protects Himself Against Assailants—The Peace Congress—Deficit in the German Budget—Mr. Gorst's Successor.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The police throughout the country have had a lesson in the case of Vaucourt, who beheaded his friend in Paris and hid the headless remains in a cellar in the Rue du Charbonne. Although they did not have the slightest clue to go upon, the detectives not only found the head but the murderer and extorted a confession from him within 50 hours of the discovery of the crime.

This was accomplished, namely, by the aid of Berthillon's anthropometrical system. The measurements were applied to the headless body and they showed it was that of Boudry, an old criminal. Then they found Boudry was a "pal" of Vaucourt and that he lodged in the house in which the body was found.

Berthillon's measurements also [illegible] that Vaucourt was a criminal, and [illegible] accordingly put through a severe examination, with the result of eventually terrifying him into a confession. This is, on all sides, regarded as being the most remarkable work of recent years. It will, of course, furnish a great argument in favor of the anthropometrical system.

CHERRY RIPE.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—The sensational story cabled to America concerning a young woman, Blanche Barrett, who has become somewhat famous from having been the original model for Millais' well-known picture of "Cherry Ripe," proves upon investigation to be simply and purely a sensation, and has no foundation for the prominence that was given it.

Miss Barrett went to visit her aunt, living at Fulham, and her mother, becoming alarmed at her failure to return the same evening, reported the matter to the police. This happened on the 4th inst., and on the next day the young woman returned to her mother.

The cablegram referred to stated that "the police of London and the Continent have been investigating since Sept. 28 the mysterious disappearance of a beautiful young girl known as 'Cherry Ripe,' from the fact that she sat for Millais' celebrated picture of that name. Her real name is Blanche Barrett. It is reported that the girl has been abducted and taken to the United States, and that the New York police have been asked to investigate."

NOSE BITERS PUNISHED.

An Asiatic Practice Upon Which Judges Have Declared War.

BOMBAY, Nov. 17.—The local judges have resolved to put down the cruel practice of nose biting, which is so often had recourse to by outraged husbands on their defenceless wives. In the country not long ago a man was sentenced to two years' imprisonment by the Chief Magistrate of the Presidency.

The judges of the High Court have reviewed this judgment and recorded their opinion that nose biting is such a fiendish act that the magistrates have committed the accused to prison for a longer term.

A Female Abortionist and Her Numerous Victims in France.

PARIS, Nov. 17.—The trial opened at Batignolles yesterday of Mme. Thomas, an abortionist, and 53 women who have submitted to criminal operations at her hands. Mme. Thomas has carried on her infamous business for 23 years. Since the arrest of Mme. Thomas the police have succeeded in tracking many of her former clients, chiefly among the working classes, including shopwomen, workmen's wives and domestics. Several deaths have also been traced to her criminal work. The prisoners filled three benches in the court. The trial will last two weeks.

Francis Joseph's Presage of War.

VIENNA, Nov. 17.—The panic on the Vienna boerse Saturday was in consequence of a remark made by the Emperor of Austria to the Polish leader, Herr Kalewski.

"The famine in Russia," said the Emperor, "increases the chances of war."

This expression of opinion ran like wildfire through Vienna, and was being telegraphed from 2 to 6 o'clock at night everywhere. But by 6 o'clock there was an official denial of the assertion and an embargo was laid on all despatches containing the remark.

It has transpired, however, that the Emperor did make the remark.

Saturday's panic in Vienna was the greatest that has occurred there since the great collapse of 1873. Distracted brokers were continually rung up by telephone and ordered to sell at any price. Telegrams to the same effect poured into the boerse as fast as messengers could carry them, and hundreds of persons frantically hastened to the boerse in cabs, panting with impatience to throw valuable securities on the market at any sacrifice.

Pickering, Take Notice!

DUBLIN, Nov. 17.—Mrs. Boyle, who lived in the outskirts of Stewartstown, died suddenly. A coroner summoned a jury and went to the house, accompanied by a few policemen. The officials found Mr. Boyle, the husband, standing guard, armed with a shotgun and supported by his three sons, who had pitchforks and other weapons. The Boyles refused entrance to the house, and when the coroner attempted to force in Boyle fired. The posse withdrew hurriedly and the Boyles barricaded the house in anticipation of an attack.

A Uniform Piano Pitch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The piano manufacturers of New York at a meeting to-day adopted a national pitch to go into effect July 1, 1892. It is the standard French, Austrian and Italian pitch of 435. A double vibration in a second of time 68 degrees Fahrenheit. All manufacturers agreed to tune their musical instruments of whatever nature accordingly. Piano manufacturers all over the country have been waiting for the New York men to take this step.

Two thousand forks are on their way from Europe and will be distributed throughout the country for use. The new pitch is 17 vibrations lower than that which is now in use in this city.

Tickets Will Be Cheaper.

HAMILTON, Nov. 7.—On Monday, Nov. 16, several changes will go into effect in the street railway service. Tickets good for two hours in the morning from 6.30, two hours at noon and one hour at night will be sold eight for 25 cents.

Mr. Abbott and Immigration.

The announcement that Mr. Abbott is about to "initiate a vigorous immigration policy" was to have been expected after the census returns. Population is the great desideratum. We have swept and garnished our house and made it ready for the reception of millions. Apart from other public works, the Dominion and Provincial governments have spent $165,000,000 in encouraging the construction of railways and the municipalities $14,000,000. Over ten millions more have been promised, bringing the total to no less than $190,000,000—all borrowed money. In addition, 45,000,000 acres of land, equal in area to twice the inhabited portion of Ontario, have been voted to the Canadian Pacific and other lines in the North-West. No other five millions in the world ever applied artificial stimulants in such heroic doses. The ten years since 1881 have witnessed the doubling of the mileage in the Dominion; in 1881 there were 7,260 miles of railway, in 1890, 13,256. The nominal capital, including the Government and municipal grants, of the railways is close on $800,000,000 and the net earnings less than $14,000,000, so that the investor is not making a fortune. Large blocks of stock do not yield a penny. It was stated at the Grand Trunk meeting in London the other day that £33,600,000 stg. of British capital in that road pays no return whatever. The intercolonial system, owned and operated by the Dominion Government, has cost over $50,000,000 and does not pay running expenses. Owing to the bleakness of the regions which they traverse some of the railroads are never likely to serve the purpose of attracting settlers. No immigrant in his senses would take up land along the International between River du Loup and Moncton, and for a thousand miles along the Canadian Pacific between the Ottawa River and Winnipeg there is nothing but rock and muskeg. Yet with these and other drawbacks, a whole empire of good land awaits the plough. The climate is healthful. Our institutions are liberal and free. The settler is no longer isolated from the markets of the world. Schools abound, with the other appliances of civilization. How is it, then, that we have failed so lamentably to advance in population?

* * * * * *

The Northwest is the region where the majority of our immigrants are supposed to settle. Would they not be benefitted by having free access to the markets immediately to the south? Their barley potatoes, hard wheat, fish, etc., would certainly lose nothing in value. Continental free trade would likewise give them railway competition. At present, the Canadian Pacific, in order to obtain freight from and to Dakota and Minnesota, is obliged to discriminate in its rates against Winnipeg and in favor of Minneapolis and St. Paul. The rates in force to-day are these:—Wheat and flour by the Canadian Pacific from Minneapolis to tide-water at Boston, 24 cents per 60 pounds; to tide-water at New York, 21 cents. Wheat and flour from Winnipeg by the Canadian Pacific to tide-water at either of those ports, 32 cents per 60 pounds. Halifax and St. John are the winter ports of the Dominion, but the rate from Winnipeg to them is 38 cents. Conversely, our national highway is compelled by the exigencies of the case to discriminate against Winnipeg in its rates from tide-water. The rate for Class 1, which embraces certain dry goods, from New York or Boston by the Canadian Pacific to Minneapolis is $1.07 per 100 pounds and to Winnipeg $1.83. The rates for other classes of merchandise are in the same proportion. The rates from Halifax or St. John to Winnipeg, are, of course, much higher. These figures demonstrate perhaps better than anything else that our expenditure on the Canadian Pacific is in reality serving to build up the ports of New York and Boston and the cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul, that is to say, the Atlantic States and the Northwestern States, rather than our own country. It is not fair to blame Mr. Van Horne. The responsibility rests upon ourselves in having isolated the Dominion from the commercial and industrial life of the rest of the continent. Will Mr. Abbott be good enough to tell us how we are going to people the plains under such harsh conditions? Let him not chime in with the shallow cry that to state these naked facts is to "run down the country." The facts do the running down. Our sole object is to get rid of such an ugly situation and obtain fair play for Canada, that we and our children may have a chance to profit in some degree by the stupendous outlays under which the community is staggering.—Globe.

An Oracular Opinion.

The London Oracle, a financial paper, of November 2, contains some angry remarks by "a gentleman well informed on Canadian topics," on the failure of the efforts of the Dominion Government to establish a fast Atlantic steamship service. He is undoubtedly well informed for he has our deplorable census at his fingers' ends and knows all about the costly vote-catching efforts of Tupper and others in times past. The point he makes is that Canada cannot expect to get a first-class service for $750,000 a year. "What," he asks, "is such a subsidy for boats like the Teutonic, which will earn £20,000 on the round voyage to New York and return, principally in passage money? In Canada she would not earn £5,000. In addition to these large earnings the fast steamers from Liverpool to New York receive from the British Government alone nearly £100,000 per annum for the mail service, and this independently of what they get from the American Government for bringing the mails home again." He complains also that it is absurd to ask a fast service to call at French ports and make the long river passage to Montreal; "a fast service must be direct or it is not fast." He then goes off into an indictment of the N.P., which, he says, is killing agriculture in Canada and reducing the exports from Britain. These "are less now than they were five and twenty years ago," which is hardly true. It is true, however, that our imports from Britain have greatly declined since 1873. They amounted to $68,500,000 (for actual consumption in Canada) in that year whilst in 1890 they came to only $43,400,000. This Englishman entertains a poor opinion of Canadian politicians as well as of the condition of the country, but his observations on the steamship question seem to be sound.

Many women suffer in silence from troubles peculiar to their sex rather than consult a physician. Let them try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and they will no longer feel life a burden. dw

A Narrow Escape.

The Circumstances Create a Profound Impression—A County Official's Story.

"Every word of it is true," said Mr. ——, a county official, living not one hundred miles from the flourishing town of Peterborough, Ont. "I know that many have heard of the circumstances, and have naturally been deeply impressed with the facts. It is no wonder they should be, for I can assure you the call was a close one. As you have heard something of my case, you are surely convinced of the truth of it; if you are not, let me refer you to my physician and several friends who visited me regularly."

"Did your physician thoroughly understand your condition?" "Yes, quite well. He was aware that extreme nervousness and muscular rheumatism were wearing my life away. He tried many forms of treatment without any good results. He declared my case hopeless; he told me to prepare for the worst. Like a drowning man grasping at straws, I determined to make another bid for life, and decided to try Paine's Celery Compound—and you see the result. You can tell your readers that a man of 52 years of age, once at the gates of death, has been rescued, and is now hale, strong, energetic, and sleeps and eats as naturally as a healthy child. Paine's Celery Compound was my life preserver and rescuer, and God speed the day when all the suffering and diseased can be brought to recognize its great value."

How to save money is a problem that interests everybody. One way to do it is to invigorate the system with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Being a highly concentrated blood medicine, it is the most powerful and economical. It is sold for a dollar a bottle, but worth five. dw

Slow Burning Construction.

The wisom of constructing large buildings, such as factories, warehouses and the like, upon the slow burning plan rather than upon the no-burning or theoretically fire proof plan, has lately received fresh attention and awakened new inquiry on account of the burning a few weeks since of the immense Mansur-Tebbetts warehouse in the city of St. Louis. The merit of the slow-burning building consists in its ability to so resist the fire that ample time may be given for its extinguishment, always presuming the existence of an efficient fire department, before serious destruction takes place. Solid wooden posts, floors and ceilings of solid four-inch dressed plank, solid three-inch plank partitions plastered solidly on either side, in a brick building with the several floors properly isolated, will, of course, burn if filled with enough blazing contents, but they will burn very slowly, and when extinguished leave less damage to the building, it is claimed, than the same fire as to extent and duration in a "fire-proof" building constructed mainly of stone and iron.

Women Wanted!

Between the ages of fifteen and forty-five. Must have pale, sallow complexions, no appetite and be hardly able to get about. All answering this description will please apply for a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription; take it regularly, according to directions, and then note the generally improved condition. By a thorough course of self-treatment with this valuable remedy, the extreme cases of nervous prostration and debility peculiar to women, are radically cured. A written guarantee to this end accompanies every bottle. b

A Cure for Constipation and Headache.

Dr. Silas Lane while in the Rocky Mountains, discovered a root that when combined with other herbs, makes an easy and certain cure for constipation. It is in the form of dry roots and herbs, and is known as Lane's Family Medicine. It will cure sick headache, and is the best spring medicine. For the blood, liver and kidneys, and for clearing up the complexion it does wonders. Druggists sell it at 50c. and $1 a package. dw

A Popular Physician.

The popular physician is unassuming, pleasant and successful in treating disease. Such an one is Burdock Blood Bitters—unassuming—only a dollar per bottle — pleasant, agreeable in taste—successful in nine cases out of ten. In truth it may be said B.B.B. is the popular physician to the people, a tried and trusty friend in all diseases of the stomach, liver, bowels and blood. dw

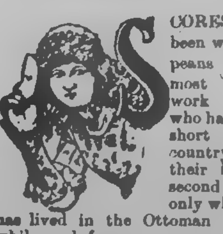
A GLIMPSE OF TURKEY.

THE SULTAN'S ARMY, HIS HAREM AND HIS PEOPLE.

Society in Turkey—Aristocratic Democracy—The Turkish Army, the Diplomats and Judges—The Sultan Himself His Character and Manner of Life.

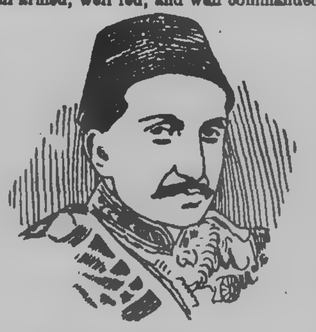


SCORES of books have been written by Europeans about Turkey, most of them the work of travellers who have spent but a short time in the country, and gathered their information at second hand. It is only when a European has lived in the Ottoman empire a long while, and for one reason or another has been brought into contact with all classes of society, that what he has to say about the Turks is of any value. One of the latest publications of this kind is a study on official Turkey by a French Physician, Dr. Paul Desjardin, who created the first hydropathic establishment of Cadi-Keuy, on the Asiatic shore.

Although Turkish society is essentially democratic, it presents a great many contrasts. Aristocracy of family, such as Europeans understand it, does not exist in Turkey; even the patronymic name is unknown, and it is rare that a grandchild knows or has the recollection of a grandfather. The son of a Cabinet Minister, inheriting neither the grade nor the title of his father, can just as well be a boatman as an ambassador. The Turks have, consequently, neither old families nor a noble aristocracy. The Sultan awards grades in a civil and military hierarchy, and that is all.

The old lineage, with its complete list of decendants, exists only in the imperial family, founded by the celebrated Osman, son of the Osmanlis. Hierarchically the nation is divided into four distinct classes: The mollahs or ulemas, interpreters of the religious law; the army; the functionaries; and persons having purely honorary titles. The ulemas are composed of the students and professors, the members of the high-teaching class, and persons invested with the dignity of mollahs of the holy cities. At the summit of this sacredotal hierarchy is the Sheik-ul-Islam.

The army is recruited by conscription and is composed only of Mussulmen. The active force can, in time of peace, amount to 500,000 men. The reserve is equally strong in number, while the territorial army counts, upon paper, for another million. Making due allowance for all sorts of difficulties, Turkey could probably put into the field 700,000 men, and if this force were well armed, well fed, and well commanded, it could make a valiant stand against any one of the leading European armies. But the Turkish army, being composed only of Mussulmen, cannot be easily renewed, and if its special composition constitutes its strength in a short struggle, it becomes a cause of inferiority when the war is of long duration.



THE SULTAN ABUL HAMID.

THE SULTAN.

Overtopping all functionaries is the Commander of the Faithful, his Majesty Abdul-Hamid-Khan II, who is now in his 48th year. He succeeded his brother, Mourad V., dethroned in 1876. Physically Abdu-Hamid resembles neither his father, Abdul-Medzid, nor his uncle, Abdul-Azis. He is not so tall or slender as his father, and is of the Armeno-Arab rather than of the Turkish type. His mother was a Georgian. The Sultan's general appearance is characterized by a sort of tired dignity, mingled with an expression of melancholic sadness, which is not without charm. His black beard, now slightly tinged with gray, is short, thick, and trimmed almost to a point. The forehead is broad, slightly bulged above the eyebrows, hollow at the temples, and wrinkled all over. The lines running down to the base of the nose, which indicate profound and meditative thought, are accentuated. The eye is dark gray, large, well formed, pensive, slightly veiled, penetrating, kindly, very changeable and anxious; it is deepest in its orbit, although the ocular globe is prominent. The eyelids, with their thick lashes are always more or less stumped. The eye is that of a thinker, of a suspicious meditator, with a subjective will power. The nose is long and thin at its base, bony and strong at the nostrils. The mouth is large, and the teeth, rather yellow than white, are widely separated. The lower lip is stronger and thicker than the upper one. The expression is energetic and reveals a mixture of pronounced sensualism and real kindness. The Sultan's hair is black and cut short. The skull recedes towards the top; the little brain is strongly marked. The ears are long and vigorously cut. The complexion is a darkish brown. The hands are fine and nervous; the finger nails rosy and cut short. The feet are arched and slender. Abdul-Hamid's voice is sympathetic and sonorous. He speaks lower than his subjects, and smiles but little in the presence of strangers. He has an excellent memory for faces, but recalls names with difficulty.

THE IMPERIAL RESIDENCE.

The Sultan inhabits the Yeldiz palace, situated upon a hill in the centre of a large park of nearly 300 acres and overlooking the Bosphorus. The private residence is called the Haremlick, and is separated from the Selmalick, or apartments reserved for official and private receptions of his Majesty. The Haremlick is composed of several sumptuous kiosks, in the construction of which nothing has been spared.

The Sultan's household is composed of a host of functionaries from the Grand Marshal of the Palace down to the clowns, actors and singers who amuse and entertain his Majesty. The Grand Eunuch has the rank of marshal, and is, with the Grand Vizier, the only representative of the Sultan having the title of highness. It is to this illustrious seigneur that is confided the guardianship of the door of the imperial harem. All these illustrious functionaries inhabit the Yeldiz palace or live in the kiosks in the imperial park. The annual cost of maintaining the 4,000 persons who form the Sultan's household is not far from $30,000,000.

THE IMPERIAL HAREM.

The imperial harem has always been an institution completely distinct from the social body of which it seems to be the keystone. To perpetuate the race of Osman the imperial harem is peopled with slaves brought from foreign lands and having no relations with the nation. The sovereigns, thus isolated from everybody, forms, with the people about him, a special society, having its own life aloof from exterior influences. The feminine element has at his head the Sultan's mother, and when she is dead it is the foster mother who occupies the post. The mother exercises considerable influence, not only over all the women of the harem but also over her son. The Turks have, in fact, a very profound respect for their mothers. This respect which amounts to a real love, is also shown to the foster mother. The title is never lost. Thus, the foster mothers take rank, as well as their sons and daughters, in the families of those whom they have nursed. The Sultan's mother is the supreme head in the hierarchy of the harem, and has the right of life and death over all the women under her orders. Immediately after her comes the Grand Mistress of the Treasury; next the Bache-Kadine, or first wife of the Sultan; then the second, third and fourth kadines; afterward the Bache-Ikbal, or first favorite of his Majesty; then the second, third, fourth, etc., ikbals; next in rank are the guieuzdes, or young slaves, whom the Sultan has distinguished by a glance or a word, who are waiting to pass to the dignity of favorite; then comes the Kadines-effendis, or mothers of imperial princes or princesses; finally the sultanas or unmarried princesses of the blood. Each one of these women has a special household, which is called a daira, or court, and consists of a dozen great ladies, all having the title of kalfas, or mistresses. Each one of the kalfas has from six to ten young pupils, so that the court of the first wife of the Sultan, to cite one example, has more than seventy-five women. The other dairas are only a little less important in the number of their women. There are about twenty of these courts, and their attendants count at least 800 women, nearly all young and pretty, and all waiting for the moment when the whim of their master will enable them to scale the hierarchical ladder conducting to the possession of his favors.

The harem is not, as might be supposed, a community. It is a union of small, distinct states, each one having its administration and forming a confederation under the all-powerful direction of the Sultan's mother. There is quite a ceremonial for everything relating to this grand mistress of the harem. No one can call upon her without first having made the request or received an invitation. It is not permitted to sit in her presence; the person received must remain standing, the hands crossed upon the breast, the head more or less inclined, and thus wait until the august personage deigns to ask a question or authorizes the caller to speak. Every reply must be accompanied by a profound reverence and by the sacramental words: "Yes, our lady!" or "No, our lady!" All visitors are obliged to wear full dress, and even the first favorite of the Sultan would not venture to call upon the sovereign's mother except in a low-neck toilet such as is worn at European courts.

Among her privileges the most envied is her right to remain near the Sultan when he goes into the harem and her duty of conducting to the monarch's chamber the favorite whom he selects at the time of his visit. This ceremony is a very curious one. The young person distinguished by the Commander of the Faithful is introduced by the Hasnadar Ousta, decked out in her most brilliant attire and wearing her most voluptuous smile. She is introduced into the nuptial chamber where the master has already preceded her, she bows profoundly before him, and remains with her arms crossed upon her breast, awaiting His Majesty's pleasure. Then the Hasnadar Ousta retires, leaving the "lion" and the "gazelle" together. The young woman, whether she be a simple slave or not, passes to the rank of favorite and may become a Kadine or the mother of a future Sultan.

The kadines are not, properly speaking, legitimate wives united to the sovereign by the laws and ceremony of marriage. In reality, the Ottoman rulers have never had any legitimate wives such as are prescribed by the Koran. As vicars and successors of the Prophet they have always dispensed with the marriage contracts, witnesses and other legal forms of Mussulman theology. A legal marriage not existing, a divorce is by this fact rendered impossible. On the other hand, the custom of the Ottoman Court does not allow marriage between a simple mortal and a woman who has been the wife of the Padischah. It is in this absolute principle that lies the difference between the women who have been favorites and those who are called kadines. The kadines have a more permanent situation at the palace than the other women; they are sure of remaining there throughout the reign. Even after the death of their master they continue to have the prestige which renders their person sacred and forbids them to contract a new alliance. They are then transferred to apartments in the old palace, where they end their days rather sadly. In their new existence they are strictly watched, and are only allowed to go outside the palace when it is absolutely necessary. While their master was living they were submissive to his jealousy; after his death they remain faithful to his memory and obedient to his successor, whose duty it is to watch over the conduct of his predecessor's widows. Under the weight of this double jealousy their existence is spent in a seclusion all the more severe according to their youth and their beauty. They reconquer a little freedom only at the age of 50. At that epoch of their life the reigning Sultan sometimes gives them one of his kiosks and allows them to live as they please.

The kadines who become mothers are not obliged to undergo this seclusion. They continue to live at the palace with their arslanun, or little lion. Naturally they are carefully and constantly watched. The existence of the kadines during the life of their master is not so monotonous as might be supposed; they are allowed to go out frequently, and occasionally obtain permission from the Sultan's mother to spend a few days in one of the imperial kiosks on the Bosporus, where they amuse themselves by receiving their friends.

The Lady Godiva must have had exceptionally long hair since it completely concealed her lovely person. Since Ayer's Hair Vigor come into use such examples are not as rare as formerly. It not only promotes the growth of the hair, but gives it a rich, silken texture. dw

WHY COUGH,

WHEN a few doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral will relieve you? Try it. Keep it in the house. You are liable to have a cough at any time, and no other remedy is so effective as this world-renowned preparation. No household, with young children, should be without it. Scores of lives are saved every year by its timely use

Amanda B. Jenner, Northampton, Mass., writes: "Common gratitude impels me to acknowledge the great benefits I have derived for my children from the use of Ayer's most excellent Cherry Pectoral. I had lost two dear children from croup and consumption, and had the greatest fear of losing my only remaining daughter and son, as they were delicate. Happily, I find that by giving them Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, on the first symptoms of throat or lung trouble, they are relieved from danger, and are becoming robust, healthy children."

"In the winter of 1885 I took a bad cold which, in spite of every known remedy, grew worse, so that the family physician considered me incurable, supposing me to be in consumption. As a last resort I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and, in a short time, the cure was complete. Since then I have never been without this medicine. I am fifty years o' age, weigh over 180 pounds, and attribute my good health to the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral."—G.W.Youker, Salem, N. J.

"Last winter I contracted a severe cold, which by repeated exposure, became quite obstinate. I was much troubled with hoarseness and bronchial irritation. After trying various medicines, without relief, I at last purchased a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. On taking this medicine, my cough ceased almost immediately, and I have been well ever since."—Rev. Thos. B. Russell, Secretary Holston Conference and P. E. of the Greenville District, M. E. A WEEK AGO

"THE STAR" made the largest purchase of Overcoats ever made at one time in the history of the Clothing Trade—Over TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS' WORTH—the entire magnificent stock of one of the largest manufacturers of Fine Clothing in Canada. The owners of the goods were in Desperate Need of Ready Cash. We had it, and we got the stock AT OUR OWN PRICE. We placed about half our purchase on sale Monday morning, and to-day we place the balance of the stock on our tables. The last shipment included the Finest Goods. The first lots are all sold, and such scenes of excitement as have transpired during this sale never before occurred in a clothing store.

Customers stood in open-mouthed wonder at the wonderful values given. Many persons bought two and three Coats on account of their wonderful cheapness. Small Merchants have eagerly bought all we would sell them, our prices are so much lower than they could buy the same goods at wholesale.

The Overcoats are Simply Elegant, made of the Richest and Finest Fabrics and in the most "Correct" Style. "Schnabel's" Chinchillas and Beavers; "Carr's" Meltons, Eredon Kerseys, Fine Fancy Overcoatings and Shetlands, intended for Merchant Tailor's use. Many were intended to Wholesale at $15, $18 and $20. Dr. Davies will give an evening concert on Thursday, the 25th, at which he will be assisted by his pupils and the St. Cecilia Society, of which Dr. Davies is director. A novel feature at this concert will be the performance of Romberg's Toy Symphony in its entirety by a juvenile orchestra composed of about thirty young ladies and gentlemen.

Edison Athletic Club.

The members of the Edison Amateur Athletic Association Club are determined to see that the management of their rooms shall be conducted with the strictest regard to respectability and moral considerations. Such a determination will not only conduce to the enjoyment of the members, but will also win the approval of all right thinking citizens. At a general meeting of the club held on Monday evening it was unanimously resolved that lads under 18 years of age be excluded from the club. It was also decided that the club rooms should be closed during the regular hours of divine service on Sundays, and that on no account would games of any description be allowed in the rooms on the Sabbath day.

Night School.

A night school has been organized in connection with the Catholic Association, which school will be open only to those who are prevented by any reason from attending school during the day, but this includes any person, say, apprentice or mechanic, who is desirous of improving his education. The teaching staff consists at present of Mr. A. McCallum, teacher of freehand drawing, and Mr. Brick, Principal of the Separate School, will teach other subjects, such as arithmetic, etc. The classes will be held in the Association's club rooms. This is an opportunity that should be largely taken advantage of by young men, especially those who have not had opportunities of remaining at school long enough before they went to work at some trade or calling. No person has any excuse except illness or other similar disability for not having a fairly good and thoroughly practical education.

Is Life Worth Living?

The Charlotte street Epworth League of Christian Endeavor met last evening in the school room of the church. The meeting opened with devotional exercises. For a Scripture lesson the Parable of the Pounds was read. The subject of the evening: "Is Life Worth Living?" was introduced by Miss Sherlock. The essay was well thought out, and certainly had been carefully prepared. The language was chaste and elegant, flashes of poetry mingled here and there throughout the production and tended to make it interesting and beautiful. Rev. Mr. Edwards, Mr. Cluxton, Mr. Bacon (late of Toronto), Mr. Price, Mr. Moore, and others, also spoke on the subject. Notwithstanding the very unpropitious weather the attendance was large, showing the great interest that is being taken in Christian Endeavor work. Next Monday evening the meeting will be of a literary character, as it has been decided by the executive committee that every fourth meeting of the society shall be of this nature.

Cavan.

The Late Mrs. Edward Johnson.

On Wednesday, Nov. 11th, Mrs. Mary Cooney Johnson, wife of Mr. Edward Johnson, closed her eyes in death. The deceased lady was a sister of the late Sergt. Benjamin Cooney, and sister of Mr. Benjamin Cooney, Ashburnham. She came from Donegal, Ireland, with her father's family in 1841; and was united in marriage in 1861, and to the union were born nine children, of whom three boys and two girls are living. After marriage she and her husband resided in Otonabee till 1868, when they removed to Cavan, where they have since resided. She was an active and consistent member of the Fairmount Methodist church, and in her domestic and social relations, she exhibited all the qualities that made her beloved as a wife and mother and respected as a neighbour. The funeral took place on Friday, the remains being interred in the Little Lake Cemetery.

Mount Pleasant.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Messrs. John Handley and John Cottingham of Peterborough, spent their Thanksgiving in our village.

Our factory sold their September and October make off the board and realized 9⅝ for it; the patrons are loud in their praise of the success of the enterprise and well they might be. There have been no culls during the season, no suspension of work and all has gone on harmoniously and we believe to the financial advancement of all. The projector, Mr. Chas. Rutherford, has carried out his part to the letter and established himself as a reliable and painstaking manager. Mr. Ed. Sherman, the maker, ranks first in his calling, and with as complete and efficient an equipment. Next year, we predict a larger patronage and a more successful season.

Hallow e'en passed off almost "incognito" in our village. A few gates were removed and trifling other tricks performed. The small boy is either too small for the occasion or else the age has affected his desire for better amusement and worked wonders.

Thanksgiving day was marked by no special feature, except that a great many suspended work, went hunting or in some way diversified their common occupation. There was no service in our town. A few partook of the supper at Cavanville in the evening, while Springville, with its Foresters' concert, was invaded by a larger crowd.

Master Davy Desautell, with four companions from Peterborough, drove out in a fashionable "Gladstone"—armed with guns. These young Canadians made a bold attack on the forests in the neighbourhood, hoping that the largest game we grow would fall a prey to the powerful firearms they used and the trueness of their hawk-like eyes. It was Thanksgiving day, and the boys were out for a hunt; the woods resounded with the explosions and the air beat about as if in a state of restless excitement, day dragged itself to a close, the boys returned from their perambulations. Evidently they got lots of hunting, but no large game awarded their efforts. However, the indications of their head ornaments showed that the smaller species had suffered. The boys seemed to sip the salubrious air with a relish, and we think spent a very enjoyable day. They dined with James McLean, Esq.

Mr. Edward Sherman has left for his home in Belleville.

Miss Nellie McLean, on the event of her birthday, a short time ago, invited a few friends in and entertained them in her usual jolly manner.

A terpsichorean dedication was held at the residence of Mr. Robt. Mills, last Friday evening. The crowd was large, jolly and demonstrative; the music was sweetly sublime; the host and hostess were affable to all. The light fantastic was tripped till Morpheus seemed to have claimed the majority for his victims, and with pleasant farewells the assemblage parted to resign themselves to the fabled god.

Mr. Jas. Denny has been re-engaged in our school for next year.

Mr. Jas. McIndoo was up to Toronto last week.

Miss Annie Best has returned from her visit.

Mr. Wm. Brown, of Pontypool, was the guest of Mr. Jas. Smith on 8th instant.

Look out for the Foresters' concert to be held here next month!

Otonabee.

Obituary of the Late Mrs. Ambrose

Monday Mrs. Mary Kennedy Ambrose, wife of Mr. John Ambrose, and mother of Mr. Dawson Kennedy, passed away to her eternal rest. The deceased lady was a native of County Cavan, Ireland, where she was born 82 years ago, and where she was united in marriage to Mr. John Kennedy. To this marriage was born a family of three—two girls and a boy, the latter, now Mr. Dawson Kennedy, being the only one born in Ireland, where he was baptized in the celebrated Coothill church, for whose restoration William Johnston came to this country to collect funds. Mrs. Kennedy with her husband came to Canada in 1840, and settled in North Monaghan, where four years after Mr. Kennedy died, leaving her a widow with three children, two girls and a boy. A few years after Mrs. Kennedy was married to Mr. John Ambrose, and removed to Otonabee, where they have since lived. Mrs. Ambrose leaves behind her three children by her second husband—two daughters and one son. One of the daughters is married to Mr. James Donel, town. Mrs. Ambrose was a member of the Church of England, and very highly respected by all those who enjoyed the privilege of her acquaintance. The funeral takes place from the family residence to the Little Lake Cemetery on Wednesday, Nov. 18th.

Itch, Mange and Scratches of every kind, on human or animals, cured in 30 minutes by Woolford's Sanitary Lotion. This never fails. Sold by H. S. McDonald.

Purify importance of keeping the blood in a pure condition is universally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is heredited and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, or the water we drink. There is nothing more conclusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. Full information and statements of cures sent free.

Scribner's Magazine.

An Exceptional Year.

THE Year 1891 has been marked by a greater advance than any similar period since the Magazine was established. Not only has the literary and artistic excellence been maintained and increased, but a corresponding gain has been made in the sale and influence of the Magazine. At the end of 1891 the circulation has risen to more than 140,000. It may justly be promised that the further improvements for the coming year will be proportionate to these largely increased opportunities.

For Next Year.

It is not possible to give, in a brief space, an account of all the features in preparation, but the material is deficient in neither importance nor range of subject. Among the subjects treated:

The Poor in the World's Great City.

It is proposed to publish a series of articles, upon a scale not before attempted, giving the results of special study and work among the poor of the great cities. The plan will include an account of the conditions of life in those cities (in many lands) where the results of research will be helpful for purposes of comparison as well as for their own intrinsic interest. While, from a scientific point of view, the articles will be a contribution of great importance, the treatment will be thoroughly popular, and the elaborate illustrations will serve to make the presentation of the subject vivid as well as picturesque.

Washington Allston.

Unpublished Reminiscences and Letters of this foremost among early American painters. A number of illustrations will lend additional interest to the articles.

Important Moments.

The aim of this series of very short articles is to describe the signal occasions when some decisive event took place, or when some great experiment was first shown to be successful—such moments as that of the first use of the Atlantic cable, the first use of the telegraph and telephone, the first successful experiment with ether, the night of the Chicago fire, the scene at the moment of the vote on the impeachment of Andrew Johnson, etc., etc.

Out of Door Papers.

In the early spring will be begun a number of seasonable articles, among them being: Small Country Places, how to lay out and beautify them, by SAMUEL PARSONS, JR., Fishing Lore from an Angler's Note-book, by DR. LEROY M. YALE. Mountain Station Life in New Zealand, by SIDNEY DICKINSON. Racing in Australia, by SIDNEY DICKINSON, with illustrations by BIRGE HARRISON. The illustrations are from original material.

Causes of Ruin

Among French Canadians.

In a letter addressed to La Minerve, and in which he once more deplores the unaccountable apathy of the French Canadians with respect to settling in the North-West, the Rev. Abbe Dugas says :—"Among the causes which are the ruin of French Canadians, I find the love of pleasure and of dress, intemperance, idleness, demoralization brought on by our political system, a dislike for agriculture, due, perhaps, to the too large number of young men indiscriminately trained in the higher spheres of study and who, later on, finding no opening and being ashamed of agriculture, become idlers and a burden on society."

New Sun Life Building.

The Insurance and Financial Bulletin thus speaks of the splendid new building of the Sun Life Assurance Company, (for which Mr. W. H. Hill is agent in Peterborough) on Notre Dame street, Montreal:—The building rises to a height of six storeys, and though far from massive, easily attracts the attention and challenges the admiration of every passer by on Notre Dame street. The architect has succeeded in the difficult task of blending graceful outline and artistic curve with rugged strength in such measure, that as the eye takes in the whole front with its ornate features, it is satisfied with the building as one harmonious finished whole. The cost of the building has been about $150,000; and that this sum has been so expended, under the watchful supervision of the president, Mr. Robertson Macaulay, ably assisted by the secretary and actuary, Mr. T. B. Macaulay, that the company is in possession of full value received, is conceded on all hands. The Sun Life is to be congratulated upon the possession of such a model home of its own, suitable to its merits and adapted to its growth. What that growth has been in the past under its present management, the life and soul of which has been President Macaulay, will be seen when we state the fact that the assets, which in 1872 were $546,462, have grown in 1890 to be $2,473 514, and that the insurance in force has increased from $1,064 350 to $16,759,356. This is a magnificent record, and fairly indicates the near approach of the time when the whole of the new home which we have described will be none too spacious or the company's business.

A Startling Affidavit.

Contractor Whelan Confronted With a Sworn Declaration—Made Sixteen Months Ago—In Which He Flatly Contradicts His Present Statements.

MONTREAL, Nov. 16.—On Saturday evening the Star and La Patrie publishd a copy of a solemn declaration made in July, 1889, by J. P. Whelan, the contractor upon whose authority the Empire recently published a sensational story to the effect that Whelan had given at various times large sums of money to members of the Quebec government and legislature for influence exerted in connection with the payment of his claims for extras upon contracts. Premier Mercier says Whelan's grievance against the government is that it has always refused to let him have contracts, and that on several occasions he has refused to consider Whelan's claims for consideration, and warned him that he could not purchase the favor of any minister by thrusting subscriptions upon irresponsible parties. The following is made in July, 1890, years after the dates at which he now says he paid money to members of the provincial government and legislature :—

I, the undersigned, John P. Whelan, hereby solemnly declare that I have never given or promised money to any minister or member of the legislature of Quebec, nor to anyone else, to influence or to procure the influencing of any minister or member of the said legislature of Quebec, for the purpose of favoring the settlement of my claim against the government, and that I have never had any knowledge of any sum of money having been, directly or indirectly, promised or paid to any minister or member of the said legislature of Quebec for such purpose, and especially that I never paid a sum of ten thousand dollars, nor any other sum, to influence or to procure the influencing of certain members of the legislature in regard to the special credit voted at the last session for the settlement of my claims against the government relative to the construction of the Quebec court house.

I make this solemn declaration, conscientiously believing it to be true and in virtue of the act relating to extra-judicial oaths.

Dated at Montreal, the 18th July, 1890.

(Signed), J. P. WHELAN.

Taken and acknowledged before me on the day and month above written.

(Signed), N. PERODEAU, N.P.

In the face of this solemn declaration, by Mr. Whelan himself of the complete groundlessness of the charges against the Mercier government, which are not new, but which have only been dished up in a more sensational dress by the Empire and the other Tory organs to serve their present purpose, public feeling has turned strongly in favor of Mr. Mercier and his friends. The declaration utterly discredits Whelan, because it is clear that he either swore to a false statement in July, 1890, or he is making false statements now, and Whelan is the Empire's only authority for its yarn.

ACTIONS FOR CONSPIRACY.

It is reported that in addition to the actions for libel brought against several Tory papers by Mayor McShane and the cabinet ministers Col. Amyot. M. P., has been instructed to take proceeding against Whelan and others for conspiracy. The Liberals are thoroughly aroused, and say they will expose before they are through, one of the most villanous conspiracies ever formed for the purpose of ruining the reputations of respectable citizens. Having to depend simply upon the statements of Whelan, who is utterly discredited now, the Conservative papers will be able to make but a poor defence.

Pitiful Tale of a Woman Lost in the Woods—Was Crazed by Bereavement—She Wanders into the Bush—Starved out of Human Semblance.

MONTREAL, Nov. 16.—Mr. Morand, a farmer of St. Jerome, while on his way to work in a field some distance from his house recently, was startled to find beneath a roadside tree what to him seemed a dead body, emaciated almost beyond all semblance of human form. Mr. Morand raised the prostrate woman, and with the assistance of some neighbors drove her to a friend's house in St. Jerome. There she recovered sufficiently to tell an incoherent story of her sufferings, but insanity was of it all. Repeated inquiries by Mr. Morand elicited the fact that the poor victim of starvation was the widow of a Mr. Gratin, a resident of the village, who had died during the past summer. Furthermore he learned that the young woman—of twenty-five or thereabouts—was wont to visit the spot where he found her dying. She and her husband would sit under that tree for hours during the warm evenings and the reasonable theory is that, crazed by her bereavement she wandered out to the woods which to her were hallowed by so many happy memories. This hypothesis is borne out by all the circumstances known to the relatives of the poor unfortunate.

THE LAST THEY SAW OF HER

was when she left her home about Oct. 10th last to go to the village church. Failing to return the most earnest search for her was instituted, but without success, and her late husband's friends concluded that she had, in her despondency, lost herself in the woods and perished from exposure. Her total abstinence from food, however, is an established fact. A brook, some yards from the tree under which she was found, supplied her with drink while she was strong enough to reach it. Otherwise, for the five weeks she maintained an unbroken fast, and yet she may recover health and strength.

Like Satan Reproving Sin.

The Montreal Witness thus refers to the incident of Ministers whose hands are not, by any manner of means, clean, investigating the irregularities in Government departments at Ottawa :—"Irregularities have, it appears, been discovered in another of the departments of the Ottawa Government. The Deputy-Minister of Marine and Fisheries is, it is alleged, involved, and the Minister, Mr. Tupper, has presented a report said to be against him. It appears that the investigations into the corruption and demoralization of the departments is now being carried on by Messrs. Dewdney, Haggart and other ministers. As the departments of these ministers were among the most demoralised of those investigated, and as they themselves were involved, it is remarkable, to say the least, that they should be acting as an investigation committee. When one recalls their efforts on the Public Accounts Committee one can only come to the conclusion that they were chosen for anything but to investigate. That these investigations are not carried on in public, as were those of the committees while Parliament was sitting, is perhaps a good thing for the departments, but it is not calculated to inspire the public with much confidence in the reality of the alleged investigation. That they have discovered one offender is reassuring; it is to be hoped that the public are to be informed of his shortcoming."

A Mother's Awful Crime.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—A woman living at Tichfield Crofton was summoned to appear in court yesterday for ill-treatment of her children, three girls. The woman became infuriated when the summons was served upon her and declared no court in England could compel her to obey its summons. She then entered her apartments, called her three children about her, and in spite of their struggles to escape cut their throats. After making sure that her terrible work was complete and that the girls were dead the woman cut her own throat. She will probably die.

TOLEDO, Nov. 17.—Saturday the K. of L. convention was in closed session some hours considering changes in the formula by which new members are instructed in the work of the different assemblies. Among the important matters settled have been those covered by the adoption of the following resolutions:

That any member of the order opposing or denouncing outside the assembly room any of the principles of the order shall be charged with violation of his obligation and on being found guilty shall be expelled.

That a committee of three shall be appointed by the general master workman to consolidate and codify the constitution, the general master workman to be ex-officio chairman of the committee, the constitution to be approved by the general executive board, printed and submitted to all locals in the order at least two months before the next general assembly, for their adoption or rejection.

The K. of L. in convention at Toledo yesterday declared in favor of the opening of the World's Fair on Sunday. It was decided to raise a meleage fund by an assessment of five cents on every member each July to pay mileage of delegates to the general assembly.

Mitchell Wants Another Fight, Possibly With Jim Corbett.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—Charley Mitchell returned from Liverpool yesterday. It is practically arranged that he and Slavin will sail for New York on the steamship Germanic Nov. 28. Slavin says his intention is to force Sullivan to fight. He has secured substantial backing and says he will not tolerate any bluff. Slavin is hard up and is working for money.

Mitchell also wants another fight. He intimates that he may possibly try Jim Corbett if the latter is not afraid.

When Slavin was asked about his brothers, now in America, he laughed and said: "They are both good boys, Jack is the better fighter of the two. If he chooses he can make some of the middleweights hustle or I am much mistaken."

Buy Now, If at All.

EVERY day makes more apparent the fact that the town is going ahead rapidly. Numerous changes have taken place in the way of ownership of property. Many workingmen are buying houses and lots, or lots on which to build. One of the most suitable locations is that known as the Erin property, at the west end, owned largely by Mr. Wm Fitzgerald. This week he has closed the sale of a very desirable house and lot, and has several eligible lots on this property to dispose of. Property in this neighborhood is rapidly being built up, and it will be well to have a look at the situation if one is at all disposed to buy. The terms are very favorable and especially low for cash, though payment on time may be arranged.

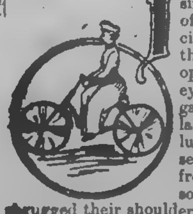
FAIR FACES ON WHEELS.

WOMEN RIDERS NO LONGER A NOVELTY ON THE STREETS.

A Thousand Ladies' Wheels Sold in Chicago During the Last Year—The Charms of a Rapid Spin Over Smooth Roads With Husband, Brother, or Lover—What to Wear and How to Ride.

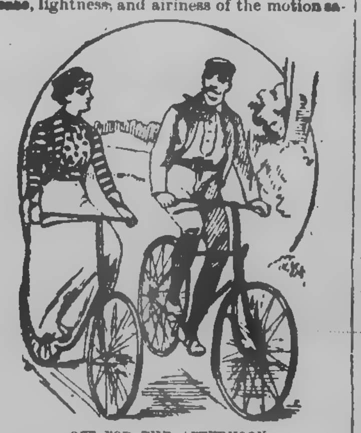


It is only a few years since the appearance of a bicycle upon a city thoroughfare was the occasion of much open-mouthed, round-eyed wonder. Street gamins exercised their lawless wit upon the luckless rider. Conservative people frowned upon him; sober-minded citizens shrugged their shoulders and averred that a horse was good enough for them; young men looked after the big wheel with envious admiration, and a fresh impetus was given to the average young woman's aspiration after the impossible—her desire to become her brother.

But the days when newspaper jibes at wheelmen were the fashion are long since past, and there is now no more familiar sight in our streets than the "safety," making its smooth, noiseless way among a crowd of vehicles or whirling madly past them all upon the avenues.

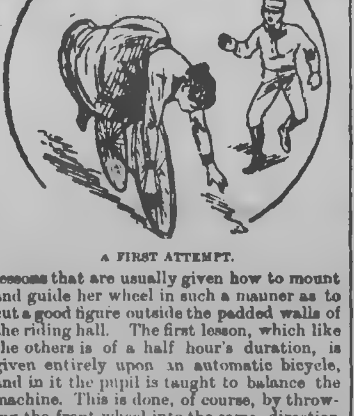
Even the athletic girl has her latest, dearest wish gratified, and is no longer obliged to steal her rides in the back-yard under the friendly cover of darkness. She makes her mount boldly and openly and rides her wheel with a grace and freedom that silence ungracious comment. The color of her cheeks and the laughter in her eyes tell a pleasant story of healthful exhilaration resulting from agreeable exercise.

Women have been slow to adopt bicycling as a pastime in America, notwithstanding the seal of royal approval that has been set upon it by the granddaughters of the Queen of England, and it is only within the last three years that wheelwomen have begun to spin about Chicago parks and boulevards. But the fact that over 1,000 ladies' bicycles have been sold here during the last year, and the riding schools are turning out fifty riders each week, is significant and seems to point toward a population of female centaurs at no very distant date.



OFF FOR THE AFTERNOON.

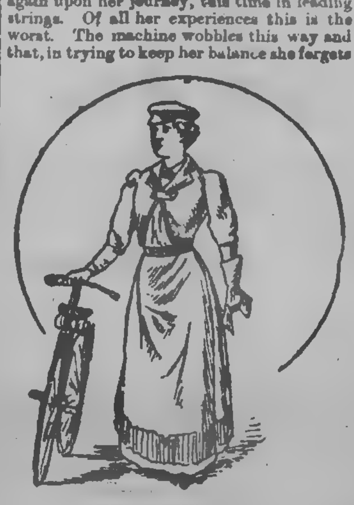
"What is riding on a wheel like?" some one, who doesn't know asks anxiously. More like flying than anything else, perhaps, the ease, lightness, and airiness of the motion satisfying one's old, childish longing to own a flying machine. But between riding a bicycle and learning to ride one there is a vast difference. The one is the very poetry of motion, the other its plainest prose. There are two ways of learning how to manage a wheel, and although there are women who sentimentally prefer to receive their lessons from some male friend or relative in a retired corner of the park, they who are wise withdraw discreetly to a riding-school and in its seclusion veil their bumps, and falls, and awkwardness from mocking eyes. Thereby they save their vanity a number of petty wounds, besides earning the everlasting approbation and regard of the wheelmen of their acquaintance. No matter how sincere one's admiration may be to run beside the object of it for hours, holding her on to her machine, correcting and exhorting until prespiration falls like rain, until one's legs feel like the arms of a windmill, and one's head like a steaming dumpling—this is sure to put it to a pretty severe test. She is a sensible young woman who refuses so to try her knights.



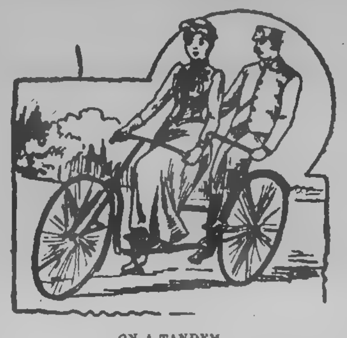
A FIRST ATTEMPT.

The training at the riding school is thorough and scientific, and it is an extremely nervous woman that cannot learn in the five lessons that are usually given how to mount and guide her wheel in such a manner as to cut a good figure outside the padded walls of the riding hall. The first lesson, which like the others is of a half hour's duration, is given entirely upon an automatic bicycle, and in it the pupil is taught to balance the machine. This is done, of course, by throwing the front wheel into the same direction the body is falling in. This sounds easy enough and looks easy, too, when the instructor does it. But once on that wobbling affair a woman's sense of right and left gets hopelessly confused. She topples to the left, gets frightened, grasps the handles convulsively, and quite naturally shoves the front wheel violently to the left, and, of course, is neatly and quietly tipped out of her seat, to her chagrin and the instructor's amusement.

After she has once mastered this first and all-important principle a canvas belt with a stout leather handle at the back is strapped about her waist. She sits a real "loose" wheel for the first time in her life, and the instructor, standing just behind, holds her firmly in place by means of the convenient handle. Thus guarded against all danger of a serious fall she makes the tour of the hall, learning to know and meet the caprices that a wheel generally shows a new rider. After fifteen minutes of such exercise she concludes that it doesn't pay to shriek when the machine tips a bit and grows so much bolder that the instructor attaches three feet of stout leather strap to the handle of her belt, and holding the end of it himself, starts her again upon her journey, this time in leading strings. Of all her experiences this is the worst. The machine wobbles this way and that, in trying to keep her balance she forgets to move the pedals, and in struggling with the pedals her feet slip helplessly off. The instructor rescues her from her perilous position and averts threatening disaster, but it is a great relief when the half hour comes to an end, and she is a brave woman indeed who at this stage does not feel absolutely discouraged. The next two lessons are devoted to learning how to mount and dismount, and the finishing touches are reserved for the last. She is turned upon the world to trundle her own wheel with the last warning words of the instructor ringing in her ears: "Be sure to sit erect. Keep your knees together. Ride always with the ball of the foot upon the pedal."

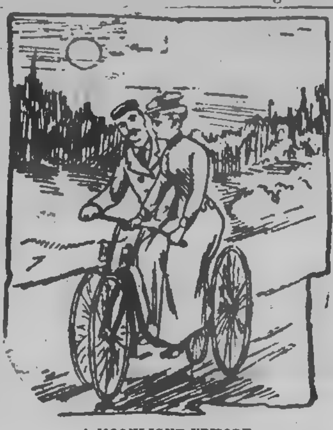


A GOOD RIDING HABIT.



ON A TANDEM.

It is impossible to dress "prettily" upon a bicycle, and the girl who sacrifices suitability to effect must expect to come to grief. Crinoline and corsets must be cast aside, and a woven flannel undergarment should be worn next the skin, as wool absorbs perspiration and is a protection against sudden chills. The most comfortable garment is the woven combination, which reaches from the neck to wrist and ankles. This is the least clumsy method of being entirely clothed with flannel; there is absolutely nothing that can become disarranged, and it affords equal protection and warmth to all parts of the body. All-wool knitted or woven stockings are indispensable, for cotton on the feet means soreness, blisters, and endless trouble. Black worsted tights and a light black silk or alpaca skirt completes the underwear.



A MOONLIGHT EPISODE.

Over this may be worn a regular tailor-made riding habit, or indeed any dark gown the skirt of which is plain, without kilting, and of sufficient fullness to admit of absolute freedom of movement, without undue bulk. The material should, of course, be heavy, and one instructor recommends that the hem of the skirt should be at least twelve inches deep to prevent any possibility of catching in the pedals or netting.—Chicago Tribune.

Easy to use, pleasant and agreeable is the verdict of all who have used Nasal Balm, and better still, there is no case of catarrh or cold in the head that it will not cure. dw

A Pleasant Herb Drink—A Spring Medicine.

The druggists tell us that people call daily for the new cure for constipation and sick headache discovered by Dr. Silas Lane. It is said to be Oregon grape root (a great remedy in the far west for those complaints) combined with simple herbs, and is made for use by pouring on boiling water to draw out the strength. It sells for 50c. and $1 a package, and is called Lane's Family Medicine. dw

INTENSE SUFFERING!

Mr. William Buchanan, 24 years engineer in the Cunard Steamship Company's service, 8 St. John's Road, Kirkdale, Liverpool, Eng., writes: "I suffered two years of agony from an affection in the head which six physicians pronounced incurable. They were divided in opinion as to whether it was acute neuralgia of the head or rheumatic affection of the brain, but all agreed that I could never recover. In my paroxysms of pain it needed two and sometimes three men to hold me down in bed. When at death's door,

SUN LIFE

ASSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA.

The attention of our Policy-Holders is directed to the following summary of the leading items of the present report, which speaks for itself as to the progress and prosperity of the Company:—

Life Assurances in force, 1st January, 1891	$16,759,355.92
Increase over previous year	3,421,272.54
New Applications received in 1890	6,271,599.15

Surplus over all Liabilities and Capital Stock	232,175.69
Increase over 1889	75,649.05
Death claims fallen in during 1890	143,961.65

The progress made by the SUN LIFE during 1890 was remarkable. The new business was the largest in the Company's history, and was equalled by but one other Canadian Life Company. The income for the year exceeds $2,000 for each day in the year, Sundays included. The Assets are large and rapidly increasing. They are, moreover, of the highest character, yielding an average interest of 6.04 per cent. The overdue interest is small, and the Real Estate owned under foreclosure is only four per cent. of the amount of mortgages. This is a remarkable showing. The SURPLUS accumulated during the FOUR years of the current quinquennium is nearly THREE TIMES as much as the amount earned during any previous FIVE years, and the profits to Policy-holders cannot fail thus to be highly satisfactory. The following are the figures:—

Net Surplus, 31st Dec., 1881, (five years)	$64,824 07
" " " " 1886, "	89,452 97

"August Flower"

Mrs. Sarah M. Black of Seneca, Mo., during the past two years has been affected with Neuralgia of the Head, Stomach and Womb, and writes: "My food did not seem to strengthen me at all and my appetite was very variable. My face was yellow, my head dull, and I had such pains in my left side. In the morning when I got up I would have a flow of mucus in the mouth, and a bad, bitter taste. Sometimes my breath became short, and I had such queer, tumbling, palpitating sensations around the heart. I ached all day under the shoulder blades, in the left side, and down the back of my limbs. It seemed to be worse in the wet, cold weather of Winter and Spring; and whenever the spells came on, my feet and hands would turn cold, and I could get no sleep at all. I tried everywhere, and got no relief before using August Flower Then the change came. It has done me a wonderful deal of good during the time I have taken it and is working a complete cure." ④

INPERU'S FAMED PORT.

SIGHTS FROM A STEAMER'S DECK IN CALLAO HARBOR.

Why Its Glory Has Quit It—A Peruvian Mist—First Glimpse of Lima—The Mysterious "Painter"—An Earthquake That Swept 5000 People Out to Sea.

How different is the renowned seaport of Callao from any thing our imagination had pictured—how dissappointing in one sense because now showing no traces of its fifteenth century youth nor the glamor with which history and tradition have surrounded it! On the contrary, it is the most cosmopolitan, commonplace and matter-of-fact sort of city we have yet found in South America, a place where English is spoken almost as much as Spanish; and where people of all nationalities have crowded the easygoing natives to the wall, so far as business is concerned. Even the correct pronunciation of its name is a surprise to us, for whereas we were taught in school to say Cal-lay-o, it should be rendered as if spelled Col-yow, with the accent strong on the last syllable.

Though the harbor is nothing to boast of, and on our storm-swept northern coast would be dignified by no such name, it is one of the best on this side of the Southern Continent, being sheltered from prevailing winds which blow from the south and southwest by the high, bare island of San Lorenzo and a projecting tongue of land. But the approach to it, as seen through the veil of mist that always overhangs both sea and shore in the early morning, is certainly fine.

A PERUVIAN MIST.

We arrive about 8 A. M., and drop anchor a mile from the beach, in a fog which the sailors say is "thick enough to cut with a knife," and is attributable to the condensation of tropical moisture by the cold currents of air sweeping northward from Antarctic regions. Looming out of the mist, in dim outlines and exaggerated proportions, is a spectral forest of masts and spars belonging to sailing vessels from all seas, steamers, store-ships, coke-hulks and other phantom craft, while to the right San Lorenzo lifts to the skies a lighthouse that is said to be more ornamental than useful, and directly in front rise the cheese-shaped turrets that top the famous old castle of San Felipe, above whose yellow walls and massive battlements the Spanish flag waved for the last time on this continent.

FIRST GLIMPSE OF LIMA.

To the left, "as through a glass darkly," we see a low shore covered with yellowish verdure, and trees pale-green for lack of rain, rising gradually to the foothills of the Andes. The brown heights seem to stand in close ranks, one behind another, each tier mounting higher; still beyond them all and behind a stratum of motionless cloud, we faintly discern the snowy Cordillera, blending with the blue of the sky. At the base of those brown hills, only six miles inland, lies the ultima thule of our dreams Lima, the "City of Kings," which Pizarro founded just three hundred and thirty-five years ago.

BOATMEN OF CALLAO.

Hardly has the anchor gone overboard before the steamer is surrounded by a clamoring crowd of marineros, or boatmen, who only await the coming of the captain of the port to swarm upon the decks and besiege the passengers with offers of service in rowing them and their luggage ashore; but until his august permission has been given they dare not come nearer than the law allows. The autocrat of the port always consults his own convenience about coming. He may be sleeping late from last night's revel, or chatting with friends, or taking his morning coffee; at any rate he does not permit himself to be disturbed or hurried, howsoever travelers may rage and impatient seamen swear, and need not be expected for an hour or more. Meantime while the waiting marineros are wrangling with one another and endeavoring to secure engagements from a distance by shouting to passengers on the steamer, we may as well "possess our souls in patience" and glean what information we can concerning the locality.

SOUTHERN SEA LIONS.

A communicative mate directs our attention to some sea-lions that are bobbing about among the shipping. He tells us that it is great fun to watch them and observe how they mock humanity in their flirtations and jealousies, their lovemaking and final settling down to family life. Listen a moment at any time of day, and you may hear their unmusical voices, half barking, half howling. Abounding all up and down this coast, they have refused to be entirely driven away, even from this busy harbor, and have grown almost tame.

THE CALLAO PAINTER.

There are no end of the tales one may listen to concerning the freaks of the "Callao painter," as a mysterious local phenomenon is called—an aggravating artist, who works with invisible brushes and confines his operations solely to this harbor, never going inland nor out to sea, nor more than a few miles north and south. All sea-goers know with what care the sailors are required to scrub and clean every part of a vessel before it comes into port, till every inch of it, outside and in, is spotless and shining as soapsuds, elbow-grease and "holy-stone" can make it. After all this labor, imagine the disgust of the tired seamen when, perhaps the very next morning after anchoring in Callao Bay, they awake to find the ship coated all over from stem to stern with a greasy, sticky, chocolate-colored film which penetrates every crack and seam, and even forces its way through the battened hatchways! The Callao painter has been at work.

WHY THE SAILORS ARE PROFANE.

He always comes in the night, without the slightest premonition, and fills the air with a repulsive odor. If the slime is scrubbed while yet damp, with plenty of soap and a stiff brush, its stains may be removed; but if allowed to dry on, nothing but scraping will budge it, and the cheapest and easiest way will be to put a coat or two of paint on over it. Of course there are many theories regarding this strange frost which no sun can melt. Some say that it is kind of grease forced up into the atmosphere of this particular spot by vapors beneath the sea; while others attribute it to a species of volcanic dust driven through the water by subterranean forces. On only one point are all agreed; that the sticky, stinking film, which is found nowhere else on earth, has given just cause for more profanity than all the storms that ever blew into Callao harbor.

THE GREAT TIDAL WAVE.

That the region is peculiarily volcanic, in common with all the western slopes of the Andes, is proved by the numerous upheavals that have occurred here. The worst of these on record, and one of the most terrible calamities that ever overtook any city, was the great terrimote of October 28, 1746, which swept the old port of Callao, which occupied the projecting point of land to the left, with all its inhabitants, excepting one man, into the sea. It was on a warm but perfectly calm evening, about 10.30 o'clock, when a tremendous shock of earthquake shook both Lima and Callao, doing a great deal of damage in the former city, and in five minutes reducing the latter to a mass of ruins. Then a huge wave came rolling into the devoted port, engulfing everything and everybody; and 5000 people perished in the raging flood. The waters, which a few minutes before had been calm as a mill-pond, suddenly receded to a great distance and then rolled back with such tremendous force as to sweep not only the town and its fortifications and inhabitants out of existence, but a score of ships at anchor in the harbor were destroyed. Several others were borne far inland on the breast of the wave, which instantly receding, left them stranded high and dry. One of these was the Spanish man-of-war St. Fermin, and the spot where it was stranded, between the present Callao and Buena Vista, is marked by a small monument.

SUBSEQUENT SHOCKS.

Naturally it took a long time for the citizens of Lima to recover from their panic; and then they chose what was believed to be a better locality for their sea gate (where stands the modern Callao), and defended it by a castle in the form of a pentagon, with two round towers and a "curtain" on the ocean face. Though carefully built to resist human invasion, and mounted with cannon, it would be but a plaything for the invisible but all-potent forces of earth, air and sea; and the people tremble in their boots whenever a terrimote gives them never so slight a shaking. Again in 1825 Callao had a narrow escape from total destruction; and many lesser shocks have done more or less damage.

"ASHORE AT LAST."

The brief visit of the Port Captain being at last concluded, and the health officers having satisfied themselves that there is no contagious disease on board, we have permission to go ashore, and the long-delayed marineros swarm the decks. But we are not left to their tender mercies, for our party includes a new minister from the United States, en route to his South American mission; and the fact having been duly signaled by saluting guns and flying flags, we were carried to land in the gig of a man-of-war with uniformed "rowers rowing in tune," and the stars and stripes fluttering in our faces, mingled with the red, white and red of the Peruvian bandera.

CALLAO AT CLOSE VIEW.

If Callao looks tumble-down and shabby when viewed through a veil of mist at a mile's distance, how much more disappointing is a closer inspection in the full glare of the sun. Somebody has well described it as "built generally of canes, plastered over with mud and painted a dirty yellow, its flimsy houses stand askew, with scarcely a perpendicular or horizontal line among them, and look as if they were trying to straighten themselves up after a grand debauch, in a vain endeavor to 'toe the line' of the street." As there is considerable swell even in the mildest weather, a long mole, or breakwater, has been extended out toward the anchorage, having stairs behind, where all the small boats and lighters receive and discharge their passengers and cargoes. The stairs are thronged with a motley and jostling crowd, mostly ragged loafers who have no business on hand but vagrant curiosity, who stare at the ladies and obstruct the landing so that we have some difficulty in forcing a path through their dirty ranks.—Fannie B. Ward.

A Baron as a Car Conductor.

Hundreds of street-car conductors and drivers gathered at the Morgue of the General Hospital on the morning of July 26 to attend the funeral of their late comrade, Car Driver Erwin Baron Frey von Schoenstein, the last male member of a very noble family.

The heavily draped hearse, drawn by four horses, was quite in contrast with the simple mourners who followed it and the costly metal casket in which the remains rested, hidden under many costly floral gifts.

When Baron Schoenstein became of age he inherited several million florins and big estates, which he squandered in riotous living and speculation. Everything gone, he resigned his commission as First Lieutenant in the Dragoons, and when confronted by poverty he did not resort to the pistol, but took a more philosophic view of life and accepted a position as supervisor of the street railways. Once in a while when brought into contact in a business way with those who in former years were only too glad to toady to him, the Baron became offensive to such a degree that at last his employers found themselves obliged to reduce him to the rank of car-driver.

This position he filled with military punctuality, and only once in a while, when he received a small remittance from some relative, did he absent himself long enough to spend it.

The Baron's widow and her brother, a captain in the dragoons, attended the funeral, the expenses of which were defrayed by a well-known Vienna Countess. Herr Von Turba, the director of the Tramway Company, and several prominent officials attended the funeral.—Vienna Free Press.

To see young and beautiful people die when they might just as well live and enjoy health and strength. Many who suffer with colds, coughs and lung troubles, leading to consumption, imagine that there is no hope for them, when in reality there is every hope if Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is taken regularly. Spread the news everywhere that this great emulsion will make flesh and blood, cure coughs, colds, bronchitis, sore throats, and lung troubles, tending to consumption. He then stabbed himself to the heart with a knife, dropping dead. He was terribly burned, his flesh hanging in shreds.

All the English Unionist papers yesterday deplored the rebuff administered by the result of the parliamentary election in the South Malton division of Devonshire, Friday. The Standard again warns the Government that persistence in bringing forward the Local Government for Ireland bill is a certain means of thrusting Gladstone into power.

A Buenos Ayres cable says: A tornado last Friday night passed over the province of Santa Fe, 30 miles from Rosario. It caused great destruction to property and loss of life. The town of Arroyosoco was entirely destroyed. The number of deaths is reported to be 40, and of wounded 62. A train of 18 coaches was at the station when the tornado swept through the town. The entire train was overturned and many of the passengers were buried in the wreck.

The London Chronicle's correspondent at Shanghai says: "The capture of the Wei, near Foo Chow, on Tuesday by 15,000 rebels was a well-organized rising. The rebels were armed with repeaters and led by capable men. The outbreak was directed mainly against the authorities, though anti-foreign cries were heard. The officials were powerless. European residents are apprehensive of a spread of the revolt. The Pekin treasury has paid the indemnities agreed upon—£2000 to the sufferers at Wuchu and £4000 to the families of the Europeans killed at Weschui."

Accidentally Poisoned.

TORONTO, Nov. 17.—Major Dain of 99 Bloor-street west, died yesterday at 6 o'clock. He was not feeling well and he took some powders which he thought would relieve him. He supposed they were quite harmless, though the same preparation had been used as horse medicine, and contained antimony. He only lived a few hours.

Major Dain was a bachelor, and one of the best known men of North Toronto. He was in the meat business with the brother at the corner of Yonge and Bloor for nearly a quarter of a century and retired some years ago quite wealthy.

Nicholas Murphy, Q.C., was notified this morning by the Department of Justice that Edward Cardo, a convict in Kingston Penitentiary, had been given his liberty. He was a Toronto man and formerly lived at 81 Monroe-street. On Feb. 1, 1889, he was sentenced by Judge Rose to fifteen years' imprisonment for assault on his daughter. His release is due to a petition on his behalf which had been forwarded to the Ottawa authorities.

A MASSACRE OF YEARS AGO.

The Murder of a Hunting Party of Indians by Sioux Near Pilot Sound.

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 17.—The discovery of portions of a human skeleton among the buffalo bones that are piled near the railway station at Pilot Mound, Northwest Territories, brings to recollection a tragedy that occurred within a few miles of there 17 years ago and of which event the human bones are believed to be a ghastly reminder.

Three Indians, two men and a lad, had their camp in the woods, two miles north of Pilot Mound, and had spent the fall hunting and trapping on the river and lakes, obtaining a good supply of furs and game. The hunters were about to leave for a new district, and early one morning loaded their two carts and harnessed their horses, when they were suddenly confronted by seven armed Sioux, who had in some way discovered the smoke from the camp fire.

For some years hostilities had ceased, and, not expecting danger, the Indian hunters were off their guard and were taken completely by surprise, for it was evident that the Sioux contemplated murder and robbery, only hesitating lest other Indians should be in the vicinity.

One of the hunters, named Black-Nose, was a man of extraordinary shrewdness and activity and took in the situation at once, but pretending that he felt no suspicion or alarm he carelessly took up a kettle and advanced slowly towards a rivulet close by, as if to procure some water. One of the Sioux followed, with his gun, in readiness lest his intended victim should attempt to escape. When passing a clump of willow bushes Black-Nose made a sudden bound behind the rushes and was off like an arrow. The Sioux fired, but the stems of the bushes turned the bullets aside and the hunter continued on his way uninjured.

There was then a general discharge of guns. Some shots were fired at the escaping Indian, and other shots killed the boy and his father who remained at the camp. Black Nose knew that his companions were murdered and that the whole band were after him, determined to destroy him lest he should carry intelligence of the attack. Being better acquainted with the country than the Sioux, and being exceedingly active, Black Nose eluded his enemies by keeping in the thickest forests along the river, and crossing the Pembina somewhere near the foot of Swan Lake, he made his way to the Hudson's Bay post at the Red River, about eight miles distant. Having been without food or shelter he was in an exhausted condition.

A strong party of half-breeds and Indians, well armed, started out to pursue and punish the murderers, advancing as far as Calf Mountain, when a heavy snowstorm prevented further progress, and the pursuing party were forced to return. The Sioux captured the horses, guns, traps and furs of the murdered Indians, leaving the bodies of the slain to be devoured by the wolves.

NOW IN MONTREAL.

A Paris Banker Who Absconded Said to Have Been Traced to Canada.

PARIS, Nov. 17.—Paris papers yesterday announced that the defaulting Paris banker, Raynaud, had been heard from in Montreal, in fact he had written a friend in Paris requesting him to go on his, Raynaud's, bond for a position of trust in a Montreal bank. A coincidence in connection with this appeal is found in the fact that the letter was received by the friend here, in Paris, the same day that the magnificent remnants of his former palatial establishment in the Place de la Bourse were ruthlessly dispersed by the sheriff.

It is understood that the Paris police have communicated with the police of Montreal, looking toward the arrest of Raynaud and his return to France, where a large reward is still standing for his capture.

The Lepers Find a Harbor at Last.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Nov. 17.—The Chinese lepers brought here by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company from New York are to be placed in the lazaretto on Barcey Island near Victoria, and maintained at the expense of the City of Vancouver.

Milan Steps Out.

BELGRADE, Nov. 17.—Ex-King Milan has signed renunciation of all his legal and constitutional rights in Servia.

The story of King Milan's rule in Servia, his troubles with his wife, Queen Natalie, and his abdication of the throne in favor of his son Alexander, have been fruitful themes for the newspapers of the world for a number of years past.

Liverpool Drugs and Oil Burned.

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 17.—The wholesale drugstore of Evans & Co. was burned this morning and the loss in castor oil and cod liver oil alone is estimated at £75,000.

DUBLIN, Nov. 16.—Timothy Healy has become so alarmed by the active demonstrations against him that for the past week he has worn a coat of mail under his ordinary clothing.

Drowned From His Canoe.

PORT ARTHUR, Nov. 17.—The loss of the Rev. William Neilly by drowning near Jackfish is now conceded, as nothing has been heard from him since the 10th inst., when he was last seen in his canoe between Steel River and Jackfish. Mr. Neilly started off in a canoe from Steel River. Searching parties failed to gain any trace of him or his canoe and they are now convinced that he was drowned.

Shot For a Squirrel.

WALKERTON, Nov. 17.—A gun accident of a serious character occurred in the bush back of the Walkerton reservoir. Some boys were shooting squirrels when one of them, named Frank Hurd, who was behind a stump, suddenly rose up and received a shot intended for the squirrel. It will probably prove fatal.

Searching for Treasure in a Coffin.

HALIFAX N.S., Nov. 17.—The grave of the late John Macgregor of Askilton, who died a year ago, was opened a few nights ago, the coffin smashed and the remains left exposed until discovered by some of the neighbors. It was rumored after the funeral that some money, of which he was supposed to have considerable, was placed in the coffin. The securing of the money is supposed to be the object which actuated the grave robbers.

Ohio Elopers Caught.

FORT ERIE, Ont., Nov. 17.—Officer Griffin of the Ontario Police Force Monday located the now famous Dayton, Ohio, elopers in the Sherman House at International Bridge. The young lady in the case is Miss Lulu Devore, a beautiful blonde 19 years old and an heiress. The man gave his name as Graham. His real name is George Aies. He is married and the father of two children. Miss Devore consented to return home.

Chat From the Capital.

OTTAWA, Nov. 17.—Mr. S. E. Dawson, the new Queen's Printer, made an official inspection of the bureau with Hon. J. A. Chapleau Saturday. His first official act was to require all clerks in the bureau to work till 5 o'clock instead of 4.

Hon. Frank Smith, Acting Minister of Public Works, reached here yesterday from Toronto.

Eggs for England.

OTTAWA, Nov. 17.—Dr. Ferguson, M.P., Kemptville, and Prof. Saunders of the Experimental Farm waited on Hon. George Foster, Minister of Finance, to-day respecting the shipment of eggs to England. The season for heavy shipments is approaching and the reports from Great Britain indicate that she will take all the eggs Canada can send her and pay good prices.

Thrown Over a Cliff.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—Weymouth has a sensation in the arrest of a youth named Wise, 17 years of age, on a charge of murder. Wise is one of the apprentices belonging to H.M. training ship Boscawen at present anchored off Weymouth. Yesterday Wise and another lad obtained liberty to visit the shore. They strolled along the cliff and finally reached a point where they were 70 feet above the narrow stretch of shore beneath. Suddenly Wise placed his hands against his companion and shoved him over the edge of the cliff. The lad Wise wended his way back to the vessel and told the officers he had shoved his companion over the cliff. Search was made and the body of the boy was found at the place indicated by Wise. He was alive, but died in a short time. Wise takes the whole affair nonchalantly, and laughs and jokes as though he had no heinous crime upon his conscience.

Sentenced for Life.

LOCKPORT, N.Y., Nov. 17.—Habib Saad, the Arab peddler who was arrested at Guelph, Ont., on a charge of murdering a young girl who traveled with him, was found guilty of murder in the second degree. Yesterday Saad was brought into court and received his sentence at the hands of Judge Lambert. It was that he be confined in state's prison for the remainder of his natural life. Habib received his sentence with the utmost composure.

Rode the Goat Too Hard.

ROCKFORD, Ill., Nov. 17.—Hon. John Garver, one of the leading attorneys of this district, has been laid up with an injured leg, received while riding the goat with the secret society known as the Knights of the Globe. The injury is quite serious, as it is supposed that a blood vessel is burst, and he may never recover the full use of the member. The injury must have come from a heavy blow or a hard fall.

A Missing Canadian.

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—William G. Brown, bookkeeper with the Illinois Steel Co. of this city, is missing. Some fears of foul play are entertained, as the man had some $40 on his person when last seen. Mr. Brown is a native of Canada and there is a possibility that he may have taken a flying trip across the border.

J. J. SHEEHY'S
SECOND ANNOUNCEMENT.

On the first of October, I, having just concluded my sixth year in Business, felt desirous of stating to my many Customers and the Public Generally, just what my experience had been. I endeavoured to do so in such a manner as to convince those who read advertisements, (and their name is legion) that what I said I meant. I refrained from Wild Statements, Quoting of Prices, and the Specifying of Extraordinary Values, or the Hundred-and-one Stereotyped Methods that are indulged in by Advertisers as a rule, but at once Got Down to Facts, and will endeavour to follow out that Principle, as I consider that the growth of my Business is, in itself, the biggest guarantee that the people are satisfied, that, when they buy goods from J. J. SHEEHY, they get Right Goods and that the Prices are also right.

The Month of October, notwithstanding the Mild Weather has been a Great Success so far. And the 5 Per Cent Discount which has just Seven Days More to Run, is evidently making itself felt. If you require any Fall and Winter Dry Goods, come in and examine our stock, and if we have not what you want, then it is a line, either unknown to the trade or at least has not yet reached Peterborough. I might just say in conclusion that I have closed the purchase of over 200 PAIRS OF WHITE WOOL BLANKETS.

The weights range from 5 to 9 pounds. As to the value, I will not say anything, but cordially invite your inspection, firmly believing that the Prices will speak for themselves.

Don't forget the 5 Per Cent. Discount off every purchase of, or over, ONE DOLLAR, during the Month of October. Yours respectfuly,

J. J. SHEEHY.

POWDERLY'S HOUSE.

Ex-Treasurer Turner Charges That It Was Bought with K. of L. Money.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18.—Ex-Treasurer Frederick Turner of the Knights of Labor, who has been accused with being a defaulter to the amount of $31,000, says that General Master Workman Powderly borrowed $2500 from the treasury of the order in 1886 to buy a house in Scranton. He has in his possession several letters which Mr. Powderly wrote to him in regard to the loan, and also the two canceled checks which he drew to Mr. Powderly's order. He also asserts that Mr. Powderly had his salary increased by the General Assembly of 1886 from $1500 to $5000 a year, in order to allow him to pay back the loan.

Mr. Turner intimated that he knew a great deal about the inner workings of the organization, and that if the general officers persisted in attacking him he would make public some things which would be a revelation to the rank and file of the Knights of Labor.

Mr. Powderly telegraphed the following denial of Mr. Turner's charges from Toledo last night:

> My house was built and paid for by my own money. I earned it, and was under obligations to no one. If what Turner states were true it would brand him as positively dishonest not to have revealed such matter to the General Convention of 1886 and 1887.

Powderly's friends in this city said to-day that after Turner was not re-elected general secretary-treasurer in 1887 his friends decided to break up the order, and instructed Turner upon retiring to leave the affairs of his office in as mixed-up a condition as possible.

NORTH BRUCE.

The Petition Against Mr. McNeill Dismissed With Costs.

WIARTON, Ont., Nov. 18.—The petition of James Muir against the return of Alexander McNeill (Conservative), who defeated Dr. Bonnar for North Bruce, came on for trial yesterday. Justices Burton and Osler presided. M. G. Cameron of Toronto and C. J. Mickle of Chesley for petitioners. Pepler, Q.C., Barrie, for respondent.

This letter, unsigned and not finished, was produced:

> LION'S HEAD, Feb. 28, '91.
> Mr. Joseph and William Quesnel:
> Dr. Freeburn was telling me he had asked you to do what you could for George and McNeill. Tuesday for George and McNeill on Thursday. I can assure you that what has been stated about the Ontario Government giving a grant last session is false. Have a telegram from Mr. Meredith to that effect. More than that, Mr. George and Mr. McNeill have a full promise to more than double any sum which Porter's party can give. Look to your own interests and vote for George and McNeill. I expect to have the looking after some of this money and you will not be forgotten.

R. E. Moore, by whom the letter had been written, testified that he had never sent it nor did he intend doing so. He had left it in his desk and had not seen it since. An effort to prove Moore an agent of McNeill fell through and the charge was dismissed.

Charge 8, that William Doblin, postmaster of Doblington, had intimidated his deputy, one Rolston, by threatening to dismiss him unless he voted Conservative, was dismissed, the deputy's evidence being contradicted and there being nothing to prove Doblin's agency.

After additional charges of personating and as to payments of money had either been dismissed or abandoned, Mr. Cameron stated he had no more evidence, and must be content to have petition dismissed, and asked that no costs be given owing to character of evidence having proved corruption, but failed on agency and vice versa. The judges announced that they could see no reason for departing from the usual rule and must give respondent costs. They expressed their opinion upon the evidence that the election had been carried out with unusual purity.

Col. Tisdale's Election Farce.

SIMCOE, Nov. 18.—The election trial against the return of Col. Tisdale, Conservative M.P. for South Norfolk, was disposed of in half an hour yesterday. Mr. Wells stated that he had no evidence to offer, and the court dismissed the petition with costs. No cross petition.

Three of the crew of the barkentine Forthbend, bound for the Fiji Islands, were drowned at Port Townsend, W.T., yesterday. Five of the crew were in the ship's boat, which capsized; two were rescued.

The schooner Hattie R. Estell, cargo of wheat, trying to enter the harbor at Manistee, struck the bar outside the piers. Four of her crew were rescued by a life line. The cook and one sailor were drowned. The captain is still lashed to the rigging, supposed to be dead. Heavy seas are breaking over the vessel.

A petition was presented by counsel for Louis Clovering Bonaparte to Justice Jeune in the divorce division of Her Majesty's High Court of Justice asking that the petition for a dissolution of her marriage lodged by Rosalie Bonaparte be dismissed and that the petitioner be adjudged to pay costs. Justice Jeune refused to grant the application.

THE NEWS FROM OTTAWA

THE CONNOLLY M'GREEVY CROWD ON TRIAL.

Explanation of the Incidents—Charged with Conspiracy, Which Includes the Getting of Contracts, as Well as the Acts in Carrying Them Out.

OTTAWA, Nov. 18.—There was a good sprinkling of spectators in the Police Court yesterday, when Judge Ross took the bench and the proceedings in the Larkin-Connolly-McGreevy conspiracy case commenced. A great number of counsel surrounded the table immediately beneath the judge. Messrs. B. B. Osler, Q.C., D. O'Connor, Q.C., and W. D. Hogg, Q.C., represented the crown; Z. A. Lash, Q.C., appeared for Captain Larkin; John McIntyre, Q.C., Kingston, for Michael Connolly; A. Ferguson, Q.C., and Charles Fitzpatrick, Quebec, for Hon. Thomas McGreevy and separately for N. K. Connolly.

The four defendants, Hon. Thomas McGreevy, P. Larkin and the brothers Connolly, were present.

Mr. Osler announced that the two prosecutions, the Queen v. the Connollys et al., and the Queen v. Murphy et al., now changed to the Queen v. McGreevy et al., from the fact that Murphy has not been served, would be proceeded with simultaneously.

Mr. Osler said two indictments had been laid. The one against the five defendants—N. K. Connolly, P. Larkin, Thomas McGreevy, R. H. McGreevy and O. E. Murphy—referred to the crosswall contract of June 5, 1883. The evidence submitted by the crown would seek to show that conspiracy existed by which the Harbor Commissioners had been defrauded of large sums of money. The evidence would be voluminous, as the overt acts were many. It would be shown how, in connection with this contract, the lowest tenderer had been ousted and acts shewn to have been committed in Ottawa which brought the case within the jurisdiction of this country.

Mr. Lash asked whether it was proposed to show that the conspiracy had relation to the procuring of the contract, or whether after contract was procured that a conspiracy took place to defraud the public under the contract.

Mr. Osler replied that the information laid had not reference to the obtaining of the contract. The information was for a conspiracy to obtain moneys improperly. One of the overt acts relating to the conspiracy was the obtaining of the contract. Another overt act was the obtaining of money from time to time. The foundation of the conspiracy, however, was the obtaining of money improperly; the tenders, the contract, the method of obtaining progress certificates, the final certificate were overt acts in that foundation conspiracy. All related to the original foundation scheme to obtain public money by these improper methods.

The other information laid had to do with the method of obtaining and carrying out of the contract of May 23, 1887, known as the dredging contract.

Commissioner Sherwood, Inspector Dan O'Leary and Constable Parkinson of the Dominion police gave evidence as to the service of papers. The latter said he had been to St. Catharines to endeavor to serve Cloney, who has charge of the firm's books, but could not ascertain his whereabouts.

Honore Casault, bailiff of the Superior Court for the district of Quebec, told how the Connollys secured possession of their books on Oct. 23 last. Witness accepted Cloney as guardian of the books on the suggestion of Nicholas Connolly. He never took a receipt for them, it was not the way they did things in Quebec. Had known Cloney for five or six years and allowed him to drive away with the books in a wagon. The seizure took place about 9.45 p.m. and a train left for Montreal at 10 o'clock or a little after. He had never enquired about Cloney or the books since.

Walter Todd, clerk of the Privileges and Elections Committee, gave evidence as to the seizure of the books mentioned, what portion of all the documents were now in his possession and what were seized.

A. H. Verret, late secretary-treasurer of the Quebec Harbor Commission, gave evidence as to Larkin & Connolly's contract with the commissioners in the Levis Graving Dock and crosswall contract.

He knew that as a member of Parliament Thomas McGreevy had been asked by commissioners to wait on Sir Hector on special occasions and introduce deputations. Witness remembered the dredging contract of 1887. No tenders were asked. Work to the amount of the contract was done under it. Five contractors tendered for the crosswall, Larkin, Sauveur, Gallagher, Beaucage and Peters, Thomas McGreevy attending the meeting of the commissioners when the contract was given and was one of the three appointed to supervise the items in it. Thomas McGreevy was on the Finance Committee. Perley was appointed Chief Engineer in May, 1883, by resolution, moved by Dobell and seconded by Julien, but with no salary. All moneys paid were paid in Quebec, none in Ottawa. Michael Connolly was not in the dredging contract. Witness never considered Michael a contractor.

Rory Must Pay the Costs.

OTTAWA, Nov. 18.—In the Supreme Court yesterday on motion of George Macdonald of Macdonald, McCrimmon & McIntosh judgment was delivered on the appeal of Rory McLennan, the sitting member for Glengarry, the preliminary objections to the petition against him being dismissed with costs on McLennan. In the Lisgar case, Collins v. Ross, M.P., the appeal was dismissed with costs, thus confirming Ross in his seat. Queen's and Prince, P.E.I., appeals were dismissed with costs, decision unfavorable to the sitting members. A similar judgment with costs was given in the Annapolis, Pictou and Antigonish election cases. The appeal of Mr. Ryder, M.P., Stanstead, was allowed.

Death Breaks Up a Card Party.

CAMDEN, N.J., Nov. 18.—The sudden death of Miss Clara Halloway of No. 621 Market-street at a card party at the home of Mrs. Mary J. McAllister, No. 109 North Third-street, cast a gloom over many friends. The party was a small affair, and was given in honor of Miss Holloway and Christopher Felwell, to whom she was affianced, by the Misses McAllister. Miss Holloway an hour before had placed on her finger a diamond engagement ring, and she was unusually happy. The play was going merrily on when Miss Holloway suddenly screamed out in pain and fell to the floor. Despite every effort to save her, the unfortunate woman died in great agony this morning. Dr. M. F. Middleton says that death was due to congestion of the brain.

THE CANADIAN BUDGET

STRANGE SEQUEL TO AN ALLEGED SUICIDE.

The Victim Now Said to Have Been Murdered by His Wife and Son—An Owen Sound Woman's Death from Abortion—A Peacemaker Clubbed to Death.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Nov. 18.—Thomas Hailstone has alleged to the County Attorney that his son, John, who was alleged to have committed suicide in Limerick township on Oct 3, after shooting at and wounding his wife, was really murdered by his son, Thomas, assisted by his brother-in-law, Cooper, and the dead man's wife.

Coroner Pomeroy of Tweed has gone to hold an inquest.

It was alleged at the time of the affair that trouble existed between Hailstone and his wife, because of her alleged unfaithfulness, and this, the father states, was the cause of the crime being committed. He also alleges that he, with others, was not allowed to view the remains before burial. He stated to Mr. Henderson that his grandson had made various threats to kill his father. Cooper, it is said, assisted by Mrs. Hailstone, held the victim whilst Thomas committed the deed.

The World of the 5th contained this despatch relating to the tragedy: The neighborhood of Green Bush, in the Township of Limerick, was thrown into great excitement Sunday. John Hailstone fired a shot from a revolver at his wife. The ball entered her side under the arm, inflicting a severe wound. The man, supposing she was dead, ran out of the house, placed the revolver to his mouth and shot himself, killing himself instantly. The woman is still alive. The cause of the trouble between the pair was family brawls.

THE FATE OF A PEACEMAKER.

A Hastings Man Clubbed to Death While Separating Combatants.

BELLEVILLE, Nov. 18.—At a bee near Lonsdale, Tyendinaga, Bart Ford attempted to separate two men named Naphin, who were fighting. A bystander named Patrick McGinnes clubbed Ford, who died last night from the effect of his injuries. An inquest will be held.

ALAS! POOR WOMAN.

An Owen Sound Woman's Fatal Attempt to Hide Her Shame—Her Husband Had Married Another.

OWEN SOUND, Nov. 18.—Mrs. Annie Jackson, wife of Joseph Jackson, who left her, and is said to have married another woman four years ago, took sick about the first of last week. The doctor in attendance questioned her closely as to what medicine she had been taking. She refused to tell him, but at last told him where he would find the bottles. He found and smelled them and thus ascertained that she had been taking medicine to procure an abortion.

A warrant was issued for the arrest of Malcolm Blue on the charge of administering poison with intent to procure miscarriage.

Mrs. Jackson died yesterday and Blue was arrested about 18 miles from here last night.

An inquest was held last evening, but was adjourned until after the post mortem examination to-morrow morning.

A Stratford Swindler.

STRATFORD, Nov. 18.—For some weeks small advertisements have been inserted in The Empire and Hamilton Spectator calling attention to the "Industrial Protective Alliance, devoted to the interests of the merchant, the manufacturer and mechanic; head office, Stratford, Ont." These flashily worded advertisements usually ended with a "send stamp for reply." The Alliance consisted purely and simply of a Beacon compositor named W. H. Spears, who hit upon this scheme to swindle the unwary. He got several hundred letters, many of them enclosing stamps, and it is said he got from $50 to $100 from "members" who were imbecile enough to send him $1. Yesterday he learned that the game was up and left for Buffalo.

Killed While Hunting.

KINGSTON, Nov. 18.—A frightful accident is reported from Macdonald's Corners, in the county of Lanark. On Thanksgiving Day two sons of Daniel Buffan went out to shoot partridges. During the day the young men parted on the side of a high hill, one going around it one way, the other in a contrary direction. Some time after one of the boys came upon his brother bathed in blood and dead. It would seem that the boy had pulled the trigger, but the gun would not go off. He had then started upon an examination. Standing the gun on the ground in a slanting position he held the mouth of the muzzle in his right hand and looked down the barrel. It then exploded, the charge entering his mouth, passing through its roof and penetrating his brain. Death was instantaneous.

To Compete With New York.

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 18.—A member of the Cabinet stated to-day that the Government would at once renew negotiations with a view to the early establishment of a fast line steamship service between Halifax and Great Britain equal in point of speed and equipment to any of the Atlantic Ocean greyhounds sailing from the port of New York. He says that the Government are prepared to increase the annual subsidy from half a million dollars to three-quarters of a million, which figure it is hoped will enable Canada to secure the long-talked-of direct fast steamship line between Great Britain and Canadian ports. It is expected that the Government will have several proposals to submit to Parliament next session when the required appropriation will be asked for.

Came Home With His Father.

DETROIT, Nov. 18.—The father of Fred D. Wilde, the young Toronto man who robbed his employer, Dr. Leonard, of various small sums during the past three months, came to Detroit yesterday and prevailed upon Dr. Leonard to make no complaint against the young man, promising to take his erring son home. Young Wilde was released and went home with his father.

Prairie Schooners at Windsor.

WINDSOR, Ont., Nov. 18.—Hardly a day passes but two or three "prairie schooners" pass through Windsor loaded with persons who years ago sold their Canadian farms and struck out for the west, only to return sadder and wiser. Yesterday Thomas Kealey passed through Windsor on his way to Leamington, having during the past ten weeks traveled nearly 1000 miles. He left Essex county six years ago, settling in Nebraska. He reports that during his stay there he harvested only two crops.

THE CHEESE MAKING INDUSTRY.

The Woodstock Sentinel-Review takes an interest in the dairying industry commensurate with its great importance. In a recent issue, speaking of the addresses made by Professor Robertson, Dominion Dairy Commissioner, Hon Thos. Ballantyne, M.P.P., and other gentlemen prominently connected with the industry, at a meeting at Listowel, our contemporary remarks:

The decision given by His Honor Judge Finkle in the Matheson appeal case, as reported and discussed by the Sentinel-Review, has excited wide interest among dairymen not only in the Oxford district but throughout the whole province. Mr. Ballantyne referred to it in his able address as an unfortunate decision, and intimated that it would necessitate action on the part of the Dairymen's Association. He declared that the intention of those who framed the law was to make the man who was paid for pure milk responsible for delivering it at the factory, and that the fact of deterioration should be taken as evidence of guilt when there was no evidence of a direct nature. Prof. Robertson holds the same. As these gentlemen know personally what the intention of those who secured legislation on the subject was, their views are interesting. Like the inspectors, they agree that should the judgment in question hold good the usefulness of the milk inspectors and of the law against deterioration will be greatly weakened.

In the same connection, a statement made by Prof. Robertson will be read with keen interest. The Sentinel Review has been advocating with ceaseless persistence, since the introduction of the Babcock tester, the system of paying for milk according to quality. In our intercourse with dairymen during the past summer we have found some makers and others ready to question the wisdom or the justice of such a system. It has been contended that the percentage of butter fat was not a true test of the value of milk for cheese producing purposes; that there were elements in the problem that complicated it so that a just system of payment according to quality, as the result of the usual tests could not be arrived at. Mr. Robertson declares that the result of the experiments made points to the conclusion that the percentage of butter fat is a correct measure of the value of milk for cheese making. Thus a disputed point is solved and the way made easy to introduce a just system.

Only one other point touched upon at the Listowel meeting we have space just now to refer to. Mr. Ballantyne declared that the practice of returning whey in the milk cans to the patrons was a dangerous one; that in the past the flavor of whey was distinctly perceptible in the product of many factories, and that the practice should cease throughout the whole country. This view was held by others. It seemed to have the warm approval of all the makers and buyers and most of the patrons present. It is unquestionably correct. The system prevails so largely in Oxford that it may seem a big undertaking to advocate a change. But wherever it prevails a change should be made in the interests of fine flavored cheese.

Cheese factories and milk suppliers also should not forget that it is to the interest of all to see that the milk supply is kept pure. Unless first class milk is supplied, first class cheese cannot be made, and unless first class cheese is made first class prices cannot be obtained. So it is everybody's interest to maintain the purity of the milk supply to cheese factories.

HARPER'S Weekly, an admirable authority, in summing up the returns of the recent state elections, says:—"The result in the country offers no reason to doubt that tariff reform is the chief issue in the presidental campaign; nor have the autumn elections left any Democrat so prominent that he is likely to contest with Mr. Cleveland the party nomination upon that issue."

How to save money is a problem that interests everybody. One way to do it is to invigorate the system with Ayer's Sarcaparilla. Being a highly concentrated blood-medicine, it is the most powerful and economical. It is sold for a dollar a bottle, but worth five. dw

In the shop window of a second hand dealer in Ottawa their is exposed for sale the handsomely illuminated address which was presented to the Marquis of Lorne in June, 1882, by the Presbyterian General Assembly on the occasion of the recovery of Princess Louise from her illness. The dealer offers to sell the address and tell how it came into his possession for $25. The history of this address would doubtless throw some light upon the value attached, by our vice-regal salary drawers, to the fulsome and perfunctory addresses that are inflicted upon them from time to time.

France Well Prepared for War

Lord Salisbury is very sanguine that there will be no war in Europe yet awhile, and so is the Premier of Italy, who spoke on the same day. Whenever war comes it will find the French Army in better fettle than it was twenty years ago, when Von Moltke smashed it like an egg shell. Sir Charles Dilke was present as a privileged guest at the recent autumn manœuvres in France, and in an article in The Fortnightly he declares that the French army is now the first in Europe, and that the issue of another struggle with Germany would be extremely doubtful, with the odds against the Germans. He places the French generals now in command in the very front rank as strategists and evidently rates their capacity for handling large masses of men much above that of the Germans, now that Moltke and the other paladins of the war of 1870 are gone. He restores the French infantry of the new generation to its old place under the first Napoleon as the finest fighting material the word can show, ardent, eager, intelligent and thoroughly disciplined, and first-rate marchers. Of the artillery he speaks in praise nearly as high, but while praising the horses and men of the cavalry, thinks it the weak point of the whole force, for want of proper leadership. Sir Charles' opinion agrees with that of the foreign officers who attended the manœuvres. They all say that the French army is as perfect a fighting machine as Europe ever saw or is likely to see for many a day. It is just possible that the consciousness that they can hold their own at last may lead Frenchmen to trail their coat through the fair.

Hezekiah's Surprise.

"Wal, Hiram, if this don't beat all! The old way for doctors was 'kill or cure,' but here I've found a piece in this here newspaper where a doctor offers 'cash or cure.' It's for catarrh! I wish we had it—I'd like to try him! Just listen, Hiram! 'The proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy offer a reward of $500 for any case of catarrh which they cannot cure.' That beats all lotteries hollow! The medicine costs 50 cents—your catarrh is cured, or you get $500! Where's my hat? I'm going right over to neighbor Brown's to show him. I never wanted to get within ten foot of him before but if it is the cure of his catarrh I guess I can stand it once." Sold by druggists. o

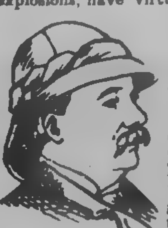
THE PRODUCER OF RAIN

DRYENFORTH RELEASES HYDROGEN AND OXYGEN GASES IN MID-AIR.

The Tests in Texas Successful—Something About the Method and the Results of the General's Plan of Securing Rain in the Parched Districts.

The party of scientists who, under the direction of Gen. R. G. Dyrenforth, went to Midland, Texas, about three weeks ago to try to produce rain by a series of powerful explosions, have virtually completed their experiments in that part of the country. On the whole the experiments have been successful. Gen. Dyrenforth chose this particular place because he was assured that it seldom rained here at all, and that there had been no real good rain for over three years. At rare intervals there had been showers, but they had been few and far between, and too small when they came to do the country much good. Owing to the dryness of the weather there are few or no farms in the section, the prairies being given given up entirely to cattle. The grass needs rain badly for these and the cattlemen were extremely anxious that the rain-makers try their skill on the lower edge of the Staked Plains.



GEN. R. C. DRYENFORTH.

It was upon the invitation of Nelsou Morris of Chicago and upon the reports of the dryness of the section that Gen. Dyrenforth went there. Nelson Morris is the owner of the C ranch, which is about 23 miles northwest of Midland, and covers 300,000 acres. The grass on the ranch was dry and yellow and afforded very poor pasturage for the cattle.

General Dyrenforth himself, on being interviewed, explained his theory and apparatus thus:

"When I was finally persuaded to take hold of this matter, for various reasons, too technical to be popular, I was immediately satisfied in my mind that the elemental parts of a drop of water, hydrogen and oxygen, were the explosives we wanted to introduce into the atmosphere to get rain, if it could be got. I was not satisfied that it could be. I am an artilleryman myself, and during my service both in a military school in Germany and in the civil war, the relation of rainfall following the discharge of heavy artillery, had excited my curiosity, and I had given the subject much study. When a Chicago man named Powers brought out a book that strove to establish connection between war and the weather, I was not interested in it as Senator Farwell and others were. All the data Powers set forth in his book only suggested to me the enormous task of searching out all the battles that have taken place and were not followed by rainfall, before one could reasonably be satisfied with the theory advanced.

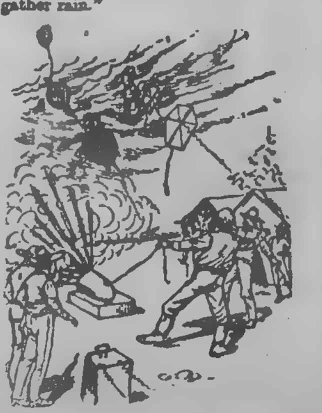
"More than this, the theory demanded the expenditure of from $20,000 to $80,000 in experiments, which means, of course, $80,000 or none at all, since a thing cannot be said to have succeeded or failed when anything remains possible to be done in the way of trying. When Senator Stanford cited the instance of rainfall following the blasting of a rock in the arid districts of the Sierra Nevadas during the building of the Central Pacific, I began to think about the matter. I knew what the district is, and that if rain, by any means, might be precipitated there one might logically hope to bring about a thunderstorm in hades, so I undertook the task—that is, I went to Texas and tried producing rain there.

"I carried with me 60 balloons, each about 10 feet in diameter when expanded; a hundred kites five feet tall, a carload of wooden mortars to fire bombs from, and many thousands of pounds of dynamite, gunpowder, nitro-gelatine and other powerful agents for agitating the atmosphere.

"Each balloon holds 525 cubic feet of gas—a third oxygen and two-thirds hydrogen—and upon being inflated ascends under control of a double wire, which serves instead of a rope to hold it by. When it reaches the desired height the button of an electric instrument on the ground is touched, a spark ignites the fuse in the balloon, and the oxygen and hydrogen suddenly combine with a terrific explosion.

"Each kite is held by a double wire. Their tails carry dynamite and other explosives, which are set off in the same way by an electric spark.

"The idea of this, you understand, is that just as water, reduced below a certain temperature, may hold ice in solution, and still ice will not form so long as the vessel containing the water remains perfectly quiescent, crystalization taking place only as the water is disturbed, so the air may hold moisture in solution, which will be precipitated by a violent concussion. The explosive power of hydrogen and oxygen is great. A soap bubble filled with a mixture of the gas, two parts of the former and one of the latter, explodes like the report of a pistol. With the explosion the gasses mix and form a drop of water, so that by using this rather than any other explosive, we have produced in the atmosphere a nucleus which, according to the nebulæ theory, that like gathers like, operates also to gather rain."



FIRING THE MORTARS.

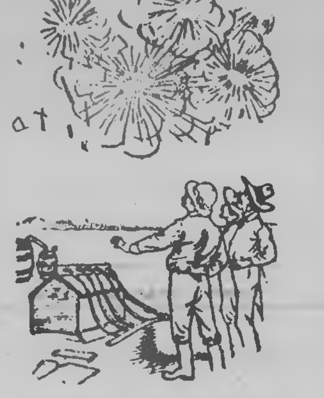
Gen. Dyrenforth found upon his arrival in Texas that the ranch house was situated in the middle of an immense prairie, and that the winds almost constantly swept over it with great force. As the scheme was to send up many balloons filled with explosive gasses and to take observations from other balloons connected by telephone with the earth, these winds were a serious obstacle to contend with. The shanty had to be built in which to fill the balloons with the proper proportion of oxygen and hydrogen. To build this boards had to be brought from Midland. Then the scientists were compelled to wait until the wind was comparatively light before beginning their experiments. Great difficulty was experienced in manufacturing oxygen on a scale large enough to serve the purpose desired.

Apparatus had been constructed in Washington, but it did not work smoothly and rapidly in the field, and it required the constant attention of Prof. Carl Myers, the balleonist, and several assistants to keep it from blowing up and smashing things generally. The oxygen was made by heating a mixture of chlorate of potash and black oxide of manganese, and passing the gas through lime water to extract the dangerous chloride gas. This is properly a laboratory process and has heretofore only been conducted upon a small scale. To fill a balloon twelve feet in diameter one-third full of oxygen was a difficult operation, but finally it was accomplished.

The balloons were then filled two-thirds full of hydrogen and sent into the air, either with a time fuse or with an electric exploder attached by a duplex wire to a dynamo on the ground These with the time fuses exploded at an altitude of from one and a half miles to five miles; the others were exploded when they reached a height of 1,000 feet.

It was intended to send the balloons into the air at intervals of twenty minutes to half an hour, but owing to the difficulty of making the oxygen and of sending the balloon up in a gale it was found impossible to carry out this programme. It would take much more complete and finer apparatus, besides a larger force of men, to do it. Outside the members of the commission the only help that was furnished was by the cowboys on the ranch. They were willing enough, but naturally they were more expert at roping and branding cattle than at conducting scientific experiments.

The explosion of rackarock powder and dynamite on the ground was much more successfully carried out. The rackarock powder produced a greater concussion than the dynamite. It was as the difference between the report of a shot-gun and that of a rifle. From 8 to 24 pounds of rackarock were exploded at a charge, and from 6 to 12 pounds of dynamite. The explosions followed each other on some days at intervals of less than a minute. Rackarock and dynamite were also exploded from the tails of kites.



THE EXPLOSION IN MID HEAVEN.

The effect of those explosions in every case was highly satisfactory. In every instance a series of explosions was followed within ten hours by rain. This was conclusive evidence that the explosives certainly produced rain.

Tuesday night the last of the experiments was conducted. The night was beautifully clear and not a cloud could be seen. The heavens were dotted with stars and from all indications it was safe to predict that no rain would fall within 48 hours at the least. A strong gale was blowing toward the west. Five balloons were sent up and exploded, and 200 pounds of rackarock powder and 150 pounds of dynamite set off on the ground. There was, of course, no immediate result. The barometer was rising and the needle was pointed at fair.

By 3 o'clock in the morning a bank of clouds appeared on the western horizon at the point toward which the smoke and noise had blown. The sky rapidly became overcast and by 4 o'clock there was rain, accompanied by thunder and lightning. When the sun rose it was seen that the storm had come directly out of the west, and on the horizon the clouds rose in a funnel shape like the smoke from a volcano. There was a beautiful rainbow visible at sunrise. It ceased raining at about 8 o'clock.

Many heavy charges of dynamite and rackarock were then fired, and after each rain fell in showers. This continued until the clouds were literally pumped out, and the sun resolved what was left of them into thin air.

Gen. Dyrenforth, Prof. Carl Meyers and others of the party left Midland for Washington on Wednesday morning. Prof. Powers, author of "War and the Weather," will go to his home in Wisconsin. Mr. John T. Ellis is left in charge of the operations, and will be assisted by George E. Casler, the balloonist. They will soon proceed to El Paso and there continue the experiment upon a grand scale. Gen. Dyrenforth will be in El Paso in time to superintend the experiments there. Later he will probably go to Southwestern Kansas to make rain there.

When We Plant the Tree.

What do we plant when we plant the tree?
We plant the ships which cross the sea;
We plant the mast to carry the sails;
We plant the planks to withstand the gales—
The keel, the keelson and beam and knee;
We plant the ship when we plant the tree.

What do we plant when we plant the tree?
We plant the houses for you and me,
We plant the rafters, the shingles, the floors,
We plant the studding, the laths, the doors,
The beams, the siding, all parts that be;
We plant the house when we plant the tree.

What do we do when we plant the tree?
A thousand things that we daily see;
We plant the spire that out-towers the crag,
We plant the staff for our country's flag,
We plant the shade, from the hot sun free;
We plant all these when we plant the tree.

A Spring Medicine.

There are few who do not at this season feel the need of a spring medicine, and to all such we recommend Lane's Family Medicine as the best. This is a pleasant herb drink made by pouring boiling water on the dried roots and herbs. Druggists sell the packages at 50c. and $1. It is the best as well as the pleasantest cure for constipation and headache. dw

Over a Century Old.

Many cases are known of persons living to be 100 years old and there is no good reason why this should not occur. By paying attention to the health by using Burdock Blood Bitters when necessary to purify the blood and strengthen the system much may be added to the comfort and happiness of life, even if the century mark is not attained. dw

His Family did not Know Him.

A Belleville man has for many been bent and crippled with a lame back, but after trying the OR, Kidney cure, he could walk like a boy again and his neighbors could hardly recognize him. This remedy is for sale by all druggists and the OR, Kidney Company, Belleville. dw

A Welcome Announcement.

Those who have tested it say that for the grippe, and especially for the cough that hangs on after the disease itself seems cured, there is nothing equal to Kemp's Balsam, the specific for all throat and lung diseases, and the best cure for coughs and colds. The first dose will convince you of its excellent effect. All druggists sell it at 50c. and $1 a bottle. dw

Twelve Years' Test.

DEAR SIRS,—We have used Hagyard's Yellow Oil in our family for twelve years, and find nothing equal to it for rheumatism, lumbago, lame back, frost bites, etc. We would not be without it.

WHY COUGH,

WHEN a few doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral will relieve you? Try it. Keep it in the house. You are liable to have a cough at any time, and no other remedy is so effective as this world-renowned preparation. No household, with young children, should be without it. Scores of lives are saved every year by its timely use

Amanda B. Jenner, Northampton, Mass., writes: "Common gratitude impels me to acknowledge the great benefits I have derived for my children from the use of Ayer's most excellent Cherry Pectoral. I had lost two dear children from croup and consumption, and had the greatest fear of losing my only remaining daughter and son, as they were delicate. Happily, I find that by giving them Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, on the first symptoms of throat or lung trouble, they are relieved from danger, and are becoming robust, healthy children."

"In the winter of 1885 I took a bad cold which, in spite of every known remedy, grew worse, so that the family physician considered me incurable, supposing me to be in consumption. As a last resort I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and, in a short time, the cure was complete. Since then I have never been without this medicine. I am fifty years of age, weigh over 180 pounds, and attribute my good health to the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral."—G. W. Youker, Salem, N. J.

"Last winter I contracted a severe cold, which by repeated exposure, became quite obstinate. I was much troubled with hoarseness and bronchial irritation. After trying various medicines, without relief, I at last purchased a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. On taking this medicine, my cough ceased almost immediately, and I have been well ever since."—Rev. Thos. B. Russell, Secretary Holston Conference and P. E. of the Greenville District, M. E. "THE STAR" made the largest purchase of Overcoats ever made at one time in the history of the Clothing Trade—Over TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS' WORTH---the entire magnificent stock of one of the largest manufacturers of Fine Clothing in Canada. The owners of the goods were in Desperate Need of Ready Cash. We had it, and we got the stock AT OUR OWN PRICE. We placed about half our purchase on sale Monday morning, and to-day we place the balance of the stock on our tables. The last shipment included the Finest Goods. The first lots are all sold, and such scenes of excitement as have transpired during this sale never before occurred in a clothing store.

Customers stood in open-mouthed wonder at the wonderful values given. Many persons bought two and three Coats on account of their wonderful cheapness. Small Merchants have eagerly bought all we would sell them, our prices are so much lower than they could buy the same goods at wholesale.

The Overcoats are Simply Elegant, made of the Richest and Finest Fabrics and in the most "Correct" Style. "Schnabel's" Chinchillas and Beavers; "Carr's" Meltons, Eredon Kerseys, Fine Fancy Overcoatings and Shetlands, intended for Merchant Tailor's use. Many were intended to Wholesale at $15, $18 and $20. We bought them for less than the Raw Material Cost, and are selling for $8 and $10, garments worth two and three times the money.

Mrs. H. S. Griffin, president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, presided at a most enthusiastic and representative meeting of ladies, nearly all the churches being represented. After receiving reports of collectors and other business was discussed, it was resolved to adjourn until Monday, Nov. 30th, a 4 p. m., so as to allow the ladies to complete their canvass for funds to furnish the parlor in our new premises. The ladies were greatly encouraged by the hearty reception given them by all, and the result will be that we will have a delightful and homelike retreat for our young men. We feel thankful to God for this continued manifestation of His presence with us.

The Reception Committee met last evening. There was a good attendance. After routine, business was disposed of, and names added to the committee. Mr. Arthur Jolly, the chairman, tendered his resignation as he had received a call to be assistant secretary of the Hamilton Association, and after much prayerful consideration he had decided to accept the same, and will leave on or about December 1st. The resignation was received with great regret, for Mr. Jolly has won all hearts by his earnest and consistent Christian walk among us, and our only consolation is that he won't be lost to us in the work he loves and has devoted his life to. We realize our loss is very great, and Hamilton gains much. Mr. A. J. Hamilton was elected chairman in Mr. Jolly's stead.

The public anniversary meeting will be held early in December. The popular and eloquent pastor of the Elm Street Methodist Church, Toronto, Rev. J. Edward Starr, has kindly consented to come and give the anniversary address. The service will be held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. Prof. Ketcham has promised us his valuable aid in conducting the musical exercises, and a profitable evening will be held.

Our new premises are being completed and we hope to remove there on or before December 1st, when we shall have very commodious quarters, and expect to do grand work for Christ among young men.

Warsaw vs. Lakefield at Lakefield.

(From a Correspondent.)

The Warsaw and Lakefield foot ball teams played a very interesting match in Lakefield on Thanksgiving day which resulted in a victory for the visitors, the score standing 2 to 1 in their favor when time was called. Lakefield placed a strong eleven in the field two of whom were at one time prominent sports in the Western Association. They were also considerably strengthened by the play of Lampier and Hunter, the former a professional lately from England, and the latter who has had special training with one of the best clubs in Ontario, namely,—Norwood, H. S. F. B. C.

Warsaw scored once in each half time, while Lakefield scored only once in second half time. The Lakefield team played a fast and untiring game, and owe their defeat to the combined play of their opponents, and to the splendid kicking of Morgan.

Dr. Blanchard refereed the game to the entire satisfaction of all, and the sportsmanlike way in which the match was played, will tend strongly to make football popular in this district.

One of those quiet matrimonial events which always create a lively interest, transpired on Wednesday, Nov. 11th the occasion being the nuptials of Mr. Albert Might, of Toronto, and Miss Lizzie Finlay, daughter of Mr. Robert Finlay a highly respected farmer of Cavan. The ceremony took place in the afternoon, the Rev. Mr. Kilgour officiating. The bridesmaid was Miss Maggie Smith, of Fraserville, Mr. Edward Might acting for the groom, his brother. None but the near relatives of both parties were present. After the services an elaborate supper was partaken of, after which the happy couple left for Toronto, taking the 5 30 train from Cavanville. The Athletic Club and the Churches.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—I have it on the best authority that at a general meeting held last night of the Edison Amateur Athletic Club, Mr. Heathcote made, and in spite of considerable opposition, carried a motion to the effect that in future the churches shall be closed during club hours.

Yours truly,

Lakefield.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

No word of our having a mail by the morning train yet.

A new butcher opened up shop in the village last week.

Another tinshop is to be opened up in a few days.

There must have been two or three hundred cords of wood taken out of the river for firewood during the past season.

The Lakefield Lumber Company are putting in a couple of large lumber shanties in the neighborhood of Monmouth Lake.

There was no meeting of the Lakefield School Board last week, only two of the members being on hand.

The officers of Court Lakefield No. 43, C. O. F., were installed last evening by Bro. H. Nesbitt, D.D.H.C.R., of Peterborough. Dr. Rose, of Peterborough, also paid the court a visit.

Jas. Dinwoodie, Esq., of Campbellford, was in the village last week on his way to Pencil Lake for a hunt, where we hear he is having very fair sport.

A member of the football club broke one of the large lights of glass over the engine house door with the ball last Thursday. He had better call on the Reeve and pay up, and so save the additional expense of a visit from Constable Campbell.

APPOINTMENT.

Mr. Darcy Strickland was notified last Friday that he had been appointed an inspector in the Northwest Mounted Police. He leaves at once for the scene of his future labors. Congratulations.

BEAR HUNT.

A large bear was noticed last week on some of the islands at the head of Clear lake, so some of our village sports went up with their dogs anticipating a day's fun. Master Bruin, however, had made off to safer quarters, and the hunters had a hard paddle and soft wetting for their trouble.

SAD DEATH.

Word was received last week from some of our Lakefield boys in Pittsburg, U.S., of the death of Dr. Frank Doyle by his own hand. He was well and favourably known to many of your Lakefield readers, having visited here for a camp up the lake with Mr. Ed. Carter for the last three or four summers. About two years ago he was the victim to a natural gas explosion which caused great disfigurement of his face and hands. He was in hopes when here last summer that surgical skill would remove or improve the scars, but his hopes were in vain, and being of a very sensitive nature, the knowledge that he would have to go through life an object of commiseration proved too much, and he used his medical knowledge to end all, in the quickest and easiest manner, a large dose of prussic acid, dying apparently before the glass left his lips.

MARRIED.

BACON—NISBET—At the home of the bride, Oakville, on Wednesday evening, Nov. 11th, 1891, by the Rev. S. S. Craig, S. E. Bacon, of Peterborough, to Mary, eldest daughter of the late Rev. Jas. Nisbet.

Makes the Weak Strong

The marked benefit which people in run down or weakened state of health derive from Hood's Sarsaparilla, conclusively proves the claim that this medicine "makes the weak strong." It does not act like a stimulant, imparting fictitious strength from which there must follow a reaction of greater weakness than before, but in the most natural way Hood's Sarsaparilla overcomes creates an appetite, purifies the blood, and, in short, gives great bodily, nerve, mental and digestive strength.

That Tired Feeling

"I derived very much benefit from Hood's Sarsaparilla, which I took for general debility. It built me right up, and gave me an excellent appetite." ED. JENKINS, Mt. Savage, Md.

Fagged Out

"Last spring I was completely fagged out. My strength left me and I felt sick and miserable all the time, so that I could hardly attend to my business. I took one bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it cured me. There is nothing like it." R. C. BEGOLE, Editor Enterprise, Belleville, Mich.

Worn Out

"Hood's Sarsaparilla restored me to good health. Indeed, I might say truthfully it saved my life. To one feeling tired and worn out I would earnestly recommend a trial of Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. PHEBE MOSHER, 90 Brooks Street, East Boston, Mass.

Bellegrange School for Young Ladies.

Nearly a year ago the EXAMINER noticed the opening of a school for young ladies, at Lakefield, in Bellegrange House, by the Misses Roberts, and is now pleased to note that the predictions then made of its success have been very gratifyingly verified. The school is proving most successful, and young ladies are being received from as far distant as Ottawa. This is natural; the tuition given is of the highest class. one of the ladies being a graduate of Oxford University, England, and both are members of the College of Preceptors. Besides, the beauty and healthful situation of Bellegrange House, with its five acres of garden and lawn, make the school a desirable one for those who require a change from the dust and bustle of the city to a charming rural residence of the most attractive character, especially when this feature is associated with the unexceptionably excellent educational advantages. A year ago we spoke of Bellegrange School for young ladies as a promising experiment We are pleased to speak of it now as a satisfactory fulfilment.

Supreme Court Judgment.

Judgment was delivered yesterday at Ottawa by the Supreme Court in the case of Sharp vs. Lakefield Lumber and Manufacturing Company, dismissing with costs an appeal by the defendants from the Court of Appeal. This was an action commenced in March, 1889, by the late William Sharp of the Township of Burleigh, against the above named company, to recover damages from the defendants for entering the plaintiff's lands and cutting down timber, and otherwise injuring his property. The defendants claimed that under a certain license they held from the Crown Lands Department they had a right to do so. The case was tried before the Hon Mr. Justice McMahon and a jury at Lindsay, and a verdict given for the plaintiff to the amount of $530.50. From this judgment the case was carried by the defendants to the Court of Appeal, with the result that the appeal was dismissed with costs. Determined to fight to the last, the defendants took the case to the highest court in Canada, and it has finally been disposed of, as far as law costs are concerned, as above stated.

"Just as Good."

Say some dealers who try to sell a substitute preparation when a customer calls for Hood's Sarsaparilla. Do not allow any such false statements as this induce you to buy what you do not want. Remember that the only reason for making it is that a few cents more profit will be made on the substitute. Insist upon having the best medicine—Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is peculiar to itself.

CRYSTAL ANNIVERSARY

Of Macfarlane Wilson's China Hall and Silver Bazaar.

What Half a Score of Years Has Wrought—Third Triennial Expansion of Premises in Answer to the Demands of an Increasing Patronage—Another Chapter Added to the Story—Or, Rather Another Story to the Premises—New Hydraulic Elevator.

Mr. Macfarlane Wilson's extensive business, popularly known under the title of "China Hall," is now in its tenth year, and it has during that time shown a remarkably steady and regular growth, divided into three triennial periods. At the beginning it occupied the first floor of the Bradburn block at the corner of George and Simcoe streets; at the end of three years the expansion of the business required the use of the basement under the shop, and that was fitted up and added to the premises; the business continuing to grow, at the end of another three years the basement under the adjoining shop, Matthews' meat market, was secured; and the business still continuing to expand, at the end of the third triennial period, the second floor above the same establishment was secured, and during the past few months workmen have been busy preparing it for occupation, and now the fourth flat is occupied. The combined floor area used for the business of China Hall is ten thousand square feet, and, without exaggeration, Mr. Wilson can claim to have the most extensive, best equipped, best stocked, and in the Dominion.

As far as premises are concerned, Mr. Wilson expresses his indebtedness to his landlord, Mr. T. Bradburn, who during the former's tenancy of nearly ten years, has been most obliging and willing to make improvements, in this respect exceeding the generally recognized duty of a landlord.

Number one floor in the basement is devoted to storage of surplus stock of the heavier goods, such as lamp chimneys, lantern globes, lamp shades, fruit jars, etc., etc. This will contain 1000 packages of this class of goods, and is always in pretty full use.

Adjoining this is basement number 2, devoted to stock pieces of dinner and tea ware, and the commoner kinds of glassware, and as a show room for delf, white and granite ware, which is arranged attractively on tables, and is continually found replete with a most extensive assortment of these grades of goods. It is also used for receiving and opening goods to be marked and sorted before being distributed to the other departments. Both basement floors are lighted with gas, the electric light being used on the other floors. In one corner of the floor is placed the hydraulic elevator, a very complete apparatus, which conveys the passenger from the basement to the other floors. Here securely railed in, yet exposed to view, is the ingenious machinery which propels the elevator, supplied with motive power from the waterworks mains. This elevating apparatus is very complete, the carriage is elegant and safe, and at each floor are automatic gates, closed when the elevator is not in use. A cunning little incandescent light nestles in one corner of the cage and goes up and down with it. A touch on an electric bell tells the operator at what floor the hoist is required. The elevator can carry several persons with ease and it is also used to take stock from the marking and sorting room in the basement to the upper floors. The elevator was put in by Messrs. Leitch & Co., Hamilton, and gives every satisfaction.

Ascending from the basement the main or ground floor shop is reached. This has been in use for years, and is familiar to thousands of the public, who on entering at the front doors on George street are CONFRONTED WITH A GORGEOUS VIEW.

On the right of the door are seen the splendid walnut and plate glass show cases, 24 inches wide, 30 inches high and twenty feet in length, the interior a glittering mass of silverware in infinite variety, the top laden by a magnificent collection of art pottery, including Royal Worcester, Doulton, Addery Royal Vienna, Carlsbad and Japanese pieces. Behind the show cases, cabinets crowded with silverware line the walls. On the other side of the entrance are seen an array of shelving resplendent with beautiful pottery goods in measureless variety, and similarly laden tables at the sides and a line of tables in the middle leaving "walking room" only.

In the middle of the western side of this floor is found the proprietor's office, entered from the front through an alcove, which contains a beautiful cabinet of cut glass wine cups, champagne glasses and fine cut glass goods—samples from which sales are made. At the opposite door of this office is the cashier's desk. Every part of this flat is in use, floor, walls and ceilings, the latter fairly covered with hanging lamps, over three hundred of these in all kinds being in stock. On this floor are also situated in the rear, the fire proof and burglar proof vaults for storing the surplus stock of silver, cutlery, etc.

Taking the elevator, we begin to rise to the fourth department, but as we rise we glance back as we are nearly on a level with the ceiling, at the shop we have left and the forest of glittering lamps, flashing back the rays of the 30 electric lamps, and glowing with their varied colours, suggest Aladdin's palace. The elevator pauses at a doorway leading into the fourth department. This is indeed a beautiful apartment, 20 x 80 feet in area and lighted with three lofty windows at each end. These windows are shaded with dainty and unique Japanese curtains. This department is devoted especially to the display of China dinner and tea sets, chamber sets, etc, and to this end. The woodwork is painted in dead black, picked out with gilding and the effect is very pleasing. Along the walls on each side stretch lines of shelving divided into compartments by turned and moulded pilasters painted a dead black and relieved with belts of gilding. This shelving rests on a platform about three feet wide and about the same height, covered with maroon felt, edged with walnut, and is supported on the partitions that divide it into compartments, and rests on a lower platform of the same width, about six inches from the floor, and also covered with maroon felt. In each of these compartments there is space for a complete chamber set, and every compartment is filled with splendid samples of the finest ware made. Upon the ledge above are displayed a splendid variety of sample tea sets of the finest imaginable ware, delicate china, thin as the shell of an egg, every piece a fine art sample of the decorative artists' skill. The shelving is also filled with tea sets, and the ledge on the top of it is filled with chamber ware. On one side a cosy corner is given over to five o'clock tea sets, Japanese ware and bric-a-brac of every conceivable kind

Between the side shelving are placed three lines of tables, the middle row of which is two storied—one table above another—covered with crimson felt, and devoted to the exclusive display of dinner sets of every variety, with here and there a beautiful vase or jar, or Japanese porcelain umbrella holder or similar ornament. Above the middle line of tables are suspended two gayly coloured and huge Japanese umbrellas. At one end of this room is a dais carpeted with crimson felt and adorned with a beautiful display of piano and banquet lamps and large vases suitable for floor decoration. On this dais is also placed a dining table with china, silver, cutlery, etc. giving the customer an admirable idea of the appearance a certain set would have when in use, and greatly facilitating choice. In other parts of the room are placed stands covered with black velvet, and containing rich displays of vases, flower pots and other similar ornamental ware, and another dais at the opposite end of the room contains a beautiful display of elegant goods.

On one side of the room the sweep of shelving is broken by a deeply recessed, and wide, arched doorway, flanked by pedestals, on which are placed statuettes selected from the stock of the establishment. The doors, used only on busy days, when the elevator cannot accommodate patrons, admit to a hall leading to stairway ending on George street. This elegant and gorgeously attractive room is brilliantly lighted by twenty incandescent electric lamps, and is a fitting addition to the other beautiful departments of China Hall, and will well repay a visit, and the public is cordially invited to call at any time, without notice or ceremony, and to bring their friends who visit them from abroad, with them. They will be made welcome at all times, and be free to visit and admire every department. They will be treated as guests and will not be urged to buy

As before mentioned, the business of China Hall is rapidly growing, and is by no means confined to the local trade. A large business is done with all the surrounding towns and frequent orders are received from Toronto, Hamilton, and other outside cities. Parties visiting in town and looking through China Hall with its complete and varied lines of all kinds of goods, see and admire articles which they cannot find in local shops and they send an order to Peterborough. China Hall does a jobbing business important enough almost to be dignified with the title of a wholesale trade. A traveller is kept constantly on the road.

China Hall is not only noted for the

but also for reasonable prices which is explained by the fact that, no middlemen levies profits on the goods. With trifling exceptions all goods are brought direct from the manufacturers, and with the exception of silverware and some kinds of glass goods everything is imported direct. Pottery, (including art goods), is imported from the Staffordshire works of Burslem, Hanley, Stoke-on-Trent and other well known places.

Most of the china goods come from Limoges, France; Carlsbad and Vienna.

Belgium supplies glassware, and England and the United States the finer grades of cut glass goods.

Fancy goods are almost exclusively imported from Germany.

Japanese goods of which China hall has a fine supply this season, are imported direct from Yokohama. This department is a specialty, and will be found to contain tete-a-tete sets, cups and saucers, flower pots, umbrella holders, bamboo goods, screens, panels, etc., etc.

Brass goods in polished brass, now a popular article, more in demand in some quarters than silver, will be found represented by hot water kettles, trays, etc., etc. Any person who wants to be in the swim, must be provided with social assurance in the shape of polished brass.

Silverware, of which China Hall handles tons every year, is the only line that is not imported. It is all procured in Canada—from the Meriden Britannia Company, Hamilton, the Toronto Silver Plate Company, and Simpson, Hall & Miller, Montreal. Canada, by the way, produces the best silver plated ware of any country in the world; so it would be unpatriotic as well as unbusinesslike to go abroad for it, and China Hall is neither, and therefore patronizes home industry, a fact that should be always borne in mind by the people of Peterborough, who have in their midst an establishment that has no superior in Canada, so that it is not only unnecessary and hopeless, (with the idea of doing better,) to go abroad for any article that can be found in the fine stock of China Hall, but unpatriotic, as well.

Buy Now, If at All.

EVERY day makes more apparent the fact that the town is going ahead rapidly. Numerous changes have taken place in the way of ownership of property. Many workingmen are buying houses and lots, or lots on which to build. One of the most suitable locations is that known as the Erin property, at the west end, owned largely by Mr. Wm Fitzgerald. This week he has closed the sale of a very desirable house and lot, and has several eligible lots on this property to dispose of. Property in this neighborhood is rapidly being built up, and it will be well to have a look at the situation if one is at all disposed to buy. The terms are very favorable and especially low for cash, though payment on time may be arranged.

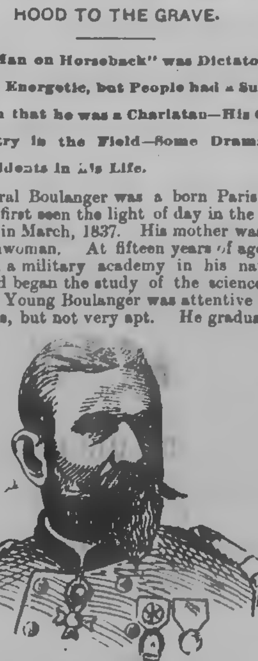
A TURBULENT LIFE.

BOULANGER'S CAREER FROM BOYHOOD TO THE GRAVE.

The "Man on Horseback" was Dictatorial and Energetic, but People had a Suspicion that he was a Charlatan—His Gallantry in the Field—Some Dramatic Incidents in his Life.

General Boulanger was a born Parisian, having first seen the light of day in the gay capital in March, 1837. His mother was an Englishwoman. At fifteen years of age he entered a military academy in his native city and began the study of the science of arms. Young Boulanger was attentive and studious, but not very apt. He graduated seven years later and at once joined the regular army as lieutenant. Soon afterwards he was ordered to Italy and distinguished himself in several engagements that took place in that country.



THE LATE GEN. BOULANGER.

Lieutenant Boulanger's bravery gained honorable mention from his corps commander and he received the gold medal of honor for gallantry in the field. He afterwards followed the army into Africa and while in that wild and uncivilized country gave many evidences of soldierly qualities of the right stamp. He never flinched from following where his commander led the way, and many times, at the risk of being considered presumptuous, performed acts of daring and gallantry entirely upon his own judgment and responsibility. Impatient on one occasion at being restrained in his actions on the field, he exclaimed:

"Place me at the head of the army and France will subjugate the world!"

When the ill-fated Maximilian came to Mexico, dazzled by expectations of founding an empire, Boulanger was an officer in the French Army sent to aid him. When Maximilian, beaten and humiliated, paid the penalty of his rashness, Boulanger returned to France and for some time lived in Paris, taking a prominent part in military and social matters.

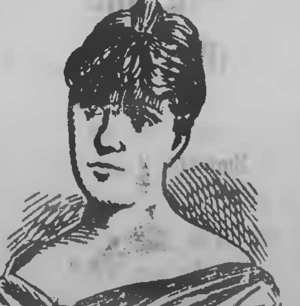
In 1870, when the Franco-Prussian war broke out, he offered his services to the War Department and was made a captain of infantry. Throughout this struggle he carried himself with great dash and gallantry, and when Napoleon III. surrendered at Sedan, Boulanger ranked as colonel, having been promoted successively to that position. His many soldiery qualities had attracted the attention of the Duc d'Aumale, who was then general chief commander of the Seventh Army Corps. A friendship sprang up between the general and colonel which proved advantageous to the latter many times since.

When Napoleon died and the government of France was made Republican, Boulanger allied himself with the Radicals. Through the friendship of M. Clemenceau, to whom he is related, he was made a division commander in the army in 1877. He was assigned to the war office in 1878, as chief of the department of infantry, and while holding this position came to the United States as one of the French representatives at the centennnial celebration of the battle of Yorktown. It is told of him that while passing through the militia camp at that place in company with General Fitz Hugh Lee, he superciliously remarked to the latter, regarding the various regiments:

"Very ordinary soldiers, General; good for parade and show, but worthless for war."

"General," returned Lee, somewhat stung, "had France had an army of such soldiers," pointing to a Virginia regiment, "she would never have known the disgrace of Metz and Sedan."

Shortly after Boulanger's return to France he was promoted from general of division to chief commander of the troops in Tunis. While there he was arrogant and dictatorial and quarrelled with Monsieur Camboy, Consul-General. The matter was referred to the home government, and Boulanger was recalled. Before leaving for home he issued a proclamation to his troops in which he pettishly set forth his troubles with the Consul-General. Monsieur Clemenceau's friendship again served him, for, in six months after his return from Tunis, he was made Minister of War in the de Freycinet Cabinet.



THE LATE MME. BONNEMAIN.

While he occupied that position he closely allied himself with the extreme Radicals, and many times spoke vigorously in the Chamber against the royalist faction. Army officers who had sympathized with the Orleanists and Bourbons and their causes were the special objects of some of his most virulent attacks.

"If it lay in my power," he once remarked, "to expel every man in France with a thought of sympathy in his soul for royalty, I would banish them so far away that their country would be a dream to them."

"Ingrate," hissed a royalist in the Chamber, "you forget your friend, the Duc d'Aumale!"

"I have never claimed nor felt friendship for any man," returned Boulanger, "or class of men who would strangle France to death that they might fatten on her corpse."

At the beginning of his career as Minister of War he showed a great disposition to degrade several prominent and old generals. Among them was Schmitz, whom he dispossessed of his command at Tours; Saussier, Governor of Paris, and De Courcy, the former commander in the Tonquin. He issued an order making it compulsory for all officers and privates of the army to shave their faces clean of all beard. Colonel de Bonneval, of the Twelfth Chasseurs, was the possessor of handsome mustachios and imperial, and so were many of his officers and men. The Colonel, regarding the order as coming from a martinet and unnecessary, did not immediately obey it. As soon as Boulanger learned the fact he summoned the refractory Colonel before him.

"Colonel," he said sternly, "you refuse to obey my orders."

"General," the Colonel returned, "I have not obeyed it because I deem it unnecessary. A beard is not a hindrance to a good soldier."

"Peste!" exclaimed Boulanger; "a good soldier will never question the orders of his chief. You, sir, are sentenced to fifteen days' arrest. Shave him closely," he commanded his subordinates, "and see that he shaves every day during that time."

Boulanger's nature was essentially dictatorial. It is said that many times while sitting in the Cabinet he petulantly remarked: "If I felt disposed to send you all to Mazas (a prison) to-night, no one could prevent me."

The General was an energetic and capable organiser, and was before his downfall described as the rising hope of the party of "La Revanche" in France. In July of 1888 he fought a duel with M. Floquet, and was severely wounded in the throat. He was idolised by the populace as the coming man who was to save France from the blunders of incompetent statesmen; but having been charged by the Senate with appropriating while Minister of War 10,000 pounds of public money for purposes of his own propaganda he fled first to Brussels and then to London in order to escape arrest.

For some months afterward an occasional "Vive Boulanger!" was heard, but these grew fewer and fewer as the ignoble life of the once popular hero was gradually and skillfully revealed by the police, and unwittingly shown by the cries of his victims for the money which they had given to him.

The Duchess d' Ayes was said to have contributed at least 1,000,000 francs to the Boulangist cause, much of which was spent by the charlatan on fine raiment, on high living and in his amours.

While Boulanger lived in London he created a very mild sensation at first, afterward being almost utterly neglected even as a society lion. From London he went to Jersey, where he remained eight months. His last residence was Belgium, where he lived since he left Jersey.

The most famous of General Boulanger's numerous mistresses was Mlle. Richenberg, an actress of the Comedie Francaise.

Mme. Bonnemain was a distinguished-looking woman, who accompanied the General when he went to Jersey. She belonged to a good family and was rich. He was said to have obtained a good quantity of money from her.

In an English Bedroom.

Bedrooms are not usually nearly so comfortably furnished in England as are ours, says The Ladies' Home Journal. It is quite unusual to have a fire in one's bedroom, and the rocking-chair, that comfortable solace of every American woman's life, is conspicuous by its absence. It is not customary either to have gas in the bedrooms. There is an idea that it is unwholesome, and candles are still almost universally used, except on the parlor and dining-room floors. I have sometimes thought that the poor lighting of the bed and dressing-rooms of the English homes, had much to do in contributing to the dowdy and unstylish dressing of the women, the majority of whom always have their skirts a little bit crooked, or the petticoat showing unevenly on one side or the other. In furnishing a bedroom the dressing table—used instead of our bureaus—is always put against a window so as to catch all the light possible. This looks odd both in the room and from the ouside of the house. You see the unpainted backs of looking-glasses at the upper windows of the handsomest houses, and even in Marlborough House—the palace of the Prince of Wales.

The Mooted Question.

Sir Golden Rod, forerunner of the fall,
When I beheld your greenish tassels,
I feel a hatred toward your stature tall,
So, count me not among your vassals.

I know they sing of you in prose and rhyme
But knowledge that you soon will bloom
Assures me waning fast is summer-time,
And my fond heart is filled with gloom.

Then blame not, thou would-be yellow flower,
When I to you a secret very deal confide,
That in the now fast waning summer hour,
I've met her,—kissed her,—query: will she be my wife?

The druggists tell us that people call daily for the new cure for constipation and sick headache discovered by Dr Silas Lane. It sells for 50c. and $1 a package, and is called Lane's Family Medicine. dw

ASSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA.

The attention of our Policy-Holders is directed to the following summary of the leading items of the present report, which speaks for itself as to the progress and prosperity of the Company:—

Increase over 1889	75,649.05
Death claims fallen in during 1890	143,961.65

The progress made by the SUN LIFE during 1890 was remarkable. The new business was the largest in the Company's history, and was equalled by but one other Canadian Life Company. The income for the year exceeds $2,000 for each day in the year, Sundays included. The Assets are large and rapidly increasing. They are, moreover, of the highest character, yielding an average interest of 6.04 per cent. The overdue interest is small, and the Real Estate owned under foreclosure is only four per cent. of the amount of mortgages. This is a remarkable showing. The SURPLUS accumulated during the FOUR years of the current quinquennium is nearly THREE TIMES as much as the amount earned during any previous FIVE years, and the profits to Policy-holders cannot fail thus to be highly satisfactory. The following are the figures:—

Net Surplus, 31st Dec., 1881, (five years)	$64 524 07

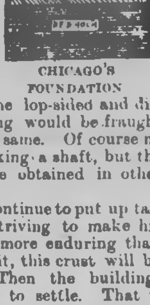
A SERIOUS PROBLEM.

GEN. FITZ-SIMONS APPREHENDS THE SETTLING OF SKY-SCRAPERS.

Dangers Which May Follow the Erection of Too Many Tall Buildings—Chicago said to be Practically Afloat—Resting on a Semi-Fluid Mass.

"Under existing conditions," said Gen. Fitz-Simons, "I would not invest a cent in one of those tall office buildings being erected down-town. Chicago is now confronted with a very serious problem. While I am not an alarmist I must say that a grave danger exists from the big buildings.

"Chicago is practically afloat. We are resting upon a semi-fluid mass which is covered by a crust only sixteen feet thick. The pressure of the tall buildings upon this semi-fluid mass has a tendency to force this substance up on either side. It's just like placing a brick in a pan of dough. The brick sinks down and the dough rises upon all sides of it. The same thing must happen with the buildings. As I said before, the crust, which is of tough clay, is sixteen feet thick. Beneath this there is a soft substance, which is almost a fluid. It is from thirty to thirty-six feet thick, resting upon a stratum of indurated clay, directly underneath which is the hard-pan. Now, as long as the crust remains intact we are all right, but break the crust and the most disastrous results would follow.



CHICAGO'S FOUNDATION

"Take this building, for instance," and the General gazed out of his office window in the tenth story of the Tacoma block. "Suppose some one should sink a shaft through the crust of the earth near here. The pressure of this building would force that semi-fluid substance up the shaft, and as the soft clay went up the building would go down. There would be no sudden tumble like that which an earthquake would cause. It would be a gradual settling, the building would become lop-sided and distorted, but the sinking would be fraught with danger just the same. Of course no one would think of sinking a shaft, but the same results might be obtained in other ways.

"As the architects continue to put up tall buildings, each one striving to make his structure stronger and more enduring than the one erected before it, this crust will be repeatedly pierced. Then the buildings near the cut will begin to settle. That is the reason why the Government Building is crumbling to pieces. That is why the Board of Trade tower has settled eight inches. The Board of Trade is built on a foundation of solid concrete three feet thick. It was supposed that this would make the structure as solid as the bed-rock itself. But the contractors went too deep for their foundations, or else they didn't go deep enough, hence the trouble.

"The bed of the Chicago River is just beneath the crust, and if the water was pumped out all the buildings near by would settle and the semi-fluid substance would be forced up accordingly. We had a practical illustration of that fact when we built a coffer-dam in the river near Van Buren street. As soon as the water was removed the soft clay began to ooze up, and we had to cover the bottom with a ruffle of stone before we could go on with the work. The weight of the water in the river just keeps up an equilibrium with the downward pressure of the buildings along the banks of the stream.

"Aside from the greatly congested condition of the down-town streets caused by the multiplicity of tall buildings," concluded Gen. Fitz-Simons, "you can see that they are actually a menace to the city. The only way to insure absolute safety is to sink the foundation fifty feet to the hard clay by driving piles. That was done with the Court-House and with the Chicago Opera-House Block. They will stand as long as time itself."—Chicago Tribune.

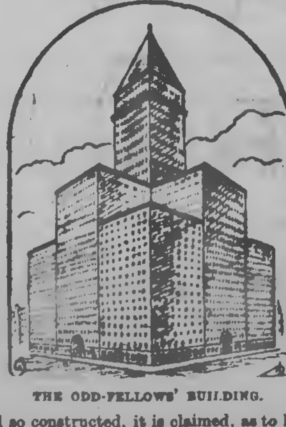
The Odd-Fellows' Thirty-four Story Building and What It Will Stand On.

The Illinois Odd-Fellows intend to outdo the Masons in the line of high buildings. The plans and specifications are prepared for a building to be thirty-four stories high, and so constructed, it is claimed, as to have windows in every apartment facing the light. The main portion of the building will be twenty-stories high, the tower constituting the remainder fourteen stories and rising to a height of 556 feet. The area of the site will be 43,000 square feet, and the broad base, 177x210 feet, will cover the entire tract to a height of thirty feet above the sidewalk.



THE ODD-FELLOWS' BUILDING.

And this enormous structure, according to Gen. Fitz-Simons, will rest only on a thin clay bed above a stratum of soft earth —quicksand.—Tribune.

EDITED A PRISON PAPER.

The Career of Charles Morton, Arrested at Binghamton.

BINGHAMTON, N.Y., Nov. 18.—Charles Morton, alias William Lumard, who was arrested here yesterday charged with attempting to defraud a number of State banks by means of fraudulent drafts, made a statement to-day.

He was born in California and after knocking about considerably he entered the journalistic field and contributed to a number of papers in the west. Recently he had contributed to some New York publications. While in New York he became acquainted with an individual named Sprague. He became quite confidential with the latter, and Sprague unfolded to him a plan by which he said he (Morton) could manage to get plenty of funds. This plan, Morton says, was just what he was attempting to carry out when he was detected. He opened a correspondence with the cashier of the Cattaraugus Bank, pretending that he was a banker in Wheatland, Cal., and that he was on East for the purpose of buying property in his town for a wealthy California widow. Incidentally he asked the cashier to deposit checks, which he inclosed to the amount of $3000 to his credit, and forward him a New York draft for the same. The draft was forwarded, but meantime telegraphic inquiries were sent to California concerning Morton by the cashier of the Cattaraugus Bank, which elicited the information that he was a fraud. The cashier at once had the draft cancelled and Morton was arrested afterward.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—One of the editors of Puck said that Morton was but recently released from the Stillwater (Minn.) penitentiary, where he had served a seven years' sentence for forgery. While serving his term in that prison he edited a paper called The Prison Mirror, which was widely quoted by various newspapers. Morton is said to be an unusually brilliant writer, and several of his contributions were accepted by Puck, the editor believing that the man had reformed. It was believed that Morton came from California.

Stopped the Train to Fine the Engineer.

OAKLAND, Md., Nov. 17.—There is a town ordinance which prohibits trains from running at a greater rate of speed than six miles an hour within the corporate limits. Saturday evening the engineer of the Chicago express was arrested for violating this ordinance, and the train was delayed until the case was heard by a justice. The engineer was fined and then allowed to go to his train. The ordinance has never been enforced before, and the Chicago express carried both passengers and the United States mails.

VERY BAD FOR THE CZAR.

NEVER IN THE HISTORY OF THE RUSSIAN EMPIRE

Has the Situation Been So Dark for Alexander—The Movement Favoring an Elective Parliament Has Caused the Crowned Heads to Tremble.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—Since the arrest at Moscow on Thursday last of about 100 members of noble families, literateurs and others, charged with being concerned in the movement looking to the creation of a popular assembly or parliament similar to the Temsky labor assembly under the early czars, it has become known that this alleged conspiracy was of much wider extent than at first supposed, and it is said that several hundred people have been taken into custody, in addition to those referred to.

From the time the discovery of this "plot" became known the correspondents in Russia of the news agencies and newspapers have been doing their utmost to discover the true inwardness of these wholesale arrests; but apparently, without success, for little or no news regarding this revoluntioary movement can be procured.

A United Press correspondent at St. Petersburg wired last night as follows: "Strictest censorship on press despatches observed. The Government is contemplating severe measures against newspaper correspondents. It is almost impossible to get or send facts regarding the arrests of nobles and others who have been planning the creation of a parliament elected by the people. Extensive arrests have been made here as well as in Moscow and other cities. All information is refused. The police advise correspondents not to comment on the arrests. The situation is very grave and the wildest rumors are circulating."

In this city, however, there are a number of prominent Russian exiles who seem to be able to laugh at the Russian police and who are kept constantly well informed by some secret means as to nearly all that transpires in Russia.

One of the most prominent of these refugees was questioned last night in regard to the large number of arrests now being made in Russia. After the correspondent had pledged himself not to use his informant's name the latter said in substance that never in the history of the Russian empire was the situation of affairs within the dominions of the Czar so desperate and so weighted with danger to the imperial regime.

"Not a quarter of the real horrors of the famine are known," he added. "Thousands are dying in the famine-stricken districts of starvation or typhoid fever, influenza or other diseases. In some sections," said the Russian gentleman referred to, "the distress is as great as when the cholera or the plague swept down upon villages and towns and took all their inhabitants off the face of the earth.

"Even were the governments so constituted that an honest attempt could be made to relieve the sufferers; even had the government at its disposal the immense sums of money which would be necessary to relieve the distressed, thousands more would perish before help could reach them, even supposing that the inclemency of a Russian winter would permit the free transportation of supplies."

A Man Who Lived by Licensing Quacks Comes to Grief.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Nov. 18.—Yesterday Dr. T. W. Van Vleck was arrested for issuing bogus diplomas for money permitting the holders to practice medicine.

The institution which issued the diplomas, and of which Van Vleck is the president, has held a charter for nine years and has existed in secret during that time. It was known as the Medical University of Ohio. It has no building and no lectures are given. The matter has caused much comment among local medical men. It is not known how many diplomas were issued in this manner, but it has been learned that burial permits have been issued by persons holding such diplomas. Van Vleck's charge for a diploma varied from $200 down to a few dollars. Van Vleck was released to-night on $1000 bail.

He Shoots a Five-Cent Piece Into an Ottawa Barber.

OTTAWA, Nov. 18.—At St. Anne's Hall last night "Prof." George Gaw, assisted by one Albert Lecour, a small boy, was doing the trick of firing a five-cent piece on to a tray, but overcharged his pistol and the coin lodged in the groin of one Louis Goyette, a barber employed by Mr. Miles of the Russell. Dr. Powell and two other physicians were speedily in attendance, but have failed to locate the coin and Goyette is in a critical condition. Gaw was arrested.

BRAZIL'S REVOLUTION.

Preparations for a Big Battle in the Disaffected Province.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—The opposition to Marshal de Fonseca's dictatorship in Brazil continues to grow in strength. Porto Alegre, the capital of the revolted province of Rio Grande do Sul, is now in the hands of the national party and preparations for its defense are being actively made.

Almost daily bodies of deserters from the Dictator's army are joining the ranks of the Junta's army, and both sides are preparing for a desperate struggle. De Fonseca is said to be expecting soon to be in a position to move upon Rio Grande do Sul with an army of 60,000 men, while leaving his rear and base of operations protected by a strong reserve force of troops.

According to the official advices received by the Brazilian Minister here, Rio Janeiro is perfectly tranquil and is likely to remain so. The Dictator is reported to have 20,000 of his troops in and about Rio Janeiro.

Fighting between the Dictator's troops and the Nationalists is again reported from Itaqui. The Dictator's troops have surrendered and have joined issue with their captors. This places another arsenal with a further stock of arms and ammunition in the possession of the insurgents.

IMMORALITY IN THE ARMY.

The French Minister of War to Put a Stop to It.

PARIS, Nov. 18.—The Minister of War has directed a thorough inquiry as to alleged instances of immorality in the army.

He is resolved to stamp out vicious practices which, it is said, were especially prevalent in the time of the late Napoleon and were supposed to have virtually disappeared with the other evils that attended the gilded pageant of the empire.

Of late circumstances have come to light that leave no doubt of a moral relapse in certain quarters, and the case at Chalons is said to be not exceptional.

Perished from Exposure.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—News was received here yesterday that the British bark Kate Sancton, Capt. Evans, which sailed from Shields Nov. 4 for Pensacola, was abandoned in a sinking condition in the North Sea on the 11th inst. The vessel encountered terrific gales while proceeding on her voyage and was badly damaged by both the wind and sea. Her sails were torn into shreds, her yards and masts went by the board and everything moveable about the decks was washed away. The bark was strained so much in the raging sea that she soon commenced to make water fast and although the crew worked with desperate energy at the pumps they were finally compelled to give up the hopeless task and take to the boats. The men had a terrible experience and nine of them died from the effects of their long and exhausting exposure to the elements. The captain of the bark and three of his men struggled on and were at length sighted by a passing vessel and rescued. They were in a pitiable condition when landed at Gravesend.

Snowfall in the Northwest.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 18.—Several inches of snow fell here to-day. Reports from various parts of the Northwest indicate that the storm was general. At Moorhead three inches of snow fell and a blizzard is threatening. It snowed all day at St. Cloud. Half a foot of snow fell last night and this morning at Aberdeen, S.D., and it is drifting badly. It is the first snow for the season and farmers are poorly prepared for it, much grain still being in the ground and little ploughing done.

Not Capital Enough for the Paper.

DUBLIN, Nov. 17.—There seems to be little prospect that the proposed organ of the Parnellite faction will be started. It was to be a morning paper, but sufficient capital is not forthcoming.

The Pope's Health.

ROME, Nov. 18.—The Pope has fully recovered his health, and notwithstanding the cool weather takes daily exercise in the Vatican gardens, except when it storms, when he takes exercise in a hall especially fitted up for the purpose in the Vatican. It is reported that the Pope has not yet come to a decision on the question of leaving Rome, but there is no reason to believe that the idea has been abandoned.

Baby's Face was Raw

Distressing Itching Skin Disease Cured in one Month by the Cuticura Remedies.

When our baby was six weeks old he had a rash on his cheek. It spread on both cheeks and chin. His face was raw. I doctored with various remedies, but it got no better. My mother advised me to try the CUTICURA REMEDIES. I used them faithfully, and in one week the boy looked better. In one month he was cured, and now he is three years old and no signs of it returning. The child was so bad I had to tie him in a pillow-case, and pin his hands down so that he could not scratch his face. I cannot speak too highly of the CUTICURA REMEDY. I recommend CUTICURA whenever I can. I would be pleased to see any one and talk to them of the good it has done my boy.

Buy Now, If at All.

EVERY day makes more apparent the fact that the town is going ahead rapidly. Numerous changes have taken place in the way of ownership of property. Many workingmen are buying houses and lots, or lots on which to build. One of the most suitable locations is that known as the Erin property, at the west end, owned largely by Mr. Wm Fitzgerald. This week he has closed the sale of a very desirable house and lot, and has several eligible lots on this property to dispose of. Property in this neighborhood is rapidly being built up, and it will be well to have a look at the situation if one is at all disposed to buy. The terms are very favorable and especially low for cash, though payment on time may be arranged.

ANOTHER ARREST ON A CHARGE OF CONSPIRACY.

Larkin to be Tried Separately From the Other Alleged Conspirators—A Formal Demand by the Prosecution for the Production of the Missing Books.

OTTAWA, Nov. 19.—Inspector O'Leary of the Dominion Police arrested J. R. Arnoldi, ex-mechanical engineer of the Public Works Department, yesterday. The charge is that of conspiracy in defrauding the Government. There are several specific charges in the warrant. The arrest was effected at 1 o'clock in the Russell House and Arnoldi was immediately taken to the police magistrate's office. He made very light of his arrest, treating it as a matter of no importance. Bail was immediately found, his brother, Ling Arnoldi, architect, and Hon. Francis Clemow, senator, becoming his bondsmen for $2000 each and he being bound in $2000. He was then allowed to go home, but will appear before Magistrate O'Gara to-morrow.

There was a change of base on the part of the crown at the resumption of the conspiracy trials before Judge Ross this morning. Mr. Osler announced that on looking over the evidence he found it would be necessary to proceed separately against the defendant Larkin, and he would therefore ask that his name be struck out of the informations laid against the other implicated parties. As it would not be possible to prosecute Larkin at this time he would ask that Commissioner Sherwood be bound over to prosecute at the first court of competent jurisdiction.

The two informations laid against Larkin are for (1) unlawfully conspiring in May, 1883, with O. E. Murphy of Quebec, and other persons for the firm of Larkin, Connolly & Co., in the profits of which firm Hon. Thomas McGreevy was interested, divers large sums of money the property of the Harbor Commissioners of Quebec with intent to cheat and defraud said harbor commissioners; (2) for conspiring with Hon. Thomas McGreevy and other parties in April, 1887, to cheat and defraud the Quebec Harbor Commissioners.

After the examination of one or two witnesses, Mr. Osler called for the immediate production of certain letters which McIntyre claimed he had not proved possession. He stated he would have no argument; he must have immediate production. A conference ensued and Mr. Ferguson, Q.C., said: "We will see if we have any papers that do not belong to us; if we have we will return them."

Mr. Osler: When?

Mr. Ferguson: Next Tuesday.

The accused then entered into their recognizances to appear and the court adjourned till Tuesday.

Mr. Osler says he will certainly prosecute the separate charges against P. Larkin and probably make his friends respondents in separate suits. All depends on developments. He will prosecute Arnoldi to-morrow.

John Charlton's Seat Secure.

SIMCOE, Nov. 19.—The petition against the return of John Charlton, Liberal member in the Dominion House for the north riding of Norfolk, was yesterday dismissed with costs, as also the cross-petition filed by the respondent. Counsel for the petitioner stated that sufficient evidence was not forthcoming to substantiate the charges made.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Nov. 19.—Miss Hibbert, daughter of Capt. Hibbert of Yarmouth, purchased at Digby the first through ticket ever issued at that station to a person going to Hong Kong. The lady came by the Bay of Fundy steamer to St. John, where she took the C.P.R. for Vancouver, thence to Hong Kong by steamer. She is due at Hong Kong on Dec. 10, on which day she is to wed Captain Brown of Hantsport, but who is now in charge of the docks at Hong Kong. The particulars of the case are a bit romantic. Miss Hibbert visited Hong Kong early last summer with her father. There she met Captain Brown for the first time. She promised to return in the fall and marry him and she has kept her word.

THE KNIGHTS OF LABOR

QUEER STORY ABOUT THE HOUSE THAT POWDERLY BUILT.

Ex-Treasurer Turner's Attacks Upon the Head of the Order—Exhibiting Some Remarkable Letters—Powderly Produces Documentary Evidence in Denial

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 19.—The feature of the convention of the Knights of Labor at Toledo, Ohio, during the past week had been the report of the committee appointed at the previous session to investigate ex-Treasurer Frederick Turner's books. The report of this committee, unanimously adopted, was to the effect that Turner had refused to appear before them or to give up the cancelled checks and other documents in his possession, and that in the absence of these documents the investigation showed a balance of over $14,000 unaccounted for, even crediting him with $17,000 expended according to his statements.

Mr. Turner, who was found at his grocery, indignantly denied that his accounts were wrong in any particular. He said that Expert Sinnexon, employed by the order, had sworn that his accounts were all right at the end of the convention of 1888, when he left the Powderly camp. He had retained all the cancelled checks for his own protection

One of the canceled checks in Turner's possession shows that on June 23, 1886, $1000 were drawn from the order's funds at the Corn Exchange National Bank by T. V. Powderly, followed by the drawing of an additional $1500 on Aug. 26.

The story that Mr. Turner hinged upon these checks was that Powderly wanted to buy a house, but he didn't have the money to buy it, while the order did. He wanted to use the order's money without anybody knowing anything about it.

The Executive Board at that time consisted of Powderly, Hayes, Bailey and Barry, all staunch Powderly men except Barry. So according to Turner, Barry was sent away on some fictitious mission and Powderly and his two satellites held a meeting and loaned the general master workman $2500 of the order's money. It was agreed that the money should be returned and also that Powderly should not be compelled to go down into his own pocket to do it. His salary at that time was $1500 a year. It was arranged that as soon as the convention met in the fall his salary should be increased to $5000, which would enable him to pay with the order's money what he had taken out of the order's treasury. At the Richmond Convention in October, 1886, this plan was carried out, Powderly's salary being raised to the prearranged figures.

The General Master Workman received his salary monthly, with a fat expense bill in addition, and about four months after the "increase" voted him by the Richmond Convention he began to pay off the loan in driblets.

Mr. Turner exhibited in this connection a bundle of letters received by him from Powderly. They were marked "personal," "private" or "confidential." They were addressed to "My dear Fred" and were signed "Terry." In a letter dated Aug. 25, 1886, Powderly made his second demand on Treasurer Turner for a chunk of the order's money, concluding with: "Barry has said so much concerning what has transpired on the board that I do not want him to know anything about this unless he calls for it, and if he does let me know, so that I can at once get the money and pay it back to you."

On Feb. 2, 1887, he wrote to Turner to the effect that he expected to make a beginning of paying off his debt. This letter concludes with: "Let no one see this, for I am under the impression that some one goes over all the letters that they find on your desk or on Charlie's." Two days afterward when he made his first payment on the loans he wrote: "Several things have leaked out that ought to have been kept quiet," and he complained that somebody was trying to find out what was going on.

"I have in my possession many other letters from Powderly," said Mr. Turner. "I never thought of using any of his personal letters against him until he and his friends attacked me. A committee waited on me last spring and wanted me to give up my canceled checks. I refused to do this, because it would have deprived me of substantial weapons had we ever got into the courts. It was always my intention to sue Powderly the minute he should give utterance to the charges against me. It was useless to sue the others, because they didn't have any property, and I couldn't sue a corporation."

Mr. Turner was asked if he thought there was actually a shortage of $14,000 or any other sum in the order's accounts.

"I don't know anything about the order's accounts now," he replied quickly.

"While I don't know anything about the order, I will venture to make one assertion. Since the publication of the fact that I have in my possession a voucher for a $55 piece of furniture bought by Secretary Hayes, charged to the order, and then sent to his own house, it will not be many days before that bit of property will be forwarded by him to the general headquarters as proof of his honesty. I don't know whether any other articles will accompany it or not."

The famous ex-treasurer had some amusing incidents to relate in the way of the presenting of the general officers' bills. Cigars and drinks for their friends, laundry for themselves and families, clothes and furniture formed striking parts of the curiously itemized accounts.

"Powderly was never caught in anything like that, though," he continued. "He was too shrewd. His monthly expense bills averaged from $100 to $175, that sum being handed over to him in addition to his fat salary. He always paid all his bills himself and then presented his own bill to the treasury. He never ran up bills for other persons to present. He made up his own accounts, and I must say that he presented as nice, clean and pretty a bill as I ever saw."

Mr. Turner expressed the opinion that the alert secretary might now appropriately repeat the note which he sent to Powderly during the enthusiasm of the last convention, and which was subsequently picked up by Barry:

Good God, Terry, what would the order do without you and me? HAYES.

Ex-Treasurer Turner was asked to-day what he had to say in reply to Mr. Powderly's statement denying some of the charges. "When he made that denial," said Mr. Turner, "I don't think he had read the published accounts of the matter. He had probably forgotten that he wrote those tell-tale letters which give away the whole story of the loan. When he says his house was built and paid for by his own money he says what his own letters over his own signature contradict. Before this thing is over he will be sorry that he had the habit of writing letters.

"As a member of the General Executive Board I know it to be true that his salary was raised from $1500 to $5000 at the Richmond Convention in order to enable him to pay off the loan he had made from the order's treasury. What the order thought of the Richmond proceedings was shown by the falling off in membership of hundreds of thousands, District Assembly No. 1 alone shrinking from 79,000 to 3000 within a year.

"It is just like Powderly to say that he opposed me at Indianapolis in 1888 because I was incompetent. I have a letter from him dated a short time prior to that convention, in which he urged me to be a candidate, and declared he would support me whether I was a candidate or not. I have the original documents to prove every assertion that I have made against "Terry.""

One of the most stalwart adherents to the cause of the Knights of this city is Lawyer Charles S. Keyser of 524 Walnut-street. Mr. Keyser is the leading counsel for the order. He has always been known as a friend of Powderley.

He said yesterday: "Mr. Powderly unquestionably should make a full explanation. Until that is done I should not wish to condemn him. It cannot be denied that he appears at present to be in a precarious predicament. If he borrowed money from the treasury of the order surreptitiously, as the letters exhibited by Turner seem to indicate, he committed a grave offence. It was unlawful, and if the charge is shown to be true I shall certainly lose all respect for Mr. Powderly and favor some other man in his place. I shall wait like others for an explanation.

"If Mr. Powderly carried as a loan money that was supposed by the order to be in the treasury, the fact of his paying it back doesn't make the offence less grave. I do not see that the slightest justification could be advanced for such a loan. The man at the head of a great labor organization should be a man of unimpeachable honesty."

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 19.—At the session of of the General Assembly Henry I. Allen of Michigan stated that as a member of the Special Finance Committee he knew ex-Secretary Turner's statement made in the papers yesterday, denouncing Powderly as dishonest, was untrue. He suggested that Powderly be requested to give a detailed statement replying to the accusation of Turner. Powderly did so, verifying his statement with vouchers.

A SENSATION IN NEW YORK.

A Detective Comes Over Among the Immigrants.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—A sensation that threatens to be far more than a nine day's wonder occurrrd at the barge office yesterday.

It came as the culmination of a detective trip of Special Immigration Commissioner H. J. Schulteis, and in the shape of the broadest charge of grossest immorality that ever was leveled at immigrants to this country.

It attacked 116 of them and implicated some of the crew of the steamship Servia.

Schulteis, it appears, disguised himself as an immigrant, and took passage on the Servia to this country in the steerage.

When the vessel arrived yesterday he made known his identity to Superintendent Weber, and demanded that 11 of the immigrants be detained, charging them with immorality and with being assisted paupers.

Col. Weber asked the commissioner to make specific charges of immorality against any one of the immigrants and he would at once investigate the case. Mr. Schulteis then made formal charges of immorality against Ingoberg Peterson, a 17-year-old Swedish girl. He mentioned some of the crew of the Servia as having been her accomplices in vice.

The girl denies the charge with great vehemence, and requested an examination by a physician. Col. Weber promptly released her as well as the other immigrants, on Mr. Schulteis' failure to prove any of his charges. The Peterson girl has been advised to bring an action for criminal slander against the commissioner. Mr. Schulteis says he will press the matter at the meeting of the commissioners.

OFFENDED AT THE KAISER.

Munich Wants His Autograph Entry in the Golden Book Erased.

MUNICH, Nov. 19.—There is a strongly supported movement among the city councilors to compel the erasure from the Golden Book of the Kaiser's autograph entry, on the occasion of his recent visit, to the effect that the will of the King is the supreme law.

It is argued that the statement is not true of the King of Bavaria, who is a constitutional monarch, and that if it was made as an allusion to the Kaiser himself it was an insult to the people of Bavaria.

The feeling on the subject runs very high in Munich, and it is thought that if the authorities do not themselves expunge the obnoxious entry it may be done against their wishes.

The Health of Ontario.

TORONTO, Nov. 18.—The quarterly meeting of the Provincial Board of Health commenced here to-day. The report of Dr. Bryce, the secretary, showed that there had been serious outbreaks of typhoid fever and diphtheria in this and other cities. Hence the importance of good sewerage arrangements, pure water and clean privies. By such means would epidemics be lessened.

Matriculation Scholarships.

TORONTO, Nov. 18.—There is now some encouragement for the matriculation candidate in the University of Toronto to put forth his best efforts. Heretofore there were practically only two scholarships offered for this work. But now, through the generosity of Hon. Edward Blake, the matriculation examination has been richly endowed with scholarships. From two the number has been raised to 28.

A circular containing the full list of prizes and the regulations governing their distribution will shortly be issued to high school masters for their consideration.

There shall be, including the Prince of Wales scholarship, nine junior matriculation scholarships for general proficiency in the four departments of classics, mathematics, modern languages, science and in the sub-departments of history and geography.

The Storm on Lake Huron.

GODERICH, Nov. 19.—A heavy gale accompanied by snow commenced early yesterday morning, gradually subsiding this morning. About three miles north of here a vessel was sighted, showing a flag of distress. By the aid of the glass she is a large three-master, red bottom, green top sides, name unknown. Efforts are being made to reach her.

Daily Examiner.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 1891.

THE emigration from Great Britain and Ireland for the ten months ending October 31, 1891, was 303,934, as compared with 287,328 for the ten months ending October 31, 1890 Of last year's emigrants, 123,415 were English, 20,308 were Scotch and 55,691 were Irish, while 101,511 are described as foreigners, a feature of the report which is not explained. The United States received nearly all the Irish emigrants, two-thirds of the Scotch and three fifths of the English. The total emigration to the United States was 230,373, to British North America 23,165 and to Australasia 33,165.

IN 1882 Sir John Macdonald feasted what was called "The Old Guard,"—the members of Parliament who had stood by him during the crisis brought on by the Pacific scandal. They numbered then between forty and fifty, but in less than ten years their numbers have been reduced to eight. Only seven of the Pacific scandal crowd are left in the House of Commons. Their names are:—Messrs. Bergin, Baker, Bowell, Costigan, Haggart, Kirkpatrick and Sir Donald Smith, of whom four are Cabinet ministers. Mr. Abbott and Mr. Carling were then in the House of Commons, but are now in the Senate. It was Mr. Abbott who drew up the agreement between Sir Hugh Allan and the Government, on the strength of which the former advanced the corruption fund, his promised reward being the Canadian Pacific Railway charter. Sir Donald Smith, who is now a very subservient supporter of the Government, went against Sir John, and it was then that he threatened to lick Sir Donald "quicker than hell would scorch a feather."

FIVE Liberals and one Conservative, remarks the Mail, are out in the cold through the judgments, expected or actually pronounced, of the election courts. The disparity in the figures gives the Conservatives an opportunity to jubilate. But it is to be borne in mind that the trials of the cases in which the Conservatives are concerned have scarcely been commenced. It takes a very little to unseat a member nowadays, and possibly some of the Conservatives whose seats are protested will find this one out. One circumstance that strikes the observer as remarkable, if not actually unjust, is the fact that while sitting members are put to the expense of new elections through the acts of others, the actual bribers escape scot free. The names of corrupt persons are certainly reported to the Speaker; but that is the end of the matter. A member who has been named is as happy as one who has escaped that punishment, and an elector who has been reported for corruption is in the same box. How bribery can be stopped when the offence brings no punishment it is impossible to explain.

AN Ottawa correspondent of The London Times, apparently a fairly well-informed Tory gives the following forecast of the reorganised Cabinet:—Premier and President of the Council, Mr. Abbott; Justice, Sir J. Thompson; Finance, Mr. G. Foster; Customs, Mr. Bowell; Agriculture, Mr. Carling; Marine, Mr. Tupper; Secretary of State, Colonel Ouimet; Postoffice, Mr. Chapleau; Militia, Mr. Haggart; Public Works, probably Mr. Meredth or some prominent Ontario man; Railways, Mr. Angers; Inland Revenue, Mr. Costigan; Interior, Mr. Dewdney. The same correspondent frankly admits that Mr. Abbott promised to consider the promotion of Mr. Chapleau "to the Ministry of Railways or that of Public Works, the great spending departments," but that he considered himself absolved from this pledge on the ground that Mr. Chapleau's administration of his own department was "notoriously unsatisfactory." Mr. Abbott is credited with "standing firm," a declaration rather inconsistent with the announcement that the "notoriously unsatisfactory" Minister is to be not only kept in the Cabinet but promoted.

Some Wonderful Echoes.

They Have Astonished Visitors—Echoes From the Atlantic to the Pacific—Canadians Wonder.

An echo in Woodstock Park, Oxfordshire, repeats seventeen syllables by day and twenty by night. One on the banks of the Lago del Lupo, above the fall of Terni, repeats fifteen. But the most remarkable echo known is one on the north side of Shipley Church, in Sussex, which distinctly repeats twenty-one syllables. In the Abbey Church at St. Albans is a curious echo. The tick of a watch may be heard from one end of the church to the other. In Gloucester Cathedral a gallery of an octagonal form conveys a whisper seventy-five feet across the nave. In Canada, although we do not possess such edifices, remarkable for echo producing, our country can boast of a name which daily resounds from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and from the cold and dreary north to the sunny plains and orange groves of the south. It is a household word, and is synonymous with joy, health, peace and contentment. It is none other than Paine's Celery Compound, which restores the nervous, weak, sleepless, broken-down, dyspeptic, neuralgic and rheumatic to sound health and robustness of body. Its name is everywhere hailed with joy and pleasure; its wonders have made it the great and popular Canadian remedy. Paine's Celery Compound, unlike the ordinary preparations of our day, is an all-powerful agent for the eradication of disease and suffering, and cures without fail. Thousands of the best people of Canada have sent in their testimonials, and attest to wonderful results. There are no disappointments when it is used.

Hon. John Dryden.

Lecture at Woodstock by Ontario's Minister of Agriculture on "The Kind of Men we Want."

WOODSTOCK, Nov. 17.—Hon. John Dryden, Minister of Agriculture and chairman of the Board of Governors of McMaster University, delivered an address in the Baptist College here to-night on the subject, "The Kind of Men we Want." His remarks were founded, as he intimated on opinions which he had formed from a study of the characteristics which God has given us in His own word. Jesus of Nazareth, he said, was the one ideal man, having all the characteristics necessary for the different departments of life. Referring to these characteristics the speaker first dwelt on the need of physical culture, and pointed out that the men we want to-day are those who are strong.

THE NEXT CHARACTERISTIC

necessary was education. He referred not merely to a school education, but an education all along the line. Speaking from a farmer's standpoint, he said he was ashamed of his brother farmers who say that they did not need education. On the contrary, he thought there was was no other class of people who could make a better use of a liberal education than the farmers. Men ought to be so educated that they would be possessed with self-control. It was a pretty hard lesson to learn, but if a man was to make the best use of himself in this world he must learn the power of self-control. He must also learn to control his thoughts. He must have patience, the patience that enables a man to stand still; if he is in the right and knows it. And a man to be successful must be courageous above everything. Referring to the ambition of young men, he said there are three things which they learn to do which they ought not to do. He referred to the habit of swearing which he thought was devilish; to smoking which he thought apish and drinking which he termed beastly. The next characteristic referred to was honesty. "There is a great deal of talk nowadays about this," said he. "We have had in this Canada of ours that most of us are beginning to think that the men who are wanted should be honest men. We can have honest men in the high places of this land of ours if we say so. If the people themselves are honest they will have honest rulers, and if they are dishonest they will have dishonest rulers. We are to blame for this if there is any blame, because in no country in the wide world do the people govern so directly and so certainly as in this country of ours. We want honesty, not merely in the men who are sent down to the Legislature, but in every class of men. This honesty is even needed in the pulpit. This honesty is a rare article in this world." Other characteristics referred to by the speaker were activity, sympathy and faith. Young men, he said, should be careful in their choice of a calling; they should recognize that they are but part of the whole community, and as they lift up other men they lift themselves up, and they should possess that faith that makes a man do his duty and do his best in this life. The address was a practical and an interesting one, and notwithstanding the severe nature of the weather was listened to by a large audience.

What Cured Him?

Disturbed, disturbed, with pain oppressed;
No sleep, no rest; what dreadful pest
Such terrors thus ensnared him?
Dyspepsia all night, all day,
It really seemed had come to stay;
Pray, guess you then, what cured him!

It was Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. That is the great cure for headache, scrofula, dyspepsia, kidney disease, liver complaint and general debility. An inactive liver means poisoned blood; kidney disorder means poisoned blood; constipation means poisoned blood. The great antidote for poisoned blood is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Acting directly upon the affected organs, restores them to their normal condition. The "Discovery" is GUARANTEED to benefit or cure in all cases of disease for which it is recommended, or money paid for it will be promptly refunded. a

A Popular Physician.

The popular physician is unassuming, pleasant and successful in treating disease. Such an one is Burdock Blood Bitters—unassuming—only a dollar per bottle—pleasant, agreeable in taste—successful in nine cases out of ten. In truth it may be said B.B.B. is the popular physician to the people, a tried and trusty friend in all diseases of the stomach, liver, bowels and blood. dw

A Cure for Constipation and Headache.

Dr. Silas Lane while in the Rocky Mountains, discovered a root that when combined with other herbs, makes an easy and certain cure for constipation. It is in the form of dry roots and herbs, and is known as Lane's Family Medicine. It will cure sick headache, and is the best spring medicine. For the blood, liver and kidneys, and for clearing up the complexion it does wonders. Druggists sell it at 50c. and $1 a package. dw

PAPINEAU'S OLD HOME.

A RECENT VISIT TO HIS CHATEAU ON THE OTTAWA.

Lovely Montebello—An Ideal Retreat—The Home of the Liberal Agitator—A Description of its Interior—The Museum and Mausoleum.

The wide range of Canada presents no nobler river than the Ottawa, no fairer spot than Montebello on its shore; and no more charming home than the great grey stone Chateau of the famous Papineau. Towering above the green sea of tree tops that seem to hug its very walls are the twin turrets, red-painted, rising higher that the apex of the main roof. On the side of the latter sloping toward the river the letters stand out in bold relief, that he who sails by may read from the deck of the steamer that Louis Joseph Papineau, the advocate, politician, agitator, rebel, parliamentarian and seignorial proprietor lived and died within its ivy-covered walls.

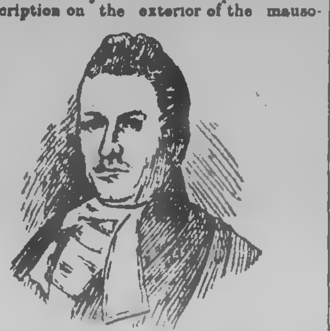
Entering the estate from the river road, and passing the Lodge, a winding road leads through a dense maple and birch wood over rustic bridges that span tiny streams and by a plain gray stone structure, with two side buttresses, a stone parapet surmounted with a plain wooden cross, an iron-pleated door and one circular stained-glass window—the burial place of Louis Joseph Papineau to which his aged form was carried by a small company of intimate friends one day early in the seventies. Strangely enough, the last prayers over his body were said by the late Chief Justice Dorien, Papineau—although a Catholic—refusing to allow priest or father to perform these rites or to minister to his dying hours on the ground that they possessed no spiritual knowlege or prerogatives that he or any man did not possess. No inscription on the exterior of the mausoleum gives a clue to its occupant. The lonely tomb also contains the remains of Papineau's father (whose portrait shows the same lines of form and feature seen in his son), who will be remembered as a member of the Parliament of 1791, and who, at that early date, was one of the few who called for some form of responsible government for England's new-world conquest. Like father, like son.



LOUIS JOSEPH PAPINEAU AT [illegible].

The roadway continues through the grove—each opening in which reveals a picturesque glimpse of the waters of the Ottawa or of the blue slopes of the Laurentians to the east—and winds up a hill to a plateau where stands the noble mansion belonging to the Papineau Seignory. It is a large structure, built of stone nearly half a century ago by Papineau after his return in 1848 from his exile in Europe, and is surrounded by well-kept lawns, hedge rows and flower beds, while its walls and corner towers are partially enveloped in graceful festoons of ivy. A spacious verandah surrounds the house on three sides, the score or more of low French windows opening out on it. Within a few yards is a stone structure erected a few years ago by the son of the late agitator—the present owner of the homestead—as a museum for the various curiosities and articles brought by Papineau and by the present occupant from Europe and elsewhere. This, the latter generously throws open to the public on Saturday afternoons. Among its contents are several portraits of the Papineau family, an interesting lithograph of the eight exiles in Bermuda and of the cottage where they lived, and an ornament presented to Papineau by some New York admirers with the inscription: "A L. J. Papineau, Souvenir de L' Exilaux, Bermuda en 1838."

The interior of the home is even more interesting than the exterior. A large old iron knocker produces an alarming sound quite out of keeping with the quietness that reigns in such a sylvan retreat, but it had the effect of having the door quickly opened to me. Over an inner door the family coat of arms, with its inspiring motto of "Libertas Patria Humanitas" has the place of honor along with the flag of 1837—three bands of green, white and red and the twin stars, indicative of Ontario and Quebec. This was the kind of flag used at Navy Island and at other historic points during the progress of the rebellion. It may not be generally known that this flag, without the stars, was originally the banner of the St. Jean Baptiste Society of Quebec—which was in its incipiency a purely national and Canadian organization. The two stars were afterwards added. A spacious hall runs across the entire width of the house, the southern wall holding the portrait in oil of Papineau at fifty. The original of this picture was burned when the Parliament Buildings at Montreal were destroyed. The present owner of the old mansion intends having another copy painted and to present it to the Quebec Parliament. It shows Papineau at his prime—his face fully indicative of his strong character. A comparison between it and the larger oil portrait of the returned exile, taken at sixty (five years before his death) and which hangs in the museum, is also interesting, though the latter illustrates the same facial characteristics, the same erectitude of figure and the same strength of eye and expression as the one representing him thirty years previously.

The suite of rooms to the left of the hall have all the spaciousness and elegance and taste of furnishing that characterizes the wealthy French Canadian chateaux of half a century ago. The large drawing room is a noble apartment, adorned with rare old furniture, brilliant candelabra, luxurious settees, valuable bric-a-brac and articles of vertu brought from the old world, and lofty gold-framed mirrors that reflect their surroundings. An adjoining room contains a curiosity in its cavernous brick fire-place and a Franklin stove, contemporary with the earliest ones made by the great Philadelphian. This apartment also contains some fine pieces of statuary, a very old and rare cabinet of ebony and ivory, a bust of Papineau in bronze, taken from his death mask, beautiful escritories, a valuable Medici chair, with the old arms of Florence (seven balls); a French Normandy spinnet brought to New France before the Conquest, etc. The view from the bay-window of this room is one of marvellous beauty, taking in a noble stretch of the dark waters of the Ottawa for a distance of ten miles. It is surpassed, however, by the view to be had from the terrace, where the eye can see in addition almost as far up the river to the lovely Thurso group of foliaged islands; the opposite shore, with its tree-lined edges, and the tree tops immediately in front of us sloping to the water's edge, completing a scenic picture of rare beauty.

The library is a curious addition to the main structure in the shape of a veritable dungeon keep, being practically fire-proof. It is four stories in height and contains the valuable library of the dead Parliamentarian, all the classics being represented as well as a wide range of French works and translations. His law library was divided between his two nephews who are practicing law in Montreal. The prison-like structure also holds the old seignorial books and the letters left by Papineau. Much valuable material is, no doubt, contained in his correspondence which it is hoped will yet see the light of day.

I knew Papineau well, said Captain Bowie, of the steamer Empress, to me. He frequently came down to the wharf and was almost as erect after eighty as he was at fifty. He was a true type of the old school of French gentlemen—chivalrous, handsome, tall, polite to a degree. Taking him altogether he was a fine old man, but looked more Saxon than Celt. In personal appearance he closely resembled the Hon. John Carling. His hospitality is well remembered by those who were its recipients, while his varied and dramatic experiences and his wide travels made him the most entertaining of hosts. As a speaker he was florid and impassioned to a degree and was always effective whether on the stump or in Parliament. His extraordinary memory was no small cause of his success as a public speaker.

Thus briefly have I attempted to sketch the home of one whose name will long occupy a prominent place in Canadian history.

FRANK YEIGH.

Almost Side by Side.

Two sailing ships recently lay in the Mersey that had left Liverpool on the same day last year, and after voyages of nearly 30,000 miles for each returned to port at Liverpool almost side by side. They left October 5 for Astoria, Ore., and arrived there March 1 or 2, having been in company with each other for a large portion of the voyage. They were in sight for forty days. Both captains had their wives on board, and during the forty days of proximity one of the captains and his wife enjoyed a Sunday dinner on the other vessel, the compliment being returned the following Sunday by the other captain. Both vessels left Astoria April 8, but this time one sailed for Dunkirk and the other for Havre. They left these ports at nearly the same time, and entered the Mersey within hailing distance after a voyage of 342 days.

Millions in Postage.

The Bulletin de Statistiques et de Legislation Comparee, of the French Ministry of Finance, contains an interesting account of the Postage expenses in the large governments of the world, excepting China. From the account it appears that civilized humanity spends 1,500,000,000 francs every year on postage. Of this amount, the United States of America come in for the largest share, 323,000,000 francs postage, without telegraph communication. Next comes Germany, spending on postage and telegraph communications 262,000,000 francs. Great Britain spends 257,000,000 on postage alone. France spends 143,000,000 on postage and telegraph. Russia spends 97,000,000 and Austria-Hungary 86,000,000 francs on postage and telegraph. The smaller governments spend from 40,000,000 downward.

The Busy Bee.

In a recent work on the bee, Mr. T. W. Cowan states that the insect can draw twenty times its own weight, can fly more than forty miles an hour, and will seek food at a distance of four miles. By a beautiful mechanical adaptation, its wings bear it forward or backward, with upward, downward, or suddenly arrested course. Its threefold voice organs are the vibrating wings, the vibrating rings of the abdomen, and a true vocal apparatus in the breathing aperture or spiracle. The buzz is produced by the first two, and the hum—which may be "surely, cheerful, or colloquially significant"—by the vocal membrane. A number of the bee's notes have been interpreted. "Humm" is the cry of contentment; "Wuh-nuh-nuh" glorifies the egg-laying of the queen; "Shu-u-u" is the note of young bees at play; "S-s-s-s" means the muster of a swarm; "B-r-r-r" the slaughter or expulsion of the drones, and the "Tu-tu-tu" of the newly-hatched young queen is answered by the "Qua-qua-qua" of the queens still imprisoned in their cells.

Nature's Fireworks at Sea.

The steamship Pathan arrived here recently from Japanese ports with the first cargo (938 tons) of summer tea. Capt. Roy reports having witnessed several remarkable meteoric showers on the Atlantic. The shooting stars were of unusual size and brilliancy. Nearly all of them looked as large as Jupiter appears to be, and at least a dozen left in the sky bright flashes that lasted from ten to twelve seconds. Some few were so luminous that they lit up the ship like electric lights. The rain of stars seemed to come from the vicinity of Great Bear. Its course appeared to be from north to south and south-east.

On Aug. 1, just after leaving Gibraltar, the Pathan ran into an electric storm, preceded by heavy squalls. The tip of every yard arm and mast was adorned with globes of electric fire. They jumped from point to point, ran up and down the rigging, slid along the stays, ascended and decended the halliards, playing such a game of tag as Capt. Roy had never before seen in his long experience in southern seas.—Scientific American.

How to save money is la problem that interests everybody. One way to do it is to invigorate the system with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Being a highly concentrated blood medicine, it is the most powerful and economical. It is sold for a dollar a bottle, but worth five. dw

My wife and self had dandruff, and lots of it, accompanied by almost continual itching of the scalp. Anti-Dandruff entirely relieved us from both annoyances and we think it the best preparation known to clean out dandruff, tone the hair and act as a dressing without giving it an unnatural appearance.

A Spring Medicine.

There are few who do not at this season feel the need of a spring medicine, and to all such we recommend Lane's Family Medicine as the best. This is a pleasant herb drink made by pouring boiling water on the dried roots and herbs. Druggists sell the packages at 50c. and $1. It is the best as well as the pleasantest cure for constipation and headache. dw

Over a Century Old.

Many cases are known of persons living to be 100 years old and there is no good reason why this should not occur. By paying attention to the health by using Burdock Blood Bitters when necessary to purify the blood and strengthen the system much may be added to the comfort and happiness of life, even if the century mark is not attained. dw

His Family did not Know Him.

A Belleville man has for many been bent and crippled with a lame back, but after trying the OR, Kidney cure, he could walk like a boy again and his neighbors could hardly recognize him. This remedy is for sale by all druggists and the OR, Kidney Company, Belleville. dw

DERANGEMENT of the liver, with constipation, injures the complexion, induces pimples and sallow skin. Remove the cause by using Carter's Little Liver Pills. One a dose. Try them. dw

A Welcome Announcement.

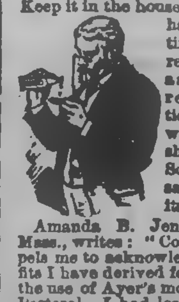
These who have tested it say that for the grippe, and especially for the cough that hangs on after the disease itself seems cured, there is nothing equal to Kemp's Balsam, the specific for all throat and lung diseases, and the best cure for coughs and colds. The first dose will convince you of its excelllent effect. All druggists sell it at 50c. and $1 a bottle. dw

THEIR gentle action and good effect on the system really make them a perfect little pill. They please those who use them. Carter's Little Liver Pills may well be termed "Perfection." dw

It is safe to use Freeman's Worm Powders, as they act only on the worms and do not injure the child. dw

WHY COUGH,

WHEN a few doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral will relieve you? Try it. Keep it in the house. You are liable to have a cough at any time, and no other remedy is so effective as this world-renowned preparation. No household, with young children, should be without it. Scores of lives are saved every year by its timely use



Amanda B. Jenner, Northampton, Mass., writes: "Common gratitude impels me to acknowledge the great benefits I have derived for my children from the use of Ayer's most excellent Cherry Pectoral. I had lost two dear children from croup and consumption, and had the greatest fear of losing my only remaining daughter and son, as they were delicate. Happily, I find that by giving them Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, on the first symptoms of throat or lung trouble, they are relieved from danger, and are becoming robust, healthy children."

"In the winter of 1885 I [illegible] cold which, in spite of [illegible] remedy, grew worse, so [illegible] physician considered me [illegible] posing me to be in cons[illegible] as a last resort I tried Ayer's [illegible] Pectoral, and, in a short time, the cure was complete. Since then I have never been without this medicine. I am fifty years of age, weigh over 180 pounds, and attribute my good health to the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral."—G. W. Youker, Salem, N. J.

"Last winter I contracted a severe cold, which by repeated exposure, became quite obstinate. I was much troubled with hoarseness and bronchial irritation. After trying various medicines, without relief, I at last purchased a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. On taking this medicine, my cough ceased almost immediately, and I have been well ever since."—Rev. Thos. B. Russell, Secretary Holston Conference and P. E. of the Greenville District, M. E. A WEEK AGO

"THE STAR" made the largest purchase of Overcoats ever made at one time in the history of the Clothing Trade—Over TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS' WORTH---the entire magnificent stock of one of the largest manufacturers of Fine Clothing in Canada. The owners of the goods were in Desperate Need of Ready Cash. We had it, and we got the stock AT OUR OWN PRICE. We placed about half our purchase on sale Monday morning, and to-day we place the balance of the stock on our tables. The last shipment included the Finest Goods. The first lots are all sold, and such scenes of excitement as have transpired during this sale never before occurred in a clothing store.

Customers stood in open-mouthed wonder at the wonderful values given. Many persons bought two and three Coats on account of their wonderful cheapness. Small Merchants have eagerly bought all we would sell them, our prices are so much lower than they could buy the same goods at wholesale.

The Overcoats are Simply Elegant, made of the Richest and Finest Fabrics and in the most "Correct" Style. "Schnabel's" Chinchillas and Beavers; "Carr's" Meltons, Eredon Kerseys, Fine Fancy Overcoatings and Shetlands, intended for Merchant Tailor's use. Many were intended to Wholesale at $15, $18 and $20. We bought them for less than the Raw Material Cost, and are selling for $8 and $10, garments worth two and three times the money.

Not a Single Customer Has Left Our Store Dissatisfied.

What Does it Mean?

"100 doses one dollar" means simply that Hood's Sarsaparilla is the most economical medicine to buy, because it gives more for the money than any other preparation. Therefore, be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla, the best blood purifier.

Law Association Meeting.

A meeting of the Peterborough Law Association was held yesterday afternoon at the Court House. John Burnham, Esq., Q.C., president occupied the chair. The meeting adjourned till Jan. 11 h, 1892, when the election of officers will take place.

Matrimonial.

The marriage of William P Ayers, of West Bloomfield, N. Y., to Miss Annie C. Deacon, daughter of Mr. W. S. Deacon, of Peterborough, (Canada), was solemnized Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, Nov. 4th, at the residence of the bride's uncle, Hon. S.H. Ainsworth, West Bloomfield, N.Y. The very pleasant event was attended by about forty of the immediate friends of the bride and groom. The beautiful ceremony of the Congregational church was performed by the pastor, Rev. S. B Sherill. The bride wore a beautiful robe dress of cream Bangaline silk. The bridesmaid was Miss Emma Deacon, sister of the bride. Mr. Frank Ayers, of Cleveland, Ohio, brother of the groom, acted as groomsman. The bridal couple were the recipients of many handsome presents. Mr. and Mrs. Ayers left on the evening train for the west. They will live in West Bloomfield.

Fifty-Seventh Battalion Inspection.

On Wednesday afternoon Lt.-Col. Straubenzie, D.A.G. of this military district, accompanied by Capt. Strange, District Paymaster, Lt.-Col. Rogers and Adjutant Dennistoun, of the Fifty Seventh, visited the drill shed and inspected the armouries and officers' quarters, and was pleased to express himself well gratified with the excellent condition in which he found matters, and with the great improvement he had found, as a result of the expenditure of the $500 special grant upon the improvement of the drill shed accommodations. He adverted to the claims to improvements the non-commissioned officers had, and he would have much pleasure in recommending an appropriation of money to provide this important element of the battalion with suitable quarters. He referred in complimentary terms to the advancement made in the past by the battalion, and if the rate was maintained in the future it would not be long before the 57th would be one of the crack corps of the force.

The Rangers' Annual Banquet.

A Delightful Dinner at the Snowden House—A Splendid Menu—Toasts, Songs and Speeches.

The annual dinner of the officers of the 57th Battalion was given in the dining hall of the Snowden House on Wednesday evening and the occasion was a very pleasant one. The banquetting hall was profusely and beautifully decorated with flags and Mine Host Snowden excelled himself in setting forth a most excellent mess, to which the hungry warriors did ample justice.

At the head of the table was seated Adjutant Dennistoun, president of the officers' mess and opposite sat Lieut. Schofield, Vice-President. In the middle of the table on one side was seated Lt. Col. J. Z. Rogers, having beside him on one hand, Lt.-Col. Von Straubenzie and Col. Poole, the latter the first colonel of the 57th Battalion, and on the other Jas. Stevenson, M.P., and Surgeon Halliday, and opposite was seated Lt. Col. Henry Rogers, supported on one side by J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., and Capt. Stapleton. There were about fifty altogether seated around the festive board.

After the disposal of the edibles the toast list was entered upon.

The toast of "The Queen" proposed by the president was duly and enthusiastically honoured, the band playing "God Save the Queen."

"The Governor General, House of Commons and Provincial Legislatures, proposed by the Vice-President, were responded to by Mr. Jas. Stevenson, M.P., and Mr. J. R. Stratton M.P.P.

"Our Sister Corps" was proposed by Capt. Brennan, and brought responses from Lieut.-Col. Harry Rogers, 3rd Cavalry, Major Harry Ward, M.P., of the 46th, Capt. Stapleton, of the 3rd Cavalry, Capt. Birdsall of the 40th, and Lieut. Bennet, of the 31st.

Col. J. Z. Rogers proposed the "District Staff," which toast was honoured heartily and responded to by Lieut.-Col. Von Straubenzie and Capt. Strange. Col. Von Straubenzie spoke in high terms of commendation of the 57th; he was proud of the creditable turn-out they made at Ottawa.

"Our Guests" was proposed by Major Edwards, who coupled it with the name of Col. Poole, one of the oldest officers in the force, and the first Colonel of the 57th Battalion.

Surgeon Halliday proposed the "Baby Officer," meaning thereby Lieut. Tebb, the last gazetted officer of the corps.

Lieut. Stevenson proposed "The Ladies," who found an eloquent champion in Lieut. Hayes.

Lt.-Col. Harry Rogers proposed "The Staff of the 57th," which brought speeches from Lt.-Col. J. Z. Rogers, Adjutant Dennistoun and Major Bell.

During the evening at suitable occasions songs were given by Capt. Strange, Major Ward, Adjutant Dennistoun, Lieutenant Lech, Lieutenant Matthews and Lieutenant Hayes.

During the evening the 57th battalion band, stationed in the reading room, discoursed in a very creditable manner the following programme of music:—

March	Royal Levee	E. J. Elliot
Serenade	Eurydice	Gluck
Valse	Summer Roses	Jasper V. Lane
Cornet Solo	The Golden Cornet	W. J. Allen
Fantasia	Pride of Scotland	H. Round
Selection	Maritana	Wallace
Valse	Ferryman John	C. W. Hewitt

At the conclusion of the programme, Lt.-Col. Straubenzie personally complimented Bandmaster Miller upon the efficiency of the band as shown by the excellent manner in which their selections were rendered.

A Delightful Musical Treat.

The Charming Concert of the McGibney Family—A Large and Highly Pleased Audience.

It is safe to say that there never was a more thoroughly and generally enjoyable concert programme presented in Bradburn's opera house than that given by the McGibney family last night. It was an appeal to every taste, the classical and the commonplace, the juvenile and the matured. It is a wonderful family—every member saturated with innate music, every function of every member, is apparently set to music, from the youngest to the elder born. While each possesses special abilities the versatility of their talent is remarkable. At the end of an orchestral number many of the instruments are left lying about and it would seem that any member coming on again would pick up the most convenient instrument and be perfectly at home upon it. The programme opened with a heavy, orchestral selection — Schubert's "Rosemunde," which was rendered in a highly artistic manner—delicate shading, faultless harmony, and a very effective ensemble. It is remarkable that such young performers should show such veteran steadiness and artistic taste. The string quartette selection—Moszkowski's "Serenata," played con sordini, was exquisitely performed, every velvety harmony falling upon the ears of the audience like molten melody. The vocal numbers, ladies' quartette and male quartette, were pleasingly rendered, and honoured with encores. The flute and clarinet duo by Miss Florence and Master Doc. was charmingly done. The solo numbers were also of high merit. Mr. Fred's trombone solo was excellently and artistically given, and Master Doc's clarinet solo was a wonderful performance for so young a boy. The centre of attraction and artistic work of the family was the violin solo of Mr. Hugh McGibeny. Departing from the programme, he played Sarasate's "Faust" in a most musicianly manner. His tone, while not massive, is full, round and sweet, and his execution brilliant and unconstrained, clean and sprightly. He plays with a great deal of soul and sympathy, and his rendering of this difficult selection was marked by a pleasing breadth of style, delicate shading and mastery of technique entitling the performer to rank close to leading violin virtuosi. He has made wonderful improvement in all respects since his last appearance in Peterborough. He was enthusiastically recalled twice, and gave two admirable mimitic selections—the distant hymn of a church choir and a country fiddler performing the "Arkansas Traveller." The star, or, rather, asteroid, of the evening was little Master Leo, a cunning little monkey, as clever and "cute as they make them." His recitations and songs were excruciatingly funny and droll. He is perfectly level headed and possesses extraordinary ability. He was doubly and trebly encored, and a lady's remark that "he is just too sweet for anything," if voted upon by the audience, would have been unanimously endorsed. Master Jamie sang "Old Man Moses" was also capitally done as was the recitation "Monie Musk by Miss Alice, both were recalled. The Zouave marching by the junior members of the family was exceedingly pretty. The brass band selections by the family were also excellently performed, the energetic pounding of the big drum by Master Leo being irresistibly funny, while it was in perfect time and taste. The performance closed with the performance of "God Save the Queen" in a most excellent and effective manner, giving full effect to the majestic music of this composition. The entertainment throughout was an unusually meritorious one and the audience was delighted as well they might be.

The Lady Godiva must have had exceptionally long hair since it completely concealed her lovely person. Since Ayer's Hair Vigor come into use such examples are not as rare as formerly. It not only promotes the growth of the hair, but gives it a rich, silken texture. dw

Illustrated Astronomical Lecture.

This is an age of scientific progress. The advance is so great that the child of to-day has more accurate knowledge than the sage of years ago. Of all sciences none is more fitted to fascinate the mind by marvelous revelations than that of stronomy. Mrs. Richard Proctor, wife of the late celebrated astronomer, is at present delivering a series of lectures on this popular subject in the leading cities of Canada. The Collegiate Institute Literary Society has fortunately secured an engagement with her for next Wednesday evening. Their object is thus to assist in the popularisation of science, and to afford the citizens a literary treat. At the same time they desire to put themselves financially in a position to enlarge their usefulness. Mrs. Proctor is spoken of as a very clever lecturer, and the lectures are enhanced in interest by splendid lantern views. To all who attend, an instructive and interesting lecture is assured, and a very praiseworthy cause patronized. Let there be a full house. Admission to any part of the hall, 25 cents.

Railway Extension.

Will the Grand Trunk take the Direct, or Retain the Round-about Route to Lakefield?—A Glance at the Situation.

Many persons are much impressed with the substantial nature of the work which the Grand Trunk Railway is putting upon the siding running from the Chemong Valley road to Hillard's mills. To the man who thinks twice, this solidity of construction would argue the intention of the Company to revive the old route and make the short-cut to Lakefield, which would involve comparatively little expense, the rebuilding of the old bridge being the largest item. But to the layman the game would appear to be worth the candle, and the same layman fails to understand why so great and so progressive a corporation should use now in use to take passengers and freight to and from Lakefield. Just reflect a moment. A train leaving Peterborough, has to back southeastwards two miles into the country and go forward two miles more before it reaches—not Lakefield but a point opposite that from which it started, and in returning the same waste of distance and time is made and the train shuffles backward into town like a crab on wheels. Now there are several reasons why the direct route via Hilliard's should be employed. There would be a saving of distance of eight miles on every round trip, that would amount to about 6,000 miles per year. During the summer months the train service required, with an extra distance of 8 miles per trip makes an aggregate of 24 miles of per day, or in the 100 days of summer train service an unnecessary distance of 2,400 miles, which the reduced train service during the remainder of the year would increase by 3,200 unnecessary miles, making a grand total of 5,600 uselessly travelled miles. The cost of running a train per mile is estimated by authorities to be fifty cents, and at this rate the supererogatory mileage of the present Grand Trunk route between Peterborough and Lakefield represents a direct cost, or rather waste, of $2,800, not counting the loss involved in loss of time.

THE RETROGRESSIVE LINE

Then there is another element that is worthy of consideration, and that is the danger of accident from backing trains. The crab route inside the town is becoming more thickly populated every day, and the danger of accident and consequent liability of the railway company to increasing in similar ratio. If the Grand Trunk is called upon some of these days to pay substantial damages on account of some fatal accident caused by a backing train, which no vigilance of employes may have been able to avert, this sum would represent a large share of the cost of restoring the direct line to the old track. Besides the route to the summer resorts reached via Lakefield, increasing every year, should be made as short as possible; for the shorter the more popular; the more popular the more paying, and what pays is what railways are after. It may not be that the Grand trunk Railway Company will regard the matter in the same light as set forth above, but the people of this town and the rapidly growing number of tourists would rejoice if it did with a result that the direct route were adopted. The direct route might not double the passenger traffic but there is not the whisper of a doubt that it would very greatly increase it.

A Brutal Act.

They evidently need some stern sort of justice in the neighbourhood of Ottawa. The fiend who recently killed one of Mr. Robert Stewart's well-known trotting mares at his stock farm on the Aylmer road, near that city, by splitting her head with an axe has committed another brutal act of an almost similar nature. On Saturday when Dr. Church, of Aylmer, went into his stable he found one of his mares dead. Her back was split open with the same kind of an instrument as that used on Mr. Stewart's "Lizzie S." Dr. Church's mare was a valuable one. Who the perpetrator of such dastardly work is no one in the vicinity of Aylmer seems to know.

(From Our Own Correspondent)

A GOLD MINE.

Like Pacaud, in Quebec, the assessor and council of Burleigh have evidently struck a "gold mine," and are working it for all it is worth, while the owners of islands in Stony Lake attached to Burleigh are howling over their taxes—29 mills on the dollar, and $2 for road work! Many of the islands for which ten to twenty dollars were paid, and no improvements have yet been made, are rated from one to two hundred dollars, while more valuable islands with cottages are rated from the same up to double their value. Very few ever received assessment schedules, so could not appeal, and affairs are in a very unsatisfactory state. The council of next year should try and have all placed on a fair basis and throw off the road tax as the island holders cannot receive any benefit and all will be satisfied; but if it is not done and they are compelled to pay more than the best farms in the township are charged, then the aid of the County Judge will be sought to straighten out matters, and the township will be left to "pay the piper."

The Markets.

British Grain Trade.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—The Mark Lane Express, in its weekly review of the British grain trade, says:—English wheats sell at an average rise of 1s. Several provincial markets held out for an advance of 1s. 6d. Foreign wheats are strongly held, under the belief that the prohibition of the export of wheat from Russia is imminent, and there has been a general rise of 2s. California is quoted at 47s., American red winter at 42s., fine white Indian at 44s., and Russian at 42s. 6d. Corn is firm. American oats are held for 21s. 6d. Barley, beans and peas are in sellers' favour. At to-day's markets prices were just maintained. Foreign wheats were 6d. lower. Flour was weak. American corn declined 3d. Barley and oats were neglected and prices were unchanged. Linseed and rye were dull.

Chicago.

Nov. 17.—Wheat ruled firm to-day on cold weather and reported damage to grain, a cablegram saying the Australian crop would be 10,000,000 bushels less than last year, and a report that Russian prohibition was now a certainty. Closing prices were ⅝ to ⅞c. higher. Corn declined ¼c on large receipts and favorable weather for marketing and shelling. The oats market was unusually quiet; November advanced ⅜c on a possible squeeze in that option; December and May closed 1⅛c lower. Receipts—Wheat, 511 cars; corn, 514 cars; oats, 430 cars. The provision market was dull and weakened near the close on realizing sales; pork declined 7½ to 10c.; lard, 2½c., and ribs 2½ to 5c.

English Butter and Cheese Markets.

Messrs. W. Heapy & Sons, in their report of the Liverpool butter and cheese markets in the Grocery Gazette, say:—

Cheese—There has been a further improvement in the demand, especially for choice qualities, and values are advanced fully 1s to 2s on the week. Medium descriptions are now attracting more attention, and as stocks are in smaller compass than usual at this time of the year holders are more reserved in their views. There are still a few old fall makes offering at 45s; finest new States, 47s and 50s; Canadians, 48s and 52s; some holders will not take anything less than 53s and 54s; ripe old summer makes, 22s to 24s; better grades. 35s to 42s; half meats, white and colored, 32s. to 35s; skims, according to quality, 14s to 20s.

Butter—The demand has been rather disappointing, although no alteration in values can be reported. Irish—The enquiry for this description has been in sympathy with continental. American—A quiet tone has prevailed, but holders remain firm. General market closes steady. Quotations are: Extra Fine Danish Kiels, 138s to 140s; Hamburgs, 138s to 140s; seconds, 123s to 125s; Irish creameries, 130s to 132s; extra fine Tipperarys or Limericks, 116s to 122s; American useful qualities—98s to 104s; factories, 78s to 88s.

—Merit wins, as the marvellous success of Hood's Sarsaparilla shows. It possesses true medicinal merit. Sold by all druggists.

LOOK UP YESTERDAY'S EYAMINER, 18th Nov.

Turn to T. Hurley & Son's advertisement. Read it carefully and then ask yourself is there any money in No. 1 for me? Weigh well before answering. George street is the principal business street of the town and may be limited at present for business and general traffic between the C. P. R. station and the Central Park. There is not an available foot between Brock and Charlotte streets, therefore, all new business places must be either on side streets or north of Brock or south of Charlotte. Which way is the town growing most rapidly? South, all must acknowledge the larger population coming to market or post office, comes from the south, therefore, vacant lots between the C. P. R. station and Charlotte street must be worth more that vacant lots between J. J. Howden's shop and Murray street. The latter (report says) is held at $80 per foot frontage, and we have shown and we think proved on sound reasoning principles, that the property under consideration is worth more and still we offer it for 5 days longer at half that price or $40 per foot. Now answer, is there any money in No. 1 for you? Married men here is a bonanza. Wholesale men, what cheaper or better location could you desire, conveniently situated between both railways stations, hydrant and electric light at your door. Although offering at such a nominal price, we are not doing so blindly, because we are confident it will more than double in value within two years. Still we offer it until next Monday night, 23rd inst. at that nominal price, viz—Forty Dollars per foot Frontage.

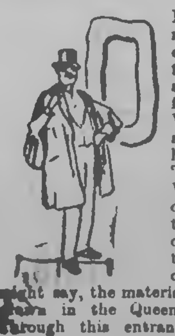
THE "CHEVALIER RAGE."

LONDON MUSIC HALLS PACKED TO HEAR COSTER SONGS.

An Artist Even in Buttons—How Unpopular Songs Have Been Popularized—Only the Singer was Surprised at the Success of the Attempt.



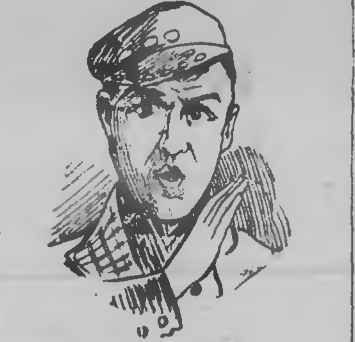
ONE night some months ago an American friend said to me that he would like to spend an hour in a first rate music hall. We were in St. James street at the time—had just dined at the Thatched House Club. We walked along Piccadilly slowly in order to give our dinner a chance to dissolve and to enjoy a very decent cigar — two cigars, I might say, the materials in which had been grown in the Queen of the Antilles. Through this entrance to the pavilion we walked. I made a few passes at the man in the booking office, and in a dreamy way he handed out two stall tickets. They must have been the last two he had, for the house was packed. The stalls were full, the boxes were full, the dress circle was full, the galleries bulged.

"I had an object in inducing you to bring me here," said the American as he carefully but unintentionally trod on the toes of every man who sat between him and our stalls. This did not surprise me; these Americans always have an object.

"Well, what is it?" I inquired. "There is a man who sings coster songs," was the reply. "I want to hear him. I don't know his name. It is French, I think." "Yes," I said, with placid superiority, "I should fancy that none but Frenchmen could make a hit that would suit you as a singer of coster songs." I looked at the programme and then at the stage. The number on the latter was "4." It was represented by a feminine Mephistopheles. She was possessed of a wiry voice and extreme elasticity of limb. No. 11 on the programme was Mr. Albert Chevalier. I sat and waited. The American sat and waited. A tired feeling crept over me, and I lounged back to my stall. He sat bolt upright. He enjoyed every minute.

THEY ALL LIKE HIM.

Suddenly there was a roar of applause. It came from the galleries, the boxes, the stalls and from the crowd that stood because there was no chance to sit. The cherubs behind the bars stood stock still and the thirsty ones did not growl. All eyes were turned upon a queer figure upon the stage. The programme said it was Mr. Albert Chevalier. To me, to every one, it was a coster. In response to the thunder he lifted his peaked cap a showed a closely cropped poll. One leg seemed to be shorter than the other. One shoulder was higher than the other. He gave me the impression that he had been brought up in a one-sided sort of way. Knotted about his neck was a red handkerchief. A tightly fitting jacket of a check considered fashionable in the East End, and made gorgeous with velveteen, hugged his body. Upon his unequal legs were trousers that must have squeezed his legs down to the ankles. There they spread like a coaching horn. Everywhere there were buttons. His face was pinched, his eyes small. To my American friend he was a curiosity. To me he was a coster, such as I had seen a thousand times—until he opened his mouth.



ALBERT CHEVALIER.

ENNUI DISAPPEARS.

He sang. It was a serenade to 'Arriet. He sang:—

You ain't forgotten 'ow we drove that day
Down to the Welsh 'Arp in my donkey shay,
Folks with a "chy-ike" shouted "Ain't they smart?"
You looked a queen, me every inch a bart.,
Me in my peerless felt a toff that day,
Down at the Welsh 'Arp, which is 'Endon way.

I was no longer lounging. I was sitting up straight as a ramrod and looking at the queer figure, and listening to him as if I had not seen anyone worth listening to for a year. Was it a song for the average music hall audience? Was there not too much pathos in it? The roar of applause from the galleries was answer enough, and when the queer figure on the stage finished his serenade with a whistle the audience furnished a tremendous chorus. He shuffled off the stage. I thought the audience would lift the roof off with their cries. They wanted more. He came on again and sang "The Nasty Way 'e Says It." Another gem. Another whirlwind of applause. They would have more. He sang "Wot Cher." Another gem. The lights shivered in the roars that shot upward. They'd have kept him on all night had he not explained that he was expected somewhere else for another turn.

HE MADE THEM POPULAR.

Yet nobody would buy these songs once not so very long ago. He had often sung them in private and at semi-public entertainments, and he never sang them that he was not advised to go on the music hall stage. He'd shrug his shoulders and say, "They would laugh me off the stage. The songs have been on the market for years; nobody will buy them." He told this to me as he had told this to others, and I said, probably as others had. "But you only can sing them." Finally he made the plunge. He had made a mark as a low comedian, but the mark did not expand as it should have done after his work in "Dr Bill," the "Struggles for Life," "The Two Recruits" and other [illegible], and a day came when he looked for something to turn up. He had often been offered an engagement on the music hall stage, and declined. He turned the matter over in his mind. He would have decided in the negative once more but for the persuasion of some of his friends, who assured him that he was absolutely certain to make a hit.

"I was never in such a funk in my life," he said to me, "as the first night I went on. I felt certain that they would laugh at me."

"But they didn't?"

"No," with a smile, "they didn't."

IT HAS COME TO STAY.

On and off the stage [illegible] Chevalier is the personification of modesty. Success has not turned his head a particle, and I am not at all sure that he does not sometimes think that the "Chevalier rage" is all a mistake, and that it must collapse. But it won't. It will simply go on gathering momentum and piling ducats into the coffers of the greatest artist on the music hall stage.—N. Y. Herald.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

LIVE STOCK ON THE FARM

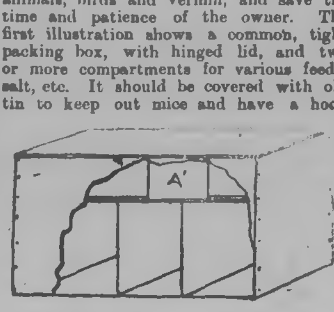
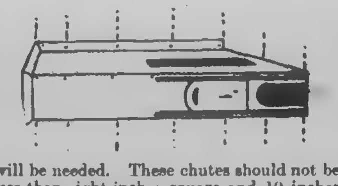
A source of waste on many farms is the bags from which the horses are fed oats direct. These stand on the barn floor or in the stable where they are placed as brought from town, and mice and rats pick up the spilled feed, gnaw the bags, waste more and foul the remainder. The horses are said to be "off their feed," frequently. Loose in the yard, cows, horses and fowls get to the bags and help themselves to an injurious extent oftentimes, certainly to the detriment of the owner. These losses would construct many a grain bin that would be safe against all depredations of animals, birds and vermin, and save the time and patience of the owner. The first illustration shows a common, tight packing box, with hinged lid, and two or more compartments for various feeds, salt, etc. It should be covered with old tin to keep out mice and have a hook to hold the lid down against animals that might break loose in the night. The hook should be attached to the bin and clasp into a staple in the under side of the lid. This fastening no horse however cunning will ever open. At A in this cut is a shallow box which can be slid back and forth on cleats at the top of two compartments. It will hold bags, cords, etc., or can be used for a hundred weight of oil meal.



The second illustration will give one a fair idea of a much better arrangement, but one that requires more labor, expense and ingenuity for building. The feed has to be lifted to the second story and emptied into small, light chutes holding 2 to 3 cwt each. In the fronts of these are strips of glass exposed one inch wide to show as the feed lowers when more will be needed. These chutes should not be less than eight inches square and 10 inches will be better, allowing no clogging of feed. If desired, the rat-proof bin shown may be built upstairs and a chute connected with each compartment, always being sure to slope the bottom of the bin in every direction rapidly to the top of the chute. A button or hook should fasten each chute against horses.—Samuel Simmons, in Farm and Home.



Farm Stock Pointers.

A sheep may not produce wool to the value of $1, but it may pay well as mutton. One early lamb is worth more than the wool of three or four sheep. The mutton breeds of sheep require more care than the small and active wool breeds, but they give a larger profit.

The horse that is given rest regularly on Sunday will soon learn to know when his holiday arrives and will appreciate it. Habit is a matter of education. Animals learn the exact time for receiving meals, and will appear at regular hours if they have been fed regularly.

Foot-rot destroys more sheep than any other disease, yet foot-rot may be avoided by keeping the sheep on dry locations and paring the hoofs occasionally. It is a disease that is induced by wet ground, and may be carried from one field to another by the sheep.

One of the reasons why people that try to raise poultry on a large scale fail in their undertakings is because they try to carry on the business on too little capital. Small flocks may be kept without any outlay except for the fowls themselves, but this rule does not hold good with the large flocks.

A writer in the New York Sun advises that if a horse is restive or nervous at being hitched up, and in a hurry to go, back him out and drive in two or three times, then tie and let him stand an hour or two, then drive to the door and tie, leaving awhile, then drive back to the stable and take him out.

The progress made by the SUN LIFE during 1890 was remarkable. The new business was the largest in the Company's history, and was equalled by but one other Canadian Life Company. The income for the year exceeds $2,000 for each day in the year, Sundays included. The Assets are large and rapidly increasing. They are, moreover, of the highest character, yielding an average interest of 6.04 per cent. The overdue interest is small, and the Real Estate owned under foreclosure is only four per cent. of the amount of mortgages. This is a remarkable showing. The SURPLUS accumulated during the FOUR years of the current quinquennium is nearly THREE TIMES as much as the amount earned during any previous FIVE years, and the profits to Policy-holders cannot fail thus to be highly satisfactory. The following are the figures:—

Net Surplus, 31st Dec., 1881, (five years)	$64 824 07

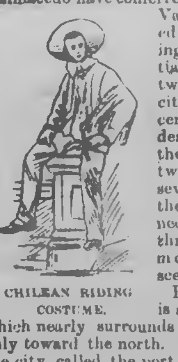
WHERE STRIFE RAGED.

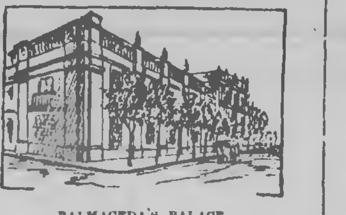
SOME NOTABLE POINTS IN VALPARAISO AND SANTIAGO.

Where the Battle Was Fought—The Playground of Valparaiso—Balmaceda's Beautiful Palace—Views of the Government Building Where the Junta Meets.



CHILEAN RIDING COSTUME.

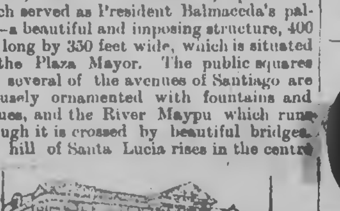
The dramatic close of the Chilean civil war and the subsequent suicide of President Balmacedo have conferred immortality upon Valparaiso and restored more than a passing interest upon Santiago. Around these two South American cities the great drama centered, and some description of them is therefore timely. The two cities are about seventy miles apart, the railroad that connects them running through some of the most remarkable scenery in the world. Back of Valparaiso is a high chain of hills which nearly surrounds the bay and open only toward the north. The older part of the city, called the port, extends along the shore and at the base of the hills. It contains the principal public and commercial buildings. Six miles north of the city, situated on the bay is Vina del Mar, the playground of Valparaiso and the actual scene of the famous battle, the first ever fought with modern smokeless powder. On Sundays and holidays the people go out to Vina del Mar in great numbers, for the great wood stretching inland, with its cool walks and drives, is a favorable resort, and on the plain is the race course upon which the desperate struggle of the Balmacedists and the Congressionalists took place and across which the troops of Gen. del Canto rushed in their final charge against the demoralized government troops. Among the principal buildings in Valparaiso, which is the chief seaport town of Chili, are the government palace, the custom-houses and government warehouses. There are also some very fine Gothic churches.



BALMACEDA'S PALACE.

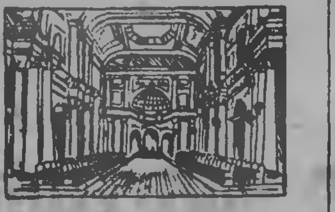
The harbor of Valparaiso is commanded by three forts, of which Los Andes is the most formidable, being very heavily armed and guarding the entrance to the bay.

In Santiago the most interesting points just at present are the houses of Congress erected in 1858, and above all the mint, a portion of which served as President Balmaceda's palace—a beautiful and imposing structure, 400 feet long by 350 feet wide, which is situated on the Plaza Mayor. The public squares and several of the avenues of Santiago are profusely ornamented with fountains and statues, and the River Maypu which runs through it is crossed by beautiful bridges. The hill of Santa Lucia rises in the centre of the city to a height of 254 feet, and on its north and south banks stands two fortresses. The city has a powder magazine, a vast artillery barrack, a penitentiary, a house of correction for children, a military academy, a school of design, a military and two fine general hospitals, an insane asylum, two normal schools, and about forty primary and grammar schools, public and private instruction in the former being gratuitous.



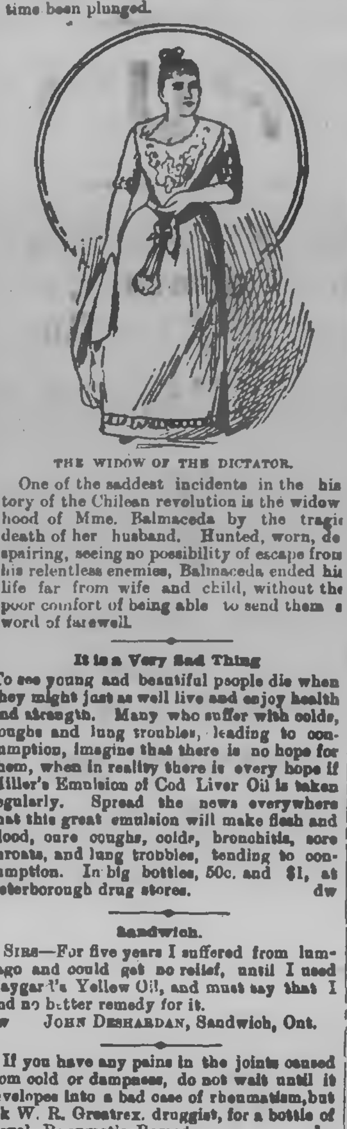
HALL OF CONGRESS.

Both Valparaiso and Santiago have interesting if somewhat erratic histories. Valparaiso was founded in 1544, taken by Drake in 1578, and captured again in 1596 by the Hankins expedition. In 1860 it was sacked by the Dutch Corsair Oliver Van Noort. It has been nearly destroyed by earthquake several times, and in 1866 it was bombarded by a Spanish squadron under Admiral Nunez and a large part of it ruined.



INTERIOR OF CONGRESS HALL.

Santiago was founded three years earlier than Valparaiso, by Pedro de Valdina, under the name of Santiago del Nuevo Extremo. In 1561 it was erected into a bishopric. Like its sister city it has suffered from earthquakes and inundations and the throes of war into which Chile has from time to time been plunged.



THE WIDOW OF THE DICTATOR.

One of the saddest incidents in the history of the Chilean revolution is the widowhood of Mme. Balmaceda by the tragic death of her husband. Hunted, worn, despairing, seeing no possibility of escape from his relentless enemies, Balmaceda ended his life far from wife and child, without the poor comfort of being able to send them a word of farewell.

It is a Very Sad Thing

To see young and beautiful people die when they might just as well live and enjoy health and strength. Many who suffer with colds, coughs and lung troubles, leading to consumption, imagine that there is no hope for them, when in reality there is every hope if Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is taken regularly. Spread the news everywhere that this great emulsion will make flesh and blood, cure coughs, colds, bronchitis, sore throats, and lung troubles, tending to consumption. TRAGEDY ON BOARD THE OCEAN LINER MONGOLIAN.

The Callous Murderer Wise Glories in the Killing of His Shipmate Salter—The Queen's Continental Trip—Eugenie Buys a Residence.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—An exciting incident, which occurred on board the steamer Mongelian which sailed from Montreal Nov. 3 for Liverpool, has been made public. While the steamer was passing Londonderry on Friday, bound up the Irish Sea, Mrs. Mason, the stewardess, rushed on deck, revolver in hand, and fired at Purser Stewart, who was on the saloon deck. The purser tried to disarm the woman, but before he succeeded in getting the weapon from her she discharged the pistol three times. Two of the bullets struck the purser. A number of passengers were on deck at the time and great excitement prevailed. No reason is given for Mrs. Mason's act and sh was permitted to leave the vessel unmolested at Liverpool. Stewart's wounds are serious.

Wise Glories in the Killing of His Shipmate Salter.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—Wise, the boy murderer, was present yesterday at the coroner's inquest upon the body of his victim, Salter, and acted in a manner that confirmed the belief of those who have watched the case that he is a moral monstrosity. He chuckled and rubbed his hands with pleasure as the witnesses told the circumstances of the murder; how he had pushed young Salter over the cliff; how he had laughed at his victim's sufferings and how he had afterwards threatened to kill his other companion, the boy Groom.

Lieutenant Mills testified that Wise, after relating the facts of the Salter murder, had confessed that he had strangled a boy in the Catholic school at Guildford last July and buried his body in the woods back of the school. Wise was wonderfully calm while telling of his crimes, but when witness visited him again three hours afterwards a complete change had come over the boy's appearance, and he looked like a ferocious maniac, with glittering eyes and sinister expression of countenance.

After hearing further evidence, the coroner committed Wise for trial, on a charge of wilful murder, at the Dorset Assizes, now in session.

The Marchioness of Westminster.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Edmund Yates cables: The Marchioness of Westminster died on Wednesday night, four days after entering upon her 95th year. Lady Westminster came out during the season of 1815. She was married in 1819 and lost her husband in 1869, a few weeks after they had celebrated their golden wedding. She survived him 22 years. A more devoted couple than Lord and Lady Westminster were never known. Lady Westminster seceded from the Liberals during Mr. Gadstone's first Administration, and at the last four general elections her great influence in Dorsetshire was exercised on behalf of the Conservative candidates. She considerably resented the continued adherence of her sons to Mr. Gladstone in 1880, but their secession in 1886 appeased her wrath. She was a woman of wide reading, bright intelligence and much force of character.

The Queen's Proposed Continental Trip

LONDON, Nov. 19.—The Queen will proceed to the Continent, according to present arrangements, at the end of March, and is to remain abroad nearly six weeks. Her Majesty will go first to either Florence or Aix-les-Bains, where she will stay between three and four weeks, and she will return home through Germany. The Queen is to be the guest of Empress Frederick for about a week, at the latter's new chateau Cronburg, in the Taunus country; after which Her Majesty will probably be entertained for a few days at Coblenz by Emperor William, who is very anxious to induce the Queen to visit him in Berlin, but it is unlikely that Her Majesty will consent to do so.

Plans of the Empress Eugenie.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—Empress Eugenie is to be the guest of the Queen at Windsor Castle next week for a day or two. The Empress is to build a villa on property 7000 square metres in extent, which she purchased a few months ago at Cap Martin, near Monaco, and the Duchess of Aosta, Princess Letitia Bonaparte, intends to establish a winter residence in the same neighborhood. Empress Eugenie will proceed early next month to Egypt. She does not intend to return to England until May. Cap Martin is a new health station on the Riviera, lying between Mentone and Monte Carlo.

Fire at Beamsville.

BEAMSVILLE, Ont., Nov. 19—This village was again visited by a destructive fire yesterday. The flames broke out in a general store occupied by George W. Beatty and spread rapidly to the adjoining buildings. The undertaking and furniture establishment of A. Dodsworth, the merchant tailor store and livery stable of John Marrs, the boot and shoe store of James McLaughlin, the bakery and flour and feed store of W. J. White and the express office and flour and feed store of Amos & Tweedle were all destroyed, and Charles Jeffries' boot and shoe store was badly damaged. The barns occupied by W. J. White and Amos & Tweedle were also destroyed. Fortunately most of the losses were covered, in [illegible]

A Smith's Falls Dentist Looms Up After Many Years.

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 19.—Dr. Ira Richmond has been arrested at Brocton on a charge of bigamy. Richmond, or Ira Butler, which is his true name, is a native of Smith's Falls, Ont., where he practised for years as a dentist. In 1883 he arrived at Lockport, N.Y. He claimed to be a physician and a graduate of the New York Medical University. He looked like a kindly, benevolent old man, when in reality he was a villain. He married a widow here by the name of Sarah Platts and opened a sanitarium. They quarreled soon and parted. It was part of his scheme to get hold of some rich widow and when her money had become his to cast her off. In the spring of 1885 Lizzie Cook died under suspicious circumstances. She was buried in the morning, Dr. Richmond attending the funeral and joining in great reverence in the prayers and hymns. In the afternoon of the same day Coroner T. B. Cosfond exhumed the body, and the examination showed that she died from malpractice. Dr. Richmond was arrested, indicted for manslaughter, tried and convicted. He was sentenced to Auburn Prison for 10 years. His wife and daughter came here from Smith's Falls, Ont., and identified him by his right title, Ira Butler. He appeared in Greenbush after his release from prison, and then he began to work his widow racket again, but was foiled by the Y.M.C.A., who sent to Lockport for facts concerning him. Chief Molyneux sent on his picture and a full account of his performances. This was about two years ago and no trace has been heard of him until his arrest in Brocton.

STRUCK A WHALE.

The Huge Finback Was Cut Through by the Sharp Prow.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The Anchor Line steamship Ethiopia was 800 miles east of Sandy Hook last Saturday. Suddenly a spouting monster came to the surface of the almost placid ocean. It was directly in the path of the ship and only a few feet ahead, and almost before the astonished officers realized it the ship's sharp iron prow crashed into the snorting, puffing finback. The blow was a square, incisive one. The ship seemed to sail right through the whale, which disappeared almost immediately, leaving a trail of crimson as far as the eye could see. A moment after hitting the whale the monster was sighted astern, floating lifelessly. A gaping hole was in its side and the body drifted away surrounded by a bloody circle. When the ship came in collision with the whale the shock sent a thrill through her as though she had run pell-mell upon a rocky ledge. She shivered from stem to stern and startled the passengers.

New York Presbyterians Change the Confession of Faith.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The New York Presbytery yesterday considered the revision of the Confession of Faith. This, offered by Dr. Briggs, was adopted:

"Infants dying in infancy and other persons who are incapable of being called by the ministry of the Word are regenerated or saved by Christ through the Spirit, which worketh when and where and how He pleaseth; also, may other persons who have not been called by the ministry of the Word."

Section 4 was so amended as to read as follows: "Those persons who are called by the ministry of the Word and yet resist the Holy Spirit and never truly come to Christ cannot be saved; neither is there salvation in any other way than by Christ through the Spirit."

FOUR AT A BIRTH.

Then Farmer George Found Twin Calves and a Septet of Kittens.

PERU, Ind., Nov. 19.—The most remarkable case on record in this place of a numerous and simultaneous addition to a household occurred yesterday at the farm house of Edgar George of this place. His wife gave birth to four fully developed girls shortly after midnight.

After this very extraordinary event Mr. George paid a visit to his barn to see his pet Jersey cow. On entering the place, to his delight he found twin calves lying snugly ensconced in the straw.

He strolled into the woodshed shortly after daylight and found that his house cat was curled up in a barrel with seven sweet little kittens around her, making 13 new comers at his house in one night.

NEARLY SEVERED IN TWAIN.

A Young Man Thrown on a Circular Saw While Cutting Wood.

BRANTFORD, Nov. 19.—N. Foulds and Fred Trenwith were engaged in sawing wood in the barn with a circular saw, which was run by the large windmill on the barn. Trenwith was standing in the doorway of the barn when a heavy gust drove the door shut and threw him on the saw. He fell on his right side, and had it not been for the guard-boards on the saw he would have been cut in two. After slashing his side for several inches the motion of the saw threw him off and his left leg came in contact with the saw and was badly cut, but he will recover.

Died While at Her Prayers.

PATERSON, N.J., Nov. 19.—Lena Smith, 40, was found dead in her room at 82 Lafayette-street here yesterday, on her knees, as though she died while praying. The woman had no relatives here and lived alone. She is said to have a sister who resides in Brooklyn. She had been dead over a week.

DEATH IN THE LACING.

Tight Corsets Drove the Life from Miss Holloway.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 19.—County Physician Izard of Camden yesterday investigated the sudden death of Miss Clara Holloway of No. 629 Market-street, who died on her engagement night at the card party given in her honor at the residence of Mrs. Mary J. McAllister. A post mortem examination demonstrated the fact that the young lady was a victim of tight lacing. The lungs were found badly congested, and the excitement of the game of euchre being played had sent the blood rushing to the brain, producing cerebral hemorrhage.

Diphtheria From Her Kisses.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Diphtheria has been epidemic at Chatham, N.J., for some time. Many people believe that the disease was brought to Chatham by a lady who was visiting friends in Brooklyn and while there contracted diphtheria. When she came home she greeted her lady and infantile friends with affectionate kisses. Some of them began to complain of sore throats soon after, and later diphtheria set in. About 40 persons are now suffering from the disease.

The Hoist Tore Off His Arm.

PORT ARTHUR, Nov. 19.—Michael Rennie, a strong man of 30 years of age, lost an arm yesterday at Fort William through his foot becoming caught in a rope that instantly hoisted him to a pulley block in the C.P.R. elevator with such force and in a manner that took his arm off above the elbow.

McGinnis Migrates.

BELLEVILLE, Nov. 19.—James McGinnis, jr., the alleged slayer of Mortimer Ford near Lonsdale in a dispute at a bee, left for parts unknown on Sunday. The inquest on the death of Ford was opened last night and adjourned until Friday.

The French Tariff.

PARIS, Nov. 19.—Yesterday Ministers De Freycinet, Ribot, Roche and Develle received a deputation of shipowners, oil merchants and soap manufacturers. They protested against the tariff so far as it worked against the industries mentioned. The ministers promised to support in the Senate measures providing for the importation into France, free of duty, of oil, seeds and colonial foreign sugars.

Tents for the Army.

BERLIN, Nov. 19.—The War Office has ordered that a large number of portable tents be manufactured for the use of the eastern army corps, with the view to the protection of the troops from inclement weather.

"Guilty, in Self-Defence."

WESTMINSTER, B.C., Nov. 19.—At the assizes yesterday in the case of "Jim," a Chinaman charged with stabbing a white man, the jury returned a verdict of "Guilty, in self-defence." On the court explaining that such a verdict was not admissible they again retired and in a few minutes returned with a verdict of guilty of wounding. The poor Chinaman was sent to jail for six months.

The Shooting Justifiable.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Nov. 18.—The trial of Policeman Caples on the charge of manslaughter took place to-day and the jury this evening after a brief absence returned a verdict of not guilty, thus endorsing the coroner's verdict of justifiable shooting.

A crowd of 600 workmen out of employment gathered outside of the palace of the Duke of Genoa, in Venice, yesterday and demanded food. They shouted: "We are starving," "We want work," etc. The men finally became so violent that the police were compelled to disperse them.

TORONTO, Nov. 19.—At 8 o'clock last night the old Methodist Church in Temperance-street occupied by Hill & Weir, printers, was completely gutted. The loss by the fire is estimated at from $10,000 to $15,000. The place and its contents were insured for $21,000 in the London and Lancashire, the Etna and several other offices.

Commuted to 15 Years.

OTTAWA, Nov. 19.—The Cabinet yesterday decided to commute to 15 years the sentence of death passed upon William Pattenden, aged 16, for the murder of his employer's sister.

King of Medicines

A Cure "Almost Miraculous."

"When I was 14 years of age I had a severe attack of rheumatism, and after I recovered had to go on crutches. A year later, scrofula, in the form of white swellings, appeared on various parts of my body, and for 11 years I was an invalid, being confined to my bed 6 years. In that time ten or eleven sores appeared and broke, causing me great pain and suffering. I feared I never should get well.

"Early in 1886 I went to Chicago to visit a sister, but was confined to my bed most of the time I was there. In July I read a book, 'A Day with a Circus,' in which were statements of cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla. I was so impressed with the success of this medicine that I decided to try it. To my great gratification the sores soon decreased, and I began to feel better and in a short time I was up and out of doors. I continued to take Hood's Sarsaparilla for about a year, when, having used six bottles, I had become so fully released from the disease that I went to work for the Flint & Walling Mfg. Co., and since then on account of sickness. I believe the disease is expelled from my system, I always feel well, am in good spirits and have a good appetite. I am now 27 years of age and can walk as well as any one, except that one limb is a little shorter than the other, owing to the loss of bone, and the sores formerly on my right leg. To my friends my recovery seems almost miraculous, and I think Hood's Sarsaparilla is the king of medicines." WILLIAM A. LEHR, 9 N. Railroad St., Kendallville, Ind.

EVERY day makes more apparent the fact that the town is going ahead rapidly. Numerous changes have taken place in the way of ownership of property. Many workingmen are buying houses and lots, or lots on which to build. One of the most suitable locations is that known as the Erin property, at the west end, owned largely by Mr. Wm Fitzgerald. This week he has closed the sale of a very desirable house and lot, and has several eligible lots on this property to dispose of. Property in this neighborhood is rapidly being built up, and it will be well to have a look at the situation if one is at all disposed to buy. The terms are very favorable and especially low for cash, though payment on time may be arranged.

MR. LAURIER AT BOSTON

ANOTHER SPEECH BY THE LIBERAL LEADER.

He Addresses a Large Assemblage of Merchants on the Subject of Closer Trade Relations with Canada—Not a Question of Politics, But of Political Economy.

BOSTON, Nov. 20.—In Fanueil Hall yesterday Hon. Wilfrid Laurier, the Canadian statesman, was given a public reception by the prominent merchants of Boston. Hon. Jonathan A. Lane, president of the Boston Merchants' Association, presided. Mr. Laurier was given a very cordial reception and made an address favoring closer trade relations between the United States and Canada. In the course of his address Mr. Laurier said:

I represent one-half the people of Canada and speak their sentiments. Our banner is marked for the great freedom of trade which we believe is necessary, and this we have entered into our political platform. We appeal to Republicans and Democrats alike, and I care not how they differ on other questions, but on this question they should not go into politics to settle it. [Applause.] The trade question is a great one. One of your greatest parties believes in free trade, while the other does not. You believe that to suit the condition of the United States that there should be protection to protect your own labor. To those who believe in protection I should say that the trade policy system would not be affected by reciprocity. You could settle this question without referring to the subject of annexation. We, the Liberal party, are being accused of being traitors to our country and hold that reciprocity would lead to this annex. It would not. Canadian people are pleased with American people, and so am I, but I never will discuss the question until forced to and then I will not discuss it on a political basis but on its own merits. It is not a political question, but one of political economy. The relations of Canada and the United States have not been what they should have been. There should be nothing but the greatest cordiality between the two countries. We should treat as brothers about our future relations henceforth and forever. [Applause.]

BELLS ON THEIR GARTERS.

Cape May School Girls Mystified Their Teachers.

CAPE MAY, N.J., Nov. 20.—Cape May parents and school teachers have been shocked over a discovery just made. For some days the teachers have been mystified by the jingling of bells during recitation and study hours. The merry sounds seemed to come in the doors and windows and then fade away in the distance.

The tintinnabulation was especially noticeable when the classes of girls were called up to recite. Finally the discovery was made that some of the larger girls were wearing small bells from masquerade suits on their garters. The obnoxious bells were removed under pain of dismissal.

Levesque, for 10 years employed as ledger-keeper in the City and District Savings Bank, have fled from Montreal, being defaulters to the amount of $9080. St. Michel is supposed to have forged checks upon the City and District Bank which Levesque would pass and an accomplice would cash.

The Wrecks at Goderich.

GODERICH, Nov. 20.—Owing to the continued rough weather and the heavy sea running, nothing could be done yesterday towards reaching the large schooner at anchor north of here. The dismasted vessel reported off here drifted towards the north and this morning is at anchor about eight miles west of here. She is in pretty bad condition. Wrecking tugs have been sent for and are now on the way from the river to relieve the vessels.

Mysterious Suicide.

OTTAWA, Nov. 20.—Mrs. Scarfe, aged 30, of Albert-street, purchased a box of "rough on rats" at a city drug store yesterday and partook of the contents. She died a few hours later at the Protestant Hospital. An inquest was ordered owing to the fact that a letter was left by the deceased before she was removed to the hospital. It throws considerable light on the matter, but will not be made public until to-morrow. She has a husband and two children living in the city.

Mr. Jackson, who has been working in New York and a bricklayer by trade, arrived home last night to take charge of his four children. The Question Discussed in the French Chamber—Aid for the Strikers.

PARIS, Nov. 20.—The troubles of the striking coal miners in the Department of Pas de Calais were discussed in the Chamber of Deputies to-day. M. Basley, the well-known Socialist Deputy, asked that the mines be placed under the control of the State.

The Minister of Public Works declared that the Government could not intervene in a question of wages between the men and their employers. The Government would, however, assist in reorganizing the sick fund and the pension fund for the benefit of the workingmen. In addition the Minister stated that the Budget Committee had voted the sum of 500,000 francs to assist a syndicate of workingmen who had bought a coal mine in the Department of the Loire, which it was their intention to work on the co-operative plan.

M. DeFreycinet said the Government proposed the creation of an arbitration board to consider disputes between employers and employes. Strikes, he declared, did not settle such difficulties. The Government must maintain order and protect private persons and property while insuring respect for the liberty of labor.

A Drama in Real Life.

ATLANTA, Nov. 20.—Mrs. James Calvo has found her son, whom she had mourned as dead for more than a score of years. Her husband eloped with the servant girl 23 years ago, taking with him their 3-year-old boy. A few months later she received a letter from a stranger in New York informing her that Calvo, the girl and the child were lost at sea while on the way to Europe. Calvo had gone to New York and caused the letter to be sent her, giving circumstantial details of a fictitious shipwreck. He then went to a small town in New Jersey, where he engaged in business and prospered. He taught his son to believe that the woman with whom he lived was his mother. Three years ago Calvo died, leaving considerable property.

The lawful Mrs. Calvo was induced some time ago to mail letters to the various parts of the United States making inquiries about her son and husband. In some way the son came in possession of one of these letters, and as something had occurred since his father's death to arouse his suspicions, he took the letter to an attorney, who advised him to write to the woman in German. He did so and told his supposed mother of his action. The woman protested that he was crazy and that she was his mother. In a short time young Calvo received a reply which contained unmistakable evidence that his own mother lived in Atlanta. The letter was shown to the pretended mother, and she admitted then that she was not his real mother.

Daily Examiner.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1891.

THE asphalt paving business has proved a blessing to the Island of Trinidad. A blue book states that the revenue received from the great Pitch Lake has increased since 1881 from £855 to £26,744. Of the latter sum £21,040 was derived from expert duties and £5,704 fron royalties.

MR. RYDER, who defeated Mr. Colby in Stanstead, has been confirmed in his seat by the Supreme Court. His majority was one hundred and two, and it is said that he is now stronger than ever in the constituency, so that, in any event, Mr. Colby would have had little chance of being re-elected.

La Patrie tells the other side of the Whelan scandal. It says that Whelan was building the Quebec court house for the Ross-Taillon Administration prior to the general elections of 1886 when Mr. Mercier got in. Friends of the Government saw him and demanded a boodle for the campaign. He promised to give them $50,000 if they would sanction and pay his accounts up to date. This was done and the money was handed over. But Whelan, of course, did not lose the $50,000. It was charged against the work. The Bleus knew how to fix such things, for had they not been operating for ten years with Larkin, Connolly & Co., at Quebec? La Patrie produces Whelan's agreement with Mr. Hamel, who acted as campaign purveyor for the Bleu party. It read as follows:—"In case of the adjustment of the claims we as contractors have preferred, up to the present time against the Local Government, we promise to pay at sight to the bearer the sum of $50,000, provided that the adjustment is concluded before the coming Provincial elections." This was business-like. Whelan has denied some of the stories put into circulation by the Montreal correspondent of the Empire with respect to boodling by or on behalf of Mr. Mercier or his friends in connection with the same court house. It appears that that structure, which was to have been built for $250,000, cost in the neighborhood of $900,000. Whelan has given several contradictory accounts of his exploits as a furnisher of campaign funds, but according to all appearances both sides bled him, or rather bled the unfortunate Province through him. Ontario should thank heaven these days for the Mowat Government.

Quebec West.

The contest in Quebec West over the seat rendered vacant by the expulsion of Mr. Thomas McGreevy from Parliament seems, at present, not unlikely to end in a free fight. Three candidates are already in the field, two more will, according to all accounts, be run by parties, and how many will enter as independents remains to be seen. Mr. McGreevy himself is understood to be a candidate, and his friends are said to be working hard canvassing for him. Quebec West might re-elect him as Lincoln re-elected Rykert, but even Rykert was not shameless enough to face such an ordeal as taking his seat would have been under the circumstances, and it is improbable that Mr. McGreevy will try it either with the certainty of being ignominiously turned out again. Mr. Dobell, who, as a Harbour Commissioner, gave evidence before the committee that investigated the Tarte charges, and who stoutly defended Sir Hector Langevin, is also a candidate. Mr. Dobell is, as the people of Montreal and Quebec know, a most respectable citizen, but all the same he has issued an election address in which he appeals to the people to support him, not on moral grounds but on the ground that he will work for new harbor expenditures for the city, for the construction of the bridge across the St. Lawrence, etc. The third candidate already in the field is Mr. John Sharples, who is also said to be a worthy townsman. He is the candidate of Sir Adolphe Caron, the leader of the Quebec district Conservatives, and may, therefore, be regarded as the Government candidate. He has Irish blood in his veins, and that is expected to win for him the support of the Irish, who are in a majority in the constituency. There is to be a Liberal candidate but he has not been selected yet. The laborers, who are numerous, talk of running a labor candidate. The Government candidate having been placed in the field, is regarded as a sign that the elections will come off at once, instead of next year, when the new lists are ready. It is improbable, however, that the Government will do so unwise a thing as order one of a number of by-elections to be held according to old lists while new lists are in preparation. The Government probably brought out its candidate in order to prevent the other Conservative candidate, Mr. Dobell, from getting too firm a hold upon the electors.—Witness.

Progress of the Working Classes.

The London Times publishes a summary of a report from the British embassy in Berlin which shows that in 1871 the numbers and influence of the working classes in in Germany have increased, and the attention of the Government has been drawn more and more to questions affecting their welfare. The number of work-people in Germany has increased about 5 per cent each year since 1882, and is now seven millions. Since 1888 a general rise in wages has taken place amounting to between 10 and 25 per cent.; while the cost of the necessaries of life has decreased. The extreme limits of the working day for adults are seven and sixteen hours, and the general average is ten to eleven hours. There is a strong movement in favor of a maximum working day fixed by law. The extreme Socialist party demand eight hours for all districts and all occupations; the Association of German Trade Unions, while desiring State intervention, would leave the actual number of hours to be fixed by the local authorities in accordance with the conditions of the district and of the particular occupation. In 1888 there were eighteen instances in Germany of the successful working of the system of profit-sharing between masters and men. The system is described as creating an excellent spirit amongst the men, and attaching them to the business. The head of one of the chief firms in which profit-sharing prevails says:—"We have attained the object of making our staff of workmen more permanent. It happens that men leave our service for good reasons, but nobody goes without sufficient cause. The moral effect of the arrangement is excellent. Nobody remains away from work without a valid excuse, and in general we have very little cause for complains."

Cause of High Taxes.

The Toronto News remarks on the serious crisis in civic affairs in that city, the chief complaints being that the expenditure has been lavish and the taxes too high. The journal says there can be no denial of the fact that the local government imposition can be creditdd with a great part of the increased expenditure, nor can there be any denial of the assertion that many of the men who are now loudest in their outcry against taxes are responsible for that expenditure. Land which should now be under cultivation as market gardens or farms was secured by many of these worthies, who cut streets through it, had these streets block-paved, provided with sidewalks, gas and water, and then offered the improved lots for sale. All these improvements were paid for at once by the city and the land was the security that the amount would be paid in eight, ten or twelve years by an annual charge against it. Those who were successful in selling and unloading the local improvement tax on the purchaser had no reason to complain, but those who, when the boom subsided, found themselves with the land, local improvement charges and all on their hands, began to discover that the local improvement business had been carried too far, and that the taxes are too high in consequence. Great is the selfishness of the land grabber but greater still is his indifference if he can unload his obligation on someone else, if he can increase the price of his property by availing himself of the local improvement act, pocket the profit and make someone else responsible for a tax which he should have paid himself. These are the sort of men who are loudest in their assertion that city affairs have reached a critical point; and so it has as far as they are concerned, for local improvements under the present system will be knocked on the head some of these days. It has contributed largely to the debenture debt of the city and is largely responsible for the enormous amount paid annually as interest on these debentures. The land-grabbers have boomed the debt as well as their land. Now in the reactionary period they want to lay the blame on some one else.

No Wonder it Couldn't be Heard.

She nestled close to him and for one brief moment her head was pillowed on his breast.

Then she started up affrighted.

"Why, George," she exclaimed, "you startle me!"

"What's the matter with my being a bit startled myself?" he returned. Then more gently: "What's the matter, dearest? Did you hear it, too?"

"Hear it!" she said. "No; it stopped."

"Yes, that's so. But I m sure I heard it a minute ago."

"Of course you did. But, George, it stopped. Dear George, there must be something wrong." The girl was worried and excited.

"Maybe you're right," he said, looking a little worried himself.

"But, George, it ought not to stop. It ought to be regular."

George looked puzzled.

"What are you talking about, Mabel?" he asked.

"Why, your heart, George. It stopped beating."

"Stopped beating?" he exclaimed. "Stopped beating! Why, what in the world do you expect it to do—climb up into my mouth the way it does in novels when the hero hears the old man's step in the hall?"

"Why, George, father is out of the city."

George heaved an eight-ton sigh of relief.

"Try it again, Mabel, he said." "I guess you'll find it going now."

She found it attending to its regular business.

ate of the Farmer's Wife.

of her life she goes through the monotonous round. At an early hour, [illegible] morning through the hot summer, she prepares the same black coffee and fried pork (perhaps hot biscuits), and before she can clear away the breakfast things and make the bed she hears the calves bleating, and milk-cow stamping, both impatient to have the morning's business done with. Then comes the dreary routine of the forenoon's work, the baking of bread, the washing, and the like, until the meridian sun warns her that the everlasting midday meal is due and must be ready at once. To round up the duties and responsibilities of the day her labors are carried far into the night, and often, very often, they continue long after those of the male portion of the family have ended. She has long since ceased to think about her personal appearance. A tender kiss from her husband would almost surprise her. Once she grieved that her little girls were so barely clad; now, she scarcely thinks of it. That she should have a spare hour every day to read never enters her head, and the bare suggestion that on every Sunday she should "dress up" and devote herself, during the rest of the day, to social intercourse would cause a stare of incredulity. For be it understood that Sundy for the farmer's wife is a sort of clearance day to adjust the odds and ends of the previous week's cares and labors, to be in readiness for the renewed labors of the coming week.—John W. Brookwalter in the September Forum.

Why the Boys Leave the Farm.

The answer is self-evident—perpetual toil in good weather all through the busy season, and perpetual loneliness in bad weather and most of the winter season. The [illegible] when the farmers have leisure is, in half the country, the very time when they cannot get away from home by reason of their isolation and bad roads; yet such is the hunger of the heart that the boys revolt against this unendurable loneliness and even now often walk miles through the rain or the snow to spend half a day in sitting around the stove in the country store. Already, in many sections, the young people of both sexes have broken through the barriers and established farmers' clubs and little societies of one sort or another; and improved roads have done much to aid this relief. But why should not this natural tendency be reasonably directed, and all ages and both sexes enjoy their long winter evenings together?—John W. Bookwalter, in the September Forum.

Retribution.

"That is a very bad cold you have, Codling," said Bloobumper.

"Awful code," replied Codling.

"Now the last time I had such a cold as that," went on Bloobumper, drawing a memorandum book from his vest pocket and consulting it, "you advised me to take a Turkish bath for it. Have you tried that remedy yourself? I think you said it was an infallible cure."

"No; bud I—"

"Of course you haven't," proceeded Bloobumper, as he searched for another entry in his memorandum book. "The cold I had before that you recommended me to cure by the application of mustard plasters plentifully to my chest and the small of my back. Of course you haven't tried that yourself?"

"Why, you see—"

"Oh yes, I see," Bloobumper interrupted; "but when I had a cold a few weeks before that last one I mentioned, you said a gallon or so of good hot herb tea would fix me up, if I would take it on going to bed, 'and so get into a perspiration. Have you done that with yourself?"

"The fact is, Bloo—"

"Oh, no doubt! But here is another entry of a cure for a cold you told me about six months ago. Take a teaspoonful of ground Cayenne pepper every hour until well. Have you tried that?"

"Bloobumper, you—"

"Certainly, I know! Well, on the fifth of last January you told me that six grains of quinine taken just before retiring would break up the worst cold that ever got into a man's system. Why don't you try the quinine pills?"

"I couldn't—"

"Perhaps not. But in December you suggested a few electrical shocks from a powerful battery. I'm curious to know why that hasn't cured your cold."

"Well, I've been—"

"Doubtless that was it. But when I had my severe cold in November I jotted down another remedy you told me of, and for which I was very much obliged, although I neglected to take it. You told me to snuff a half a teaspoonful of paregoric up my nostrils, and the cold would be gone in ten hours. Suppose you try that now?"

"But I'm under the doctor's care, you—'

"Oh, that doesn't make the slightest difference. You told me yourself, in the early part of October, when I was under a physicians's care myself. You said that doctors didn't know anything about colds, but if I would just wrap myself in a wet sheet, and pile blankets on top, before morning the sweating would drive every particle of cold from my system. Do you remember that advice? I think you might give it a fair trial now."

"I must go, Bloobumper. So long."

"Good-bye. Try some of those specifics, will you; [To himself,] He didn't seem very grateful for that assorted lot of cures for colds; but, after all, it is one thing to give advice and another to take it. I didn't take any of those remedies either when he suggested them to me."—Harper's Bazaar.

Unprecedented.

"Here's something in the paper about a family in New England who have lived in the same house for a century."

"I heard of something stranger than that the other day—a family in New York who lived in the same flat for eight months."

By the Morning Light.

Oh, glad and red, the light of morn
Across the field of cattle broke,
And showed the waste of trampled corn
And smoldering farmsteads wrapped in smoke;
And cold and stark the soldier lay,
Shot down beside his shattered gun;
And grimly splashed with blood and clay,
His face looked ghastly in the sun.

Oh, glad and red, the morning shone
In happy England far away.
Where knelt a bright haired little one
Beside her mother's knee to pray,
And prompting each fond faltering word,
The soldier's wife was glad and smiled;
She knew not 'twas a widow heard
The prattle of an orphan child.

Oh, glad and red, oh, glad and red
The morning light glowed everywhere;
And one beam touched the father dead,
And one the child who knelt in prayer;
And from the trampled corn and clay
A skylark sprang with joyous breast,
For shot and shell had spared that day
Its four brown eggs and little nest.

Important Discovery.

Col. Yerger—So you are back from Saratoga already.

Judge Peterby—Yes, and what do you suppose I found the day after I got there?

Yerger—A pocket-book full of money?

Peterby—I found out that it costs a mint of money to stay there, so I came home on the next train.

Excitement Out West.

Editor Dugout City (Kan.) Boomer—"Hello! What's the matter?"

Assistant (wildly)—"Our railroad reporter at Chicago telegraphs that an Eastern man boarded the westbound train there with a ticket for Dogout City, and he heard the man say something about buying a lot."

Editor (excitedly)—"Stop the press and get out an extra! We'll have the town wild. Another big beat on the sickly sheet over the way!"—Street & Smith's Good News.

How to save money is la problem that interests everybody. One way to do it is to invigorate the system with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Being a highly concentrated blood medicine, it is the most powerful and economical. It is sold for a dollar a bottle, but worth five. dw

My wife and self had dandruff, and lots of it, accompanied by almost continual itching of the scalp. Anti-Dandruff entirely relieved us from both annoyances and we think it the best preparation known to clean out dandruff, tone the hair and act as a dressing without giving it an unnatural appearance.

L. W. KNOWLTON,

Conductor C.P.R. between Montreal and Newport, Vt. dw

A Spring Medicine.

There are few who do not at this season feel the need of a spring medicine, and to all such we recommend Lane's Family Medicine as the best. This is a pleasant herb drink made by pouring boiling water on the dried roots and herbs. Druggists sell the packages at 50c. and $1. It is the best as well as the pleasantest cure for constipation and headache. dw

Over a Century Old.

Many cases are known of persons living to be 100 years old and there is no good reason why this should not occur. By paying attention to the health by using Burdock Blood Bitters when necessary to purify the blood and strengthen the system much may be added to the comfort and happiness of life, even if the century mark is not attained. dw

His Family did not Know Him.

A Belleville man has for many been bent and crippled with a lame back, but after trying the OR, Kidney cure, he could walk like a boy again and his neighbors could hardly recognise him. This remedy is for sale by all druggists and the OR, Kidney Company, Belleville. dw

DERANGEMENT of the liver, with constipation, injures the complexion, induces pimples and sallow skin. Remove the cause by using Carter's Little Liver Pills. One a dose. Try them. dw

A Welcome Announcement.

Those who have tested it say that for the grippe, and especially for the cough that hangs on after the disease itself seems cured, there is nothing equal to Kemp's Balsam, the specific for all throat and lung diseases, and the best cure for coughs and colds. The first dose will convince you of its excellent effect. All druggists sell it at 50c. and $1 a bottle. dw

THEIR gentle action and good effect on the system really make them a perfect little pill. They please those who use them. Carter's Little Liver Pills may well be termed "Perfection." dw

If you have any pains in the joints caused from cold or dampness, do not wait until it developes into a bad case of rheumatism, but ask W. R. Greatrex druggist, for a bottle of Royal Rheumatic Remedy. dw

People Wonder

WHEN they find how rapidly health is restored by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. The reason is that this preparation contains only the purest and most powerful alteratives and tonics. To thousands yearly it proves a veritable elixir of life.

Mrs. Jos. Lake, Brockway Centre, Mich., writes: "Liver complaint and indigestion made my life a burden and came near ending my existence. For more than four years I suffered untold agony. I was reduced almost to a skeleton, and hardly had strength to drag myself about. All kinds of food distressed me, and only the most delicate could be digested at all. Within the time mentioned several physicians treated me without giving relief. Nothing that I took seemed to do any permanent good until I began the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which has produced wonderful results. Soon after commencing to take the Sarsaparilla I could see an in my condition, my appetite [illegible] return and with it came th[illegible] digest all the food taken, my strength improved each day, and after a [illegible] months of faithful attention to your directions, I found myself a well woman, able to attend to my household duties. The medicine has given me a new lease of life, and I cannot thank you too much."

"We, the undersigned, citizens of Brockway Centre, Mich., hereby certify that the above statement, made by Mrs. Lake, is true in every particular and entitled to full credence."—O. P. Chamberlain, G. W. Waring, C. A. Wells, Druggist.

"My brother, in England, was, for a long time, unable to attend to his occupation, by reason of sores on his foot. I sent him Ayer's Almanac and the testimonials it contained induced him to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. After using it a little while, he was cured, and is now a well man, working in a sugar mill at Brisbane, Queensland, Australia."—A. Attewell, Sharbot Lake, Ontario.

A WEEK AGO

"THE STAR" made the largest purchase of Overcoats ever made at one time in the history of the Clothing Trade—Over TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS' WORTH—the entire magnificent stock of one of the largest manufacturers of Fine Clothing in Canada. The owners of the goods were in Desperate Need of Ready Cash. We had it, and we got the stock AT OUR OWN PRICE. We placed about half our purchase on sale Monday morning, and to-day we place the balance of the stock on our tables. The last shipment included the Finest Goods. The first lots are all sold, and such scenes of excitement as have transpired during this sale never before occurred in a clothing store.

Customers stood in open-mouthed wonder at the wonderful values given. Many persons bought two and three Coats on account of their wonderful cheapness. Small Merchants have eagerly bought all we would sell them, our prices are so much lower than they could buy the same goods at wholesale.

The Overcoats are Simply Elegant, made of the Richest and Finest Fabrics and in the most "Correct" Style. "Schnabel's" Chinchillas and Beavers; "Carr's" Meltons, Eredon Kerseys, Fine Fancy Overcoatings and Shetlands, intended for Merchant Tailor's use. Many were intended to Wholesale at $15, $18 and $20. We bought them for less than the Raw Material Cost, and are selling for $8 and $10, garments worth two and three times the money.

Not a Single Customer Has Left Our Store Dissatisfied.

Almost Drowned.

Yesterday William Dayman, a blacksmith of Fenelon Falls, nearly lost his life while coming to town on the steamer Beaver, from Harwood, where he has been working in the Dickson company's mills. While in the vicinity of Hale's Bridge, Mr. Dayman leaned backward against the taffrail, which gave way and he fell backward into the water. The alarm was at once given and the steamer was stopped. A "jolly" boat was fortunately in tow at the stern of the steamer, and thus the minimum of time was wasted. As it was Mr. Dayman was rescued just as he had given up the fight for life and was sinking.

Illustrated Astronomical Lecture.

This is an age of scientific progress. The advance is so great that the child of to-day has more accurate knowledge than the sage of years ago. Of all sciences none is more fitted to fascinate the mind by marvelous revelations than that of astronomy. Mrs. Richard Proctor, wife of the late celebrated astronomer, is at present delivering a series of lectures on this popular subject in the leading cities of Canada. The Collegiate Institute Literary Society has fortunately secured an engagement with her for next Wednesday evening. Their object is thus to assist in the popularization of science, and to afford the citizens a literary treat. At the same time they desire to put themselves financially in a position to enlarge their usefulness. Mrs. Proctor is spoken of as a very clever lecturer, and the lectures are enhanced in interest by splendid lantern views. To all who attend, an instructive and interesting lecture is assured, and a very praiseworthy cause patronized. Let there be a full house. Admission to any part of the hall, 25 cents.

What the People Are Saying.

That an important Masonic event is on the tapis for the coming holiday season.

That the Golden Lion's lair is being enlarged.

That there is a probability of an electric railway being in operation between town and Chemong Park before the next season is over.

That if we have not already had Indian summer, it may come yet before Christmas.

That a dose of Canadian winter would be a better thing for business.

That cottage prayer meetings are being held in the South Ward this winter, and

That the next one will be held this evening at 88 Albert street, Mr. Sutherland's residence.

That a society for the prevention of cruelty to families would find a sphere of action in this town.

That a very interesting social event is maturing.

That school pupils are begining to look for the Christmas examinations with anxiety.

That there should be a large company to accompany Mrs. Proctor "up among the little stars" next Wednesday night.

That Commodore Calcutt's residence had a narrow escape from being destroyed by fire a couple of days ago.

The Irondale Railway Line Deflection

Mr. G. W. Ranney who is engaged in surveying the deflection of the route of the Irondale and Bancroft Railway was in town to-day, returning to-morrow to resume the work. He reports that the weather was as rough as the country where he has been working and those who have ever been in that region can form a pretty good idea of the state of the weather. There was a pouring rain for two or three days. Its a wonderful country where Mr. Ranney is surveying, rocks, gorges, precipices, bears, wolves and deer. You travel for miles winding round rocky promontoiers, shuddering on the edge of rocky precipices where, in many cases is found magnificent hardwood timber. Suddenly a beautiful rock-girded lake is encountered, with, at some point on its shore, a settler's residence, nestling in the neighbourhood of a little patch of tillable land, whose agricultural possibilities are supplemented by the liberal supply of game. Mr. Ranney tells of one lake dweller who, the past season, has shot forty deer, who in one day brought down two deer, a bear and a fox, all valuable assets, capable of being converted into the coin of the realm. Another settler, on a few bushels of soil, kept thirty pigs and nine children, the modest cottage of this limited landed proprietor and unlimited rocked proprietor, having on account of distance from town, its three small windows on half rations of glass. Yet these settlers are happy and in a rude way, prosperous. Their fishing, hunting and trapping often yield a bountiful harvest, and their wants are few. Mr. Ranney has to do a deal of travelling in order to do a little surveying. Often there is a drive of 15 miles over a highway of such formidable character, that the "rocky roads to Dublin" would be an asphalt pavement in comparison, in order to reach a dwelling, where a man and team can be accommodated, to form a base of supply.

Personal.

Mr. Geo. Edwards, of Denver, is in Peterborough on a flying visit.

Mr. John Kreusi, general manager, and Charles E Rocap, auditor of works of the Edison General Electric Company are in town.

Mr. J. McCreary, headmaster of the West Ward Public School, went to Smith Falls last night, being summoned thither by the serious illness of a sister.

Mr. Jas. Sutherland, of Peterborough, says the Norwood Register, occupied the pulpit of the Baptist church here on Sunday evening last. His discourse was eloquent and practical.

—Mr. E. Thompson, of Peterborough, shipped from Grafton station 55 pieces of pine for bow sprits, the longest being 80 feet. They were cut in the township of Haldimand.

—Judge Ketchum, revising officer for West Northumberland, will finish the revision of the Dominion voters' list at Cobourg to-day. The Liberals have made large gains in every municipality in the riding.

—A few days ago a curious object was brought to shore in Nicholas McDonald's seine on the eastern part of Massassaga Point, opposite Belleville. It looked like the branch of a tree, but closer examination of the object shewed that it was a rifle of old make, certainly not less than 75 years old.

Dummer.

On Saturday, 7th inst., a young man while returning home from a hunting trip thought that it would be a good joke to monopolize as a target the door of the school house in S. S. No. 2, Dummer. The ball passed through the door, through the partition in the hall, and into the black-board at the further end of the room, just behind where the teacher's head would have been had he been standing on the platform. Had any person been in the building at the time the probabilities are that a life would have been lost. We are informed that the trustees have the name of the miscreant and purpose making it "hot" for him.—Register.

The bill of particulars must be filed on Monday next.

A New Business.

M. Frank Mercer has leased the premises on George street, formerly occupied by Messrs. Sailsbury & Co. as a book store, and will open out in a few days a completely stocked shop for the sale of fruit, game, fish, etc. His stock will be found complete in every department, and will be kept constantly up to the mark in every respect. Mr. Mercer is a young man full of energy, with a good business training and habits, and will leave nothing undone to merit the liberal patronage of the public.

Irondale.

Mr. C.J. Pusey has been making extensive improvements at Irondale Junction. He has cleared and levelled off about an acre of ground and lately constructed a new turntable with heavy stone foundation, besides building stone abutments to the bridge crossing Burnt river. It is said to be his intention to replace the wooden bridge with an iron structure next spring, and to extend the line to Pine lake, an additional twelve miles. By doing this a large section of virgin forest would be opened up, and a profitable revenue would be derived from the carriage of wood, ties, telegraph poles, etc.

An Important Decision.

Creditors May Advertise the Accounts of Delinquent Debtors.

A decision recently rendered by an eminent Judge of the Supreme Court will carry joy to merchant, mechanic and printer, and strike terror into dead beats. The case on which the decision was rendered was in effect as follows: A man and wife purchased a quantity of goods from a merchant, which they were either unable or unwilling to pay for. The merchant sold the account to a Collecting agency, that forthwith advertised the account for sale, with several others, through the newspaper, giving the names, amounts and what the debts were incurred for. The debtors were sorely aggrieved at the publicity and sued the collecting agency for damages and libel. The judge ruled that the account belonged to the creditor to do what he liked with it in effect, to display it from the house tops, to auction it off on the street corners, to advertise it through the newspapers or postition every rail fence in the country. Hereafter we may look for displays of "Auction sale of accounts," as plentiful as "Auction sale of farm stock."

A Babe in the Woods.

A little child of Mrs. Smith, of Seymour west, says the Campbellford Herald, widow of the late James Smith, wandered away from its home a few days ago, and not returning, the neighbours turned out in search of him, and he was found the next morning in a hollow log. The little fellow, who is between two and three years old, becoming cold, crawled into the log and slept there for the night. The mother was overjoyed at finding her little darling.

A Fortunate Fisherman.

The Campbellford Herald asserts that Mr. A. M. White, miller at the Caledonian mills north of Campbellford, heads the list as a successful fisherman, he having taken from the Trent river with rod and line during the past summer, 492 bass. He tells an incident of a mink having been caught with bait used for fishing in the pond near the mill, and of a bass that was pursued by a maskinonge and leaped into his boat and was secured. This story may be all right and will, if it is not literally correct, come under the class of "White lies."

Not a Sinecure.

Campbellford's police force doesn't polish its finger nails, judged by the Herald's definition of his duties: Mr. Jas. E. Robinson having by choice of the Council received the appointment of night watchman and guardian of the peace, started on duty on Tuesday night last. According to to the terms of the bylaw he is required to be at his post every evening at six o'clock, and remain on duty till 6 in the morning, Sunday included, and during that time to make three rounds to the fire alarm boxes, the entire circuit every night, calling at each one at an interval of 48 minutes. In addition to this he is to keep order on the streets, and keep the sidewalk clear for persons using the same, and choke off all those street corner loafers that regularly congregate there and block up the way, and otherwise act as a policeman, and do all things required of a police officer.

Many women suffer in silence from troubles peculiar to their sex rather than consult a physician. Let them try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and they will no longer feel life a burden. dw

Navigation on the Back Lakes

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—The secretary of the Board of Trade was instructed at a recent meeting to communicate with the Government with regard to the management of those back lakes not yet under Government control. He has forwarded accordingly, he informs me, a long and detailed statement to the Department showing the dire necessity under which inland navigation and water power are labouring. Now, what I wish to do is to urge those who are interested in this navigation to unite, giving their experiences and impressions to the Department at Ottawa. By means of this general and united action something may be done to prevent a repetition of this summer's loss and annoyance.

Hon. Edward Blake's Generosity.

A Matter of Monetary Interest to Institute Pupils—The Number of Matriculation Scholarships has been Raised from Two to Twenty Nine—For the Consideration of High School Masters.

There is now some encouragement for the matriculation candidate in the University of Toronto to put forth his best efforts. Heretofore there were practically only two scholarships offered for this work. But now, through the generosity of Hon. A circular containing the full list of prizes and the regulations governing their distribution, will shortly be issued to high school masters for their consideration.

There shall be, including the Prince of Wales' scholarship, nine junior matriculation scholarships for general proficiency in the four departments of classics, mathematics, modern languages, science, and in the sub-departments of history and geography. A Judge's Sympathy.

A Kansas City judge set an example last week which might well be copied in some courts elsewhere, to the great comfort and satisfaction of witnesses and the furtherance of the ends of justice. One of the lawyers in a divorce suit began to brow beat and bully a witness, when the judge interposed with the quiet remark:—"Gentlemen, if any one is unjustly insulted in this court room I will not fine him for resenting it. This court will not further protect a man who gives an insult." It does seem strange justice to put a man in the witness box swear him to tell the truth and then permit a lawyer to try to make the witness commit perjury.

Twelve Years' Test.

DEAR SIRS,—We have used Hagyard's Yellow Oil in our family for twelve years, and find nothing equal to it for rheumatism, lumbago, lame back, frost bites, etc. We would not be without it.
dw MRS. MATILDA CHICK, Winnipeg, Man,

An Explanation.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—As a great many people are enquiring from me the reason I applied to have the Kidd case re-opened, I thought better to give the reasons publicly. At the trial Mr. Kidd swore positively that he spent the county money from the sixth to the thirteenth of November and that he never was away from the work during that time. Mr. McWilliams had stated that the report sent to him by Mr. Kidd of work done, although not dated, was written on Saturday, the 8th, and from some meeting attended by Mr. Kidd. When Mr. Kidd was in the witness box he was pressed very hard regarding where he was on Saturday, the 8th; so much so that the judge remarked, "Why press so much about Saturday, the 8th?"

On examination of the township clerk's books, I find Mr. Kidd attended the council meeting in Warsaw on that date, and can prove not only that he was in Warsaw all that day, but that he told parties that he was through with the expenditure of money on the Ninth line, and also that on the 3rd or 4th of November of that year he told parties he wanted to finish the work by Thursday so as to be home for the council meeting on Saturday. It will also be seen that Mr. Kidd draws pay for attending a council meeting, when, according to his sworn testimony, he was working on the Ninth line of Dummer the same day.

Yours truly,
RICHARD CROWE.

LOOK UP YESTERDAY'S EXAMINER, 18th Nov.

Turn to T. Hurley & Son's advertisement. Read it carefully and then ask yourself is there any money in No. 1 for me? Weigh well before answering. George street is the principal business street of the town and may be limited at present for business and general traffic between the C. P. R. station and the Central Park. There is not an available foot between Brock and Charlotte streets, therefore, all new business places must be either on side streets or north of Brock or south of Charlotte. Which way is the town growing most rapidly? South, all must acknowledge the larger population coming to market or post office, comes from the south, therefore, vacant lots between the C. P. R. station and Charlotte street must be worth more that vacant lots between J. J. Howden's shop and Murray street. The latter (report says) is held at $80 per foot frontage, and we have shown and we think proved on sound reasoning principles, that the property under consideration is worth more and still we offer it for 5 days longer at half that price or $40 per foot. Now answer, is there any money in No. 1 for you? Moneyed men here is a bonanza. Wholesale men, what cheaper or better location could you desire, conveniently situated between both railways stations, hydrant and electric light at your door. Although offering at such a nominal price, we are not doing so blindly, because we are confident it will more than double in value within two years. Still we offer it until next Monday night, 23rd inst. at that nominal price, viz—Forty Dollars per foot Frontage.

NATIVE-GROWN POETS.

CANADIAN BARDS WHO ARE BECOMIN' TALKED ABOUT

Not Only in the Dominion, But in Other Lands — Campbell — Roberts — Scott— Lampman—A Quartette of Versifiers Who Sing in Many Chords.

Every lover of good poetry as well as every Canadian who desires the establishment and development of a national literature will rejoice at the success which four of our writers of verse have achieved during the last few years and at the fame which they have deservedly won. There was a time—and that not long since—when our poets were not only practically unknown to the American public, but almost as unknown to or unrecognized by ourselves. Now, however, this cannot be said, for during the last year or two the leading American magazines and periodicals, including those of the highest class, have discovered the poetic genius of our countrymen and have vied with each other in securing their productions.

Among a number who might fairly be mentioned, four names stand out prominently as successful writers of verse—William Wilfred Campbell, Charles G. D. Roberts, Archibald Lampman, and Duncan Campbell Scott. Professor Roberts is professor of English literature in King's College, Windsor, Nova Scotia, while the other three gentlemen are connected with the Civil Service at Ottawa where the comparatively short hours of labor will enable them to continue their literary work.

Mr Campbell is an ordained minister of the Episcopal church, but has evidently chosen to follow literature as his profession, in conjunction with his civil service duties. In his writing of verse he has been aptly termed the Poet of the Lakes for, having passed his earlier years on the shores of Lake Huron and Lake Superior, he has reproduced his impressions of these great inland seas in stanzas of suggestive power and beauty. Especially strong are his verses descriptive of the wild and desolate winter scenery surrounding these lakes. His poem in the Century Magazine for December, 1890, entitled "Midwinter Storm in the Lake Region," is a fair sample of his work on this line:

Out of the far, gray skies comes the dread north with his blowing
That chills the warm blood in the vains, and cuts to the heart like fate.
Quick as the fall of the leaf the lake-world is white with his snowing,
Quick as the flash of a blade the waters are black with his hate.

His best work thus far is seen in "The Mother" published in Harper's Magazine for April last which attracted the notice and won the praise of some of the best critics. It is a marvel of strength and originality. Take these lines, for instance, over the grave of the dead mother:

The snows that wasted, the winds that blew,
The rays that slanted, the clouds that drew

The water ghosts up from lakes below,
And the little flower souls in earth that grow.

And this couplet:

I heard the sound of each sleeper's breath,
Light waves that break on the shores of death.

At last her babe joins her in the grave:

And here I lie with him under the stars,
Dead to earth, its peace and its wars;

Dead to its hates, its hopes and its harms,
So long as he cradles up soft in my arms.

And heaven may open its shimmering doors,
And saints make music on pearly floors,

And hell may yawn to its infinite sea,
But they never can take my baby from me.

And here I lie with him under the flowers,
That sun-winds rock through the billowy hours,

With the night airs that steal from the murmuring sea
Bringing sweet peace to my baby and me.

Mr. Campbell has published two volumes of verse: Snowflakes and Lake Lyrics.

Professor Roberts is perhaps the most widely known of the group I have mentioned as he is the senior of them all. He is a lavish word-painter, especially when writing of the sea for which he seemingly has as great a love as Mr. Campbell. He has contributed to The Century, Scribner's and other magazines and the higher grade of weeklies, such as the New York Independent, while he has published two volumes of verse—Orion and other Poems, and In Divers Tones—which have firmly established his standing as among the leading poets of the day.

DUNCAN CAMPBELL SCOTT.

Duncan Campbell Scott is a name frequently seen of late in the magazines, Scribner's being his chief medium. He, like his fellow-poets, is a keen lover of nature, as indeed a true poet must be. In his Autumn Song published in Scribner's for October, 1890, he writes:

Sing me a song of the autumn clear,
With the mellow days and the ruddy eves;
Sing me a song of the ending year
With the piled-up sheaves.

The Reed Player appeared in the same magazine for December, 1890, and a translation from the Hungarian in the May issue of this year.

Archibald Lampman has been described as "the sweetest and strongest of our little group of singers," and the praise is not undeserved. [illegible] country and the woods are his them[illegible]hich he writes as if they were par[illegible]life, so vigorous, sincere and re[illegible]nes. Mr. Howells has gone [illegible] rank him among the strong[illegible] America, and the additional [illegible]y be penned that he is the Ca[illegible]dsworth in his delineation of the [illegible] of the country.

Scri[illegible] Harper's Magazines have secure[illegible] recent compositions. In the fo[illegible]odical for April last appears a strong [illegible] on "Night":

On the great threshold of the night I stand,
Once more a soul self-cognizant and still,
Among the wheeling multitude of stars.

"To the Cricket" is a dainty bit of verse in Scribner's for July, 1890, while "Life and Nature" in that magazine for November, 1890, is much more ambitious and virile. In Harper's for the same month he has a long poem, "In November," which discloses his power as an observer of nature, as does "The March of Winter" (Harper's for January, 1891), which contains some fine lines:

ARCHIBALD LAMPMAN.

The great wind like thundering cavalry
* * * * in tempestuous glee
Over the far off woods with tramp and surge,
Huge and deep-tongued, goes roaring like the sea.

May the steadily growing success of this quartette of Canadian poets be but the dawning of a day when a national literature—of both verse and prose—will spring into life and receive a just recognition and encouragement from the people of our own land.

An "Anecdote" Fixed Him.

A tall colored man entered a drug store on Sixth avenue at 10 o'clock last evening in a state of great excitement. He held one hand over the middle button of his vest and gasped out in tones of excitement tinged with distress:

"Doctah, give me an anecdote to pison or an ammatick to kill pison. Some one's done dosed me fo' sure."

"What have you been eating?" inquired the druggist, looking closely at the man.

"Not much, doctah, not much; I had some watermallion and a few pieces of cucumber and a peach or two, and then I went out to get some ice cream with a lady. I no sooner swallowed the cream dan I was dat cramped I couldn't set straight. I knowed somethin' was put in dat watermallion right off. O, doctah, give me something quick!"

"Here, take this right down," said the druggist, passing the man a big dose of ginger.

After taking the dose the patient sat down in a chair, saying; "Law doctah, but that anecdote is a hot one, fo' suah."—New York Commercial-Advertiser.

Mistah Johnsing—Say, you wuffless white trash, did you frow dat brick at my head?

Snodgrass—No, sir; I merely propelled it in the direction of your cranium.

"What I like about Charlie," said Ethel, is his kindness to animals. Why last week when he took me to the menagerie he gave a whole peanut to one of the elephants."

Easy to use, pleasant and agreeable is the verdict of all who have used Nasal Balm, and better still, there is no case of catarrh or cold in the head that it will not cure. dw

A Pleasant Herb Drink—A Spring Medicine.

The druggists tell us that people call daily for the new cure for constipation and sick headache discovered by Dr. Silas Lane. It is said to be Oregon grape root (a great remedy in the far west for those complaints) combined with simple herbs, and is made for use by pouring on boiling water to draw out the strength. It sells for 50c. and $1 a package, and is called Lane's Family Medicine. dw

"German Syrup"

G. Gloger, Druggist, Watertown, Wis. This is the opinion of a man who keeps a drug store, sells all medicines, comes in direct contact with the patients and their families, and knows better than anyone else how remedies sell, and what true merit they have. He hears of all the failures and successes, and can therefore judge: "I know of no medicine for Coughs, Sore Throat, or Hoarseness that had done such effective work in my family as Boschee's German Syrup. Last winter a lady called at my store, who was suffering from a very severe cold. She could hardly talk, and I told her about German Syrup and that a few doses would give relief; but she had no confidence in patent medicines. I told her to take a bottle, and if the results were not satisfactory I would make no charge for it. A few days after she called and paid for it, saying that she would never be without it in future as a few doses had given her relief." ®

A CHAPTER FOR WIVES.

Timely Information About How to Fix up a Husband.

Soft fabrics with slightly rough finish, says Harper's Bazar, are worn by well-dressed men at all hours of the day and evening. Their business and travelling suits are of dark lamb's wool or of vicuna cloth, or else of lighter plaids and checks. The principal colors are blue and black mixed, gold and brown mixed, and very dark brown. The coat is a single-breasted sack fastened by three or four buttons, with vest to match.

FROCK COATS LONGER.

Frock coats are made very long, extremists wearing them to reach below the knee. They are of black rough cheviots with silk-faced lapels, and a cord finish on the edges instead of braid. The vest is of the material of the coat, and the striped trousers are of dark grayish-blue. This is the suit for day weddings—alike for groom, ushers, and guests—and for any entertainment in the afternoon.

EVENING SUITS.

Evening suits are of undressed worsted and cheviots of fine quality and purest jet black. For dress-coats the shawl collar and peaked lapels are equally popular. The shawl collar is faced entirely with silk, but peaked lapels are faced only to the button holes. All edges are corded. Besides a low-cut vest of black cheviot, a white silk vest is usually provided with dress coats to be worn at weddings and the theatre.

OVERCOATS.

Overcoats for walking and general wear are single-breasted sacks of beaver cloth made loose, of medium length, with plain seams, double-stitched edges, and velvet collar; they are lined with plaid cloth. Similar overcoats are made of gray and black cheviot. Dress top-coats for evening have the Inverness cape, and are made of black cheviot faced to the edge with silk.

LINEN.

Shirt fronts remain plain layers of linen in shield shape, fastened by two small studs—those for the day made of gold, with pearl or white enameled studs for evening. Standing collars are worn of good height and self-rolled or to meet, as is most becoming. Cuffs are square-cornered, with the edges meeting when fastened by linked sleeve buttons.

NECKWEAR.

Dark scarfs are again in favor. They are in the familiar Ascot, four-in-hand and puffed shapes, with also the small square English bow. The new fancy is for rich dark red scarfs, especially for wearing with brown suits. Grayish-blue, stone-color, and heliotrope are also fashionable for neckwear.

SILK UNDERWEAR.

Silk underwear is woven not only in ivory-white or flesh-color, but also in pearl, rose, salmon, blue and heliotrope.

HOSIERY.

Black silk socks very slightly embroidered are worn with evening dress. Finely striped Balbriggans for day use are in stone colors, tan or wood browns, and soft fine cashmere socks are of natural gray and ecru shades.

FOOTGEAR.

Buttoned gaiters of calf-skin for street wear have low heels, and either medium pointed or broad toes, the style being again for rather broad shoes. High-buttoned shoes are also worn in the evening; they have galoches of patent leather with kid tops.

GLOVES.

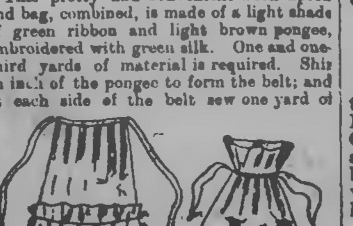
Walking gloves are of reddish or yellowish tan shades, and are worn in English fashion of heavy qualities that were formerly used only for driving. They have very slight stitching on the back, and are fastened by two buttons.

SILK HATS.

The crown of new silk hats is even more bell-shaped than that worn last season, and is of two different heights, that for elderly men measuring six and three-fourth inches, while that for young men is a quarter of an inch less.

Work Apron and Bag.

This pretty and convenient work apron and bag, combined, is made of a light shade of green ribbon and light brown pongee, embroidered with green silk. One and one-third yards of material is required. Shir an inch of the pongee to form the belt; and at each side of the belt sew one yard of ribbon, one and one-half inches wide, for the strings. Twelve inches from the top of the belt make a tuck, four inches deep; at the bottom of this tuck make a place one inch broad to run a ribbon in. This tuck is to fall down on the back of the apron. Turn up a pocket ten inches deep, embroider this with a conventional design. At the top of the pocket make a hem four inches broad, using one inch at the base to run a ribbon in. Insert a double ribbon through this place, and also through the place left in the tuck at the back of the apron; tie small bows at each side. The upper part of the apron can be folded down so as to come inside the pocket; then pull up the ribbons and we have formed a work bag. It is very pretty to use a line of brier stitching to form the places for the ribbon, or a line of hem-stitching.—Farm and Home.



Fancy Materials For Gowns.

The fancy cloth materials for gowns ought to suit all tastes, for they can be as quiet as the proverbial mouse, or as loud as the raging bull. The very large checks in brown, yellow and mixed brown; in heliotrope, black and mixed design that seems as if the heliotrope had rushed into the black; in light gray, smoke and black, diagonally crossed by hairy, wavy lines, will undoubtedly be greatly in vogue this year. Women have discovered that by making skirts to fit as well as do their bodices, that even the plaids are not impossible. Too much cannot be said of the beauty of the heliotrope, black, and the mixed plaid just described, when trimmed with black fur, or black velvet, or made, indeed, with a black velvet coat, thus achieving a very rich visiting costume. For general wear, a brown serge in wide and narrow broken diagonal stripes, will be found useful, and can, of course, be made as simply or as elaborately as may be wished for. A yellow ground with stripes of black cord upon it, is advised for wraps and for dress trimmings. It certainly is a novelty, but one may doubt its being a popular novelty. The ragged-robins' blue is introduced in a diagonal stripe with black, having white dots upon it as a contrast. But, to plagiarise Mr. Rudyard Kipling, all this talk about dress is another story.—Ladies' Home Journal.

A Feminine Novelty.

A lattice-striped shoe has the front all covered with a lattice work of silk ribbon, braid or cord, and the rest of the tie or slipper plain

DICKSON'S,

THE WAR IN BRAZIL.

Riot of Medical Students with the Police at Rio de Janeiro.

NEW YORK, [illegible]—The steamship Earndale, Capt. Carter, with coffee from Rio Janeiro, arrived at her pier in Brooklyn yesterday morning. The ship left before the serious trouble began in Brazil, but the officers bring some interesting news. The Earndale sailed from Rio on the morning of Oct. 24, having been in port about two weeks. During that time there were no United States war vessels in the harbor, but there were two British and one French cruisers. Of all the Brazilian men-of-war in Rio navy yard only two appeared to be in commission, so that the reports which have reached here of activity in the Brazilian navy are very probably exaggerated. "The only trouble I know of," said one of the Earndale's officers, "occurred on the night of October 8. A great crowd of medical students had gathered in one of the theatres, where a rather popular soubrette was the cause of a deal of cheering and shouting. The police objected to the disorder and tried to put a stop to it. The result was a rush of the students against the police, who drew their swords and pistols and fought the crowd. Several of the students were killed and a number of the combatants on both sides were badly injured. On the following night the police and students again met in a row, resulting in the death of two of the latter and a number of minor casualties. A young Englishman who happened to be passing down the street where the fight occurred, was killed instantly by a stray bullet. As a result of this rioting mounted police patrolled the streets of the capital night and day, and after dark it was unsafe to go into the streets. The garrison was not called on for assistance, probably because the army would have sided with the civilians. The soldiers hate the police. The latter are made up of the worst classes. They are mostly Negroes. They are brutal and combative, and never miss an opportunity to draw the ugly swords which they carry at their sides."

"Was there any significance to this student riot?" asked the reporter.

"I think not. At that time Da Fonseca was so ill he was not expected to live. He has recovered since then, and a majority of the people are disappointed. The republic form of government has not panned out as they expected. There is a powerful faction desiring the reinstatement of the empire. They want to put Dom Pedro's son or his nephew on the throne. Since the fall of the empire prices of every commodity have doubled. The Government has imposed a high tariff, and the people have the idea that a large part of the money gets into private pockets instead of into the state treasury."

"How does the army feel about it?"

"That I do not know," said the officer "The common soldiers are controlled by their superiors and the officers keep their plans to themselves. As far as I know the army has not been inireased." The officer said further that it was the general opinion at Rio when he left that the Government would not last many months longer. He was not surprised when he read of the revolution movement.

Florence, the Actor, Dead.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 20.—William J. Florence, the actor, died shortly after 9 o'clock to-night. When told a few minutes before dissolution that the end was nigh the true-hearted Florence spoke up: "Well, if I must die, I'm not afraid to."

Actor Florence had been lying at the point of death for some days at the Continental Hotel, ill with pneumonia. His partner, Joseph Jefferson, was kept advised hourly as to his condition, and among the anxious enquirers was Edwin Booth. Mrs. Florence is in England and will sail for home Saturday. Florence was one of the most distinguished actors in the profession, and had offers of $1000 a week from half a dozen managers.

Mr. Florence was nearly 61 years of age, he having been born at Albany, N.Y., July 26, 1831. His name originally was Conlin, but as he had adopted the stage name of Florence he legalized his right to the latter by act of the N.Y. Legislature.

MINISTERS AT PERTH

THE HAGGART DEMONSTRATION YESTERDAY.

The Postmaster-General Presented With an Address—Speeches by Thompson, Foster, Chapleau, Bowell and Tupper —What the Ministers of Justice and Finance Said.

PERTH, Ont., Nov. 20.—The Haggart demonstration took place in the Agricultural Hall here yesterday. The hall was elegantly decorated with mottoes and banners, whilst the galleries were crowded with ladies and the main body of the hall with gentlemen. Mr. William Leels, M.P.P., presided.

Mr. J. M. Rogers presented Mr. Haggart with a very complimentary address.

In replying the Postmaster-General dealt with the charges made against him in the public mind but for which he claimed no public sponsor could be found in the House of Commons, making counter charges on the Liberal members of insincerity.

Sir John Thompson followed. He said this was the first occasion on which the Government had met the electors since the late elections and the lamented death of Sir John Macdonald. The members of the ministry were not like the leaders of the Opposition, who, when they had anything to say, went to New York or Boston to say it. He did not believe in any annexation but would leave one of his brothers to answer that question. The Opposition had attacked the Government as a "Boodle Government," but he wished to tell them that though certain charges had been brought against certain officers the Government had been quick to answer them and had instituted proceedings against every man who had been proved to have had connection with these matters. The Liberals said they were not prosecuting all the boodlers. All he would say was that most were prosecuted and the cases of the others were under consideration. If the Opposition would give them the evidence they would prosecute. It was said the life of the present Ministry meant the death of the National Policy. This was not true. The N.P. would live and continue extending and increasing trade. They had been told by the Opposition that they were dictated to by Blaine from Washington. That was false, and its falsity was proved by Laurier and Cartwright, who 12 months ago said the Government should make advances, and now advocated reciprocity in every shape and would make Canada a state in the United States confederation. The Opposition found it no use advocating their principles. The time had come when they must state facts as they were, and though he regretted that recent developments had shown the Canadian administration in a bad light, he would speak of the mal-administration of the Government as it was, and admit that there had been wrongs. He taunted Laurier with not having done his duty and said Sir Hector Langevin left the ministry because he felt that, though he had no knowledge of any wrongdoing, yet he was responsible as the minister in whose department it occurred. He again alluded to Mr. Laurier, alleged that whilst he was posing as the apostle of purity his party had been receiving the thousands gathered by Pacaud and using them in the elections in Quebec whilst boasting they had gained a sensible victory there.

The Finance Minister.

Hon. Geo. E. Foster alluded at length to the reduction of the sugar duty. This meant a reduction of at least $5.50 per family. He contrasted the charges of corruption made by Liberals with the incident of Organizer Preston and the G.T.R. tickets. He referred to the egg trade and said England would take at magnificent prices all Canada could forward. With regard to the charge of increased debt he admitted the increase, but claimed that interest had decreased. Years ago they had paid six per cent. for money, now they were only paying a trifle under three per cent. and the debt, though increased, only amounted to about six cents per head more than formerly. Emigration, he admitted, suffered from competition, but Canada was progressing. Last year over 20,000,000 of grain was exported against a few number of millions years ago. The McKinley bill had only done what Goldwin Smith, Cartwright and Laurier had told them would be a wound in Canada's side. The extent of the wound he left them to judge. He concluded by a defence of the National Policy.

Messrs. Chaplea, Tupper and Bowell also made short speeches.

Opium Smuggling From Canada.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—A. K. Tingle, supervising special agent of the Treasury Department, in his annual report for the fiscal year suggests the employment of a number of speedy steam launches to patrol the waters of Puget Sound in order to break up the opium traffic. He also points out that 125,000 lbs. of crude petroleum manufactured in Victoria, B.C., were smuggled into the United States, and suggests that the duty be reduced from $12 to $4 per bbl.

Insurgents Fortifying Rio Grande.

RIO JANEIRO, Nov. 20.—From despatches received here yesterday it is learned that the insurgents are fortifying the city of Rio Grande and are making preparations for repelling any advances made on the place by the forces of President da Fonseca. The Government has ordered a force of troops to proceed to the city of Desterro, capital of the province of Santa Catharina. This city is 460 miles southwest of Rio Janeiro. It contains the palace of the President of the province and an arsenal, and is defended by several forts.

Health of Man and Beast.

TORONTO, Nov. 20.—At yesterday morning's session of the quarterly meeting of the Provincial Board of Health the principal item of business was the reading of the secretary's quarterly report re animal diseases. In opening it he made reference to a serious outbreak of anthrax citraction, which had been reported at a previous meeting. He was pleased to be able to state that no further cases had occurred there and that the proprietors of the large tanneries had complied with his suggestion for supplying filter beds for filtering the effluent water from the tannery before its entrance into the creek.

The other most serious cattle disease, he said, which called for action on the part of the board was actinomycosis. In one week six cattle were discovered in the Toronto Cattle Market suffering from this disease, and, in consequence, he had four animals seized, two of which were destroyed in Montreal and one in Toronto. Bacteriological examination proved the nature of these cases. Other specimens have occurred in in Waterloo county. Lone Island Park, Man., various points in western Canada, one case as far north as Parry Sound, and also in several places in eastern Ontario. "That the disease has increased in recent years," continued the Doctor, "is beyond question, and that its germs are capable of dissemination is not only proved from the occurrence of several cases in the same farm yard succeeding one another, but from the interesting fact that my assistant in the laboratory, Mr. J. J. MacKenzie, has succeeded probably, for the first time on this continent, in actually cultivating the microbe on agar-agar."

After dealing at some length with tuberculosis in dairy and other cattle, of which Professor McFadyean, at the recent meeting of the Sanitary Association of Scotland, at Edinburgh, stated that probably 20 per cent. of the former were tainted, Dr. Bryce spoke of localized epidemics of hog cholera which, though probably of less immediate danger as human food, was more prevalent. In this connection he gave a very interesting history of the disease in this section of the country. Dr. Andrew Smith, the district inspector, investigated a few cases, but could not state positively that it was hog cholera. The disease might be due to intestinal trouble due to feeding hotel slops in hot weather. Outbreaks subsequently were reported from Victoria Harbor, Burford, and at Kingston an attempt was then made to get at the truth by a bacteriological examination.

The Yale-Harvard Game.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—From a football standpoint the coming struggle between Yale and Harvard on Saturday will in some respects be the most interesting that has ever taken place. A singular feature of the two elevens is that where one is strong the other is weak, and vice versa, so a great deal will depend upon the style of team game each plays. If Harvard plays a strong team game the contest will be extremely close. Yale is playing a fine team game, augmented by brilliant work on the part of the fine players she has in the eleven.

Yale's aggressive play is excellent and her defensive game is solid. Harvard is especially fortunate in having a full-back in Trafford, who can outkick anything on the Yale team. He is good at scoring goals from the field. Yale, on the contrary, has no one who can be relied on for goals from the field, and she is also inferior to Harvard in ends and tackles. Her strong points are centre and quarter-back, as compared with those of Harvard.

100 Dropped Goals in 1 Hour.

PRINCETON, Nov. 19.—The elements were very adverse to football practice to-day. Despite the adverse conditions Captain Warren had his men work on the field for 45 minutes. Tracy, Harris and Poe were on hand, and three better coachers would be difficult to get together. The play was confined almost wholly to end work. The success of this experiment in Princeton work is every day more apparent.

Dyspepsia

Intense Suffering for 8 years—Restored to Perfect Health.

Few people have suffered more severely from dyspepsia than Mr. E. A. McMahon, a well known grocer of Staunton, Va. He says: "Before 1878 I was in excellent health, weighing over 200 pounds. In that year an ailment developed into acute dyspepsia, and soon I was reduced to 162 pounds, suffering burning sensations in the stomach, palpitation of the heart, nausea, and indigestion. I could not sleep, lost all heart in my work, had fits of melancholia, and for days at a time I would have welcomed death. I became morose, sullen and irritable, and for eight years life was a burden. I tried many physicians and many remedies. One day a workman employed by me suggested that I take Hood's Sarsaparilla, as it had cured his wife of dyspepsia. I did so, and before taking the whole of a bottle I began to feel like a new man. The terrible pains to which I had been subjected, ceased, the palpitation of the heart subsided, my stomach became easier, nausea disappeared, and my entire system began to tone up. With returning strength came activity of mind and body. Before the fifth bottle was taken I had regained my former weight and natural condition. I am today well and I ascribe it to taking Hood's Sarsaparilla."

EVERY day makes more apparent the fact that the town is going ahead rapidly. Numerous changes have taken place in the way of ownership of property. Many workingmen are buying houses and lots, or lots on which to build. One of the most suitable locations is that known as the Erin property, at the west end, owned largely by Mr. Wm Fitzgerald. This week he has closed the sale of a very desirable house and lot, and has several eligible lots on this property to dispose of. Property in this neighborhood is rapidly being built up, and it will be well to have a look at the situation if one is at all disposed to buy. The terms are very favorable and especially low for cash, though payment on time may be arranged.

GRIM DEATH VERY BUSY IN THE DOMINION.

Strange Sequel to an Elopement—A Wellington Bigamy Case—A Woodstock Fire—Mad Dog Scare at Forest—Diphtheria Epidemic in Toronto.

SMITH'S FALLS, Ont., Nov. 21.—A few days ago a dashing couple, the man possessing a hook nose, arrived in town on the early morning train and put up at one of the leading hotels. Shortly after breakfast they wended their way into the postoffice, where the young lady told Postmaster Ferguson that they were in quest of a marriage license. This secured the lady promptly opened her well-filled purse and handed him the necessary fee. The couple then made their way up to St. John's Church, and there in the impressive service of the Church of England the Rev. Mr. Nesbitt pronounced them man and wife. The young lady claimed she was 24 years of age, but in reality looked much younger. She was exceedingly pretty and was fashionably attired in a traveling costume of fawn cloth. She gave her name as Lulu Devore and her home, she said, was in Dayton, Ohio. The gentleman in the case gave his name as George Graham and claimed that he came from Toronto. They spent the entire day here, leaving in the evening for the west. The sequel was furnished by a despatch from International Bridge announcing the arrest of the couple. The lady in the case is Miss Lulu Devore, a beautiful blonde, 19 years old and a heiress, belonging to Dayton, Ohio. Graham's real name is George Aies. He is married and the father of two children.

Contagious Diseases in Toronto.

TORONTO, Nov. 21.—Owing to the increase in the number of cases of diphtheria Dr. O'Reilly has definitely decided not to admit any more cases of the disease to the General Hospital. Dr. Allen, the Medical Health Officer, is accordingly on the lookout for a temporary diphtheria hospital. The old Upper Canada College building is the place that will likely be secured. The number of diphtheria cases this week so far reported is 62. The typhoid outbreak shows a considerable decrease this week. The diphtheria prevalent is said to be of a less malignant type than that with which many United States cities just now are afflicted.

A Piece of Wood in His Nostril.

HAMILTON, Nov. 21.—George Elliott, a little lad, who resides at 221 Main-street east, while playing about six weeks ago accidentally pushed a piece of lath up his nose. He pulled it out or, as it now seems, pulled only a part of it out. His nose bled freely for a time, but nothing was thought of it until about a week ago, when he complained of being ill. Growing rapidly worse, a physician was summoned, when a piece of wood larger than a match was found lodged some distance up the nostril. It was at once removed, but too late. The boy is now at death's door from lockjaw and cannot recover.

Ten Agents From Manitoba.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 21.—The Manitoba Government intends prosecuting its immigration policy more vigorously. It is said to be the intention of the Department of Agriculture and Immigration to send east at an early date ten agents to assist officials now steadily employed in the province's behalf.

Died Before Help Arrived.

EGANVILLE, Ont., Nov. 21.—Miss Nellie Low, daughter of Mr. Low, section foreman on the C.P.R., Cobden, went to Graham's station to give music lessons to her pupils. Upon returning home she complained of not feeling very well. Her father was sent for, being only a short distance away, but before he arrived she had passed away.

Killed a Wolf.

EGANVILLE, Ont., Nov. 21.—Mr. John Storry of Brudenell was hunting in this vicinity during the past week. His large collie dog took after a wolf, and John soon heard them engaged in a terrible fight. He quietly stole upon them and with his rifle laid the wolf cold. Wolves are very plentiful around Bark Lake.

Died While Shopping.

BRUSSELS, Ont., Nov. 21.—John Long and wife of the 12th con., Grey, went to Ethel to transact some business. About 4 o'clock Mr. Long was paying T. P. Simpson for some goods when the money fell from his hand and he sank to the floor and lapsed into a semi-conscious state. A short time later he died.

Baby Pulled the Trigger.

RIDGETOWN, Ont., Nov. 21.—Mrs. George Gage, David-street, while working her sewing machine yesterday was struck just above the right eye with a bullet from a revolver with which her little girl was playing. The shot struck the hard cover of the machine first, and its force was much spent, but Mrs. Gage is seriously wounded.

CANADIANS MURDERED.

Terrible Double Tragedy in the Pine Woods of Minnesota.

WEST SUPERIOR, Nov. 20.—C. B. Greer, a Canadian who has a claim about 20 miles from Grand Rapids, Minn., is in the city to-day to look up some relatives of James McBride, a Canadian also, who is now lying in a critical condition at his home on a claim adjacent to the one occupied by Greer.

Some weeks ago McBride with others, including two Canadians named Redding and Bruce, started for the Canadian border near Rainy Lake to spend the winter on a hunting trip.

Friday McBride returned, showing signs of horrible maltreatment. His left arm was broken and his hands and feet terribly frost-bitten. He was in a delirious state.

During McBride's lucid moments it was gleaned that a fight occurred among the men because Redding, who furnished the supplies, cut off the whisky. Redding and McBride were tied to trees. Subsequently McBride was set free and started to return, being driven from the camp, leaving Redding still tied to a tree and the other men drinking heavily. Redding was subsequently discovered still tied to the tree with his head blown off. On the ground in front of him was another of the party named Bruce, riddled with bullets. The whereabouts of the others is unknown.

RAISING BLACK CATS.

How a Recently Organized Company Expects to Make Several Fortunes.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 20.—James Wardner, of the Consolidated Black Cat Company, is here from Fair Haven, Wash. He is one of the stockholders of a novel company just organized on Puget Sound for the propagation of black cats. An island is to be purchased, so that the cats can not intermix with other cats of the surrounding regions, and there the black-cat breed is to be perpetuated. The black cats will live on fish, thus the expense of running the big cat ranch will be reduced to a minimum.

The cats are to be grown for their fur, and the projectors expect to make millions out of it. Most of the original stock will be brought from Holland.

AGAINST "PINK TEAS."

They Are Championed and Opposed in the Episcopal Congress.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—"Old and New Parochial Methods" was the subject discussed to-day by the Episcopal Church Congress.

Rev. Langdon Stewardson of Worcester, Mass., opposed present methods. Church entertainments would lead the way to Sunday theatres. Much of the organization within the church to-day, according to Dr. Stewardson, so far from promoting spiritual growth is a positive detriment and drag upon the religious work of the church. All through New England "pink teas," "apron parties," "bean suppers" and "bumble-bee breakfasts" have run mad in the churches. It may be that they are harmless as they are absurd, but when they are carried to such an excess they go away beyond the ordinary and proper duties of the church and the parish and have the tendency to place them in a ridiculous and unseemly light.

TRICKS OF FINANCE.

Chicago Board of Trade Men Fleeced Through a False Report.

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 21.—The Chicago Board of Trade resolved itself into an indignation meeting to-day. Men who have grown gray in the business of separating lambs from their fleece were there minus their own wool.

The meeting was called to ferret out the sharper who had put forth the spurious "news" at the close of the session yesterday that the Ukase of the Czar prohibiting the export of cereals had been issued.

The "news" came from one of the private wire houses. Wheat jumped up one cent, but that was not the worst effect of the "fake." Brokers rushed in to cover, and the losses were extremely heavy, because nobody knew what was coming.

Whipped the Coastguard.

CORK, Nov. 21.—There was a full-fledged riot to-day at Kinsale between a mob of wreckers and a number of coast guardsmen, who were detailed there to protect the remains and cargo of the wrecked ship Guelph.

The coast guardsmen, who are all veteran men-of-war's men, finding themselves terribly outnumbered, drew their revolvers and side arms. This so enraged the wreckers that they fell upon the coast guardsmen "tooth and nail," literally, and gave them a sound thrashing, took away their revolvers and side arms and drove the coast guardsmen, covered with mud and bruises, back to their barracks.

Not content with this victory the wreckers stole two large cartloads of the cargo and spirited their booty away to parts unknown.

A Canadian Opium Smuggler.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—Harry H. Hutchinson, a Canadian, was arrested at McCoy's Hotel to-day on the charge of smuggling opium into the United States. Hutchinson's trunk was seized and securely packed in the bottom were found 110 half-pound packages of smoking opium. It is believed that the opium is part of a large amount that was smuggled from Vancouver.

A Burglar With Conscientious Scruples.

TROY, N.Y., Nov. 21.—Oliver C. Perry, the alleged express robber arrested in Vermont yesterday, was formerly a member of the Railroad Young Men's Christian Association of this city during the time he was employed as a brakeman. At the request of one of the city missionaries Perry was excused from working Sunday because of conscientious scruples.

An Old Trick.

DETROIT, Nov. 20.—Harry D. Read registered at the Franklin House several days ago claiming that he was a hotel clerk from Toronto. He deposited a bulky envelope in the hotel safe saying it contained $100. Read was approached by the clerk yesterday and asked to settle his bill. His envelope was produced from the hotel safe and found to contain a worthless sight draft. Read was arrested.

His Whiskers Turned White.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—John Craig, a young newspaper man who was recently appointed secretary of the California World's Fair Commission, went to bed one night last week with a luxuriant growth of whiskers and woke up with one side pure white.

BRITISH AND FOREIGN.

COMMISSION FOR ESTABLISHING COLONIES IN CANADA.

To Be Formed of Scotch Crofters and Inhabitants of Congested Districts in Ireland—Fight with the Coastguard—The Liberals' Latest Move.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—The Pall Mall Gazette announces that Lord Lothian, Hon. David Robert Plunkett, Sir Charles Tupper, Sir James King, Sir Robert William Cochran-Patrick and a number of others, including Mr. Skinner, director of the Northwest Land Co., have been appointed a commission to form colonies in Canada composed of Scotch crofters and inhabitants of congested districts in Ireland, using the funds already provided for that purpose.

HER MAJESTY ADVISED.

A Scotch Minister Writes a Letter to the Queen.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—Rev. Jacob Primmer, minister of a Presbyterian church at Dunfermline, has written a long letter to the Queen, in which he undertakes to give Her Majesty a religious lecture. He approves of the Queen attending the Kirk while she is in Scotland, in perference to the "corrupt Popish Episcopal worship." He asks for stronger support of the Kirk and encloses for Her Majesty's reading a number of tracts against the Church of Rome.

The Liberals' Latest Move.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—The Liberal leaders have decided to incorporate in the platform approved at the Newcastle conference an English Tenants' Rights bill. This decision is one of the most important steps that party has ever taken. The question of ameliorating the position of British farmers by giving them greater security for their capital and freedom from harassing covenants imposed by landlords has long been recognized as ripening towards Liberal legislation.

The Salvation Army Opposed in Finland.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 21.—The authorities of Helsingfors, the capital of Finland, are taking stringent measures to repress the Salvation Army and prevent the spreading of its doctrines in that country. Orders have been issued that all publications printed in the interest of the army be entirely suppressed: and the general newspapers have been warned, under pain of punishment, to make no mention whatever in their columns of the doings of the organization.

Milan Sells His Royal Rights.

BELGRADE, Nov. 21.—W. Dokitsch handed to the Ministerial Council yesterday the written renunciation of ex-King Milan of all his rights in Servia in pursuance of an arrangement with the Russian Government to pay the Wolgabama Bank on account of Milan 2,000,000 of francs upon the conclusion of the act of renunciation. Milan undertakes on his part never again to set foot on Servian soil.

France Increasing Her Armament.

PARIS, Nov. 21.—M. Cochery of the Budget Committee to-day presented to the Senate the committee's report on naval estimates. The estimates provide for many improvements in the navy and increased armaments, especially quick-firing guns. Twenty ships are to be added to the Mediterranean squadron and the northern squadron is to be largely increased.

A Forgery to Aid the Bears.

BORDEAUX, Nov. 20.—The president of the bourse here received a despatch yesterday giving opening prices at 6 per cent rentes on the Paris bourse at 84 francs. Rentes closed to-day 93 francs 85 centimes and enquiry developed the fact that the despatch was a forgery and that rentes opened at 93 francs 20 centimes. The object of the forgery was undoubtedly to aid a bear clique in its operations.

Church Disestablishment in Scotland.

GLASGOW, Nov. 20.—In an address last night at Crieff, Scotland, Lord Hartington, speaking for himself and the Liberal-Unionists generally, said that if a majority of the Scottish people favored the disestablishment of the Scottish Church he would support such a movement. The announcement of this statement has created surprise, it having been supposed that the Government was ready for disestablishment in Scotland.

Like Results—Contrary Causes.

BERLIN, Nov. 21—Herr Mertens, teacher in a school for girls at Memel, yesterday shot his wife and then committed suicide. The couple had been married but a fortnight.

Herr Breitenstein, a chemist of Koenigsburg, committed suicide to-day upon the grave of his betrothed at Coblentz.

Gen. Booth Gets £10,000.

MELBOURNE, Nov. 19.—At his farewell meeting this evening Gen. Booth of the Salvation Army announced as the result of his Australian enterprise that he had received a check for £10,000 to aid him in his work in behalf of "Darkest England."

France to Russia's Aid.

PARIS, Nov. 21.—The Gaulois says that negotiations have been almost concluded by which the Bank of France will provide the Russian Government with silver bullion to the amount of 150,000,000 roubles, so as to enable the country to resume payments in specie.

Exportation of Russian Horses Prohibited.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—The Chronicle's St. Petersburg correspondent says it is expected the exportation of horses to Austria and Germany will be prohibited. This and the intended prohibition of the exportation of wheat are regarded as having a military significance.

Killed by a Cake of Ice.

MONTROSE, Nov. 21.—Mr. John Roy of the M.C.R., who was struck on the head with a cake of ice some three weeks ago at Montrose, died on Wednesday and was buried on Friday at Fairview.

Mysteriously Missing.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 21.—A. Percival, proprietor of the Grand Union Hotel, has left Winnipeg under strange circumstances.

Drowned in a Well.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1891.

The Victoria Warder says:—"Under Liberal-Conservative rule the way of the boodler is hard." Yes paved with hard cash filched from the public chest.

A large number of Ontario Tories are getting their photograph's taken "cabinet" size in case of Premier Abbot requiring the sacrifice of the acceptance of a portfolio at their hands.

THE petition against the return of Mr. John Carlton, M.P. for North Norfolk, was yesterday dismissed at Simcoe by Justices Ferguson and Robertson, their being no evidence offered in support of the allegations of the petitioner.

A. K. TINGLE, supervising special agent of the United States Treasury Debartment, in his annual report says there is great difficulty under present conditions of enforcing the law against smugglers, who make the Dominion of Canada the base of their operations.

AN election upon a petition asking for the repeal of the Canadian Temperance Act, was held in Charlotte county, N. B., a few days ago. The petition was defeated by over 900 majority, and thus the act after twelve years' trial in this county has been voted to remain in operation at least three years longer.

MR. JUSTICE FALCONBRIDGE has expressed his determination not to sit in court unless the British flag floats over the court house. The learned judged should have more dignity than to talk flapdoodleism of that kind. The British flag is the emblem of justice—not of petty tyranny, to which Mr. Justice Falconbridge's priggish insistency is closely akin—and if we have the essence of justice inside the court house, we need'nt be so particular about the outside symbol.

IN a few days the bottom, the Ottawa Free Press predicts, will probably drop out of the whole McGreevy-Connolly prosecution. Mr. Michael Connolly is of opinion that the members of the cabinet are trying to whitewash themselves at the expense of himself and his partners, and probably he is right. The farce is designed to throw dust in the eyes of voters on some of the back concessions. Premier Abbott's "prosecution" of public contractors for "conspiring" with Mr. McGreevy to raise money to keep the Abbott government in power, is about as ridiculous as anything to be found in Gilbert and Sullivan's operas.

TORYISM covers a multitude of sins. What is high crime and misdemeanour and high treason in Liberal is only the prerogative of the born and bred Tory. The new member of Hon. Mr. Abbott's cabinet, Col. Ouimet is a case in point. When Louis Riel was about to be executed Col. Ouimet, M.P., wrote to Sir John Macdonald protesting against the prospective execution as something which would prove "a great national calamity." The Ontario Tories insist that Riel was a murderer and that all who asked clemency for him were rebels, traitors and sympathizers with murder, rapine and every species of crime. What of Col Ouimet? According to the logic of the Tory organs Mr. Abbott has taken a rebel, a traitor and a sympathizer with murder into his cabinet.

A Cure for Constipation and Headache. Dr. Silas Lane while in the Rocky Mountains, discovered a root that when combined with other herbs, makes an easy and certain cure for constipation. It is in the form of dry roots and herbs, and is known as Lane's Family Medicine. It will cure sick headache, and is the best spring medicine. For the blood, liver and kidneys, and for clearing up the complexion it does wonders. Druggists sell it at 50c. and $1 a package. dw

Reciprocity Between Mexico and the United States.

The New York Tribune announces that a reciprocity arrangement is nearly completed between the United and Mexico. The details will be made public and the convention signed before the New Year. The situation differs from that in respect to any other country with which it has been sought to negotiate reciprocity agreements in pursuance of the authority granted by the McKinley Act. So far as Mexico is concerned only coffee and hides are affected by that act, as she produces no sugar for export. The exports of coffee and hides to the United States amount to about $5,000,000 a year, of which seven-tenths are coffee and three-tenths hides and skins. Both these articles have been admitted into the United States free of duty since 1872. Mexico will agree to substantial concessions in favour of certain American products, and the trade of both countries will be benefited. Reciprocity arrangements have already been concluded with Brazil, Cuba, Porto Rico and San Domingo, and negotiations are on foot with the British West Indies and Venezuela as well as Mexico, In addition a convention has been concluded with Germany, whereby in return for the enjoyment of a free American market for her beet beet sugar she discriminates in favor of American wheat, flour, rye and corn and removes the embargo on American pork. On the whole, therefore, our neighbors are doing pretty well. Meanwhile the Dominion Government through its N.P. has succeeded in isolating Canada commercially from this continent. Its newspapers insist that all we want is the British market, of which the Americans have the same free run as ourselves. The Old Man used to say that two markets were better than one, but his followers pretend to think otherwise. They do not seem to care what befalls the farmer so long as the manufacturing monopolies are not exposed to competition. This is the conduct of blind men, and they will regret it before they are much older.

He Was Preparing for Death!

Thought There Was No Hope—A Friend in Need—An Ottawa Man Saved.

Five minutes walk from the corner of Sparks and Bank streets brought the writer to a comfortable and cosy brick house, the residence of a gentlemen well known to hundreds in Ottawa. He had just finished tea, and was about to read the evening papers when the writer introduced himself. "I am informed that you recently passed through a very serious illness; would you kindly give me the particulars, as I am somewhat interested in the remedy which cured you."

"With all my heart, my dear fellow. I am glad to meet you, and welcome you as one interested in that most famous medicine, Paine's Celery Compound. To be brief, I will just say that the doctor declared I was incurable from Bright's disease. I was also a dyspeptic, and my condition from suffering sleeplessness and prostration was so dangerous, that I recognized the fact I was nearing the grave. I arranged my affairs, that is, I made my will and prepared for my end. Providence, in his infinite mercy, sent me a messenger of peace—a friend who urged me to use your Celery Compound. I did so without consulting my doctor, and to-day I am a living proof of its wonderful and recuperative powers. I sleep well, eat heartily and feel myself stronger than I have been for five years. As long as life remains to me I am an advocate of your great remedy, and will ever speak in its favor. It is only on account of my daughter's wish that I do not allow my name to appear in public.

Types of Toryism and Liberalism.

Mr. Edward A. Freeman in the November Forum says:—There is at this moment one living man among English statesmen who can say that he found some thousands of European and Christian people just set free from the barbarian yoke, that he helped to thrust them back again under the yoke and then boasted of what he had done. Go by the banks of the Varder, and you will hear his name as Robert, Marquis of Salisbury, the betrayer of Macedonia. There is also one living man among English statesmen who can say that he found some thousands of European and Christian people, to whom Europe had promised freedom, with the barbarian yoke still about their necks, and that he, unaided, against all opposition, broke the yoke from off their necks. Go by the banks of Peneios, and you will hear his name as William Ewart Gladstone, deliverer of Thessaly. Let the English folk in all lands think whether of the twain is the more worthy to be the leader of one great part of the English folk if another hour of trial should come.

Hezekiah's Surprise.

"Wal, Hiram, if this don't beat all! The old way for doctors was 'kill or cure,' but here I've found a piece in this here newspaper where a doctor offers 'cash or cure.' It's fer catarrh! I wish we had it—I'd like to try him! Jest listen, Hiram! 'The proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy offer a reward of $500 for any case of catarrh which they cannot cure.' That beats all lotteries hollow! The medicine costs 50 cents—your catarrh is cured, or you get $500! Where's my hat? I'm going right over to neighbor Brown's to show him. I never wanted to get within ten foot of him before, but if it is the cure of his catarrh I guess I can stand it once." Sold by druggists. o

RAILWAY COMPANIONS.

At the last moment a young girl entered the car and paused in the aisle looking up and down for a vacant seat.

It was the noon train out, and the car was filled principally with ladies, who had been glad to hurry through with their shopping to get out of the heat and dust and have some time to freshen up before evening. A few gentlemen were also in the car, but they were something more than middle aged, and probably only went to town at all in order to keep up the delusion that they were necessary at the office or warehouse, and now having satisfied their dignity, and put in the morning, they were flourishing Panama hats or palm leaf fans, and yawning prodigiously on their way to a well earned rest.

The young girl was beckoned to a seat beside a plump, middle aged woman in a gray gown, which did not tend to diminish the embonpoint of her figure. Gold eyeglasses swung on her ample bosom, and she wore fresh kid gloves a size too small for her pudgy hands.

Coming out of the glare of the street the twilight arches of the depot had seemed deliciously cool, but the car was stifling. As the train dashed out from under the last crossing culvert the young girl threw up the window and pulled down the blind with a click.

"Oh, thank you, that is much better," exclaimed the lady in gray, who had involuntarily turned away from the blinding sunlight which flooded them. She now bestowed a scrutinizing gaze upon her companion, who was simply gowned in black. Black is so noncommittal, and what can one tell from a sailor hat? But her blond hair was stylishly knotted and her hands were small; she settled herself with the air of one accustomed to travel, and she did not look out of the window.

"Yes," repeated the plump lady, "that is better; but traveling on such a day is almost intolerable under any circumstances." The young girl smiled her sympathy with this opinion, but said nothing, as the conductor at that moment reached their seat. No one in the car seemed inclined to conversation. The old gentlemen were already napping, and the ladies leaned away from the light with their fans in front of their aching eyes. The monotonous roar of the moving train seemed to add to the noon's oppressiveness. However, after the first two or three suburban stations had considerably thinned out the seats the motion of the train seemed to be accelerated, and the swifter rush of air brought some mitigation of the heat. Then the remaining ladies began languidly to arrange their packages and discuss the morning's shopping tour or plans for the evening "after the men come out."

The lady in gray furtively held up one hand and observed with dismay that the palm of her dainty glove was stained dark with perspiration. She straightway drew a clean white handkerchief from her pocket and spread it on her lap, carefully resting her hands, palms upward, upon it. Then stealing a glance at the sharer of her seat, and discovering that she was observed, she exclaimed: "I declare it always does grieve me to see the first soil on a fresh pair of gloves! After that it doesn't seem to matter so much."

The young girl again simply smiled—it might be with sympathy or with amusement. Her companion found her baffling and fidgeted consciously in her corner of the seat. Finally, with a sudden resolve and an added dignity of manner, she inquired, "Are you going far, my dear?"

The young girl raised her eyes in some surprise, but answered without hesitation, "Not very."

"Well, indeed you are fortunate," replied the lady. "As I said to my husband this morning, you pay dear to get to the country on such a day as this. You ought to go, of course, early in the season, and never go near town except on cloudy days, or just after a rain, when it's clean and cool. And so we've done every year since we were married until this one. But Mr. Henderson found his business would take him to town every day this summer. So, as Arthur—that's his son—has a place at the shore, and Isabel—that's my daughter—has a place in the country, they just insisted that we should not bother with an out of town place at all this year, but just divide our time between them."

"Then you have a married daughter," said the young girl with some show of interest, and the lady smiled complacently.

"I do not wonder you are surprised. My husband vows that except for my complexion being so much fresher than Isabel's it would be almost impossible to tell us apart. And when I was a widow—but there, you know how it is with widows, they are always so much run after that it would be no wonder if they lost their heads. I suppose you've noticed how a widow will set a girl in the shade any day?"

"I have heard that it is so," replied the girl tentatively.

"Of course you are too young to have experienced it yourself," condescended the matron; "it isn't probable you're married?"

"No, I am not married—yet." The girl's response was so obviously emphasized that the lady could not be blamed for the avidity with which she seized upon the clue, exclaiming:

"But engaged? Now, do tell me about it, my dear. I'm sure there's nothing so interesting—and being married three times myself I ought to know." And she settled herself in an attitude of deep attention.

Now the girl did not seem to hesitate from any timidity, but regarded her comfortable confidante with a droll smile for a moment in silence. Then she began: "I am on my way to pay a visit to the sister of the gentleman to whom I am engaged."

"Why, how delightful!" ejaculated the lady sympathetically; "you will be having gay times, riding and walking and all that with your sweetheart."

"Oh, he is not there," remonstrated the young girl, in a tone of surprise. "That would not be proper at all; though, of course," with a tender smile, "he will run out sometimes, when there is anything particular going on. Indeed, he will be coming on a later train for a little dance his sister gives me this evening. I should not have gone out this miserably hot day but for the dance."

"That's just my case," cried the lady in gray, "my daughter has a lawn party to-morrow, and of course she wants my advice with the decorations, and that in the morning, so I must needs go to-day."

"How wild I am to see the children! Three such beauties! Yes, I know I'm a young grandmother, but when you marry at seventeen what can you expect? I wish you could see Isabel in the basket phaeton, with little Isabel and Victoria Almeda, and Lionel riding his Shetland pony beside them! It makes as pretty a picture as I care to see." And the plump young grandmother beamed with enthusiasm over the picture which she had conjured up for herself. "They will be at the station to meet me, I'll warrant, ponies and all!"

"Well, children are not much to my mind," said the young girl coldly, "although I suppose I must like them for Max is so devoted to them."

"And have you never seen them?"

"No, I have only seen Leonie once. You see it was on the other side that Max and I became acquainted."

The plump lady looked perplexed, but held her peace.

"He was at the university, Heidelberg, you know, and I was at a pension."

A gentle smile of amused retrospection played around the girl's pretty mouth. "Oh, those were gay old times. But since we came home it is very different of course."

"Was it some trouble brought you home? I notice you wear all black."

"Oh, I make it a rule to wear black whenever I am obliged to travel alone. A young lady under such circumstances can wish nothing better than to slip along unnoticed, and one cannot be conspicuous in black."

"But you can't judge people you meet when traveling by their clothes. You can be so deceived. Only a year ago I was going over to New York, and there was a very ordinary looking little woman sat by me. She was dressed in purple and wore the dowdiest hat, and at first I did not pay much attention to her, but she asked me a good many questions about places we passed and her English was a caution. So I made up my mind she must be a foreigner. I've often heard they do dress dreadfully, and I did the best I could to be agreeable, though I couldn't decide whether to speak German or French. But you can imagine my amazement when she left me at Cortlandt street ferry, for she thanked me for my kindness and gave me her card, with a coronet on it, bless your heart, and the 'Countess de Graffenried!'"

The young girl appeared to be impressed and looked pensively at the tips of her fingers. Almost all of the suburban passengers had been dropped by this time, and the stretches of green fields between the villas grew larger. The conductor had left the back door of the car open and the delicious breeze came rollicking in, blowing the young girl's blond hair and the stout lady's feather about and rustling the papers which the old gentleman had thrown down as they hurried out.

"It will be a pleasant evening," said the stout lady, with a yawn.

"Yes, indeed; I am so glad Mme. X. got my green tulle done after all. Leonie wrote me I needn't trouble to order flowers, she would have one of the men get me water lilies from the lake."

There is a lake near?"

"So it seems. You know I have not been there yet. Max says it is a poem of a place; but Max is so romantic," added the girl, with a smile, half fond and half apologetic.

"He is handsome, of course?" queried her companion with renewed interest.

"Of course I would think so; but he really is. He has very dark hair and is pale, with large, dark blue eyes, but not one bit girlish looking; and then his figure is perfect. You should see him in his yachting suit!"

"He goes in for athletics, I suppose?"

"Not exactly. He is rather literary in his turn of mind; but he can afford to indulge his fancies, and his yacht is superb."

"You have been out on it, then?"

"Yes; that is when I met Leonie. She came on to chaperone a little party for Max. He wanted auntie to do it, but she is so afraid of the water."

"Well, indeed, my dear, I sympathize with her. I don't think I ever shall muster up courage to cross the ocean. Mr. Henderson insisted on our going abroad for our wedding tour, and, for that matter, so did Mr. Dupont, but there—I just couldn't make up my mind!"

"Oh," said the young girl, sitting up straight, with her soft eyes brightening. "I love the sea. I never feel so much alive as when the wind freshens up and the boat just bounds. Max says we shall make a tour of the Mediterranean soon (with a rising blush) and take a run south every winter."

"That's the way Isabel and Mr. Leland talk! They think nothing of going abroad for six weeks, just for all the world as if they were running in to the city."

* * * * *

The brakeman on the noon accommodation is short and stout, and announces his stations in a fierce, explosive fashion; but had his every word been dynamite it could not have had more immediate effect upon these two ingenuous ladies, when at this moment he put his head inside the door and cried "Arbutus Station."

They sprang to their feet with one accord, the plump lady turning very red in the face while she gasped out some incoherent sentences, and the blond haired girl turning her back on her companion while she gathered up her umbrella and bag. The station was a three sided box, painted green and containing a wooden bench. A country road stretched white beyond it.

There was neither basket phaeton nor Shetland pony in sight, but as the women faced each other on the siding, one with the dilated eyes of amazement, the other with the narrowing lids of distrust, a neat Dayton wagon drove out from behind the station, and a clean, pleasant looking Irishman alighted therefrom. Hat in hand he addressed the fellow travelers, "Was it to Arbutus Lodge you expected to go?"

And in one breath they answered, "Yes."

"Then it's glad I am to welcome you, and it's liking the place I'm sure you'll be, for the missus is a raal lady. An', by way of introducin' myself, I'll just say I am Thomas Conrelly, the gardener. Mrs. Lindell was needin' the coachman herself the afternoon. Av coorse it's you, ma'am, are Mrs. Robbins, the housekeeper, and you, miss, Nellie Pethers, the nurse?"

And so our traveling companions became more fully acquainted.—C. Ellen Rhone in Philadelphia Press.

How to save money is la problem that interests everybody. One way to do it is to invigorate the system with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Being a highly concentrated blood medicine, it is the most powerful and economical. It is sold for a dollar a bottle, but worth five. dw

My wife and self had dandruff, and lots of it, accompanied by almost continual itching of the scalp. Anti-Dandruff entirely relieved us from both annoyances and we think it the best preparation known to clean out dandruff, tone the hair and act as a dressing without giving it an unnatural appearance.

A Spring Medicine.

There are few who do not at this season feel the need of a spring medicine, and to all such we recommend Lane's Family Medicine as the best. This is a pleasant herb drink made by pouring boiling water on the dried roots and herbs. Druggists sell the packages at 50c. and $1. It is the best as well as the pleasantest cure for constipation and headache. dw

Over a Century Old.

Many cases are known of persons living to be 100 years old and there is no good reason why this should not occur. By paying attention to the health by using Burdock Blood Bitters when necessary to purify the blood and strengthen the system much may be added to the comfort and happiness of life, even if the century mark is not attained. dw

His Family did not Know Him.

A Belleville man has for many been bent and crippled with a lame back, but after trying the OR, Kidney cure, he could walk like a boy again and his neighbors could hardly recognize him. This remedy is for sale by all druggists and the OR, Kidney Company, Belleville. dw

Derangement of the liver, with constipation, injures the complexion, induces pimples and sallow skin. Remove the cause by using Carter's Little Liver Pills. One a dose. Try them. dw

A Welcome Announcement.

Those who have tested it say that for the grippe, and especially for the cough that hangs on after the disease itself seems cured, there is nothing equal to Kemp's Balsam, the specific for all throat and lung diseases, and the best cure for coughs and colds. The first dose will convince you of its excellient effect. All druggists sell it at 50c. and $1 a bottle. dw

Their gentle action and good effect on the system really make them a perfect little pill. They please those who use them. Carter's Little Liver Pills may well be termed "Perfection." dw

A Popular Physician.

The popular physician is unassuming, pleasant and successful in treating disease. Such an one is Burdock Blood Bitters—unassuming—only a dollar per bottle — pleasant, agreeable in taste—successful in nine cases out of ten. In truth it may be said B.B.B. is the popular physician to the people, a tried and trusty friend in all diseases of the stomach, liver, bowels and blood. dw

People Wonder

When they find how rapidly health is restored by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. The reason is that this preparation contains only the purest and most powerful alteratives and tonics. To thousands yearly it proves a veritable elixir of life.

Mrs. Jos. Lake, Brockway Centre, Mich., writes: "Liver complaint and indigestion made my life a burden and came near ending my existence. For more than four years I suffered untold agony. I was reduced almost to a skeleton, and hardly had strength to drag myself about. All kinds of food distressed me, and only the most delicate could be digested at all. Within the time mentioned several physicians treated me without giving relief. Nothing that I took seemed to do any permanent good until I began the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which has produced wonderful results. Soon after commencing to take the Sarsaparilla I could see an in my condition, my appetite began to return and with it came the ability to digest all the food taken, my strength improved each day, and after a few months of faithful attention to your directions, I found myself a well woman, able to attend to all household duties. The medicine has given me a new lease of life, and I cannot thank you too much."

"We, the undersigned, citizens of Brockway Centre, Mich., hereby certify that the above statement, made by Mrs. Lake, is true in every particular and entitled to full credence."—O. P. Chamberlain, G. W. Waring, C. A. Wells, Druggist.

"My brother, in England, was, for a long time, unable to attend to his occupation, by reason of sores on his foot. I sent him Ayer's Almanac and the testimonials it contained induced him to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. After using it a little while, he was cured, and is now a well man, working in a sugar mill at Brisbane, Queensland, Australia."—A. Attewell, Sharbot Lake, Ontario.

A WEEK AGO

"THE STAR" made the largest purchase of Overcoats ever made at one time in the history of the Clothing Trade—Over TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS' WORTH---the entire magnificent stock of one of the largest manufacturers of Fine Clothing in Canada. The owners of the goods were in Desperate Need of Ready Cash. We had it, and we got the stock AT OUR OWN PRICE. We placed about half our purchase on sale Monday morning, and to-day we place the balance of the stock on our tables. The last shipment included the Finest Goods. The first lots are all sold, and such scenes of excitement as have transpired during this sale never before occurred in a clothing store.

Customers stood in open-mouthed wonder at the wonderful values given. Many persons bought two and three Coats on account of their wonderful cheapness. Small Merchants have eagerly bought all we would sell them, our prices are so much lower than they could buy the same goods at wholesale.

The Overcoats are Simply Elegant, made of the Richest and Finest Fabrics and in the most "Correct" Style. "Schnabel's" Chinchillas and Beavers; "Carr's" Meltons, Eredon Kerseys, Fine Fancy Overcoatings and Shetlands, intended for Merchant Tailor's use. Many were intended to Wholesale at $15, $18 and $20. We bought them for less than the Raw Material Cost, and are selling for $8 and $10, garments worth two and three times the money.

Carswell Lodge I O G T.

There was a rousing meeting of Carswell Lodge of Good Templars last night—a large attendance and a splendid entertainment. Extending the Town.

The growth of the town is well illustrated by the extension of the building area. Recently several new plots have been brought within the builder's sphere—the Vatican park property, the Inverlea park property and others. Now the growth of building operations and the absorption of building sites is creating extension in other quarters. The growth of the south part of the town this year has been been remarkable, and still the ball is rolling. On Monday Mr. Thomas Hewson, P.L.S., will begin work on the survey and subdivision of a twenty-acre plot lying south of the Driving Park and Agricultural grounds, and between Lock street and Park street. This plot will be divided into 135 building lots, each range of lots abutting at the rear end on a lane. These lots will be placed on the market at reasonable prices, and will present an admirable chance for persons of moderate means to secure homes of their own. The problem of distance will soon be solved by the construction of the electric street railway, which will bring this part of the town within easy distance of the market place.

The Growth of the Golden Lion.

Mr. R. Fair's Enlarged and Remodeled Premises—Brief Sketch of the Business and its Elegant Premises.

One gratifying feature of Peterborough's position and status as a thriving and progressive town is the substantial character of its leading business establishments—the result of the steady, healthy and legitimate growth this is in turn the result of personal energy, personal business ability and personal devotion to the business. The growth of the Golden Lion is not only gratifying to the proprietor but also to all who take pride in the upbuilding of our domestic business houses. Sixteen years ago Mr. Robert Fair began business in a modest way in South Monaghan, and after continuing it for seven years he entered upon a wider field and engaged in the same line of business in Port Hope. But this field soon showed itself to be too restricted for his energies and he naturally turned his attention to Peterborough, seeing its advantages—the with unsurpassed railway facilities. Accordingly in 1883 he bought Mr. T. Bradburn's business establishment—the Golden Lion. Since that time under his careful and energetic management the business has expanded in a steady and substantial manner, and Mr. Fair was forced to enlarge his premises in sympathy with the expanse of his business. The first step was the widening of the shop by including the width of a stairway on one side. But this was only temporary relief. It was found that the carpet and house furnishing department had grown to be so important as to demand a whole flat for its accommodation. There was room on the upper floors, but it could not be conveniently reached. To overcome this objection, a fine hydraulic elevator has been put in by Leitch & Co., Hamilton, running the whole depth of the building, from the basement to the fourth floor, and the third and fourth flats have been fitted up in a very tasteful and elegant manner, and by means of the hydraulic elevator the public are rapidly and smoothly carried to any desired floor, and the establishment is now as commodious, complete and convenient both for the business and the public, as is to be found in the province, the great advantage of having the several departments distinct being enjoyed in a very complete sense.

The first floor is still devoted to the general and staple dry good stock which is of the most complete and carefully assorted character, the rear, however, finding room for the millinery and ready made mantle department under the charge of Miss White. This floor is well lighted, both from the triple plate glass front windows as well as from a large sky sash that

POURS ITS LIGHT ON EVERY FLOOR.

The second floor is devoted to the dress and ordered mantle departments and also to mantle cloths and fitted up in a manner to leave nothing to be desired to give the best facilities to the staff, and the greatest comfort and convenience to patrons.

The third floor is fitted up specially for the carpet department, and contains a splendid stock of the best makes of carpets, floor oil cloths, linoleums, rugs, mattings and in fine everything required in the dry goods line of house furnishings.

The fourth floor is exclusively given over to reserve stock which large importations render necessary, and from which the shelves in the retail department are kept supplied.

One of the most prominent factors in Mr. Fair's success is direct importation. Of course he give preference to Canadian goods whenever he can procure them in justice to his business and the demands of his patrons, but the large bulk of his goods are imported direct.

Austria supplies him with portieres, table covers and upholstered goods. From Saxony come fine printed and Saxony flannels. St. Gall, Switzerland, furnishes embroideries, Swiss curtains, laces, oriental laces, tambour laces, etc., etc. Other lines of laces, such as torchon, are imported from France, as well as kid gloves, silks and fine dress goods. From England are imported carpets and floor oil cloths, linoleum cloths, and worsteds. From the United States are imported, prints, cottons, and special lines of portieres, table covers and curtain brasses.

The Golden Lion employs the year 'round an average of from 35 to 38 hands, and its business is thoroughly systematized, every department having a responsible and capable head, but at the same time Mr. Fair exercises a personal supervision over every department, and his personal attention is given in order that the wants of his patrons may receive the best possible attention.

The millinery and ready-made mantle departments are in charge of Miss White; the dress and mantle order department is in the capable charge of Miss Neil; Miss Bella Thompson has charge of the book keeping and financial part of the business, and her duties are performed in a most satisfactory and efficient manner.

The Golden Lion is now in a position to meet the widest demands of public patronage in every department of its extensive business. For his now complete premises Mr. Fair desires to thank his landlord, Mr. Bradburn, who has been most obliging and liberal in making the handsome alterations that make the Golden Lion's home one of the most extensive and well equipped dry goods establishments in Ontario.

A Moral Town.

Every member of the police force should be discharged for furnishing so little news to the reporters. This morning's calendar at the Police Court was a blank, the only business transaction being the arrest of a drunk by Police Constable Stewart. But after all an idle police force is better than a disorderly town, and the police force that prevents crime, is better than the detectives that unearth it.

A Hunter Street Sensation.

Down went ten yards of Walter Stocker's bill board on Hunter street, at the entrance to Bellegham's premises, and off went a limb of a willow the size of a "weaver's" beam in front of Levi Bros.' junk shop on the opposite side of the street, in order to give Mr. R. Roy a chance to take a series of shots, with his photographic camera, of the Furniture King's furniture factory and warerooms for use in the Saturday Globe that will contain Illustrated Peterborough. The Furniture King's palace will loom up finely in that beautiful edition.

Changed Hands.

Mr. Fred. E. Jones, lately with the William Hamilton Manufacturing company, has purchased the livery stable business on Hunter street, occupying the old Henthorn stand, and he will conduct it with a strict view to serving the public wants in this town with a promptness and care that will ensure satisfaction. He is a steady, reliable young man and will doubtless meet with a liberal share of public patronage.

Charge of Rape Dismissed.

Yesterday before Alex. Watt, Esq., J. P., at Warsaw, Guy Gallagher and Roland Calder were charged with having on Hallowe'en assaulted Rosa Roach, with intent to commit rape. The evidence of the prosecutrix was taken, and the magistrate held that her testimony would not warrant him in sending the prisoners up for trial, and the charge was dismissed. Mr. Roach, the grandfather of the complainant, appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. E. B. Stone, town, for the defence.

The Return of the "Pirates."

Messrs. Stephen Nicholls, Peter Nicholls, J. K. Stabler and Roland J. Stabler, Smith township, have returned from a very successful fortnight's deer hunt in Cavendish and vicinity. They brought back with them ten fine deer, very close to the maximum permitted by the law to a single party. One of the ten was a magnificent buck, the spoil of Mr. J. K. Stabler, captured in Eagle Lake. Mr. Stabler encountered the buck at the head of the lake and chased him for nearly five miles—from the head of the lake to the portage. During the chase the buck turned to bay three times, at any one of which Mr. Stabler could have dispatched him, but his canoe being heavily laden and quite a distance from camp he could not have taken the animal in. So he staved him off till he got him at the Portage, when a shot from his trusty Winchester dispatched the noble brute which, when dressed, weighed 200 lbs, the finest deer shot this season. The party also got one beaver, eleven partridge, eight muskrats and one mink. Much of the success of the party is due to the excellent hunting of Mr. Stephen Nicholls, who as a Nimrod, is hard to beat. This party is the one described as "The Pirates" by a Peterborough hunting party, which had "hard luck," chiefly due to their being in camp when the "hired man" had clubbed a deer within range of their rifles, if they had had them on hand for use. The "Pirates" think the "Innocents" would have have had better luck if one of the prominent members of the party could shoot a 44 Winchester as skillfully as he can shoot a Kodak.

"Scotland Yet."

Mr. John Rider, who, it is shrewdly suspected is a Scotchman from the interest he takes in old Scotia and old Scotia's sons, has sent an auld cronie in Peterborough a sheaf of San Francisco papers giving details of the great international tug of war contest in that city. The competing teams represented the English, French, Scotch, Germans, Danes, Canadians, Yankees, and almost every known nationality, and Scotchmen will be more pleased than surprised to learn that the chiefs papped on parritch came out victorious—"got the pull" on all their opponents, as it were. The contest extended over several days.

Market Items.

There was an immense market this morning, the capacity of the market square and the market building tested to their fullest. The square was crowded with teams in every part and there was not a foot of spare room. There was a huge supply of staples, beef, pork, fowls, vegetables, etc. A huge herd of dressed hogs met with ready sale at from $5 to $5.65 per 100 lbs, and fair prices were obtained for the commodities offered considering the abundant supply—the following being samples: Potatoes changed hands at from 60c to 65c per bag; chickens sold at from 35c to 40c per pair, geese brought from 50c to 60c, and turkeys were sold at from 75c to 90c, butter was plentiful at from 20c to 22c, the former figure securing the most transactions, tub butter sold for 17c, and eggs were sold at 20c. If the farmers keep coming at us so strongly we shall have to enlarge our market square or establish a new market place in another part of the town.

Cut a Whale in Two.

Exciting Incident on an Atlantic Voyage.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—When a whale runs afoul of a big iron steamship going sixteen knots an hour, the whale is apt to get the worst of the encounter. That is what happened to a whale which got in the way of the "Ethiopia," of the Anchor Line, which arrived yesterday. It happened when the "Ethiopia" was about 800 hundred miles east of Sandy Hook, shortly after ten o'clock last Saturday morning. The weather was clear, sea smooth, sun shining, and most of the passengers were on deck, enjoying the scene. Suddenly right ahead up shot a stream of water. Then appeared the huge back of a whale. The monster was so near that a collision was inevitable. The sharp iron prow of the steamship struck the whale right amidships, as sailors would say, and clove clean through it. Before the whale could possibly have formed any notion of what was the matter with it, it had been cut in halves. The force of the collision caused the ship to tremble from stem to stern, but she was uninjured. A trail of blood from the whale was left in her wake. The passengers for a time were somewhat excited

The Kinmount Big Trestle.

The work of filling in the big trestle between Kinmount and Gelert, on the Victoria division, was completed by Roadmaster Ferguson last week. An idea of the magnitude of the undertaking will be gained when we state that the trestle is 600 feet in length and 70 feet in height. Two trains of fourteen cars each dumped an average of 156 carloads of earth per day into the chasm, and over 7,000 carloads were required to do the filling. The material was procured about a mile south of the trestle, where a settler's fifty acre farm—that is, all the soil on it—was scooped up by the steam shovel. We understand that the little trestle, close to the above, will be filled early next summer, as will also the little trestle on the "missing link" east of Omemee. The latter will also be a big undertaking, as it is longer than the one on the Victoria line, though not so high.

Why it is Popular.

Because it has proven its absolute merit over and over again, because it has an unequalled record of cures, because its business is conducted in a thoroughly honest manner, and because it combines economy and strength, being the only medicine of which "100 Doses One Dollar" is true—these strong points have made Hood's Sarsaparilla the most successful medicine of the day.

Natural, prompt, effective, for sick headache, foul stomach, and all liver troubles. Use McGale's Butternut Pills, they contain no mercury. dw

REGULAR MONTHLY

PRIZE COMPETITION!

$1,000 in Cash Will be Paid in Prizes to Successful Competitors Each Month.

Nothing is more interesting and entertaining in the cultivated family circle than a bright Prize Competition, which will bring into active use the abilities of competitors, when it is known that such competition is to be carried out by the originators in a perfectly fair and honorable manner. As a means of advertising and introducing the LADIES' PICTORIAL WEEKLY, which is universally acknowledged by those acquainted with it as the par excellence of popular Canadian literature, its proprietors will appropriate $12,000 of their capital to be distributed during the coming year to successful competitors in these popular monthly Prize Competitions. $12 000 in cash; not in trips to Europe, silverware or jewelry, but in cash prizes. Successful competitors in these monthly competitions will be given an opportunity of investing their own prize money and will not be obliged to accept prizes, which, in many cases, they have no particular use for. Any intelligent person can readily form an opinion as to the bona fide of these Monthly Competitions by simply obtaining a copy of the LADIES' PICTORIAL WEEKLY for inspection. It speaks for itself; in fact, it is the only publication in this country equal in every respect to the high priced English and American illustrated weeklies. Sample copy can be procured through your newsdealer, or will be mailed FREE by the proprietors on receipt of your request for it.

Prize Competition for December.

For the largest list of nouns made from the letters contained in "LADIES' PICTORIAL WEEKLY," the proprietors will pay $400 in cash; to the person sending the second best list will be paid $250 in cash; to the person sending the third best list will be paid $150 in cash; to the person sending the fourth best list will be paid $50 in cash; the fifteen persons sending the next best lists will be given $10 each, making a total of $1,000 in cash to be given to the successful competitors in this, our December Competition.

RULES.

This month's Competition will be open to persons residing in Canada or the United States. To place all competitors (residing near or at a distance) on an equal footing, no list will be received bearing an earlier postmark than Nov. 20th, and none must bear postmark later than December 20th Prizes for this Competition will be paid in cash, so that they will reach successful competitors by Christmas. Lists must be written on one side of paper only, and contain the name and post office address of competitor, with the number of nouns contained therein All Lists will be Carefully Examined. The editors of the LADIES' PICTORIAL WEEKLY cannot undertake to enter into personal correspondence with any one concerning these competitions, but no list will be thrown out on account of containing a few mistakes.

This competition open to any person, but as the object in offering these cash prizes is to introduce our large, handsome, illustrated sixteen page Weekly to ladies who are the most apt to become permanent subscribers to it, the name and address of some lady together with $1.00 for six months' trial of the publication to be sent to her address, must be enclosed with list of nouns for this competition. SHE SAVED HIM.

I

I once knew a woman, one of my patients, now dead, to whom the most extraordinary thing in the world happened, and the most mysterious and touching.

She was a Russian, Countess Marie Baranow, a very great lady, of exquisite beauty. You know how beautiful the Russians are, or, at least, how beautiful they seem to us—with their delicate noses, their sensitive mouths: their eyes so close together, of an indefinable color, a blue gray; and their cold, rather hard charm. They have something wicked and seductive, haughty and melting, tender and severe, utterly charming to a Frenchman. At bottom, perhaps, it is only the difference of race and blood that makes us see so much in them.

Her doctor had during many years known that she was threatened by a disease of the chest, and endeavored to persuade her to come to France for the Winter, but she obstinately refused to quit St. Petersburg. At last in the Autumn of last year the doctor compelled her to leave for Mentone.

She was alone in her compartment of the train, her servants occupying another. She leaned against the window a little sadly, watching the country and the villages as she whirled past, feeling very isolated, very lonely in life.

At each station her footman, Ivan, came to see if his mistress had everything she desired. He was an old servant, blindly devoted, ready to obey any order she might give him.

Night fell, the train rolled on at full speed. She could not sleep, she was totally unnerved. Suddenly the idea occurred to her of counting the money given to her at the last moment in French gold. She opened her little bag and emptied on to her lap the glistening stream of metal.

But, of a sudden, a breath of cold air caught her cheek. She lifted her head in surprise. The door opened. The Countess Marie, in dismay, threw a shawl over the money spread out in her lap, and waited. A moment afterwards a man appeared, bareheaded, wounded in one hand, panting, and in evening dress.

He reclosed the door, sat down and looked at his neighbor with a glittering eye, then wrapped his wrist in a handkerchief.

The poor woman felt faint with fright. This man must have seen her counting her money, and had come to kill her and steal it.

He still fixed his gaze upon her, breathless, his face drawn, evidently waiting to spring upon her.

He said brusquely—

"Madame, have no fear."

She answered nothing, she was incapable of opening her lips, she heard her heart beating and a buzzing in her ears.

"I am no malefactor, madame," he continued.

Still she said nothing, but in a sudden movement she made her knees knocked together and the money poured on to the carpet like water from a spout.

The man started in surprise at this flow of gold and at once stooped to gather it up.

She, terrified, rose, casting all her gold on the carpet, and rushed to the door to throw herself on to the line. But he perceived her intention, sprang up, seized her in his arms, and forced her on to the seat, holding her by the wrists.

"Listen to me, madame. I am no thief. As a proof I am going to gather up this money and restore it to you. But I am a lost man, a dead man, unless you help me to pass the frontier. I can tell you no more. In one hour we shall be at the last Russian station, in one hour and twenty minutes we shall be on the other side of the boundaries of the empire. Unless you aid me I am lost. And yet, madame, I have neither killed no stolen, nor done anything dishonorable. That I swear to you. I can tell you no more?"

And, going down on his knees, he collected the money, feeling under the seats, and looking into the furthest corners.

Then, when the little leather bag was once more full he handed it to his neighbor without a word and returned to his seat in the other corner of the carriage.

Neither moved. She sat motionless and mute, still faint with fright, but recovering little by little.

As to him, he moved no muscle, he sat erect, his eyes fixedly looking straight before him, very pale, as though he were dead. Every now and then she threw him a glance, which was quickly averted. He was a man of about thirty, very handsome, with every appearance of being a gentleman.

The train tore through the darkness, throwing its ear-piercing whistles into the night, now slackening speed, now off again at its fastest. Then it calmed its flight, whistled several times, and stopped altogether.

Ivan appeared at the door to take orders. The Countess Marie looked for the last time at her strange companion. Then in a voice brusque and trembling, said to her servant:

"Ivan, you will return to the Count. I have no further need of your services."

Amazed, the man opened his enormous eyes. He stammered—

"But—but"—

She continued—

"No, you need not come. I have changed my mind. I wish you to stay in Russia. Here, here is money for the journey. Give me your cap and mantle."

The old servant, bewildered, took off his cap and mantle, with unquestioning obedience, accustomed to the sudden whims and strange caprice of his mistress. He walked away with the tears in his eyes.

The train started again, racing to the frontier.

Then the Countess Marie said to her companion—

"These things are for you, monsieur; you are Ivan, my servant. I make but one condition; it is that you will never speak to me, that you will say no word to thank me on any pertext whatever."

The stranger bowed without a word.

Soon a fresh halt was made, and the officials in uniform entered the train. The Countess handed them the papers, and pointed to the man seated in the far end of the carriage—

"My servant, Ivan; here is the passport."

The train started again.

During the whole of the night they remained tete-a-tete, dumb both.

In the morning, on stopping at a German station the stranger alighted. Then standing by the door, he said—

"Pardon me, madame, that I break my promise, but I have deprived you of your

He went. Then disappeared. Whenever she alighted at a refreshment-room she saw him watching her from a distance. In due course they arrived at Mentone.

II.

One day, as I was receiving my patients in my study, I saw a tall man enter. "Doctor," he said, "I come to ask news of the Countess Marie Baranow."

"She is beyond hope," I replied. "She will never return to Russia."

And this man fell to sobbing: then he arose and went out staggering like a drunken man. That same evening I told the Countess that a stranger had been to me to ask after her health. She seemed touched, and told me the tale I have just told you. She added—

"This man, whom I do not know, follows me like my shadow. I meet him every time I go out. He looks at me very strangely, but he has never spoken to me."

She reflected, and then added—

"Look, there he is, below my window!"

She rose from her sofa, drew the curtains aside, and showed me the man who had called upon me, sitting on a bench on the promenade, his eyes raised to the hotel. He saw us, rose and walked away without once turning his head. So it was that I took part in a strange and incomprehensible episode—in the love of these two beings who were quite unknown to one another.

He loved with the devotion of a rescued animal, grateful and devoted until death. He came every day to ask me, "How is she?" knowing that I had guessed. And he wept bitterly when he had seen her pass, paler and weaker every day.

She said to me:

"I have spoken but once to this singular man, and it seems to me I have known him for years."

And when they met she returned his bow with a grave and charming smile. I knew she was happy- she so lonely and dying. I knew she was happy to be loved with such constancy and respect, with this exaggerated poesy, with this devotion ready for all hazards. And yet, faithful to her obstinate though high-minded resolve, she absolutely refused to receive him, to know his name or to speak to him. She said, "No, no, that would spoil our strange friendship. We must remain strangers to one another."

As to him, he was of a certainty a kind of Don Quixote, for he took no steps to approach her. He was determined to keep to the letter the absurd promise he had made to her in the train.

Often during the long hours of weakness she rose from her sofa to draw back the curtains and look if he were there below the window. And when she had seen him, always immovably seated on his bench, she returned to her couch with a smile on her lips.

She died one morning about 6 o'clock. As I left the hotel he came to me, his face distorted; he had already heard the news.

"I should like to see her for a second in your presence," he said.

I took his arm and re-entered the house.

When he was by the bedside of the dead he took her hand and kissed it—a long, long kiss. Then he fled like a madman.—The Strand Magazine.

THE FARMERS' CORNER.

A DISSERTATION ON COWS AS FARM BOARDERS.

She Ought Not to be a Boarder for the Sake of Her Company; but for the Profit to be Made Out of Her.—Prof. Robertson on This Theme.

A cow eats the food that is provided by the man who owns or keeps her. Therefore the cow boards on somebody. Now, I cannot board ten men at my table for the sake of their company. I am not fond enough of company for that. Well, if I boarded ten men for the sake of the pay, and five men paid for their board and five did not, I would soon find that out and let the five men, who did not pay, find another boarding-house. I do not see any difference in the economical aspect of the question, if you substitute cows for men. If ten cows board in my stable they board on me and I look for pay for their board. I am not likely to keep them for their society or simply for their company. If I find that five of those cows are not paying their board, I am not likely to keep them for their society or because I am fond of looking at them. Neither do I think, though many would do so, that it would be quite fair for me to palm them off upon my neighbour. That would not be good farming or good citizenship. An unprofitable cow should be sent to the butcher and made to give up through her carcass what she won't give through her milk-bag. You will need to understand the kind of cow that is likely to pay for her board. Here are five points that may serve a man to judge a good cow, because all good cows have power to make profits, and power in any department of the physical world is usually indicated by certain external evidences. A real good dairy cow should have a long udder lengthwise of her body; and it should be very elastic in quality. The elastic quality means room to make milk. She should have a soft skin,—a mellow skin covered with mossy, silky hair. That a cow has only one skin is self-evident, and still most people hardly ever think of it;—one skin around her body and clear through by way of her stomach. The skin, if coarse or harsh, means sluggish digestion inside, and that means an expensive cow that does not digest her food or thrive well. Then, a cow should have a large roomy barrel for holding plenty of good, rough, bulky, cheap feed; it should be filled up twice a day. It will pay a man who has never done so, to try the experiment of feeding his cow twice a day. Those who have done so, have never gone back to any other practice. Then, again, while a large barrel is an indication of profit-making power, it will pay a man to see that the milk veins under the cow's belly are prominent. Prominence is a far more important indication than actual size would be. Firm muscles mean good constitution. They are one of the best evidences of endurance and thrift that you can find in a cow; and endurance to stand the strain of giving milk continuously is what you want. A cow should have broad loins with long rumps. She should have a rather long, lean neck, with clean cut face and prominent eyes. These points indicate enduring power to stand the strain of a long milking season. If a cow has these five points she will usually have the power of serving a man well, namely:—Long udder, broad and elastic; a soft mellow skin covered with mossy silky hair; a large barrel with broad ribs wide apart and very firm muscles in the abdomen; broad loins with long rumps and lean hips; long neck, clean cut face and large eyes.

She should be given a chance of paying for her board. She should be kept where she is comfortable. Comfort is the essence and sum total of all stabling of cattle whether the stable be of stone, brick or wood. All are equally good if the cow is equally comfortable. If a man keeps his cow uncomfortable, he has so far deprived her of the power of making profit. The cow should be curried every day. My thoughts go back to the old homestead where we had forty cows, which were curried once a day. A cow gives more milk when she is comfortable. She should be made to pay for her board just as she eats it; that is the best way. A man is not a good manager who lets his cow live on him for six months in the year without paying, and then expects her to pay for the whole year's board in the other six months. He can hardly expect that the cow will pay for her winter's board in the summer.—From an Address by Jas. W. Robertson.

Keeping Celery.

For many lovers of celery it would be a pleasure to raise that excellent article if they only knew how to keep it for any length of time in cold weather. It is not difficult to grow celery, neither is it very difficult to keep it, says Fred Creamer in "Western Garden." If to be kept for family use only, I would dig trenches 18 inches deep and one foot wide and 8 to 16 feet long, lining the sides and ends every three feet to keep them in position. Beginning at one end, set the celery closely in an upright position, first having cut off the roots, leaving only about two inches. After you have two or three rows set, cover the roots with moist earth, packing it in well; continue as above until your trench is full. Now take two 12-inch boards, nail together as for a trough, brace at each end to keep from spreading, tack a piece of wire screen over each end to keep out mice and gophers, and place as a roof over your trench. It is not best to pit all your celery in one trench, as that to be used early should be kept warm, while to keep late in winter the cooler you keep it the better, so long as it does not freeze at the approach of cold weather. Cover over the broad cover with coarse manure that will not heat, and just before it freezes up cover over this with four to eight inches of ground; it is well to leave an opening at each end for the ventilators, that can be opened and closed by means of a piece of board, giving air, whenever temperature is above the freezing point, and putting on covering during cold spells. By this treatment I have kept celery until the first of May.

Farm Pointers.

Pear juice, heated to 180 degrees, and sealed in bottles, will not only keep well, but prove a refreshing drink in winter.

Concentrated foods should never be fed exclusively. To keep stock on grain, with but little grass or hay, will result in deranging the digestive organs. This applies also to the hog, which sometimes is kept exclusively on grain. A hog that is given a variety will fatten more rapidly than one fed wholly on corn, as its digestion will be more perfect.

It is claimed by many, says the Texas Live Stock Journal, that more pounds of beef can be produced to the acre by pasturing close than by keeping fewer cattle and having a little surplus pasture. There is no doubt of this. But whether the greater number of pounds produced by pasturing closely are worth as much as the smaller number of pounds produced by not doing so, is another question.

It is a Very Sad Thing

To see young and beautiful people die when they might just as well live and enjoy health and strength. Many who suffer with colds, coughs and lung troubles, leading to consumption, imagine that there is no hope for them, when in reality there is every hope if Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is taken regularly. Spread the news everywhere that this great emulsion will make flesh and blood, cure coughs, colds, bronchitis, sore throats, and lung troubles, tending to consumption. In big bottles, 50c. and $1, at Peterborough drug stores. dw

ELECTION PETITIONS

TRIAL OF THE EAST BRUCE AND NORTH PERTH CASES.

Further Evidence Respecting the Furnishing of Tickets by the Grand Trunk for the Electors—Little Evidence so Far Heard in the East Bruce Case.

STRATFORD, Nov. 21.—The adjourned controverted North Perth election case was resumed at the Court House yesterday.

Mr. P. J. Slatter, general ticket agent G.T.R. of Toronto, identified a form of order signed by Mr. W. T. R. Preston, on which certain tickets were issued. The particular order produced had never been through his hands.

Dougald MacDougall of Berlin swore that he had received some tickets prior to the last Dominion election. He did not know from whom. They were to be delivered to some electors coming to North Perth. The man from whom he received the tickets was a dark haired young man. He (witness) was at the station at the time; he could not tell why.

R. M. Ballantyne swore that he had received some G.T.R. tickets from Mr. McPherson. Some of these he took to Guelph and some to Berlin. He also gave tickets to some one at the Reform rooms for parties in Guelph. He thought that Alexander Galloway was one of the parties for whom the Guelph tickets were intended, but could not say for certain.

William Gowing swore that he voted at Listowel at last election and had received a ticket from Mr. Duncan Hay. He swore that he borrowed a couple of dollars through one Winters from Mr. James Stock, liquor dealer, Stratford. The money was never paid back to either Tim Winters or Mr. Stock.

Mr. J. J. Stock swore that he never loaned Gowing a sum of money in his life. He had loaned Tim Winters $2 for a man with a name like that of Gowing.

To Mr. Osler: I did not know Gowing was going to vote. I got the money back some time last week or this. I wouldn't say it wasn't this morning. I told him it was paid back.

Timothy Winters swore that he had loaned $2 to Gowing the morning before the election. The money was borrowed from Mr. Stock.

To Mr. Garrow: I knew Gowing was a Liberal and that his father was a Liberal.

Mr Osler argued that the evidence proved a clear case of money furnished by the agent (Stock) to the voter (Gowing). It could not have been a bona fide loan, for Stock did not know Gowing and the money was not paid back until very recently.

The question of the railway tickets was then taken up.

Peter Ryan, Toronto, was the first witness. He swore that he and William White, of the G.T.R. made the bargain, or rather arrangements, with regard to the issuing of the tickets for Liberal electors. He swore that he laid before Mr. White the fact that the C. P. R. was granting free passes to Conservative electors and requested that the G. T. R. should grant similar privileges to Liberal electors. There was no bargain as to price or payment—"it was without money and without price." He told Mr. White that the exchequer of the Reform party was very low. Within one hour after the arrangement the tickets were procurable. No account had been rendered to him for the tickets and he had no intention of paying for them. He had nothing to do with North Perth during the election and held no official position in the Reform party.

To Mr. Osler: There was no passenger rate in the arrangement with Mr. White; the voters were to be carried free.

EAST BRUCE.

Ninety Charges and 230 Witnesses in the East Bruce Election Case.

WALKERTON, Ont., Nov. 21.—The East Bruce election trial opened here yesterday before Judges Osler and McLennan. Mr. Aylesworth, Q.C., and Mr. Klein, Q.C., appeared for the petitioner; Mr. Coulter and Mr. O'Connor, Q.C., and Mr. Dixon, County Attorney, for the defendant, Mr. Truax. There are between 80 and 90 charges on the list and some 230 witnesses are summoned. The whole day from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. was occupied with the trial of one charge. Judgment was reserved on this and the court adjourned to 9 to-morrow morning.

Owing to the interest taken in the trial and the large number of witnesses, the sheriff issued cards of admission to court room.

The charge upon which judgment was reserved was that an agent for Traux induced W. A. Rowand to personate "W. Rowans" of Brant Township.

Fire Among the Freaks.

SYRACUSE, Nov. 21.—Fire broke out in a dime museum in the Bastable block in East Genesee-street at 11.30. A number of business houses were gutted. The loss is $100,000.

MADE HIS MARK.

He Could Neither Read Nor Write, But He Was Arrested for Forgery.

STRATFORD, Nov. 21.—Mark Killoran, known to local fame as "Holy Mark," was arrested in North Easthope last evening by the Stratford police under remarkably singular circumstances. "Holy Mark" has long been known in Stratford and vicinity, and indeed in most parts of Ontario, as an eccentric character who made a living by selling prayer books and various articles associated with religious worship. He could neither read nor write, and here it is that the peculiarity arises in connection with his arrest, for the charge against him is forgery. The complainant is Mr. Grant of Simcoe, who alleges that Mark signed, as a witness—or at least made his mark—a will made by his (Grant's) father-in-law, but placed his mark at the name of another man, thus virtually forging the other man's name. When arrested he incidentally informed the policeman that his nose started to bleed last year and that his memory hadn't been very good since. He was taken to Simcoe last night, where the trial will be held. The amount involved in the will is about $18,000.

MAD DOG SCARE.

The Canine Population of Forest Decimated by Proclamation.

FOREST, Ont., Nov. 20.—The great sensation in Forest this week has been caused by the doings of a mad dog. During the past summer a number of dogs and several head of cattle belonging to farmers in Bosanquet have gone mad and had to be killed, but it was thought recently that the trouble was stamped out. Such was not the case, however. Last Monday forenoon a yellow hound, showing unmistakable signs of hydrophobia, was seen running around town and inserting his poisoned fangs into every native canine he came in contact with. The mayor offered $5 reward for the hound's scalp and about a dozen citizens, armed with guns, started in pursuit, but the wily hound eluded the would-be executors. Next morning the dog returned to the home of his owner, Walter Bell, 10th con. Bosanquet, and was killed there. Mayor McCahill also issued a proclamation ordering that all dogs in town known to have been bitten be slaughtered immediately and that no dog be allowed to run at large without being properly muzzled, under penalty of death. It is impossible to say just how many dogs may have been bitten by the unwelcomed visitor, but animals to the number of 20, owned by citizens, are known to have been attacked and have been killed. Constable Harvey was on the warpath yesterday and every luckless canine that appeared in the streets without a muzzle fell before his unerring aim. There will be a scarcity of dogs in town for a while.

FIREBUGS AND THIEVES.

Two Young English Lads Alleged to Be Guilty of Many Crimes.

PORT PERRY, Ont., Nov. 21.—The police are anxious to find two English lads named Joseph Allsopp and Harry Wilkinson, who are believed to be in Toronto. They are accused of burglarizing the stores of Messrs. Jones, Phillips, Laing & Meharry, Purdy and Farham, as well as the postoffices at Prince Albert and Manchester. They are also believed to have kindled the fire in Laing & Meharry's which destroyed $20,000 worth of property a few weeks ago. Articles stolen from all these places have been traced to their possession.

BOTH ALLEGED BIGAMISTS.

A Curious Case in Wellington—A Sister's Peculiar Testimony.

GUELPH, Nov. 21.—The case of bigamy against A. McK. Barclay of Nichol came up again on remand this morning at the police court. Mr. and Mrs. Coleman of Allanford, the latter being the sister of Miss Cruikshank, to whom it was claimed that Barclay was first married, testified that the two lived with them as man and wife for three weeks, and then lived together in Allanford up to the spring of 1885. They then separated, she going to Toronto to live at service and afterwards to the Northwest, where she is now married again, according to Mrs. Coleman's way of looking at it. Archdeacon Dixon testified as to the second marriage here and of the publicity given to it, the groom inviting all his friends, who filled up the rectory parlor. Mr. Field argued that there was no evidence of the first marriage, but the case was adjourned till Tuesday.

Eighty Persons Drowned.

SYDNEY, N.S.W., Nov. 20.—Information has reached this place of a disaster at the Gilbert Islands in the Pacific. A tidal wave has caused great loss of life and damage to property throughout the group. Eighty persons were drowned on one of the islands.

A Famous Gallery Seized.

ROME, Nov. 20.—The action of the National Bank, the principal creditors of the Borghese family, compels the seizure of the Borghese gallery. The sum of £320,000 is asked for the collection.

The Jig Is Up.

BERLIN, Nov. 20.—The strike of printers, which has been carried on for some time in Stettin, has collapsed, leaving the strikers in sore straits.

Major Wissmann Seriously Ill.

BERLIN, Nov. 20.—Major Wissmann, the well-known German officer who led an expedition into the interior of East Africa, is lying seriously ill in Cairo. He is suffering from inflammation of the lungs.

The Warrants Issued.

QUEBEC, Nov. 21.—Mr. Mercier yesterday swore out criminal information for libel in the Police Court against Mr. J. P. Whelan and the newspaper men who published his charges, and arrests will probably now be the order of the day. Civil actions will also, it is said, be taken by the ministers and others against the alleged libellers, but they appear to have dropped entirely the idea of prosecution on the ground of seditious libel.

STATE OF TRADE.

While General Business is Quiet, Improved Demand is Looked for.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Special telegrams to Bradstreet's report that colder and in some instances wintry weather have stimulated sales of heavy clothing, woolens, underwear, hosiery and boots and shoes, though thus far principally at retail. No one of the larger eastern cities has experienced any material increase in the volume of distributive trade. It is not until one reaches Chicago that a distinct gain is found.

General trade is quieter in Canada, grain, flour and provisions being dull at the moment. Mercantile collections are fairly satisfactory. The late cold snap is expected to have a favorable influence on the demand for staples.

The Dominion reports 47 business failures this week, against 30 last week and 38 this week last year. The total number Jan. 1 to date is 1634 against 1453 last year.

Bank clearings at four Canadian cities aggregate $24,362,215 this week, an increase of 30.9 per cent. compared with last week.

September net railway earnings are among the most favorable of the year and reflect that month's immense grain movement by large gains in earnings of the granger and southwestern roads.

One Farmer Has 40,000 Bushels.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 21.—H. Shorby, farmer, of Brandon has just finished threshing and in wheat alone has over 40,000 bushels.

Another Child With a Gun.

WALKERVILLE, Ont., Nov. 21.—Herbert Nelson, aged 16, while returning from Windsor High School, was hit in the leg by a bullet from a Flobert rifle, fired by an unknown lad.

Hotel Stables Burned.

WOODSTOCK, Nov. 21.—About 10 o'clock afternoon fire broke out in the Central Hotel stables in the rear of the hotel. The stables were completely destroyed. A cow and a valuable horse were also consumed. Loss about $1500; partly covered by insurance

Suddenly Summoned.

ALMONTE, Nov. 21.—Andrew Dunlop, aged 63, returned from work in his usual health last night and partook of supper. Half an hour later he was found dead on the floor.

Has Relatives in Toronto.

HAMILTON, Nov. 21.—Albert Kieval, who has been lying in jail some weeks on a charge of vagrancy, was brought before the magistrate to-day.

The magistrate asked him what he would do if allowed to go. "I'll walk to Toronto to my grandmother's house," was the reply. "I've often walked ten miles a day. I can get there in four days."

Sergt.-Major Smith: Do you know anybody in Toronto?

"Yes, I know Detective Sleeman," replied the boy. "I'll get along all right," continued he. "I've got 27 cents and I don't want to go back to jail. They feed me on skilley there, and soup. There ain't much meat in the soup though."

"All right," said the Magistrate, and the little fellow put his 27 cents in an inside pocket and trudged out of the court room, his face wreathed in smiles.

Undoubtedly Suicide.

BELLEVILLE, Nov. 21.—It is now stated that Thomas Hailstone's blood-curdling story of the alleged murder of his son John in Limerick township is unfounded, and that the unfortunate man undoubtedly committed suicide.

Panic at a Fire.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 20.—An explosion of gasoline this afternoon at the Auditorium, where a fire was in progress, caused a panic and a number of persons were burned and injured. The explosion occurred during the dinner hour and about 300 people were in the building. When the cry of fire was raised there was a general rush for the doors. Several women fainted and a number of others were knocked down and trampled. A few cool heads, however, turned their attention to the fire, which was speedily extinguished.

Baby's Face was Raw

Distressing Itching Skin Disease Cured in one Month by the Cuticura Remedies.

When our baby was six weeks old he had a rash on his cheek. It spread on both cheeks and chin. His face was raw. I doctored with various remedies, but it got no better. My mother advised me to try the CUTICURA REMEDIES. I used them faithfully, and in one week the boy looked better. In one month he was cured, and now he is three years old and no signs of it returning. The child was so bad I had to tie him in a pillow-case, and pin his hands down so that he could not scratch his face. I cannot speak too highly of the CUTICURA REMEDY. I recommend CUTICURA whenever I can. I would be pleased to see any one and talk to them of the good it has done my boy.

Buy Now, If at All.

EVERY day makes more apparent the fact that the town is going ahead rapidly. Numerous changes have taken place in the way of ownership of property. Many workingmen are buying houses and lots, or lots on which to build. One of the most suitable locations is that known as the Erie property, at the west end, owned largely by Mr. Wm Fitzgerald. This week he has closed the sale of a very desirable house and lot, and has several eligible lots on this property to dispose of. Property in this neighborhood is rapidly being built up, and it will be well to have a look at the situation if one is at all disposed to buy. The terms are very favorable and especially low for cash, though payment on time may be arranged.

BLOODY REVOLT OF A NORTH PERSIA SECT.

The High Priest of the Shiquoh and His Followers Fight a Detachment of Soldiers—Two or Three Hundred Killed and Many Taken Prisoners.

TEHERAN, Nov. 23.—The Mujutahia, or high priest, of the Shiquoh sect, which is the predominant religious sect of the country, its followers numbering nearly 7,000,000, recently fomented a revolt in Mazanderan, a province in northern Persia. The Government took prompt measures to suppress the revolt and a body of troops was despatched to restore order and to place the high priest under arrest. The rebels, however, made a determined resistance against the Shah's soldiers. They had entrenched themselves in a strong position and when summoned to surrender refused to do so. Orders were then given to attack the stronghold of the rebels and a long contest and desperate battle ensued. The rebels fought with desperation, knowing full well the punishment that would be inflicted upon them by the Shah should they fall into his hands, but they were finally defeated, not, however, until 200 of their number were killed. The loss of troops was 20 killed. A large number of rebels were taken prisoners, and it is expected summary justice will be meted out to them. Among the prisoners is the high priest.

A MUSKOKA TRAGEDY.

A Farmer Shot Because He Killed a Hunter's Dog.

DRUMBO, Nov. 23.—The Drumbo deer hunters who returned on Friday from Muskoka allege that while they were there a serious shooting affray occurred. Not far from where they were located was another party, and it appears that one of the dogs belonging to the party ran a deer into a farmer's barnyard. For some reason not explained the farmer shot the dog. The hunter coming up and seeing his dead hound then shot one of the farmer's cows to get even. The farmer enraged at this shot the hunter through the arm, when he shot back, killing the farmer.

A Tragedy of the Long Ago.

NEWBORO, Ont., Nov. 23.—Mr. John Fields while out hunting in the woods along the North Shore Friday met with a startling incident. Having found a brood of partridge in one of the largest and tallest pines, he was about to fire among them when he heard the clanking of chains. His curiosity being aroused he proceeded to investigate. Looking carefully around he found claw marks in the sand that was scooped out beneath the tree, and on climbing it a most unusual sight was seen; there bound to the tree were the bones of what proved to be a human skeleton. The chain was nearly eaten through with rust. This unfortunate relic was a subject of much conjecture to all. The question is, whether he had in some moment of delirium or remorse committed suicide in this extraordinary manner, or had been the victim of some marauding party of Indians.

Founder of Longue Pointe Asylum Dead.

MONTREAL, Nov. 23.—Rev. Sister Therese, Superioress of the Sisters of Providence, in charge of the asylum of St. John de Dieu, De Longue Pointe, died at an early hour yesterday at the age of 71. Her name was Tetu and she had entered orders in 1844. Eleven years later she founded a house in Valparaiso, Chili. She founded the Longue Pointe Asylum in 1875 and rapidly acquired property valued at a million dollars. Her health suffered greatly at the fire in the spring of 1890, at which 94 patients lost their lives, and she has been ailing ever since.

A Raised Check.

OTTAWA, Nov. 23.—An ex-employe of the Treasury Department, Charles Burroughs, who was some time ago superannuated, was given a check for $172 for certain extra work that he had done and before cashing it he is alleged to have raised it to $1172, some say $1472. Burroughs has left the country.

An Organist Dead.

OTTAWA, Nov. 23.—Rushton Dodd, organist of Knox Church in this city, died yesterday after being ill for some two or three days from typhoid and pleurisy, the result of chill. Mr. Dodd, who came to this city from St. George's, Kingston, took active part in all musical matters, and was a young musician of great promise.

Brilliant Wedding in London—The Miners' Strike in France—Trouble Brewing in Madagascar—The Prince of Wales' "Tic,"—Bavaria's Mad King.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—Lady Sarah Isabel Augusta Spencer-Churchill, youngest sister of the Duke of Marlborough and Lord Randolph Churchill, was married Saturday to Lieut. Gordon C. Wilson, son of Sir Samuel Wilson, Member of Parliament for Portsmouth. The ceremony took place in St. George's Church, Hanover Square. The building was crowded to the doors with the wealth and fashion of England. The whole scene was one of splendor and magnificence seldom seen. Lieut. Wilson belongs to the Royal Horse Guards. The Prince of Wales was a conspicuous guest at the ceremony. The Duke of Cambridge, Commander-in-Chief of the Forces, was also present. A large number of other military officers resplendent in gorgeous uniforms added to the brilliancy of the scene. A pretty feature of the service was the arrangement for making a pathway from the porch of St. George's and down the main aisle to the altar. The troop of the Horse Guards commanded by the bridegroom were drawn up in full uniform with side arms in rows, one on each side, and through these rows of soldiers the bride and groom smilingly passed after the ceremony was completed. The ceremony was performed by the Archbishop of Canterbury.

VIENNA, Nov. 22.—The marriage of the Archduchess Marie Louise of Tuscany to Prince Frederick Augustus of Saxony took place to-day in the chapel of the Imperial palace at Vienna. The ceremonies, which were most grand and brilliant, were witnessed by the Emperor and Empress of Austria, the King and Queen of Saxony, the Grand Duke and Grand Duchess of Tuscany, Count Kalnoky and all the Cabinet Ministers, the Diplomatic Corps and a host of Princes and Princesses. The Cardinal Archbishop of Vienna officiated, supported by all the church dignitaries of Austria. The wedding procession was one of the most attractive and dazzling ever seen in Europe. The bride wore a white satin richly embroidered with silver and bordered with tulle and orange flowers. Upon her head the bride wore a small crown glittering with diamonds. The young couple have formally renounced their rights of succession respectively to the throne of Saxony and to the throne of Austria-Hungary. The Archduchess Marie Louise is the eldest daughter of the Grand Duke Ferdinand IV. of Tuscany. The bridegroom, Prince Frederick Augustus of Saxony, is the nephew of King Albert of Saxony and heir to the throne of the Kingdom of Saxony.

THE RIPPER'S PARD.

The "French Colonel" a Mystery to London's Police.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—There was concluded at the Old Bailey, Saturday, one of the most remarkable blackmail trials in the history of British jurisprudence. It is the trial of a mysterious individual known as the "French Colonel," "Le Grande," "Briscony Grant," "Captain Anderson" and "Charles Grant."

There are a number of charges piled up against the "French Colonel," but the one which he is placed on trial for to-day is that of threatening to murder the Baroness Bolsover, who resides in one of the most aristocratic quarters of London, No. 13 Grosvenor-place, and with also threatening to murder Lady Jessel, the widow of the late Master of the Rolls of the Treasury.

The police at a preliminary hearing produced a quantity of gunpowder and an infernal machine, consisting of an arrangement of powerful springs in a cigar box, which had been found in previous lodgings which the "French Colonel" had occupied at Malden.

Lady Jessel was called to the witness stand and deposed that during the afternoon of July 17 last she received a letter setting forth that unless the writer received £500 within 10 days he would dash her brains out with dynamite. After the testimony had been taken the "French Colonel" fainted in the dock. When revived he engaged in a furious fight with the police around him. A dozen policemen assisted by a number of prison wardens seemed unable to restrain him.

There was a tremendous sensation in the court room; a number of ladies fainted, others screamed horribly. Finally the jury found the prisoner guilty on both charges.

LOOKS AS IF HE WINKED.

The Disconcerting "Tic" of Albert Edward, Prince of Wales.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—To strangers, at any rate, the "tic" of the Prince of Wales is somewhat disconcerting. About once in every minute and a half the lid of the right eye drops completely over the ball. The eye remains closed for the space of about a second, and then suddenly opens again to its fullest extent, no other feature of the face having moved meanwhile. People who see the Prince for the first time are tempted to believe that he is deliberately winking at them, an impression which is strengthened by the Prince's reputation of geniality toward men and gallantry toward women. Of course, however, there is no such intention on the part of the Prince, and the wink is altogether involuntary, the result of a "tic nerveux."

A WHITED SEPULCHRE

A PREACHER ELOPES WITH A YOUNG WOMAN.

He Was a Married Man and Had Charge of the Baptist Congregation at Port Burwell—The Runaways Traced to Michigan and Arrested.

LANSING, Mich., Nov. 23.—Rev. Walter Nelson and Miss Rosabel Teetzel were arrested at the Commercial Hotel here last evening on a telegram from St. Thomas, Ont., the male prisoner, who is a married man, being charged with abduction.

In June last a young man of 26 named Rev. Walter Nelson arrived in Elgin County, Ont., from Illinois and was appointed to the charge of the Baptist Church in Port Burwell and the Jubilee Church in Nova Scotia-street, Malahide. He was a young man of about 26 years of age, smooth-faced, large-mouthed, thick-lipped, possessed of more than ordinary magnetism. He brought his young wife with him to Port Burwell and started housekeeping, making comparatively large purchases of household goods from Aylmer, Port Burwell and Vienna merchants. He had not been long in the neighborhood before he made the acquaintance of Miss Rosabel Teetzel, for two years past teacher in the public school at Lakeview, on the Nova Scotia-road, Malahide, where the Jubilee Church is situated

The Elopement.

The good people of Lakeview did not fail to notice the degree of attention which the young minister was paying to the young teacher, but no one dreamed for a moment of such a denouement as yesterday startled the neighborhood. The young lady resided with Mr. and Mrs. George McConnel, who live near the school. Yesterday morning, when Miss Teetzel did not make her appearance at the usual hour, Mrs. McConnell went to her room to awaken her, and was dismayed to find that she was not in the room, and that everything it contained was in disorder, bearing evidence of a hasty flight. The young lady had not taken any clothing but that which she wore, and even omitted to carry away her spectacles and some money she had in her possession. The room bore traces of a man's heavy, mud-stained boots having trodden on the carpet, and all the indications pointed to the fact that the young woman had left the house in company with this man, some time during the night, making her escape through the window. Beneath the window, on the outside, was found a pencil known to belong to "Rev." Walter Nelson, so the identity of the man who had planned the elopement was at once conjectured.

Tracing the Fugitives.

As soon as the fact dawned on Mr. and Mrs. McConnell that their boarder had fled they drove to St. Thomas and notified the relatives of the young lady, whose home was in St. Thomas, and whose brother, J. J. Teetzel, is a dentist there. It was learned that Nelson had driven from Port Burwell to St. Thomas and left the horse and buggy at T. Hortop's livery with instructions to send it back to Port Burwell. They had then boarded the G.T.R. for the west and proceeded to Port Huron and thence to Lansing.

Mr. J. V. Teetzel, Q.C., of Hamilton, another brother of the young woman, was notified and traced them to Port Huron and thence to Lansing, arriving here this morning, the fugitives having meantime been apprehended.

The betrayal of the young girl was not the sum of Nelson's offences. Prior to his elopment he induced his wife, whose heart he had broken by his ill-treatment, to go to her father's in Illinois. Nelson's goods were being shipped there also. At Aylmer, however, an attachment was taken out against them on behalf of some of Nelson's creditors, and the stuff still remains at Aylmer.

Pathetic Incidents.

Of Nelson's antecedents little is known. As previously stated he had only been at Port Burwell since June, having formerly had charge of a Baptist Church at Centreville, Ill., where he married his wife. Last fall he made application to be admitted to the Malahide Association of the church, and after enquiries the application was accepted, amongst those who certified to his good character being Rev. A. Grant of Winnipeg, who stated that he had baptised Nelson. His relatives are said to live at Sarnia. He was tall and thin and had a withered hand.

Miss Teetzel was engaged to be married to a highly respectable farmer of South Malahide.

Nelson had been holding revival services in the churches, and was held in high esteem among the members of his congregation, none of whom, however, appeared to have had any knowledge of who he was, or what were his antecedents.

Miss Teetzel was a bright, earnest girl, a good teacher, and from all that has been learned of the circumstances, her very virtues have been made the instrumentality of her betrayer's designs. Brought up in the Presbyterian faith, Nelson secured an influence over her at his revival meetings, and maintained it by representations of his deep interest in her spiritual welfare, and so worked upon the poor girl's feelings that three weeks ago she was publicly baptized into the church, the immersion taking place in a neighboring stream.

The Unloved Husband Role.

The elopers are now in the custody of the city marshal. The reverend gentleman is a man of 26 and Miss Teetzel is a very striking, pretty and attractive blonde of the same age. Both of them are thoroughly frightened and are here without even a change of clothing.

Nelson assumes the role of an unloved husband whose wife left for her home in Centreville, Ill., on Thursday for the purpose of procuring a divorce, avowing that she did so to enable him to marry the object of his affection, now his companion in his flight.

Mad Otto of Bavaria Imagines That He is a Stork.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—The insanity of the present monarch of Bavaria, the mad King Otto, appears to have taken the form of an illusion that he is a stork. In one of the magnificent apartments devoted to his use at the Palace of Furstenried he has laboriously constructed a gigantic nest, every stick and straw of which he has conveyed to the spot in his mouth. In that nest he squats almost the entire day with feathers stuck in his long, thick hair and beard, while he chatters in imitation of the "clappering" of a stork whenever anyone approaches. Occasionally, too, he stands on one leg, gazing vacantly straight before him, while at other times he stalks gravely about just in the same manner that he has seen the long-beaked, long-legged birds do.

IN reply to a scream from The Empire to the effect that the farmers of Lower Canada and of all the other Provinces are doing well under the N. P., Le Canadien says the exact contrary is the case. The crop this year in French Canada was a good one, but the farmers are in arrears owing to the poor crops of previous seasons. "Why," it asks, "if agriculture is prosperous, are the rural districts of this Province being depopulated by emigration? The French-Canadian farmers are greatly attached to their native soil, to their parishes, to their relations and friends, and emigrate only when forced to do so. The cause of the flight are economic, and are not going to be removed by absurd stories about the prosperity of the people." The census shows that nearly half the counties in Ontario have lost population during the last ten years, but it does not hinder the Empire from declaring that the farmers here are doing well under the combined oppression of the N.P. and the McKinley bill. Le Canadien adds that the people of the Quebec district have not been benefited in any way by the N. P. "No new industries worth mentioning have been called into existence, our port is ruined and its commerce gone elsewhere, the population is being impoverished and driven to emigrate." The Tory party cannot afford to look the facts as they exist in the face, for they are dead against the view that the N P. is a beneficent agency.

A Tory "Patriotic" Article.

From the Bungtown Blazer.

Canada is the grandest, freest, most glorious country on earth, and shame be to the traitor who dares to say otherwise. Everything goes to prove it. Look at our immense territory, larger than the United States! Look at our public debt, larger in proportion to our population than of any other civilized country! Does that not speak volumes for the stability of our credit? Poor nations do not have the chance to incur a magnificent debt like ours. Consider the vast volume of emigration steadily pouring across the line. What a splendid tribute to the prolific character of the Canadian people and the hardihood and enterprise which prompts them to compete with Americans on their own ground! All the great nations are emigrating nations. Look at Greece and Rome. Look at England and Germany. Probably there were pessimists and grumblers in the days of Augustus and Plutarch and Cacoethes Scribendi and those fellows, who were continually making a fuss over the exodus, or would have been if the government of that day would have stood any such nonsense.

We do not deny that corruption exists—it would not be any use to—but what of it? Wasn't Walpole corrupt? Wasn't Bacon corrupt? Wasn't Pericles a corruptionist? And they were all great men. Doesn't corruption go to show the extent of our resources? Isn't the fact that our rulers can go on stealing millions of dollars, year after year, and the people never know it, a conspicuous proof of the national wealth and prosperity? No nation ever escaped corruption except some pitiful, one-horse communities, such as Switzerland, where there isn't anything worth stealing. Why if there was no boodling going on it would be the most melancholy sign of national poverty and decadence imaginable.

We have everything to be thankful for. We have a larger area of land per head of the population than any other country! Let the pessimists and carpers think of this fact and hide their diminished heads in shame. Our government displays a prudent regard for the future. Instead of recklessly and impetuously developing our resources with feverish haste, we proceed with dignified calm and caution in the matter, and judiciously leave most of the work to be accomplished by future generations. The N. P. as the wisest measure of modern statesmanship, imposes a salutary check on the unbridled ambition of the people to become unduly wealthy, and tends to preserve those class distinctions between the poor and the rich, so essential to the maintenance of a monarchical form of government.

Hurrah for Canada, and down with the pessimists!—Grip.

Mr. Fraser's Health.

Hon. C. F. Fraser is not as well known to the people of Ontario as he ought to be. He has appeared upon public platforms perhaps less often than any other Minister, not because he does not love to meet the people but because his stock of health and strength has been very slender, and he has been obliged to husband it for his duties in the department and the legislature. In an assembly where there are many good speakers and some genuine orators, Mr. Fraser is regarded by many as holding the first place. A duel between him and Mr. Meredith is an event that is always sure to fill the galleries. The charm of his oratory consists not merely in force and readiness and in unusually fine elocution, though all these are present; he has the "noble manners" which are "the flower and native growth of noble mind." He is a magnanimous opponent, hitting hard and sometimes mercilessly, but never unfairly. He is a deep thinker, often striking veins of thought which are beyond the common range of Parliamentary discussion. The Assembly would hardly seem itself without him, and we are sure there is not a man on either side of the chair who does not heartily wish that he may be able to take his old place during the coming session. As a departmental head, it would be hard to say anything too good for Mr. Fraser. He has had charge of the public works and buildings of Ontario for an unbroken period of more than seventeen and a half years, in which about four and a half million dollars have been expended; and it is conceded on all hands that his ministration has been singularly clean, free from scandal, and economical. It is not enough to say that no charge of dishonesty, corruption or waste of public moneys has ever been proved against the department; no such charge has ever been made, if we except the newspaper charges regarding the Legislative buildings, which Mr. Fraser so indignantly and completely answered in 1890 that the leader of the Opposition declared himself satisfied, and nothing more has ever been heard of them. For reasons of self-interest, as well as out of regard for Mr. Fraser, the people of Ontario will be glad to see this faithful and diligent public servant back at his post.—Globe.

The Crop Reports.

The report of the Bureau of Industries published to-day confirms the common belief that the yield of grain in Ontario this year is extraordinarily large. Fall wheat averages from 25 to 30 bushels per acre in many sections, and weighs from 60 to 66 pounds per bushel; spring wheat and oats are also far above the average. The total yield of grains and roots is estimated thus:—

Fall wheat	21,872,488	bushels
Spring wheat	10,711,538	"
Barley	16,141 904	"
Oats	75 009,542	"
Rye	1,134,630	"
Peas	18,323,489	"
Corn (in the ear)	18 288 659	"
Buckwheat	2,608 142	"
Beans	769 600	"
Potatoes	24 055 866	"
Mangel Wurtzels	11 779 448	"
Carrots	3 814,016	"
Turnips	68 853 452	"
Hay and Clover	2,392,798	tons.

The crops of wheat, spring and fall, is estimated at 32,584,026 bushels, nearly half as much again as the crop of 1890. The oat crop exceeds the light one of last year by more than 22,000,000 bushels, while the average per acre is the highest in ten years. The root crops are enormous, but the potatoes are much damaged by rot. The acreage of barley sown is 148,000 acres less than last year, yet the crop is 541,737 bushels larger, owing to the great yield of 29.2 bushels per acre. The acreage sown in fall wheat this fall is 15 per cent. greater than that sown in the fall of 1890, but the prospects of the yield are hardly as good as they were last year. There is an increase in the number of nearly all kinds of live stock in possession of farmers, especially in sheep and lambs.

Female Trustees

The members of the Toronto District W. C.T.U. are in favour of bringing out a female candidate for the Board of Public School Trustees. They refer to the good work done by women on the school board in London, England. There is an instance nearer home. The presence of women on the High School Board in Toronto has had a good influence upon the meetings, especially in preventing the squabbles which were once not unheard-of incidents. As about half the school children are girls, and the great majority of the teachers women, there seems to the Globe to be no reason why the governing body should be composed wholly of men.

"Aren't you ever going to grow old, like the rest of us?" asked a man of an acquaintance he hadn't seen for some time. "Well, not so long as I can purify my blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla," was the apt reply. This man knew what he was talking about.

Four Leaved Clovers.

I know a place where the sun is like gold,
And the cherry blooms burst with snow;
And down underneath is the loveliest nook,
Where the four leaved clovers grow.

One leaf is for hope, and one is for faith,
And one is for love you know;
And God put another one in for luck—
If you search, you will find where they grow.

But you must have hope, and you must have faith,
You must love and be strong—and so,
If you work, if you wait, you will find the place
Where the four leaved clovers grow.

The picture as carelessly viewed by the many was but an exquisite glimpse of a tiny landlocked cove. But the surrounding greenery looked so cool; the snowy lilies, with their golden hearts, so purely perfect against their background of bronze green pads; the glint of the clear water between was so in contrast to the suffocating heat of the room that many paused to look again, and these had their reward.

"See that exquisite face among the lilies," some one would cry, and then there would be a general scrutinizing of catalogues. The title, "Caught by the Camera" would be commented on in the drollest fashion sometimes, and these comments would be eagerly harkened to by a handsome young fellow who during the ten days the exhibition lasted was seldom long absent from the spot.

None of the comments seemed satisfactory, however, as one could tell by the disheartened expression on the worn, pale face. That the exquisite picture had a peculiar fascination for him you could guess, for when not keenly scanning the visitors who crowded the room, his earnest, dark eyes were always turned upon the beautiful "lily maid," as one romantic young girl had named it. A name not new, though, for thus had Ronald Kershaw's heart for months designated the sweet face, and for all that time he had been anxiously searching for the original.

* * * * * * *

When the "heated term" began, something over a year before, Ronald Kershaw was just recovering from a tedious illness, brought on by a careless disregard of the laws of health. The penalty paid was slight in comparison with the offense, considering the years he had been offending, for he was one of Chicago's most prominent lawyers, and had an enormous practice.

He was young yet, scarcely thirty, with an enviable reputation for upright and honorable dealing and for strict integrity. However, nature revenged herself finely, as she invariably does, and he found himself wondering if "it paid after all," when he heard himself ordered into the country and forbidden to work until the 1st of November.

"But, Dr. Grady," he had inquired in some consternation, "what shall I do to pass away the time?"

"Nothing. Stay—get a camera and tramp after 'views.'"

"The very thing," and the pale, emaciated fellow sat up with a tint of returning strength in his movements, very grateful to the old doctor, who had known and looked after him from his birth.

"How soon shall I be able to start?"

"By the time Hobrich has taught you the art."

"Oh, I learned it all years ago when at college. I'll only need to furbish up a little and get posted on the new inventions."

"All right, then. Give yourself a week or so and then be off."

And Dr. Grady went away, leaving Kershaw to the pleasant work of laying out a route for him. He was quite surprised to see what a keen interest he took in the plan and in all the arrangements; for it had seemed to him that nothing should hinder his getting back to his business as soon as he was strong enough to get about again. Now he no longer cared. His partner would get along in some way. With him it was, "Ho! for the woods; the world forgetting, by the world forgot."

The week passed.

Hobrich, a popular photographer and great admirer of the young lawyer, was easily persuaded to initiate him into all the new discoveries in the art, and found him an apt pupil. His health improved as if by magic, now he had given over all business worry, and when he called upon Dr. Grady to bid him goodby he bade him "be off" in his gruffest tones, "or I shall have to order you back to work, you are looking so well."

The Waukesha lake district was his objective point, and the middle of June found him domiciled in a large, old fashioned farmhouse, whose chief recommendation had been a large 6 by 10 windowless closet, which made such a perfect "dark room."

From here he wandered "far afield," with camera and an endless supply of prepared plates, and many a lovely view was by him transferred to paper. He was fascinated by the art, and at first wearied himself almost to the point of returning illness by long tramps and ceaseless exertion. But at last he settled down, content to do finer work by doing less.

The farmhouse was close upon the bank of one of the lakes. It was of most irregular shape, and at every turn you beheld tiny gulfs and bays, now clear as crystal, with white sanded beach; again their silvery sparkle was quite obscured by a thick scrum of lily pads and their snowy blooms. From among these he secured many a lovely view, but a curious, toad shaped island lower down the lake had long attracted his attention, so one day late in July he set out in a boat to visit it.

It was a fearfully hot day, and when about half way there he became somewhat overcome by the heat, and ran his boat ashore under the widespreading branches of an oak, which grew close to the water's edge. The banks on that side were high and abrupt, their sides and summit being literally hidden by trees and shrubbery and screening vines.

Kershaw thought he had never seen such a dense growth of vegetation in the north, and was idly enjoying the cool shade when he happened to notice that he could look through the leafy curtain in one spot.

Investigation showed a narrow break in the high banks, and beyond lay a lovely landlocked bay. A portion of it gleamed crystal clear, while the rest of its surface was one mass of snowy water lilies and their broad green pads.

Kershaw was charmed by his discovery, and clambering up the bank he selected a favorable point, and soon secured a "negative." Giving up his trip to the island he lost no time in returning to the house, so eager was he to develop this, his latest and he thought, his finest view.

The next day he printed one, and never had he been so satisfied with the work. The tiny, landlocked bay, the sparkle of the water, the sheen of the lilies, the snowy beach, all, all were perfect. He gazed at it long and earnestly, this devotee of nature, but suddenly uttered a startled exclamation, and held it close to his eyes. There was a look of excited amazement on his handsome face. Snatching up a powerful reading glass he continued the scrutiny.

"Good heavens!" he ejaculated, "what can it mean?"

For there in among the beautiful blossoms was the perfect imprint of a face. A woman's face, with wide open, dark eyes, a mocking light in their depth, their gaze seeming to be fixed upon his face. To the casual observer it would seem but one of the white flowers, it was so tiny, but by the aid of the powerful magnifying glass every feature was distinctly visible.

Amazed, perplexed, Kershaw could but gaze and wonder. Suddenly bethinking himself, however, he laid aside the picture, went down to the beach, entered his boat, and rowed quickly to the bay. A minute search revealed no trace of his "lily maid," nor signs of human presence, save a few marks in the sand, which might have been those of human feet or might have been those of an animal.

He was convinced, however, that he had surprised some bathers, and one of them had hidden herself among the lilies, little dreaming that her face would be visible in his picture. Returning to the house he questioned his host as to the inhabitants on that side of the lake, but found there were no houses for miles. She must have been a member of some picnicking party, and there was no use of further questioning.

After that Kershaw's interest in photography began to wane, and in a short time he returned to Chicago. He half ruined his eyesight in impressing every feature of the beautiful face upon his mind's eye, and began a persistent search for the original.

A year went by and everybody, that is among his friends, had come to notice the quick, searching glance he would always give every new face presented to his notice. He had therefore always said he was too busy to attend public gatherings, but now he went everywhere. When he could get away for a few days he ran over to New York and commissioned a first class artist to paint an enlarged copy of the photograph, cautioning him jealously to let no one see the work until he himself had viewed it.

Six months passed before he was again in the city, then his first visit was to the artist Van Alstyne's studio. A cry of delighted surprise escaped Kershaw's lips as his eyes rested on the exquisite production.

"Perfect! perfect!" he cried, to the artist's unqualified satisfaction.

Every feature of the cold looking photograph had been reproduced in living colors and with marvelous faithfulness. But the face was the masterpiece, and Ronald's heart throbbed with a lover's rapture as he stood entranced before it.

"What can I say?" he asked after a long silence.

"That I have succeeded?"

"It is marvelous. Perfect. How can I ever repay you?"

"By letting me hang the picture at the approaching art exhibition."

For an instant an indignant refusal trembled on Kershaw's lips. Then the thought came, "Might not such a course result in the discovery of the original 'lily maid?'" and he gave a cordial consent to the plan. Then, having ascertained the exact date of the exhibition, he gave one more long, loving glance at the sweet face and returned to his tiresome lawsuits.

These he prosecuted with such vigor that he found himself free in time to reach New York the day of the art opening. The picture had been given the most advantageous position, and from the first attracted much attention.

I have told how the scheme had been thus far a failure. Of all the thousands who had viewed it up to the last day no one had shown a sign of recognition, no one had seemed to have ever seen it before. Disheartened and railing at himself for the fierce love he had come to own overmastered his sense of judgment, Kershaw entered the gallery on the last day.

This should be the last attempt, he was firmly resolved. If to-day afforded no clue to the mystery he would take the picture, go home and wait, trying by hard work to dull the pain of wasted affection. The reader cannot be more disgusted with the man of law than he was himself. Why could he not have fallen in love in a natural way with some pretty girl of his acquaintance, instead of waiting all these years to lose his heart over a face so mysteriously produced by the camera?

He asked himself this last question many times that day as he watched the surging crowd, and was mentally pronouncing it unanswerable when, as he was leaving the building, he slipped at the top of the steps and came down most ungracefully at the feet of his "lily maid." Dazed by the discovery, he was gathering himself up slowly when two pairs of hands seized him and quickly set him on his feet, while a well known voice exclaimed, "Now, Ronald, if you are only blessed with a broken bone of some sort you can see this precious city."

"No broken bones, thank you, uncle," he replied, shaking hands with the fine looking elderly man who had spoken, and also with a younger man whom he called "Cousin John."

"Aren't you going to speak to your other cousin?" demanded his uncle, indicating the fair girl, who had been an amused spectator of the scene.

"Other cousin?" in a bewildered tone.

"Well, not strictly so, because she belongs to my wife's side of the house. Lois, this is Ronald Kershaw, of whom you have heard us speak so often. Miss Lois Hunt. Ronald, by the way, we are just going into the gallery to see a painting which a friend tells us has Lois' face in it."

Turning, Ronald re-entered the gallery with his new found relatives and piloted them at once to the pictures. A cry of surprise escaped Lois Hunt's lips as she scanned the scene.

"I was wondering where I had seen you before," was her only comment as she turned to Ronald, a laughing light in her glorious eyes. "That is the only time I was ever 'caught by a camera.'"

"That same instant enslaved the photographer," replied Ronald audaciously, and he gathered hope for the future from the fact that she blushed as she turned away without speaking.—Rye Johnson in Pittsburg Bulletin.

H. S. MACDONALD, Druggist

A WEEK AGO

"THE STAR" made the largest purchase of Overcoats ever made at one time in the history of the Clothing Trade—Over TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS' WORTH---the entire magnificent stock of one of the largest manufacturers of Fine Clothing in Canada. The owners of the goods were in Desperate Need of Ready Cash. We had it, and we got the stock AT OUR OWN PRICE. We placed about half our purchase on sale Monday morning, and to-day we place the balance of the stock on our tables. The last shipment included the Finest Goods. The first lots are all sold, and such scenes of excitement as have transpired during this sale never before occurred in a clothing store.

Customers stood in open-mouthed wonder at the wonderful values given. Many persons bought two and three Coats on account of their wonderful cheapness. Small Merchants have eagerly bought all we would sell them, our prices are so much lower than they could buy the same goods at wholesale.

The Overcoats are Simply Elegant, made of the Richest and Finest Fabrics and in the most "Correct" Style. "Schnabel's" Chinchillas and Beavers; "Carr's" Meltons, Eredon Kerseys, Fine Fancy Overcoatings and Shetlands, intended for Merchant Tailor's use. Many were intended to Wholesale at $15, $18 and $20. We bought them for less than the Raw Material Cost, and are selling for $8 and $10, garments worth two and three times the money.

Not a Single Customer Has Left Our Store Dissatisfied.

For Thanksgiving.

Positively the finest 25c tea in Peterborough is to be bought at Wm. C. Kirk's Tea and Coffee store in Ashburnham. We defy any store in town to show as good a sample for the money, either Japan, Hyson or black. All other teas good in proportion.

has established the fact that law suits are more wearing on a man than any other kind of suit. They don't fit nearly so well as those business suits of DUNCAN CAMERON & Co's. To be well dressed depends a good deal on your tailor; therefore, leave your measure at 434 George street. d111

A Village Brevity.

Ashburnham seems to have a specialty in husbands who hold to the belief in club law in domestic matters, and the practice of it upon their spouses. On Saturday evening a young husband who was indulging in the amusement of making it hot for his wife, had his career suddenly brought to a close by the interference of the Law.

Brass Band in attendance. An enjoyable time expected.

A Demented Dog.

Yesterday the residents in the vicinity of the Gravel Road, Gilmour and King streets, were alarmed by the antics of a large-sized dog. All through Sunday's pouring rain, all Sunday night and till ten o'clock this morning, this eccentric canine was an object of attention. He kept up a perpetual yelping like a fox, rushing hither and thither, now running along the top of the rail fence, that encloses the south side of the Burnham park lot, the next moment rabidly tearing at the rails with his teeth, and generally conducting himself like a lunatic. The spectators thought the dog was mad, and the police were notified, and Constable Stewart investigated. He boldly captured the dog, and was taking him to the cells when he met a man who wanted a dog, and the policeman made him a present of the animal, which he (the guardian of the peace) thinks is not made, but idiotic. The new owner promised to shoot his new pet if he didn't show a little more dog sense. The rumours that we hear and read of, of mad dogs, have probably as much foundation as this case afforded.

Connundrums for the Mayor and Council.

A Serious Bill of Indictments—What will the Answer of the Council Be?

To the Editor of the Daily Examiner:

SIR,—I should like to enquire, and would naturally expect an answer from the Mayor and council who are to be regarded as the custodians of the interests of the town, if there is such a dearth of clerical ability in the town that a town official is retained in office who neglects the duties of his position to the detriment of the town's interests, and to the danger of actual financial loss? I should like to ask if it is correct, as is rumoured, that our present town clerk has occupied his position since his appointment without entering into bonds, and if there is any valid reason why he should be exempted when all other offices of trust require the giving of such bonds? Is it in accordance with sound business principles that an official through whose hands in the course of business there passes large sums of money, with no guarantee for their proper appropriation except the will of the official, whose habits do not inspire the greatest public confidence, should be trusted in blind confidence? Is it true that the duties of the office are in a chronic state of neglect? Is it true that the list of persons entitled to act as jurors has not been furnished to the Crown official? Is it true that, with the elections only a month ahead, the voters' lists are not yet prepared, or does the council, acting on the example of their official, intend to disregard all forms and take their seats again without re-election? Is it true that the police court record is in a chaotic condition and that the magistrate has to assume the custody of it, and is unable, from its incompleteness, to make the required returns of convictions? Is it true that there is no reliable record of fines that have been paid, nor any reliable record of the fees for licenses paid? Is it true that, in view of the general neglect of duty, the general incompetence and carelessness of our present town clerk, and the feeling of insecurity due to this state of things, the Finance Committee has forbidden the payment of salary for the past four or five months? Is it a safe and satisfactory state of things, when employers have to practically garnishee the salary of their own employee to protect the interests which should be protected in the manner the law prescribes, and by the appointment of a responsible official who will attend to his duties without watching and entreaty? Is it true that for a very long time there has been a continuous and systematic neglect of duty and an indifference to the observance of proper office hours, to the derangement and injury of the civic service? Is it true that repeated remonstrance and threatening have been made, and that there have been repeated pledges of amendment made, only to pave the way for new pledges of an equally reliable character? Is it true that Manager McGill of the Ontario Bank and town treasurer, has verbally notified the mayor and chairman of the Finance Committee that, unless there is a change in the management of the moneys in the Town Clerk's department, he will refuse to take the responsibility and resign his position? Is it true, also, that the chief of police has to handle the funds of the police court, rather than trust to the clerk of the court? Is it true that the police court book has not been written up for a year? Is it true that a large financial corporation was assessed for $6,000 realty and $48,000 income and that the collector's roll only shows the taxes represented by the realty assessment, leaving the income exempt from taxation? Is it true that a number of Separate School supporters are placed on the collectors roll as Public school supporters, notwithstanding that due and legal notices of the status of such persons were served upon the clerk? Is it true that these Separate school supporters may legally refuse to pay any school tax and thus deprive the Separate school fund of the benefit of the amounts of their taxes? Is it true that the town clerk has been paid for preparing the jurors lists which should have been, but have not yet been delivered to the County Attorney? Is it true that warrants of committal have been lost, and that such a general state of muddle prevails that a commission of experts would not be able to untangle it? These questions, as a ratepayer, contributing no small sum to the town exchequer, I have a right to ask, and to claim an answer from the elected guardians of the affairs of the town. Though I have omitted to refer to another and exceedingly serious phase of the matter, I cannot underrate its gravity as the type of a danger of financial loss which may not at another time be so luckily tided over. Before closing I should like to express my deep sense of the seriousness of the situation and of the grave responsibility the mayor and council are incurring by practically letting matters drift. I understand that it is in the power of the mayor to suspend an unsatisfactory official, and in the interests of the ratepayers I demand that the mayor and council take prompt action. Not one of this body would tolerate for a moment in his private business a state of affairs which they allow to exist in the affairs of the clerkship of the town and the police court clerkship. It is understood that the mayor is fully conversant with all these matters, and the ratepayers will be glad to hear from him at the earliest opportunity.

Yours truly,
RATEPAYER.

Police Court Paragraphs

MONDAY, Nov. 23rd, 1891.

On Saturday evening George Curtis, jr., was arraigned before the police magistrate charged with larceny of deer skins. The accused pleaded guilty and was remanded for sentence until Wednesday. It appears that Mr. W. H. Wrighton exposed a number of deer hides in the shed at the rear of his premises for the purpose of stretching, and on going to take them in found that two were missing. On making enquiries, Mr. Wrighton found that Messrs. Paterson & Son had purchased the skins in the usual way of business, and received from them a description of the boys who had disposed of them. An investigation was instituted, which resulted in the arrest of Geo. Curtis, jr., and later of two other boys, who being brought up for trial this morning were remanded until Wednesday.

Jas. McManus, sr., and Jas. McManus, jr., father and son, were arrested for being drunk and disorderly. The elder McManus was discharged and the younger was "let off" with a fine of $5. In connection with this case, Policeman McGinty, who made the arrest, deserves great credit for the courage he showed in holding on to the horse, which was driven by the prisoners at a rapid rate.

Mr. D'Arcey E. Strickland, of Lakefield, leaves this evening for Regina, to enter upon his duties in connection with his appointment in the Mounted Police.

Mr. Lount, with the Bank of Commerce here, has returned to Peterborough with his bride and taken up residence for the present at Mrs. Fawcett's, Water street.

Dr. Brennan had the honour of being selected to respond to the toast of "The Graduates" at the fifteenth annual dinner of Toronto Medical College held on Thuarday evening.

The EXAMINER is pleased to be able to say that Mr. R. F. Morrow, dentist, is so far recovered from his recent illness that he will in a day or two be able to attend to his professional duties.

The Canada Gazette of Saturday contains the following:—Fifty-seventh Battalion, Peterborough Rangers—To be captain, Lieut. Karl G. Lech, vice Robt. J. Lee who retires with rank of lieutenant. To be lieutenant, Second Lieut. Louis M. Hayes, vice K. G Lech, promoted.

Mr. E. F. B. Johnston. Inspector of Registry Offices for Eastern Ontario, was in town on Saturday inspecting the Peterborough office. Mr. Johnston, previous to accepting his present position, was Deputy-Attorney-General for the Province. He reports the registry office here to be in a very satisfactory condition and says that it is one of the best managed and best kept offices in the Province. Mr. Morrow is to be congratulated.

Church Chimes.

Rev. Father McColl, of Lindsay, who was ordained in Grafton a couple of months ago, preached eloquent sermons at the 8 o'clock and 10 30 o'clock masses yesterday in St. Peter's Cathedral.

The Rev. J. E Trotter, of the Baptist church and the Rev. Geo. Edwards of the Charlotte street Methodist church exchanged pulpits yesterday. No doubt the members of both congregations would be benefited by the change of preachers and the reverend gentlemen themselves by the change of congregations. One is pleased to notice the prevalence of such good fellowship amongst pastors of different denominations. "How good and pleasant a thing it is for brethren to dwell together in unity."

The Rev. Rural Dean Harding, of Apsley, preached the sermon in St. John's Church yesterday morning and in the evening conducted services in the South Ward mission school house. His sermons were very much enjoyed by the attendants at both places.

From present indications, a large number intend accompanying Mrs. Proctor on her cheap trip to the sun, moon and stars Wednesday evening. The pictures are the latest to date and acknowledged to be the finest collection in the world. Mrs. Proctor has enjoyed exceptional privileges in the use of the greatest telescopes and spectroscopes to be found in observatories. The lecture promises, therefore, to be most instructive and entertaining. Charge and Explanation of Sunday Working.

This morning at the police court a letter which had been received by the police magistrate, was read by him. The writer complained of the breaking of the Sabbath by the Edison company, some of the employes being required to work on Sunday. The manager of the company was interviewed as to the matter and explained that the work evidently complained of was that of some steam fitting and work of that kind, a work of necessity which could not be done during the week, without suspending work entirely and making a large number of employees—about 700—idle during the necessary repairs referred to. All the work done was necessary work, such as has to be done in every large manufacturing establishment, and in every morning newspaper establishment—work for Sunday morning's issue, beginning at 6 or 7 on Monday evening and continuing on Sunday till midnight.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

On Saturday night the young men's rally was well attended, and a very helpful and profitable meeting was held, and bright testimonies given by many.

The Bible study and consecration service Sabbath morning was much enjoyed by those present, and all were greatly helped in the study of God's Word.

Mr. Thos. Cockran gave a straight talk at the personal purity meeting yesterday afternoon. Our only regret was that not more were present to be helped on this line.

Last evening the attendance was good at the Gospel and song service. Mr. Jas. Sutherland gave an earnest address.

Invitation Committee will meet on Wednesday evening at 9 p.m.

Devotional Committee will meet on Thursday evening at 9 p.m.

Bible Study for young men Thursday evening at 8 p.m.

Rev. J. E. Starr, formerly pastor of George street Methodist church, will give an address at the anniversary meeting Friday evening, December 4th, in St. Andrew's church.

The "Week's" Estimate af the Wizard.

Electricity to Exorcise the Locomotive Engine.

Edison, the Wizard, is one of the most remarkable personages that has ever appeared upon the stage of human life. In the field of invention he has so far distanced all competitors that he stands out as an unique personality. It is characteristic, too, of his inventions that they are not mere displays of mechanical ingenuity, such as often enables men to make useful improvements upon machinery constructed upon principles about which they know little or nothing. Edison's inventions, on the contrary, are in the main applications of the laws and forces which the science of the age has brought to light, to such practical uses as add very greatly to the comforts and conveniences of human life. He is, from this point of view, a world benefactor. A remarkable token of the triumphs of is seen in the confidence which has been implanted in the public mind that whenever he puts brain and hand to any new project, his success is as good as assured. If it be true, therefore, that he has now undertaken to provide an electric motor which shall not only take the place of the smoky and noisy steam engine on long lines of railway, but at the same time increase the rate of speed of ordinary passenger or mail trains to one hundred miles an hour, without diminution of safety, the public generally will expect it to be done. It is said that the new invention is now in the hands of the Edison General Electric Company, and that negotiations are already in progress for the application of the system at an early day to one of the long lines of railway in the United States. Such a consummation would be, of course, far less wonderful than many of the achievements which are now a matter of history and of daily convenience. But should the expectations that have been raised be realized, travelling by rail bids fair to become in the future a luxury in itself, apart from its objects. The removal of the smoke and the noise would relieve it of the chief causes of its present irksomeness. It seems probable, too, that the new motor, successfully applied, may be much less expensive than steam. There is at present, we believe, a well-founded and growing impression that the expense of railway travel is out of proportion to its cost on well patronized lines. With cheapened motive power it seems, therefore, not unreasonable to expect a material decrease in the rates, a decrease which would of itself so greatly increase the volume as to go far even now to counterbalance a considerable reduction of rates, if only railway companies could be brought to see it. But travelling bids fair to become, in the good time coming, a universal luxury.

Educational Society Anniversary.

Special and Eloquent Sermons by Rev. Dr. Briggs, of Toronto.

On Sunday in the George street church there were special sermons, delivered by Rev. Dr. Briggs, of Toronto in the interests of the Educational Society of the Methodist church, which has for its object to assist in maintaining the Universities and Theological colleges of the church, and to aid candidates for the ministry, by way of loan, in obtaining a suitable education. The annual demands upon the funds of the society for these objects is $30,000 There are eleven conferences which contribute to the educational fund and their total contributions last year were nearly twenty thousand dollars—$19 555—of which the share of the George street church was $118 58.

There was a good attendance at the morning service of the above church, and the usual devotional services were followed by a sermon by Rev. Dr. Briggs taken from the Gospel according to St. John i, 46, on the text, "Can any good thing come out of Nazareth?" The rev. gentleman in his discourse having referred to the calling of Christ's three first disciples, dwelt upon the fact of Andrew having found Christ himself, then going and bringing his brother. There was a great necessity at the present day for more personal work and more work in the family. He then drew attention to the fact of Christ commencing His work in the face of so much prejudice from the Jews, etc., and said that there was a great amount of this prejudice against Christ at the present day. Several instances were then given of men who have risen to positions of eminence in the face of adversity and trials of various kinds—Charles and John Wesley amongst them. The preacher showed that good could come out of Nazareth and did, because Christ came from there

THE EVENING SERVICE AND SERMON.

In spite of the downpour of rain there was a good attendance at the evening service. After the usual devotional exercises the preacher took as his text the fourth verse of the fourth chapter of the gospel of St. John:—

And he must needs go through Samaria.

The perfection and grandeur of Christ's character made his sayings and doings a series of surprises to the people among whom he moved in his wonderful mission. The necessity of Christ going through Samaria was not merely geographical, the short way from Gallilee to Judea, but moral—to teach his bigoted disciples that He came to save others than the favoured Jews. His whole life showed that in his work He was no respecter of persons. Christ's coming broke down the wall of conventionalities that old church usages and traditional customs had built up between the Jews and the publicans and sinners—"behold this man receiveth sinners." The text also taught us that Christ "must needs go through Samaria," that he might show the value of a single soul—might save one soul. The deepest thrusts of Christ's teaching were made when He was face to face with a single soul. Who could doubt the mercy of God when He went out of His way to save a single soul—that of a wicked and abandoned woman, a native of an abandoned and unrecognized nation. The second lesson taught by Christ's Samaritan journey was how to save souls—the supreme object of the church's work in all ages—and all church movements were in vain, unless souls were saved. Any church that is beguiled into using its ecclesiastical machinery as ends, not means, was losing sight of its real work. The speaker pointed out that the need of the church was a passion for saving souls, instead of building fine churches. The Master's methods for saving souls was illustrated by His going himself—not another—to Jacob's well, and Christians, to imitate His work, must go to the sinner. The individual method was a type of the soul-saving method the successful church must employ. All who needed salvation did not go to church, and the church must needs go to them. Fine churches, cushioned pews, a touch of the operatic in the choir, and a touch of theatrics in the pulpit, would not do the work of the church—would not reach the sinner. Christ came Himself to save sinners, and the preacher insisted on the measureless importance of personal and individual effort in the great work of saving souls. Again Christ removed all obstacles to reaching the heart of the woman of Samaria, by sending the disciples into the village to buy bread. He did not begin by patronizing her—He came as a suppliant asking the favor of a draught of water, and His divine tact of indirectness in dealing with this poor sinner was earnestly commended to church workers. A Christian should not approach a sinner as a policeman armed with a warrant, but as a divinely commissioned diplomat. The preacher emphasized the other lessons of Christ's interview with the woman at the well, till he showed how it resulted—as her subsequent work showed, in her conversion, because she went forth as a missionary inviting her acquaintances to come and see Christ. She told what she knew, and the Christian zeal that was based on a knowledge of God's redeeming love was the zeal that was far and above the highest gifts of theological knowledge.

During the collection which, together with the morning's collection amounted to over $100, Mrs. Seward sang in good voice and with much taste and excellent effect, a sacred solo.

SUN LIFE

ASSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA.

The attention of our Policy-Holders is directed to the following summary of the leading items of the present report, which speaks for itself as to the progress and prosperity of the Company:—

Increase over 1889	75,649.05
Death claims fallen in during 1890	143,961.65

The progress made by the SUN LIFE during 1890 was remarkable. The new business was the largest in the Company's history, and was equalled by but one other Canadian Life Company. The income for the year exceeds $2,000 for each day in the year, Sundays included. The Assets are large and rapidly increasing. They are, moreover, of the highest character, yielding an average interest of 6.04 per cent. The overdue interest is small, and the Real Estate owned under foreclosure is only four per cent. of the amount of mortgages. This is a remarkable showing. The SURPLUS accumulated during the FOUR years of the current quinquennium is nearly THREE TIMES as much as the amount earned during any previous FIVE years, and the profits to Policy-holders cannot fail thus to be highly satisfactory. The following are the figures:—

Net Surplus, 31st Dec.,	1881, (five years)	$64,894 07

INTERESTING PARAGRAPHS CULLED FROM VARIOUS FIELDS.

The Perfected Spectroscope—Single Tax—Electricity to Purify Water—Differences in Sound Travel—Concreting Under Water—Consumption of Phosphorus.

In a late royal institution lecture Prof. Dewar stated that in Prof. Langley's researches, the spectroscope has been made to discriminate between luminous and nonluminous radiant heat, with important practical results. For example, candle, oil-lamp and gas jet gave 98 per cent. of heat to only two of light. The numbers for arc light were 90 and 10, for magnetism 85 and 15, sunlight 70 and 30, and the Cuban firefly one and 99. A great problem is to alter the proportions 98 and 2 and 90 and 10, and get as near the firefly as possible—more light with less heat.

At a recent meeting of the Royal society of Edinburgh, Dr. A. Bruce read a paper on a case of cyclopia, or single eye, which has come under his notice. There was a single socket for the eye, of lozenge shape, and situated in the middle of the base of the forehead. The socket was furnished with two pairs of eyelids, upper and lower. The nose was represented by a short process of tissue and skin attached to the forehead above the medial eye. A microscopic section of the socket showed two rudimentary eyes, with the two rudimentary retinae apparently springing from a single optical vesicle.

In a paper recently read before the American philosophical society, R. Meade Bache announces that from experiments by himself and others he is led to believe electricity may soon be applied to the purification of water. The exact method by which this result is to be accomplished is not divulged, but it will consist of such an operation upon the predatory bacteria as will destroy the dangers now prevalent in the drinking water they befoul. Every consideration of good health adds emphasis to the hope that Mr. Bache is not mistaken.

In dry air at 92 degrees sound travels 1,142 feet per second, or about 775 miles per hour, in water 4,900 feet per second; in iron 17,500 feet, in copper 10,378 feet, and in wood from 12,000 to 16,000 feet per second. A bell heard a distance of 45,000 feet in water could be heard only 656 feet in the air out of the water. The barking of dogs on the earth can be heard in a balloon at an elevation of four miles. On a still day the report of a rifle can be heard at 5,300 yards. The fire of the English on landing in Egypt was distinctly heard 130 miles.

The difficulty of applying concrete under water can be overcome by filling a wooden pipe with the substance and lowering it, end first, over the spot where it is to be deposited. By lifting the pipe from the bottom the concrete will spread out without mixing with the water. The precaution should be taken to have the pipe long enough to extend four or five feet above water when resting on the bottom, filling as required so as to retain the proper "head."

The amount of phosphorus consumed per annum is about 2,000 tons, and is chiefly used in match making. Hitherto chemicals were used in its manufacture, but by a recent improvement the raw material and coke are placed in a specially-prepared furnace and electric heat is applied. The vapor arising is condensed, and marketable phosphorus is produced.

What seems to be an infallible remedy for the poison of snake bites is a solution of nitrate of strychnine in 240 parts of water, to which a little glycerine is added. This is used hypodermically in doses of 20 minims, at intervals of 10 to 20 minutes, depending upon the condition of the patient. In 100 cases thus treated only one failure has occurred.

Plans proposed for irrigation both in upper and lower Egypt during the peroid of low Nile include the building of a high barrage across the river at the first cataract. Great opposition has been excited against this proposition as it involves the submersion of the beautiful island of Philoe and its magnificent monuments for several months each year.

Shells for firing high explosives have been patented abroad, in which a receptacle is made containing compressed air. By suitable appliances this air is released suddenly, thus furnishing the propelling power. Great range, no fouling of the gun, scarcely any noise, and no smoke are thus obtained, combined with great rapidity of fire.

Chalk, manganese and graphite have been found in Coffee county, Tenn. The chalk is equal to white crayon for writing on a blackboard, and the black graphite writes on a paper equal to a soft black lead pencil. The other mineral is a hard black substance, much resembling in weight, color and pores, black manganese.

The addition of aluminium to molton steel before pouring an ingot has been found to render the metal perfectly sound when cast. The action seems to be entirely chemical, and is about 20 times more powerful than that of silicon. The amount used is from four to eight ounces a ton, and when used manganese can be dispensed with.

By a novel device heavy guns can now be aimed and fired with the greatest accuracy, without exposing the gunners and without their even seeing the object to be fired at. The principle used is that of so training the gun as to cause the object to be fired at to be reflected upon a screen at the rear of the gun.

Mr. Frederick Tudor, of Boston, was the first to export ice from this country to foreign parts, and has made a fortune in the ice trade. But 50 years ago no ice was exported to England, and now the local ice trade in foreign places (making ice by machinery) has rendered shipments of natural ice unprofitable.

The tunnel that will connect Butler Valley, Penn., with the bottom of the mammoth Ebervale vein will be one of the greatest engineering feats of the century. It will open an almost inexhaustible supply of coal, and will serve as a drain for all the collieries in that vicinity.

According to Herr Japing, the hourly rate of water falling over the Niagara Falls is 100,000,000 tons, representing 16,000,000 horsepower, and the total daily production of coal in the world would just about suffice to pump the water back again.

Guttapercha for electrical work is growing scarcer, while the prices have doubled in the last ten years. It is said that the crude methods employed by the Malays in gathering the material are resulting in the extermination of the trees.

Owing to the rapid destruction of the pinions, the running of armatures at 1,000 or more revolutions per minute is being done away with. Slow speed motors, with a normal speed of 400, are now considered the best practice.

Childr[illegible] Castoria.

"What in the world are you doing, my dear?" asked a matron of years and experience, as she dropped in informally upon a young married lady in her neighborhood. "Why, you will ruin your fruit! Putting it in water! Whoever heard of such a thing?"

"Well," was the quiet reply, "what should I do? Eat dirt and all? For that is what I must do if I can my fruit without rinsing it. Oh, yes, I know all you would say, and I have had it beaten into my ears for years; but all the same I wash my fruit, and, if it is carefully done, I don't think it does it the least bit of harm. Of course, I don't allow the berries to stay in the water but I rinse them thoroughly, and relish them much better in consequence. Just look here. This water is actually black, and as I pour it out there is at least a teaspoonful of sand and dirt at the bottom of the pan. Certainly one could not find food as appetizing when it is full of sand and scraps. I know you will say it destroys the flavor of the fruit, but I cannot see how it can do so. A slight shower of rain often freshens the berries while yet they are on the vines, and a little dash of cold water must have a like effect. The cells which hold the juices are not broken, and so no water enters into the fruit. Even though there were the most trifling loss of flavor, which I am not willing to admit, I think it would be more than made up for by the delicacy of perfectly clean fruit. Almost all of our berries are picked by careless hands, many times by very untidy ones, and it is a mystery to me how any one can eat them at all without washing. I put every sort of fruit into water, and, after a moment's whirling about, remove it and let it drain. This has been the practice in our family for many years, and we have never been able to discover that the fruit lost any of its flavor.—N.Y. Ledger.

The Friendless Girl.

I don't mean by this the girl who is alone in the world, but I mean the girl who thinks that she cannot make friends, and who has become morbid and unhappy about it. In the first place friends are not blocked out like caramels; you may have no end of acquaintances—pleasant ones—but friends come with years. The two weeks' acquaintance is not the one with whom it is wise to be confidential, nor should you count upon her eternal fidelity. My dear girl, in this busy world so many people have so much to do that they cannot form very close friendships, and they choose the people they prefer. If you are absolutely friendless, in the sense that I mean, the fault must lie a little with you. Probably you are a wee bit selfish, and selfishness and friendship, like oil and water, do not mingle well. You claim that you love everybody, Now love is too precious a thing to give to every one. Suppose I tell you a little story: There were once two beautiful fox-terriers; when a stranger came to the house where they lived one of them rushed to meet the visitor, lavished caresses upon her, and quickly coiled itself in a most comfortable position on her lap. The other dog stood quietly by; if it were asked for a paw, it gave it, but always retreated and sat down beside its master. Somebody said one day speaking of the first: "How different this dog is from the other one; it's so much more affectionate!" "Oh, no," said their master, "you are very much mistaken; the dog who is so affectionate with you, gives its affection to every stranger it meets; the other one waits until it knows you well and then from that time on it is your friend, and is ready to greet you and show signs of its friendship. When I was ill, the dog that you call the affectionate one preferred to stay with strangers; the other one rested at the food of my bed and refused to stir. When my sister sat there crying because of some trouble that had come to her, the dog that loved everybody went into another room, but the other dog went up to her, licked the tear-stained hands, looked up in her face with his soft brown eyes as if he were trying to say 'I'm your friend, don't worry.'" This points a little bit of moral, and it means that while you can have plenty of pleasant acquaintance you will find that a few friends are best worth having; and that—I must repeat it—if you are friendless, there must be a fault in you that is the cause.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Keeping Green Corn With Salt.

This is highly recommended by those who have tried it as being an easier way of keeping green corn than drying. The corn is simply cut from the cob, and salt an inch deep laid in the bottom of a jar, then a two inch layer of corn; salt over this and so on till the jar is nearly full. Cover with a white cloth and a plate just fitting within the jar. Tie a cloth or a thick paper over the top. The salt will soon make a brine which will preserve the corn. To cook such salted corn it is necessary to soak it a day or so to freshen it, changing the water several times; then prepare the same as for dried corn.

A Pleasant Herb Drink—A Spring Medicine.

The druggists tell us that people call daily for the new cure for constipation and sick headache discovered by Dr. Silas Lane. It is said to be Oregon grape root (a great remedy in the far west for those complaints) combined with simple herbs, and is made for use by pouring on boiling water to draw out the strength. It sells for 50c. and $1 a package, and is called Lane's Family Medicine. dw

MY NECESSITY MAKES YOUR OPPORTUNITY.

This will be the Clearing Sale of the season, and takes place before stock-taking, at THOMAS KELLY'S.

The season is now far advanced and as there is only a short time to clear out the stock before stock-taking, I have decided to make this the Greatest Clearing Sale of the season by reducing the whole stock to such prices as will effect a speedy sale. We are determined not to carry any goods over another winter season. The goods are all new, of the finest quality and the prices that are asked, unprecedented.

The balance of our Colored Surah Silks will be sold at 20c. per yard. How is this for price?

The balance of our Black Satin Mervellieux at 50c., 60c., 75c. and $1 per yard, are Bargains.

Remnants of silk, Black and Colored, to be cleared out at half price. See them.

DRESS GOODS! DRESS GOODS!

The whole of our large stock of Dry Goods will be cleared out at a slight advance of cost. The array of bargains which we are offering in Dry Goods is simply amazing; everyone that requires Dry Goods, should call and inspect our stock and prices. Only one price to all.

NOW IS THE TIME TO GET WHITE AND GREY COTTONS AT MILL PRICES.

A Large Stock of Table Linens, Table Napkins, Sheetings, Tickings, Quilts, Cretonnes, Grass Linens, Check Linens, Towels and Towellings, Lace Curtains, Pillow Cottons, Toilet Covers, &c., very low in price.
5 Pieces Circular Pillow Cotton for 12½c per yard, and 46 in. wide.

The time is short to clear out the stock, so you can expect to get bargains. It is money we want, and we are determined to have it.

The Old Reliable Firm IN THE FUR TRADE.

The only one manufacturing entirely their whole stock in town and having a record of over thirty years standing without shaking.

We never boast of selling goods at and below cost price, except when winter is drawing to a close; but we can assert that we are able to sell at and below prices offered by wholesale houses to the trade, and at the same time making up superior goods. Our stock this season is the largest we ever yet offered for inspection, and comprise all the latest styles, from the finest to the lowest grades of Ladies', Gentlemen's, and Children's Fur Goods.

"German Syrup"

J. C. Davis, Rector of St. James' Episcopal Church, Eufaula, Ala.: "My son has been badly afflicted with a fearful and threatening cough for several months, and after trying several prescriptions from physicians which failed to relieve him, he has been perfectly restored by the use of two bottles of Boschee's German Syrup. I can recommend it without hesitation." Chronic severe, deep-seated coughs like this are as severe tests as a remedy can be subjected to. It is for these long-standing cases that Boschee's German Syrup is made a specialty. Many others afflicted as this lad was, will do well to make a note of this.

An Episcopal Rector.

J. F. Arnold, Montevideo, Minn., writes: I always use German Syrup for a Cold on the Lungs. I have never found an equal to it—far less a superior. ⑨

YOUNG FOLKS' COLUMN.

INSTRUCTIVE FUN FOR LITTLE ONES WITH PAPER STRIPS.

How to Make a Center Table, a Camp Stool, an Arm Chair, a Rolling Pin, a Washboard and a Music Roll—Miscellanies.

Paper strips in many colors may be bought in kindergarten supplies, or may sometimes be found in large quantities at printing houses—the waste from cutting large sheets. They usually come twenty-four inches long and a half or a quarter of an inch wide. The glazed papers are prettiest for the rolling. First try the pieces in one-fourth length. They must be rolled into tight rolls or cylinders, and the ends pasted so they will not unroll. This is rather difficult. Hold the strip (glazed side out) with the left thumb and finger. Moisten the right thumb and finger a little, so as to take the stiffening out of the end of the strip, then begin and roll, as tightly and smoothly as possible. When once started it is easier to keep the roll straight if the left thumb and finger do the rolling while the right ones guard the ends of the little cylinder.

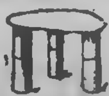

FIG. 1. CENTER TABLE.

Make a number of these, and before attempting the variety of things possible, let a great deal of play come in with them, calling them rolls of oil-cloth or carpet, spools of thread, cans of vegetables or fruit, etc., all of which offer a fine chance to play "store;" one of the most fascinating as well as the most instructive plays.

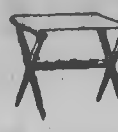

FIG. 2. CAMP STOOL.

One of the simple things to make is the square table, the legs of four of these rolls, the top a square of stiff paper. Or it may be a round center table (see Fig 1), the construction of which is clearly shown in the cut. Make the legs of strips one inch wide, using two for each leg.

Other pieces of furniture are a sofa, writing desk, bedstead, cradle, easels and chairs and stools of various shapes. (See Figs. 2 and 3.) In rustic designs, the table, bench, chairs, summer or boat house, arch, bridge, or urn for growing flowers may be made. Use pieces of stiff paper for the seat of the bench, the roof of the house and the top of the table, or else weave a piece of the quarter-inch strips. Forts, towers, monuments, windmills, light-houses, pigeon-houses, pipe-organs are some of the more elaborate things which can be made from this material when the children become skillful in handling it.

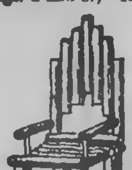

FIG. 3. ARM CHAIR.

Among kitchen things, try a rolling pin (see Fig. 4), potato masher, quart cup with handle, the wash board (Fig. 5), tub, wringer and bench. The music roll (Fig 6) suggests a flute or horn, both very simple.

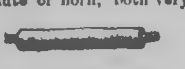

FIG. 4. ROLLING PIN.

Excellent fire-works can be made, as fire-crackers (for which you roll in a bit of thread when you begin,) Roman candles and sky-rockets. For the rockets make the tight roll, and with a coarse pin or pencil-point push out one end into the conical shape, then into the other end glue one of the round sticks such as we used in the pea-work.

FIG. 5. WASH BOARD.

The tapering sides of the ladder, washboard, see-saw and camp-stool are made like the old-fashioned lamp-lighters, by holding the strip slanting as you roll, lapping it more or less as you want the slope to be sudden or gradual. The telescope and easels are two articles suggested by strips rolled in this way.

Glue or strong mucilage is necessary for fastening these rolls side by side or at right angles to any surface. Here, as elsewhere in kindergarten work, taste in the choice of colors and neatness in doing the work are well repaid.—Farm and Home.

FIG. 6 MUSIC ROLL.

A Singular Horse.

A funny story is told of Dean Swift, who was a witty man, and fond of a joke at the expense of other people, as most witty people are. One very cold night, when he was travelling, he stopped at a little inn. There was only one fire in the house, and the guests of the inn, crowding about it, left no place for the new comer.

With a solemn face Dean Swift called to the hostler, and told him to get a peck of oysters immediately and take them out to his horse.

"Will your horse eat oysters, sir?" asked the astonished man.

"Just take them out and see," said the horse's master.

The people around the fire stared at the man who owned this curious horse, and nearly every one of them left his seat and went out to see the remarkable horse eating oysters.

Then the cunning Dean made himself comfortable in the warmest corner, and ordered his supper.

Presently back came the hostler with the disappointed crowd after him.

"He won't touch them, sir!" cried the hostler.

"Then take the foolish animal all the oats he can eat," replied Dean Swift. "You can bring the oysters here. I'll eat them for supper myself."—Harper's Young People.

Pat's Great Wonder.

We are surrounded by dangers all the way from the cradle to the grave. "The great wonder is," as Pat says, "that, after getting out of our cradle, we live long enough to reach our grave." Thousands are out of health—morose, morbid and miserable, because they do not avail themselves of the remedy within easy reach of them. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery would cure them.

For all chronic or lingering coughs, weak lungs, spitting of blood, bronchitis, shortness of breath, asthma and kindred ailments, it is a most potent remedy. It cleanses the blood, invigorates the liver, improves digestion, and builds up both flesh and strength. Dose small and pleasant to taste. Large bottles, one dollar. Of all druggists. a

RUSSIAN WHEAT UKASE ISSUED.

The Prohibition of the Export of That Grain to Go Into Effect To-morrow.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 23.—Contrary to the announcement made a few days ago that nothing further would be done in relation to the question of exporting wheat from Russia until the Czar's return from Livadia early in December a ukase from His Majesty was issued to-day, prohibiting the export of wheat and wheat products from Russia. This prohibition, which will go into effect on Monday, will be executed under the same conditions as those governing the prohibition recently decreed against the export of oats.

BERLIN, Nov. 23.—Wheat advanced two points on the strength of the ukase prohibiting the export of that cereal from Russia.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—Foreign Government securities were firm at the opening of the stock market Saturday and remained so until it became known that Russia had finally issued the long-threatened ukase prohibiting the export of wheat from that country. A relapse then occurred. Russians opened at an advance of 3-4, but closed at a fractional decline from the opening quotations. Brazilian securities, however, advanced a point. American railroad stocks showed an all around advance at the close as a result of the issuing of the wheat ukase.

KILLED IN A PRIZE FIGHT.

Fatal End of a Match Between Boys—The Father of One Had Put Up $5 as Stakes.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—There was a brutal and fatal prize fight in the stable in the rear of No. 178 Suffolk-street on Friday night, the principals being John Hellinger, aged 17, of No. 156 Seventh-street, and George J. Altman, same age, of No. 157 Ridge-street. The fight was for $5 a side and a pair of boxing gloves. Fifteen persons witnessed the fight. Hellinger was knocked out in the fifth round, his face having been battered into a jelly. He also had received such a terrible beating on the body that he suffered from internal hemorrhage. He was knocked senseless in the last round and was carried to his home in a vender's wagon. Two physicians were called to attend him, but he died early yesterday morning.

The police arrested Samuel Gluck, in whose stable the fight had taken place; Henry Herbert of No. 157 Ridge-street and Henry Josephs of East Houston-street, the two seconds in the fight, and Michael Hoffman of No. 283 East Houston-street, who helped to take Hellinger to his home. The prisoners said that Hellinger had been known among the young "sports" in the district east of the Bowery as the "East Side light weight champion," and he had been engaged in several sparring matches without the knowledge of his parents. His challenge to fight was accepted by young Altman and Altman's father put up $5.

THE BRAIZILIAN OUTBREAK.

Influence of Senhor Martins in Rio Grande Do Sul—Fonseca's Activity.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—To-day's advices from Rio Grande do Sul, by way of Santiago, added little to what is already known. It was again asserted that the man whose influenece is greatest at the present junture is Gaspar Silveira Martins, at one time Governor of the Province. Martins is admitted by all parties to be both able and energetic. He is a strong Democrat, while personally friendly to Dom Pedro.

An official despatch from Rio de Janeiro Saturday afternoon says that the Government of the Dictator is contunuing to take active measures to suppress what is termed "the anarchical movement" in the state of Rio Grande do Sul. It is proposed to establish a close blockade at the ports of Rio Grande. At the same time it is said that the Government with use moderation in its treatment of the seceding state. The official despatch says nothing about Fonseca's reported illness or about the possibility of plots for making away with him.

Murdered and Thrown in the Rio Grande.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 22.—The Picayune's San Antonio dispatch says: "The dead bodies of Sevtre and Jose Castillo were recently found floating in the Rio Grande. They had been cut to death with knives and thrown into the river. They were brothers and had been living with their mother on the Chrito Esconado ranch, and had been drafted into the army by the Mexican General Garza, as minute men guides to his regulars. The Mexican authorities assert that their death was evidently the result of private revenge. On the other hand it is strongly asserted that they died under military orders."

Osgoode's Champion Kicks.

MONTREAL, Nov. 23.—Great was the excitement caused here Saturday by the Rugby football match for the Canadian championship. At the close of the first half the Toronto legal gentlemen had scored a point short of a dozen, while a touch in goal and two rouges was the local's total score. On re-starting the visitors continued to press, but they had by no means the soft snap of the first half. Osgoode Hall only scored three points more than Montreal in this half or 10 points to 7. So when the whistle blew at the call of time the Toronto kickers were victorious by a majority of 11 points.

The visitors were consequently in great jubilation over their great victory. For their baby club, only a year old, had won the highest honors on the Canadian Rugby field. This was the final score.

LOST IN LAKE ERIE.

Little Doubt That the Finney Went Down With All Hands.

PORT DOVER, Ont., Nov. 23.—There seems little doubt that the schooner G. C. Finney has foundered, and that her entire crew went down with her. Captain Conlin of the schooner William Home passed close to the three spars sunk below Long Point, and he was positive they belonged to the Finney. It is considered certain that the blue-painted wreckage seen below Long Point came from the Finney. Her cabin sides and front, the provision box, and her hatch covers were painted blue.

The Finney left Toledo a week ago, wheat laden, for Buffalo. She was last seen during the heavy southwester last Tuesday afternoon some miles below Long Point. Just how she went down probably never will be known. The wreck is about 26 miles below Long Point.

The Finney was owned and sailed by Captain Thomas Riordan of Buffalo. Undoubtedly she carried at least six hands. Captain Riordan leaves a widow and four children, all grown up but one.

Belonged to Hamilton.

HAMILTON, Nov. 22.—Annie Pearson of Hamilton was drowned in the wreck of the barge Estelle at Manistee, Mich., a day or two ago.

IT WAS A DIFFICULT JOB.

But 28-Year-Old George Wallace Strangled Himself Nevertheless.

CAMPBELLFORD, Ont., Nov. 23.—George Wallace, 28 years of age, lately out from Scotland, has, since July 12, been living with a farmer, Benjamin Moir, three miles from here. Yesterday morning he appeared to be in good cheer. At 9.30 he went to the stable and did up his work. He then took a halter rope and placing it over a small beam in the stable with a slip knot around his neck, held one end with his hand and jumped off a box about a foot from the ground. When the body was found, about 11.30, the feet were touching the ground, while there was only a space of six inches from his head to the beam. Ill-health is thought to be the cause.

Lumberman Drowned.

OTTAWA, Nov. 23.—Mr. A. C. McCool of the firm of McCool Bros. & Co., lumber merchants of Mattawa, left Cartier station on the C.P.R. to go to one of the firm's lumber shanties some miles distant. Nothing has since been heard of him, but traces have been found of where he tried to cross a lake on his way, so that no doubt remains of his being drowned. He was about 35 years of age and unmarried.

Butler and Birchall.

WOODSTOCK, Nov. 23.—Charles Butler, the piano agent who sent a lying despatch that he had committed suicide in New York, was the man whom Mrs. Birchall endeavored to connect with the murder of Benwell and thus obtain a reprieve for her husband. Butler was staying at the Thompson House at the time. One morning he mysteriously disappeared, leaving behind him a revolver, which was found in his bed. The circumstances served as a plea for Birchall's innocence, but to no effect.

Killed His Companion.

OTTAWA, Nov. 23.—At Hamilton's Corners a young man named Lynch was examining a rifle and half cocked the trigger when it slipped and the weapon was discharged. The bullet entered the left side of a companion named Moore just below the ribs and inflicted, it is feared, a fatal wound.

Baby's Gown Caught Fire.

CORNWALL, Nov. 23.—Mrs. A. Lefebre of the East End left her two children in the house while she went for a pail of water. On her return a few minutes later she found her 10-months'-old baby lying on the floor wrapt in flames. The mother extinguished the fire as quickly as possible and in doing so was badly burned about the face and hands. It is supposed the elder child, about 2½ years of age, lighted a piece of paper at the stove and, dropping it on the floor, the baby's dress became ignited. The child lingered a few hours.

Met Death On a Hunting Party.

MITCHELL, S.D., Nov. 23.—Thomas A. Short of Edgerton, a banker, met a horrible death Saturday. In company with a party of friends he went goose hunting early in the morning. Upon the approach of a flock Charles Beebe raised his gun to fire and at the same instant Short, who was 5 or 6 feet in advance, suddenly rose to his feet, received the entire charge of Buckshot from Beebe's gun in the head, which was blown to pieces.

South Ontario.

TORONTO, Nov. 23.—Justice Falconbridge announced at Osgoode Hall Saturday that it would be necessary to take more evidence on the Grand Trunk charges, in the South Ontario election petition, and this testimony will be heard at Osgoode Hall on the 30th inst. commencing at 11 o'clock, to which hour the Election Court was adjourned.

At the trial W. T. R. Preston could not produce an original copy of the order sent down to P. J. Slatter in respect to tickets to voters. Preston, however, explained generally how the order read, but omitted words which are now held to be important. These were, "and charge to W. T. R. Preston," or that effect. Afterwards a certified copy was obtained and put in by the petitioner's counsel, D'Alton McCarthy and N. F. Patterson. C. J. Holman, counsel for the respondents, not being willing to this admission of a copy of the order, more evidence must be taken. These orders were all alike and judgment in this case may affect other Dominion election cases.

Purify importance of keeping the blood in a pure condition is universally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is heredited and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, or the water we drink. There is nothing more conclusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. Full information and statements of cures sent free.

THERE WAS RUMBLING!

And a Hurricane Swept Over Washington—Many Persons Killed.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Nov. 24.—A heavy wind and rainstorm passed over this city about 12.30 yesterday, which amounted almost to a hurricane, doing great damage to property. The walls of the new Metzerott Music Hall, in course of construction, were blown down and several persons were killed and many injured. George White, a ladies' tailor, and one of his sewing women were taken out dead from the ruins in an adjoining building and two others badly hurt. One of the reservoirs of the Washington Gas Company was struck by lightning and burned.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 23.—Shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday a wind and rain storm of unusual intensity struck this city from the southwest, blowing down signs and flag poles and doing other damage. The arrival of the storm was heralded by a very dark cloud, which overshadowed the heavens. The roof of the oyster packing house of C. S. Maltby, foot of West Fall-avenue, was blown off by the wind. A number of persons working in the top story were injured.

THE FIRST OF THE KIND.

A Lumber Vessel Sails from Chicago to New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—It rather astonished Operator George Hogan at the ship news office last night when he received word of the arrival of the American schooner White Cloud from Chicago. So far as known the White Cloud is the first sailing vessel to reach New York from the inland lakes. She made the trip in 66 days, touching at Montreal and also at Portland, Me. She passed through the Welland Canal to reach Lake Ontario, and after traversing that lake sailed down the St. Lawrence River. She is loaded with lumber.

TURNED BACK BY WOLVES.

But for That Mr. Shogenen Thinks He Would Have Captured Tascott.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 24.—Mr. Shogenen, special Chinese agent of the United States Treasury, has returned here after abandoning an attempt to penetrate to the Turtle Mountains in search of Tascott, the supposed murderer of Millionaire Snell in Chicago. Mr. Shogenen believes the story that Tascott is living with the Indians in the Turtle Mountains, and, inspired by the promised reward of $50,000 for the fugitive's capture, set out last week from Killarney for the mountains. He had not gone many miles when he found traveling very difficult, owing to the depth of snow. He determined, nowever, to push on until evening, but the unexpected appearance of a pack of wolves caused him to decide that Tascott could wait, and he returned with all speed up.

THE POPE'S PREMONITION.

His Holiness Said to Consider His Death Not Far Distant.

ROME, Nov. 24.—All the personages who have recently had interviews with the Pope assert that he frequently complains of declining health and strength and speaks of his death as not being far distant. In an interview with the Bishop of Limerick he spoke a great deal of his precarious condition, accentuated, the Holy Father declared, by the bitterness of the war waged against the Vatican. He complained much of his position, being kept in what is practically a state of imprisonment, not being able to leave the Vatican grounds.

A CHILD AS COLLATERAL.

A Gypsy Woman Steals the Child She Left as Security for $1000.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Nov. 24.—Three years ago a gypsy fortune-teller induced Mrs. Anne Ulrich, an old woman, who has a pension as the mother of a dead soldier, to put $1000 into the gypsy's hands. She left with Mrs. Ulrich, as security, a bright little girl, who was about four years old. Mrs. Ulrich never saw her money again, and now the child, whom she had adopted as a daughter and to whom she had become greatly attached, has been spirited away.

A woman answering the fortune-teller's description has lately been seen in the vicinity and she is supposed to have kidnapped the girl.

To Relieve Distress in Toronto.

TORONTO, Nov. 24.—At a meeting of representatives of the city charities yesterday a scheme of relief was recommended to the Commission of Inquiry, which has been appointed by the Mayor to mitigate the evils of so many charitable institutions covering the same ground. A joint body will be appointed composed of charitable workers and members of the city council. They will seek to detect imposture and suppress mendicity as well as afford civic relief.

Suicide of a Clergyman.

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—Rev. Dr. Ezra Marsh Boring, aged 78, who was Gen. Grant's pastor during the residence in Galena, Ill., hanged himself in Evanston last night. Dr. Boring had been in poor health nearly a year.

DOCTORS AS BURGLARS.

THE STORY OF TWO PHYSICIANS WHO SOUGHT TO ROB A BANK.

One of Them Claims to Be the Victim of Cocaine—Remarkable Termination of a Long Series of Burglaries at Gardner, Ill.—One of Them Wounded.

GARDNER, Ill., Nov. 24.—Dr. James E. McAdam, who was shot last night while resisting arrest after being detected in an attempt to rob the Gardner Bank, is 34 years old. He is one of the best known physicians of Grundy county and a graduate of the Northwestern University of Ohio and the Rush Medical College in Chicago. He came here six years ago and soon had a good practice. He is married, and being a man of more than ordinary intelligence, exercised a strong influence in the community. About a year ago a girl whom he attended professionally preferred a serious charge against him, and although he was never convicted, the incident almost ruined his practice.

Dr. William Boye, who was also concerned in the attempted burglary last night, is 40 years old, and says that in his native land, Sweden, he was a count. He settled here a few years ago, claiming to have a diploma from some Chicago institution, but has not stood high in the community. When Dr. McAdam was on the top wave of prosperity he would not recognize Dr. Boye, but after he had met reverses the two physicans became very intimate.

The raid on the bank Saturday morning was the culmination of a series of bold burglaires that began in Gardner a year ago. Residences, stores and even the Gardner Bank had been entered, and in many instances the thieves had been well rewarded. All efforts to run down the gang proved futile, and its members grew bolder and more active. They robbed the houses of Sheriff Beam and Marshall Goodson, yet not a clue could the local Hawkshaws discover.

A few weeks ago, while James Kervin and his wife were sleeping peacefully in their rooms on the second floor of their house, a man climbed a tree, opened the bedroom window, and drawing up a long pole attached a sponge saturated with chloroform to it and hung it over the nostrils of the sleeping couple. The man held one end of the pole in the tree, and as soon as his victims became unconscious he entered and stole $625 in money and two gold watches.

At this stage of the proceedings, J. C. Lutz, who owns the greater part of the bank's stock, determined to import a detective secretly and set him to work. He secured Will Twining, a young man whose stepfather is a stockholder in the bank. Gardner is the old home of Twining, but he had lived many years in Chicago. He came down from Chicago and was soon intimate with Dr. McAdam. From talks with the physician the detective came to the conclusion that he was the leader of the band of burglars.

Suspicion next fell on Dr. William Boye and another man, but McAdam, although he would talk about himself, would say nothing about his companions. It is a disputed point who first proposed the raid on the bank. Dr. McAdam and his friends assert that the detective proposed it and induced Dr. McAdam to join him. Furthermore, they say the doctor is a victim of cocaine; that while crazed with the drug he played the part of cracksman, and was under its influence when the tragic scene in the bank was enacted, and also when he made a plea of guilty in court the next morning.

The detective's story is that shortly after he began to associate with Dr. McAdam the latter told him that once every month, just before the miners' pay-day, the bank contained about $25,000 and suggested that they blow open the safe and secure the money. He showed that the job could be easily done and that the chances of detection were slight. The bank was in the rear of a general store, and as the vault was of an ancient pattern, the doctor said it could be easily opened. The detective agreed with everything the doctor said and notified President Lutz of the bank. Dr. Boye remained in the background and held no conversation with the detective. Dr. McAdam said that Boye was "in" for a "whack" of the boodle.

About a week ago Dr. McAdam informed the detective that the money would be in the bank on Nov. 20 and 21, and said that Friday was the best night for the job. President Lutz engaged three Pinkerton detectives to assist in the capture of the burglars in the bank. Five men were concealed in a small room in the bank.

About midnight Drs. McAdam, Boye and Twining met by appointment and proceeded to the bank building. They were provided with "jimmies," "drills," "clamps," a dark lantern and a heavy hammer. It was decided to leave Dr. Boye on guard at the front door. Dr. McAdam and Twining went to the rear door with their tools. Detective Twining took a "jimmy," and in a few minutes the door was forced.

It was only a few steps to the vault, which was surrounded by a wire screen. The screen door was forced and as McAdam inspected the door of the vault two of the five men concealed in the room went out of the back door to cut off retreat. The doctor and the detective decided the best way to enter the vault was to drill holes around the lock and then pull it out with the "clamps." The doctor picked up the drill and began work.

He was grinding away industriously when Twining gave a signal to the three men concealed in the room. They stepped up to the screen with shotguns and revolvers. "Throw up your hands, doctor," said one of them. Twining jumped back and also covered the physician. Instead of complying with the command the doctor drew a revolver from his pocket and fired point blank at Twining. The man's life was saved by a small wire extending from the screen. It turned the bullet, and before the doctor could fire again the shotgun cracked and the pistol arm of the burglar fell to his side. He tried to change the revolver to his left hand and shoot, but was seized and overpowered.

"Why don't you shoot to kill, Tom?" said he to the city marshal. "I would have fetched one or two of you if you hadn't dropped that arm of mine." Meanwhile Dr. Boye heard the firing and ran off, but was arrested in bed at his home a few minutes later.

"What are you doing there, doctor?" the marshal asked McAdam.

"This is a put up job," he replied. "That fellow there," pointing to Twining, "got me into this, and I can prove it by his letters."

The two doctors were taken to Morris, Ill., and after a preliminary examination, held in $4000 apiece. The third man suspected of complicity in the burglary has not yet been arrested.

THEIR LAST STAND.

Balmaceda's Generals Died Like Heroes Sword in Hand.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24.—An officer of the cruiser San Francisco speaking of the battle preceding the capture of Valparaiso, Aug. 24, said: "Toward the end Gens. Barbosa and Alcerreca occupied the knoll with a few of their troops, including a field battery of two pieces. The Congressionalist cavalry made a charge that swept everything before it. Both of Balmaceda's generals were killed and the Congressionalist army had achieved a victory. The bodies of the dead soldiers were gathered up and laid out in long lines on the battlefield. They were afterward buried in trenches. The bodies of the two generals were allowed to lie uncared for where they lay for over a week. Finally they were placed on a rude carryall and dragged through the streets of Valparaiso, being spit upon and stoned by the infuriated mobs."

Officers of the San Francisco say that Chilean hatred toward American seamen was manifested on the streets of Valparaiso whenever they went ashore. The Baltimore's men were not the only ones attacked, for one of the San Francisco's sailors named Monahan was stabbed in the back and suffered from the effects of the wound for weeks.

"That's all right," he answered; "they won't know me when they come back to town."

CANADA'S DEGRADATION.

THE New York Times of Friday says that Owen Murphy, who some years ago, when treasurer of the Excise Board, fled with $59,600 of excise funds, and who has since lived in Canada, where he was mixed up in the McGreevy scandal, has returned to this city to take up a permanent residence. Robert McGreevy is also here. Murphy said to a reporter that there was no indictment of any sort hanging over him in New York, and that he was safe here. He claimed that he and McGreevy had escaped from Canada because they had been made the victims of a bitter political persecution. He acknowledged without hesitation that he and his associates had secured their immense public contracts in Canada by bribing the public officers. "We bribed them all," he said, smilingly, "and gradually acquired nearly everything in sight. We literally owned the province, and if they had let us alone for five years more we would have owned the Canadian Pacific Railway and nearly the whole of Canada." Mr. Murphy has twigged the morals of the government in whose interest he boodled, when he regards the processes necessary to put a stop to daylight robbery of the public chest, "bitter political persecution." If it had not been for the action of the Liberal members of Parliament, Mr. Murphy, Mr McGreevy, the Connolly's and Sir Hector would have yet had their hands elbow deep in the public chest. "Bitter political persecution" such as the Opposition visited upon the gang, is something that did not come an hour too soon. In the same interview, Mr. Murphy, who seems to be almost as modest as Brass-dog Arnoldi, said he had a "poor opinion of Canadian politics." "If it had not been for this scandal," he said, "Langevin would have been the next premier. There are no ward politics in Canada, and no 'snap' in any of their politics. Votes, however, cost more than in New York. I figured in one election there where I myself paid out $6,500 for a certain candidate, and the votes cost from $20 to $30 a-piece. I considered the price somewhat high, but we had to have them, and our candidate won." Mr. Murphy at the Tarte investigation, said he paid out money only in the Conservative interest. Every honest Canadian should blush at the fact of Canada's name being dragged in the mud in the sight of the English and American people. It is too shameful, says the Montreal Witness, that a scoundrel like Murphy should be able to boast of his connection with a Canadian Cabinet minister like Sir Hector Langevin, and to tell of how he bribed officials and electors in order to keep the Government in power which made it possible for him and his associates to boodle and rob the public treasury.

THE situation in Brazil is becoming more serious. Encouraged by the apparent weakness of Da Fonseca, the dictator, the people are showing more and more plainly their dissatisfaction with his rule. The Congressional party in the south is gathering strength and courage, and it becomes daily more probable that Da Fonseca will be overturned and a president elected by the people. The resignation of Da Fonseca is not impossible.

A United States census bulletin shows the net indebtedness of the world last year to have been $26 917,096,000. Of this amount the debt of the United States Government constituted 3.40 per cent, and the total debt of the several States and Territories 1.36 per cent. Counting five person to a family, the average debt per family for the year named is thus estimated for the following countries:

United States	$ 78 15

Great Britain and Ireland	428 95

SIR JOHN THOMPSON seems to think that Mr. Laurier committed a great crime when he accepted an invitation to speak at a banquet in Boston. But Mr. Laurier never accepted the Yankee shilling to argue his own country before the Halifax Fisheries commission. It took a loyal Tory like Sir John Thompson to prove his patriotism in that way.

THE total exports from the Dominion during the month of October valued $12,865,212, and for the four months of the financial year $46,882,212, against $47,228,949 during the first four months of the last fiscal year. The imports for October reached $9,535,493, on which $1,548,273 duty was collected. For the four months of the past fiscal year the imports were $40,074,421 and the duty $6,734,000, while during the corresponding four months of the previous year the imports were $41,155,950 and duty collected $98,597,718.

Substantial Proof of the Doubting and Unbelieving

Hope had Almost Fled! A Friends Golden Advice Gives a New Existence.

From a private letter received from a lady residing in the flourishing city of St. Thomas, Ont., we make public the following paragraph:—"You may say to the extremely nervous, who think their condition hopeless, that Paine's Celery Compound has done a wonderful work for me. For many years the twitching of the muscles of my face and eyes was truly terrible; my hands shook, and my limbs trembled. I was so afflicted that for nearly two years I have been unable to appear on the street. The use of your Paine's Celery Compound has completely restored me to health and strength, and my condition has never been better. I will do what I can to make your priceless remedy known to my friends, because it has taken from me a heavy and awful burden. It was recommended to me by a dear friend who had used it with entire satisfaction.

This is by no means an isolated case. Proofs come in continually of wonderful cures wrought by Paine's Celery Compound. Doctors in every part of Canada know well how it cures, and prescribe it with confidence for all forms of nervousness. We say to our nervous, weak, broken down and dyspeptic readers, try its effects and you will never regret the cost.

Pale, weak and emaciated women and girls would soon disappear from the land if all would use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a specific for their peculiar troubles. Try them and be convinced. dw

You Can Find Out if This be True.

Five dollars worth for fifty cents is an unusual offer, yet it is a bona fide one. While travelling in Germany, Mr. Edmund E. Sheppard, editor of Toronto Saturday Night, saw in the principal art stores a magnificent oleograph 20x28 inches in size, printed in twenty-one different colors and tones of oil—what is really a factory made oil painting of the highest class, not a chromo. After obtaining the address of the art association which issued it, he visited their manufactory in Berlin, and made arrangements for a Canadian edition to accompany the Christmas Number of Toronto Saturday Night. The subject of this beautiful picture is Fatima, daughter of Mahomet. Only one thousand copies had been printed and these were sold at 20 marks ($5 00) each. The firm had paid the artist, one of the most distinguished portrait painters in Europe, five thousand marks for the privilege of reproducing the picture, and the sale in Germany had been limited to one thousand copies, yet the picture which will be presented in Canada is identical with it, printed on the finest paper in twenty one differently coloured oils, embossed and varnished, ready for framing and needing neither glass in front nor wood back of the picture, as it is almost identical with a painting mounted on canvas. The picture represents an oriental beauty, remarkably life-like, and is not equalled by anything that has ever been presented by any newspaper in the world. When you see this picture hanging in the news stores together with the pictorial supplements given by the English illustrated papers, you will at once admit that even the London publications are not in competition with our own Canadian Saturday Night.

The Christmas Number of Saturday Night contains forty-four pages beautifully illustrated, printed on fine paper, and is a marvel of typographical art. A large amount of money has been paid for prize stories, poems and photographs. The stories have been illustrated by the best Canadian artists and every page contains something pleasing to the eye. The publishers of Saturday Night never indulge in fakes of any kind. It is their aim to make their Christmas issue an advertisement which is certain to attract readers to their regular issue.

Perhaps you do not read Saturday Night! It is a twelve-page paper, always well illustrated and admittedly wears the handsomest dress of any paper in the Dominion. All the good things from the American and English and German comic papers are reproduced, both jokes and pictures. The faces of foreign celebrities, authors, statesmen and actors appear in its columns. It pays more money for the copyright stories of leading English novelists than all the other Canadian papers combined. It is thoroughly clean and has the largest and ablest editorial staff of any weekly paper in Canada. Its large circulation and magnificent advertising patronage alone make it a possibility in a country like Canada, where, at best, there is but a limited patronage. The Christmas Number and the regular issue of Toronto Saturday Night are for sale by all newsdealers. The price of the former is fifty cents, including the picture Fatima; the latter is two dollars per annum—two dollars and fifty cents for both. You cannot do better than place your order for the 'Xmas number at the Peterborough Bookstore and subscribe for the year.

St. Alban's Cathedral.

The congregation of St. Alban's Cathedral, Toronto, now worship in the chancel, which is now sufficiently near completion to suggest the extent and grandeur of the cathedral when completed. The floor of the choir is of tile and marble. The polished woodwork of the high vaulted roof and supporting arches, in contrast with the tinted walls, forms one of the finest pieces of church architecture in the city. The basement under the chancel is sufficiently large for the holding of Sunday school and church entertainments. The chancel has cost $40,000 and affords church accommodation to the parish of St. Alban's. When the cathedral is completed it will be one one of the finest churches on the continent, and will belong not to the parish but to the Toronto diocese.

THE HOUSE
& HOME

Emma Atkinson Almy, in Ladies' Home Journal, says on the subject of teaching a child to read:

A prominent educator in America has said recently that to teach a child to read is the most difficult task a teacher must encounter.

Many of us could have given our experience of our first day in school, as the little girl did, who, when asked what she had done in school said, "Oh! I just sat on the bench all day and said A."

That is all changed now, and for the better some people think. Many a mother who desires to help her child "get her lessons" at home, is not a little puzzled when, after trying to help her little one by the old-fashioned a-b-c teaching, the child says "But, mamma, that's not the way my teacher does."

What is it that the teacher does? She lets the a-b-c's severely alone at first; and leads the children to talk with her about the games played in the school-room, the tableaux of child-life, the playing with dishes, or paying visits, or playing mother, about the dolls and balls, the animals and plants which children know or can be taught. This is continued for at least six weeks to acquaint the children with the use of words, the spoken forms of words, such as singular, plural and possessive, and with the proper combinations of words in sentences.

The children are trained to make pretty curves in the air, using the large movements of the arm, then the forearm, then the hand, and, last, the fingers—holding a pencil in the fingers, which are at first awkward and unruly members. It doesn't require a shrewd guess to know that this anticipates writing, for in the new teaching writing is the twin of reading.

One fine day a bird, perhaps, is brought to the school. The children talk about it with the teacher. On the blackboard are drawn pictures of birds. When the interest is at its best glow the teacher writes the word bird, which she calls another picture of the bird, and she writes birds on the picture for more than one bird. The children put the real bird under the word bird, find the words bird and birds everywhere on the board, scatter them by erasing the words and, so, by many devices, learn the words so that no child in the class will ever forget them. After that the little ones trace and write the word.

Similarly a score of other words are taught from conversation, writing and recognition. They are repeated and repeated, for every teacher of little children knows Agassiz's maxim, that "Repetition is the secret of permanent teaching."

If bird, big and bell are among the score of words taught, they are uttered slowly, or sounded; the like sound is discovered by the little ones, the words are written and the like letters similarly discovered. The children get their first lesson in logic when they infer that the letter b always makes that sound when it speaks. All the consonants of our unstable English alphabet are thus gradually taught, not before reading, but after simple grammatical talking, reading and writing.

With a thoroughly taught small vocabulary to begin with, and, with a mastery of the consonants, the child soon learns to spell and read at sight, though the best spelling is taught at the end of a lead-pencil.

Nor is this all. As soon as a child can write a little sentence he has spoken, he writes it. That is his first composition. In time, and in a short time, too, he can write as good reading as he finds on the blackboard, cards or pages of reading books. Perhaps a kitten is brought to the school-room. The children see its furry skin, its softly padded feet and learn their use. They write their little story about them, and in many reading books find other interesting things about Miss Pussy. The secret of the new teaching of reading is not only naturalness and interest, the unconscious training in uniting words and ideas, but it is in teaching that books contain what we wish to know more of, both about the things we see around us and those which belong elsewhere.

In this manner a vocabulary of six hundred words is learned. After the first three years in school the reading book is almost discarded for "Æsop's Fables," Anderson's or Grimm's Fairy Tales, "Friends in Feathers and Fur," "Folk-Lore Stories," "Fairy Land of Science," Hawthorne's "Wonder Book," "The Age of Fable," "Gulliver's Travel's," Kingsley's "Greek Heroes" and "Water Babies," Scott's "Tales of a Grandfather," Ruskin's "King of the Golden River," "Ivanhoe," "The Boy Traveler Series," Coffin's delightful histories, Dicken's "Child's History of England" and the "Christmas Stories," Tennyson's "Idylls of the King," Sidney Lanier's charming transcriptions and "Midsummer Night's Dream." From "Mother Goose" to Shakespeare there is nothing too good to be appropriated for this purpose, for only the best is good enough for children. Taught now to use a dictionary, a fair encyclopedia, an atlas and a catalogue of a public library, and, best of all, with a taste for what is good and wholesome in reading, in many, many public schools of our country the children are sent forth safe on the sea of literature.

A Canadian Boy's Home.

Colors for the Autumn.

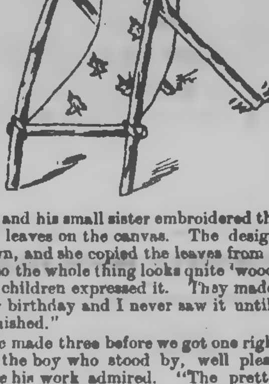
All manufacturers will tell you that nothing is as standard a color as brown, and this is again proven by several lovely new shades just out, of a rich golden tinge down to a reddish cast that is becoming alike to blonde and brunette. Twelve shades of green appear on the new color card, and a clear blue somewhat brighter than a marine shade. For evening wear, yellow and rose-pink remain the favorite colors.

THIS AUTUMN'S DRESS GOODS.

Camel's-hair, Henrietta, Bedford cord, diagonal and straight striped cheviot, homespun and single figured goods will be worn after September. The diagonal or serpentine stripes are just now a Parisian fad, and while they are striking in effect they are undoubtedly too odd to become general, as the material is made up so as to bring the stripes winding around the wearer, which means bias piecing and a waste of material. Velvet, velveteen, bengaline, faille, satin duchesse, brocade and Henrietta are the materials to be used in combinations. Just at present Paris is hesitating whether to have sleeves of the same or a contrasting material. The camel's-hair fabrics do not require much trimming, but the other materials will be garnitured with fur, gimp and passementerie. Fur bids fair to be expensive and greatly worn. Feather trimmings are announced, but time only will tell whether they have another run or not. In silk materials faille Francaise, bengaline, satin royale and duchesse, surah, brocade and large sized gros-grain will be the choice. Bengaline is more properly a poplin, but it is a beautiful fabric for draping, and has a silk rib filled with wool, resembling pure silk. It will never grow common on account of the price. Ordinary shades have sold as low as $1.25, but a stylish color is always $2, if not more.

A Home-Made Rustic Chair.

"What a pretty chair!" exclaimed a visitor, as she noticed on Mrs. M——'s veranda a rustic seat that had been fashioned with considerable skill. "Is it not?" said her hostess, "and I am very proud of it, for my little boy of 11 made the frame quite alone, and his small sister embroidered those falling leaves on the canvas. The design is her own, and she copied the leaves from nature, so the whole thing looks quite 'woodsy' as the children expressed it. They made it for my birthday and I never saw it until it was finished."



"We made three before we got one right," added the boy who stood by, well pleased to have his work admired. "The prettiest sticks are apt to be decayed and it was not until I cut down some young, strong saplings that I made a seat strong enough to bear any one's weight."

Hair Turned White from Excitement.

Says Dr. Samuel H. Dickson: "Condamine gives us the affecting narrative of a young Frenchwoman, Mme. Godin, who, descending the Amazon, in an open boat with seven persons, had the misfortune to be wrecked. She saw her companions perish one by one, and was left alone in the wilderness, but through infinite perils and labors at last reached a settlement, her hair having turned white.—New York Times.

SARNIA, Nov. 19.—Yesterday forenoon about 11 o'clock, fire broke out in Lawrence's mill, which in a short time became a total loss, owing to the gale from the west which was blowing at the time. The fire originated in a small room at the end of the boiler.

An immense demonstration was held in Limerick yesterday in commemoration of the death of the "Manchester martyrs." Michael Davitt, John Redmond, Edward Harrington and others met on a common platform. The speakers demanded the release of the Irishmen imprisoned in England.

The mails, comprising 900 post parcels and a host of letters, were destroyed, including a number containing remittances of money.

Mrs. Lavinia Mason, the stewardess of the steamer Mongolian, which arrived at Liverpool from Montreal on Wednesday last, was arraigned in court Saturday, charged with shooting with intent to kill Purser Stewart of the same vessel. The prisoner declared that Stewart betrayed her under promise of marriage, and when asked to fulfill his engagement on the steamer's arrival at Liverpool he threatened to discard her. She then became so enraged that she fired three shots at him. The stewardess was remanded to jail.

Over a Century Old.

Many cases are known of persons living to be 100 years old and there is no good reason why this should not occur. People Wonder

WHEN they find how rapidly health is restored by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. The reason is that this preparation contains only the purest and most powerful alteratives and tonics. To thousands yearly it proves a veritable elixir of life.

Mrs. Jos. Lake, Brockway Centre, Mich., writes: "Liver complaint and indigestion made my life a burden and came near ending my existence. For more than four years I suffered untold agony. I was reduced almost to a skeleton, and hardly had strength to drag myself about. All kinds of food distressed me, and only the most delicate could be digested at all. Within the time mentioned several physicians treated me without giving relief. Nothing that I took seemed to do any permanent good until I began the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which has produced wonderful results. Soon after commencing to take the Sarsaparilla I could see an in my condition, my appetite began to return and with it came the ability to digest all the food taken, my strength improved each day, and after a few months of faithful attention to your directions, I found myself a well woman, able to attend to all household duties. The medicine has given me a new lease of life, and I cannot thank you too much."

"We, the undersigned, citizens of Brockway Centre, Mich., hereby certify that the above statement, made by Mrs. Lake, is true in every particular and entitled to full credence."—O. P. Chamberlain, G. W. Waring, C. A. Wells, Druggist.

"My brother, in England, was, for a long time, unable to attend to his occupation, by reason of sores on his foot. I sent him Ayer's Almanac and the testimonials it contained induced him to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. After using it a little while, he was cured, and is now a well man, working in a sugar mill at Brisbane, Queensland, Australia."—A. Attewell, Sharbot Lake, Ontario.

A WEEK AGO

"THE STAR" made the largest purchase of Overcoats ever made at one time in the history of the Clothing Trade—Over TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS' WORTH---the entire magnificent stock of one of the largest manufacturers of Fine Clothing in Canada. The owners of the goods were in Desperate Need of Ready Cash. We had it, and we got the stock AT OUR OWN PRICE. We placed about half our purchase on sale Monday morning, and to-day we place the balance of the stock on our tables. The last shipment included the Finest Goods. The first lots are all sold, and such scenes of excitement as have transpired during this sale never before occurred in a clothing store.

Customers stood in open-mouthed wonder at the wonderful values given. Many persons bought two and three Coats on account of their wonderful cheapness. Small Merchants have eagerly bought all we would sell them, our prices are so much lower than they could buy the same goods at wholesale.
